(A) CHILD MINDERS AND DAY CARE PROVIDERS

1163. Definition of child minder.

A child minder is someone who looks after one or more children under the age of eight on domestic premises<sup>1</sup> for reward<sup>2</sup>. However, the following people do not act as a child minder when looking after a child:

- 2926 (1) the parent, or a relative, of the child<sup>3</sup>;
- 2927 (2) a person who has parental responsibility for the child<sup>4</sup>;
- 2928 (3) a person who is a local authority foster parent in relation to the child<sup>5</sup>;
- 2929 (4) a person who is a foster parent with whom the child has been placed by a voluntary organisation<sup>6</sup>; or
- 2930 (5) a person who fosters the child privately<sup>7</sup>.

Where a person:

- 2931 (a) looks after a child for the parents ('P1')<sup>8</sup>; or
- 2932 (b) in addition to that work, looks after another child for different parents ('P2')<sup>9</sup>, and the work consists (in a case within head (a) above) of looking after the child wholly or mainly in P1's home or (in a case within head (b) above) of looking after the children wholly or mainly in P1's home or P2's home or both, the work is not to be treated as child minding<sup>10</sup>.

1 As to the meaning of 'domestic premises', and for the meaning of 'premises', see para 1072 note 2 supra.

2 See the Children Act 1989 s 79A(2) (s 79A added by the Care Standards Act 2000 s 79(1)). However, the Children Act 1989 Pt XA (ss 79A-79X) (as added and amended) does not apply in relation to a person who acts as a child minder, or provides day care on any premises, unless the period, or the total of the periods, in any day which he spends looking after children or (as the case may be) during which the children are looked after on the premises exceeds two hours: s 79A(7) (as so added). In determining whether a person is required to register under Pt XA (as added and amended) for child minding, any day on which he does not act as a child minder at any time between 2 am and 6 pm is to be disregarded: s 79A(8) (as so added).

3 Ibid s 79A(3)(a) (as added: see note 2 supra). For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

4 Ibid s 79A(3)(b) (as added: see note 2 supra). For the meaning of 'parental responsibility' see para 134 ante.

5 Ibid s 79A(3)(c) (as added: see note 2 supra). For the meaning of 'local authority foster parent' see para 249 note 13 ante. For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 248 note 10 ante.

7 Ibid s 79A(3)(e) (as added: see note 2 supra).

8 Ibid s 79A(4)(a) (as added: see note 2 supra). For the purposes of s 79A(4) (as added), 'parent', in relation to a child includes: (1) a person who is not a parent of the child but has parental responsibility for the child; (2) a person who is a relative of the child: s 79A(5) (as so added).

9 Ibid s 79A(4)(b) (as added: see note 2 supra).

10 Ibid s 79A(4) (as added: see note 2 supra).

CHILD MINDING, CHILD CARE AND DAY CARE UNDER THE CHILDREN ACT 1989/(A) Child Minders and Day Care Providers/1164. Qualification for registration for child minding and day care.

1164. Qualification for registration for child minding and day care.

A person is qualified for registration for child minding<sup>1</sup> if:

- 2933 (1) he, and every other person looking after children on any premises<sup>2</sup> on which he is or is likely to be child minding, is suitable to look after children under the age of eight<sup>3</sup>;
- 2934 (2) every person living or employed on the premises in question is suitable to be in regular contact with children under the age of eight<sup>4</sup>;
- 2935 (3) the premises in question are suitable to be used for looking after children under the age of eight, having regard to their condition and the condition and appropriateness of any equipment on the premises and to any other factor connected with the situation, construction or size of the premises<sup>5</sup>; and
- 2936 (4) he is complying with regulations<sup>6</sup> governing child minders and day care providers<sup>7</sup> and with any conditions imposed<sup>8</sup>.

A person is qualified for registration for providing day care<sup>9</sup> on particular premises if:

- 2937 (a) he has made adequate arrangements to ensure that every person (other than himself and the responsible individual<sup>10</sup>) looking after children on the premises is suitable to look after children under the age of eight; and every person (other than himself and the responsible individual) living or working on the premises is suitable to be in regular contact with children under the age of eight<sup>11</sup>;
- 2938 (b) the responsible individual is suitable to look after children under the age of eight, or if he is not looking after such children, is suitable to be in regular contact with them<sup>12</sup>;
- 2939 (c) the premises are suitable to be used for looking after children under the age of eight, having regard to their condition and the condition and appropriateness of any equipment on the premises and to any other factor connected with the situation, construction or size of the premises<sup>13</sup>; and
- 2940 (d) he is complying with regulations governing child minders and day care providers<sup>14</sup> and with any conditions imposed<sup>15</sup>.

1 See para 1072 ante. For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante. Where, for the purposes of determining a person's qualification for registration the registration authority requests any person ('A') to consent to the disclosure to the authority by another person ('B') of any information relating to A which is held by B and is of a prescribed description, and A does not give his consent (or withdraws it after having given it), the registration authority may, if regulations so provide and it thinks it appropriate to do so, regard A as not suitable to look after children under the age of eight, or not suitable to be in regular contact with such children: Children Act 1989 s 79B(5A) (added by the Education Act 2002 s 152, Sch 13 para 1).

The Children Act 1989 s 78B(2) (as added) provides that the registration authority in Wales is the National Assembly for Wales. As from a day to be appointed the Children Act 1989 is amended by the Childcare Act 2006 s 103(1), Sch 2 para 6 so as to apply to Wales only: see para 1070 ante. References to the registration authority are consequently prospectively amended so as to refer instead to the Assembly and 'the Assembly' means the National Assembly for Wales: see the Children Act 1989 s 79B(2) (prospectively substituted by the Childcare Act 2006 Sch 2 para 7). By virtue of the Government of Wales Act 2006 such powers of the Assembly are now conferred on the Welsh Ministers (see para 155 ante). However, in practice the body dealing with matters relating to children's services in Wales is the Care and Social Services Inspectorate Wales: see para 198 ante. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

2 For the meaning of 'premises' see para 1072 note 2 ante.

3 Children Act 1989 s 79B(3)(a) (s 79B added by the Care Standards Act 2000 s 79(1)).

4 Children Act 1989 s 79B(3)(b) (as added: see note 3 supra).

5 Ibid s 79B(3)(c) (as added: see note 3 supra).

6 For these purposes, 'regulations' means regulations made by the Welsh Ministers: s 79B(7)(b) (as so added). As from a day to be appointed, s 79B(7) (as added) is substituted by the Childcare Act 2006 s 103(1), Sch 2 para 7(c) but not so as materially to affect its meaning. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

7 The regulations under the Children Act 1989 s 79C (as added) : see paras 1074 ante, 1165 post.

8 Ibid s 79B(3)(d) (as added (see note 3 supra); and amended by the Children Act 2004 s 48, Sch 4 paras 1, 2(1)).

9 For the meaning of 'day care' see para 1072 note 3 ante.

10 For these purposes, 'the responsible individual' means:

904 (1) in a case of one individual working on the premises in the provision of day care, that person (Children Act 1989 s 79B(5ZA)(a) (s 79B(5ZA) added by the Children Act 2004 s 48, Sch 4 paras 1, 6(c));

905 (2) in a case of two or more individuals so working, the individual so working who is in charge (Children Act 1989 s 79B(5ZA)(b) (as so added)).

B. CHILD CARE UNDER THE CHILDCARE ACT 2006

1188. Duties imposed by the Childcare Act 2006.

The Childcare Act 2006, much of which is not yet in force, imposes duties on local authorities in relation to children. The Childcare Act 2006 applies to England and Wales<sup>1</sup>: Part 1 of the Act<sup>2</sup> imposes duties on English local authorities<sup>3</sup> and Part 2 of the Act<sup>4</sup> imposes them on Welsh local authorities<sup>5</sup>.

<sup>4</sup> le ibid ss 22-30 (see para 1189 et seq post). Section 101 (see para 1194 post) also imposes duties in relation to Wales only.

<sup>5</sup> As to the meaning of 'Welsh local authority' see para 1105 note 6 ante. For the purposes of the Education Act 1997 s 38 (inspection of local education authorities) (see EDUCATION vol 15(2) (2006 Reissue) para 1350), the functions conferred on a Welsh local authority by or under the Childcare Act 2006 Pt 2 (ss 22-30) are to be regarded as functions conferred on a local authority in its capacity as such: s 28.

The Education Act 1996 s 496 (power to prevent unreasonable exercise of functions) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 57) applies in relation to a Welsh local authority and the powers conferred or duties imposed on it by or under the Childcare Act 2006 Pt 2 as it applies in relation to a local education authority in Wales and the powers conferred or duties imposed on it by or under the Education Act 1996: s 29(1). The Education Act 1996 s 497 (general default powers) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 58) applies in relation to the duties imposed on a Welsh local authority by or for the purposes of the Childcare Act 2006 Pt 2 as it applies in relation to the duties imposed on a local education authority in Wales by or for the purposes of the Education Act 1996: s 29(2). The Education Act 1996 s 497A (as added) (power to secure proper performance of local education authority's functions) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 56) applies in relation to a Welsh local authority's functions under the Childcare Act 2006 Pt 2 as it applies in relation to the functions of a local education authority in Wales mentioned in s 29(1): s 29(3). The Education Act 1996 ss 497AA, 497B (both as added) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 56) apply accordingly where powers under s 497A (as added) are exercised in relation to any of the functions of a Welsh local authority under the Childcare Act 2006 Pt 2: s 29(4). In the application of the Education Act 1996 ss 497A(2)-(7), 497AA, 497B (all as added) in relation to a Welsh local authority's functions under the Childcare Act 2006 Pt 2, references to the local education authority are to be read as references to the local authority: s 29(5). In the Education Act 1996 s 497A(5) (as added) the reference to functions to which s 497A (as added) applies includes (for all purposes) functions of a Welsh local authority under the Childcare Act 2006 Pt 2: s 29(6).

UPDATE

1188-1194 Child Care under the Childcare Act 2006

These provisions are now in force: SI 2008/17.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/11. SUPPORT FOR CHILDREN BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES ETC/(12) CHILD MINDING, CHILD CARE AND DAY CARE/(iii) Child Minding, Child Care and Day Care in Wales/B. CHILD CARE UNDER THE CHILDCARE ACT 2006/1189. Duty to secure sufficient child care for working parents.

1189. Duty to secure sufficient child care for working parents.

As from a day to be appointed the following provisions apply<sup>1</sup>. A Welsh local authority<sup>2</sup> must secure, so far as is reasonably practicable, that the provision of child care<sup>3</sup> (whether or not by it) is sufficient to meet the requirements of parents<sup>4</sup> in its area who require child care in order to enable them to take up, or remain in, work or to undertake education or training which could reasonably be expected to assist them to obtain work<sup>5</sup>.

In determining whether the provision of child care is sufficient to meet those requirements, a local authority:

- 3010 (1) must have regard to the needs of parents in its area for the provision of child care in respect of which the child care element<sup>6</sup> of working tax credit is payable, the provision of child care which is suitable for disabled children<sup>7</sup> and the provision of child care involving the use of the Welsh language<sup>8</sup>; and
- 3011 (2) may have regard to any child care which it expects to be available outside its area<sup>9</sup>.

1 The Childcare Act 2006 Pt 2 (ss 22-30) is mainly to be brought into force by order made by the Welsh Ministers under ss 109(2), 110(1), (3) as from a day to be appointed. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'Welsh local authority' see para 1105 note 6 ante. In discharging its duty under ibid s 22(1), a local authority must have regard to any guidance given: s 22(3).

3 For the purposes of ibid Pt 2 (ie ss 22-30), 'child care' means: (1) child minding or day care within the meaning of the Children Act 1989 Pt XA (ss 79A-79X) (as added and amended; prospectively amended) (see para 1072 ante) in respect of which the provider is required to be registered under Pt XA (as added and amended; prospectively amended); (2) care provided by a person of a description approved in accordance with a scheme made under the Tax Credits Act 2002 s 12(5) (see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS): Childcare Act 2006 s 30.

Except in relation to a disabled child, s 22 does not apply in relation to child care for a child on or after 1 September next following the date on which he attains the age of 14: s 22(5).

4 'Parent' includes any individual who has parental responsibility for a child or who has care of a child: ibid s 22(6). For the meaning of 'parental responsibility' see para 134 ante; definition applied by s 106.

5 Ibid s 22(1).

6 'Child care element', in relation to working tax credit, is to be read in accordance with the Tax Credits Act 2002 s 12 (see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS): Childcare Act 2006 s 22(6).

7 'Disabled child' means a child who has a disability for the purposes of the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 (see DISCRIMINATION vol 13 (2007 Reissue) para 511): Childcare Act 2006 s 22(6).

8 Ibid s 22(2)(a). Section 22(2) (and s 22(6) so far as relating to s 22(2)) may be amended by order so as to modify the matters to which a local authority must or may have regard in determining whether the provision of child care is sufficient: s 22(4).

9 Ibid s 22(2)(b).

1 The Childcare Act 2006 s 101 is to be brought into force by order made by the Welsh Ministers under ss 109(2), 110(1), (3) as from a day to be appointed. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

2 'Regulations' means regulations made by the Welsh Ministers: ibid s 101(9). Regulations under s 101 may provide that, in such circumstances as may be prescribed, the provision of information to a person other than the Welsh Ministers is to be treated, for the purposes of any provision of such regulations or s 101, as compliance with any requirement imposed by or by virtue of any such provision and relating to the provision of information to the Welsh Ministers: s 101(8).

3 Ie the Children Act 1989 Pt XA (ss 79A-79X) (as added) (see paras 1163 et seq ante).

4 Childcare Act 2006 s 101(1)(a). 'Child minding' and 'day care' have the same meanings as in the Children Act 1989 Pt XA (as added) (see para 1072 note 3 ante).

5 Childcare Act 2006 s 101(1)(b). 'Funded nursery education' means nursery education, within the meaning of the School Standards and Framework Act 1998 Pt 5 (ss 117-124) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 85) which is provided by any person under arrangements made with that person by a local education authority in Wales in pursuance of the duty imposed on the authority by s 118 (duty of local education authority to secure sufficient nursery education: see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 86) and in consideration of financial assistance provided by the authority under those arrangements, other than such education provided by a school for its pupils: Childcare Act 2006 s 101(9).

6 'The relevant person' means one or more of the following: (1) the Welsh Ministers; and (2) any prescribed person: ibid s 101(2). As to the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante. The Welsh Ministers may provide any individual child information to any information collator, to any prescribed person or to any person falling within a prescribed category: s 101(4). Any information collator may provide any individual child information to the Welsh Ministers or to any other information collator and may at such times as the Welsh Ministers may determine or in prescribed circumstances provide such individual child information as may be prescribed to any prescribed person or to any person falling within a prescribed category: s 101(5). Any person holding any individual child information (other than the Welsh Ministers or an information collator) may provide that information to the Welsh Ministers, any information collator or any prescribed person: s 101(6). No information received under or by virtue of s 101 is to be published in any form which includes the name of the child or children to whom it relates: s 101(7).

'Information collator' means any body which, for the purposes of or in connection with the functions of the Welsh Ministers relating to child minding, day care or funded nursery education (as the case may be), is responsible for collating or checking information relating to children for whom such provision is made: s 101(9).

7 'Individual child information' means information relating to and identifying individual children for whom child minding, day care or funded nursery education is being or has been provided, whether obtained under ibid s 101(1) or otherwise: s 101(9).

(13) ACCOMMODATION BY BODIES OTHER THAN RESPONSIBLE AUTHORITIES

1195. Accommodation in care homes or independent hospitals.

Where a child<sup>1</sup> is provided with accommodation by any local health board<sup>2</sup>, special health authority<sup>3</sup>, primary care trust<sup>4</sup>, national health service trust<sup>5</sup>, NHS foundation trust or local education authority<sup>6</sup> for a consecutive period of at least three months, or with the intention of accommodating him for at least that period, the authority in question (the 'accommodating authority') must notify the responsible authority<sup>7</sup>. In such a case, the accommodating authority must also notify the responsible authority when it ceases to accommodate the child<sup>8</sup>.

Where a local authority has been notified under the above provisions it must:

- 3017 (1) take such steps as are reasonably practicable to enable it to determine whether the child's welfare is adequately safeguarded and promoted while he is accommodated by the accommodating authority<sup>9</sup>; and
- 3018 (2) consider the extent to which, if at all, it should exercise any of its functions<sup>10</sup> under the Children Act 1989 with respect to the child<sup>11</sup>.

For these purposes, 'responsible authority' means: (1) the local authority appearing to the accommodating authority to be the authority within whose area the child was ordinarily resident immediately before being accommodated; or (2) where it appears to the accommodating authority that a child was not ordinarily resident within the area of any local authority, the local authority within whose area the accommodation is situated: Children Act 1989 s 85(3). ### 1196. Children accommodated in care homes or independent hospitals.

Where a child<sup>1</sup> is provided with accommodation in a care home<sup>2</sup> or independent hospital<sup>3</sup> for a consecutive period of at least three months, or with the intention, on the part of the person taking the decision to accommodate him, of accommodating him for at least that period, the person carrying on the home must notify the local authority<sup>4</sup> for the area in which the home is carried on<sup>5</sup>. In such a case, the person carrying on the home must also notify that authority when he ceases to accommodate the child in the home<sup>6</sup>. Where a local authority has been notified under the above provisions it must:

- 3019 (1) take such steps as are reasonably practicable to enable it to determine whether the child's welfare is adequately safeguarded and promoted while he is accommodated in the home<sup>7</sup>; and
- 3020 (2) consider the extent to which, if at all, it should exercise any of its functions<sup>8</sup> under the Children Act 1989 with respect to the child<sup>9</sup>.

If the person carrying on any home fails, without reasonable excuse, to comply with the above provisions he is guilty of an offence<sup>10</sup>.

A person authorised by a local authority may enter any care home or independent hospital within the authority's area for the purpose of establishing whether the requirements of the above provisions have been complied with<sup>11</sup>. Any person exercising the power of entry must, if so required, produce some duly authenticated document showing his authority to do so<sup>12</sup>. SUPPORT FOR CHILDREN BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES ETC/(13) ACCOMMODATION BY BODIES OTHER THAN RESPONSIBLE AUTHORITIES/1197. Welfare of children accommodated in independent schools, boarding schools and colleges.

1197. Welfare of children accommodated in independent schools, boarding schools and colleges.

Where a school or college<sup>1</sup> provides accommodation for any child<sup>2</sup>, it is the duty of the relevant person<sup>3</sup> to safeguard and promote the child's welfare<sup>4</sup>. This provision does not apply, however, in relation to a school or college which is a children's home<sup>5</sup>. Where Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Education, Children's Services and Skills<sup>6</sup> is of the opinion that there has been a failure to comply with the duty to safeguard and promote the child's welfare<sup>7</sup> in relation to a child provided with accommodation by a school or college in England he must<sup>8</sup>:

- 3021 (1) in the case of a school other than an independent school or a special school, notify the local education authority for the area in which the school is situated<sup>9</sup>;
- 3022 (2) in the case of a special school which is maintained by a local education authority, notify that authority<sup>10</sup>;
- 3023 (3) in any other case, notify the Secretary of State<sup>11</sup>.

Where the National Assembly for Wales is of the opinion that there has been a failure to comply with the duty to safeguard and promote the child's welfare<sup>12</sup> in relation to a child provided with accommodation by a school or college in Wales it must<sup>13</sup>:

- 3024 (a) in the case of a school other than an independent school or a special school, notify the local education authority for the area in which the school is situated<sup>14</sup>;
- 3025 (b) in the case of a special school which is maintained by a local education authority, notify that authority<sup>15</sup>.

Where accommodation is provided for a child by any school or college the appropriate authority<sup>16</sup> must take such steps as are reasonably practicable to enable it to determine whether the child's welfare is adequately safeguarded and promoted while he is accommodated by the school<sup>17</sup>.

Where accommodation is, or is to be, provided for a child by any school or college, a person authorised by the appropriate authority may, for the purposes of enabling that authority to discharge its duty<sup>18</sup>, enter at any time premises which are, or are to be, premises of the school or college<sup>19</sup>. Any person exercising this power may carry out such inspection of premises, children and records as is prescribed by regulations made by the Secretary of State<sup>20</sup> for these purposes<sup>21</sup>. Any person exercising that power must, if asked to do so, produce some duly authenticated document showing his authority to exercise the power<sup>22</sup>. Any person authorised by the regulations to inspect records:

- 3026 (i) is entitled at any reasonable time to have access to, and inspect and check the operation of, any computer and any associated apparatus or material which is or has been in use in connection with the records in question<sup>23</sup>; and

- 3027 (ii) may require the person by whom or on whose behalf the computer is or has been so used or any person having charge of, or otherwise concerned with the operation of, the computer, apparatus or material, to afford him such assistance as he may reasonably require<sup>24</sup>.

Any person who intentionally obstructs another in the exercise of any power conferred by these provisions or the regulations is guilty of an offence<sup>25</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'school' see para 271 note 8 ante. 'College' means an institution within the further education sector as defined in the Further and Higher Education Act 1992 s 91 (as amended) (see EDUCATION vol 15(2) (2006 Reissue) para 579); Children Act 1989 s 87(10) (definition added by the Care Standards Act 2000 s 105(1), (4)).

2 For the meaning of 'child' see para 3 ante.

3 For these purposes, 'relevant person' means: (1) in relation to an independent school, the proprietor of the school; (2) in relation to any other school, or an institution designated under the Further and Higher Education Act 1992 s 28, the governing body of the school or institution; (3) in relation to an institution conducted by a further education corporation, the corporation: Children Act 1989 s 87(11) (added by the Care Standards Act 2000 s 105(1), (4)). However, where a person other than the proprietor of an independent school is responsible for conducting the school, references to the relevant person include references to the person so responsible: Children Act 1989 s 87(12) (added by the Care Standards Act 2000 s 105(1), (4)). 'Further education corporation' means a body corporate established under the Further and Higher Education Act 1992 s 15 or s 16 (as amended) or which has become a further education corporation by virtue of s 47 (as amended) (see EDUCATION vol 15(2) (2006 Reissue) para 580): s 17(1) (amended by the Teaching and Higher Education Act 1998 s 44(1), Sch 3 para 7); applied by the Children Act 1989 s 87(10) (definition added by the Care Standards Act 2000 s 105(1), (4)).

substituted) in relation to a child, it must publish a report on whether the child's welfare is adequately safeguarded and promoted while he is accommodated by the school or college: s 87(9A) (s 87(9A)-(9C) added by the Health and Social Care (Community Health and Standards) Act 2003 s 111). The Chief Inspector for England or National Assembly must send a copy of such a report to the school or college concerned, and make copies available for inspection at the offices of the Chief Inspector for England or National Assembly by any person at any reasonable time; and any person who requests a copy of a report so published is entitled to have one on payment of such reasonable fee (if any) as the Chief Inspector for England or the National Assembly (as the case may be) considers appropriate: Children Act 1989 s 87(9B), (9C) (as so added).

1198. Suspension of duty to inspect.

The Secretary of State and Welsh Ministers<sup>1</sup> may appoint a person to be an inspector<sup>2</sup> if<sup>3</sup>:

- 3028 (1) that person already acts as an inspector for other purposes in relation to schools or colleges<sup>4</sup> which provide accommodation for any child<sup>5</sup>; and
- 3029 (2) the Secretary of State is or the Welsh Ministers are satisfied that the person is an appropriate person to determine whether the welfare of children provided with accommodation by such schools or colleges is adequately safeguarded and promoted while they are accommodated by them<sup>6</sup>.

The Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers must terminate a person's appointment to be an inspector for these purposes<sup>7</sup> if that person so requests, or the Secretary of State or Welsh Ministers cease, in relation to that person, to be satisfied that he is such a person as is mentioned in head (2) above<sup>8</sup>. The Secretary of State must give notice of the termination of that person's appointment to the appropriate authority<sup>9</sup>.

Where:

- 3030 (a) the relevant person enters into an agreement in writing with a person so appointed as an inspector<sup>10</sup>;
- 3031 (b) the agreement provides for the person so appointed to have in relation to the school or college the function of determining whether the duty to safeguard and promote the child's welfare<sup>11</sup> is being complied with<sup>12</sup>; and
- 3032 (c) the appropriate authority receives from the inspector notice in writing that the agreement has come into effect<sup>13</sup>, the authority's duty to take such steps as are reasonably practicable to enable it to determine whether the child's welfare is adequately safeguarded and promoted while he is accommodated by the school<sup>14</sup> is suspended in relation to the school or college<sup>15</sup>. Where such a duty of a local authority is so suspended, it ceases to be so suspended if the authority receives<sup>16</sup>: (i) a notice of the termination of a person's appointment as inspector<sup>17</sup> relating to the person with whom the proprietor of the school entered into the relevant agreement<sup>18</sup>; or (ii) a notice<sup>19</sup> that the relevant agreement has ceased to have effect<sup>20</sup>. Where such a duty of an appropriate authority in relation to any school or college is so suspended under these provisions and the relevant agreement ceases to have effect, the inspector must give to the authority notice in writing of the fact that it has ceased to have effect<sup>21</sup>.

1199. Duties of inspector.

The Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers<sup>1</sup> may impose on an authorised inspector<sup>2</sup> such requirements relating to, or in connection with, the carrying out under substitution agreements<sup>3</sup> of the function of determining whether the duty to safeguard and promote the child's welfare<sup>4</sup> is being complied with, as the Secretary of State thinks or the Welsh Ministers think fit<sup>5</sup>. Where, in the course of carrying out such a function under a substitution agreement, it appears to an authorised inspector that there has been a failure to comply with the duty to safeguard and promote a child's welfare<sup>6</sup> in the case of a child provided with accommodation by the school or college<sup>7</sup> to which the agreement relates, the inspector must give notice of that fact<sup>8</sup>:

- 3033 (1) in the case of a school other than an independent school or a special school, to the local education authority for the area in which the school is maintained<sup>9</sup>;
- 3034 (2) in the case of a special school which is maintained by a local education authority, to that authority<sup>10</sup>;
- 3035 (3) in any other case, to the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers<sup>11</sup>.

Where, in the course of carrying out such a function under a substitution agreement, it appears to an authorised inspector that a child<sup>12</sup> provided with accommodation by the school or college to which the agreement relates is suffering, or is likely to suffer, significant harm<sup>13</sup>, the inspector must<sup>14</sup>:

- 3036 (a) give notice of that fact to the local authority in whose area the school or college is situated<sup>15</sup>; and
- 3037 (b) where the inspector is required to make inspection reports to the Secretary of State or Welsh Ministers, supply that local authority with a copy of the latest inspection report to have been made by the inspector to the Secretary of State or Welsh Ministers in relation to the school or college<sup>16</sup>.

(15) ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF WELL-BEING AND PROMOTION OF WELFARE OF CHILDREN

1231. Arrangements for the improvement of well-being and promotion of welfare of children.

A children's services authority must make arrangements to promote co-operation between itself, each of its relevant partners, and such other persons or bodies as it considers appropriate, with a view to improving the well-being of children in the authority's area<sup>1</sup>. It may, in addition, be required to establish and operate databases containing information in respect of persons to whom such arrangements relate<sup>2</sup>.

Each children's services authority must also establish a local safeguarding children board for its area, the objective of which is to co-ordinate what is done by each person or body represented on the board for the purposes of safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children in the area of the authority by which it is established, and to ensure the effectiveness of what is done by each such person or body for those purposes<sup>3</sup>.

A children's services authority may from time to time be required to prepare and publish a plan setting out the authority's strategy for discharging its functions in relation to children and relevant young persons<sup>4</sup>.

A children's services authority may, and from a day to be appointed must, appoint relevant responsible officers<sup>5</sup>.

All arrangements under these provisions are subject to inspection<sup>6</sup>.

12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN

(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN

(i) Preliminary Procedures

1232. General principles.

Every court, in dealing with a child or young person<sup>1</sup> who is brought before it, either as an offender or otherwise, must have regard to the welfare of the child or young person, and, in a proper case, must take steps for removing him from undesirable surroundings and for securing that proper provision is made for his education and training<sup>2</sup>.

The principal aim of the youth justice system is to prevent offending by children and young persons, and all persons and bodies carrying out functions in relation to that system are under a duty to have regard to that aim<sup>3</sup>.

It is conclusively presumed that no child under the age of 10 years can be guilty of any criminal offence<sup>4</sup>. There was formerly a rebuttable presumption of criminal law that a child between the ages of 10 and 14 years was incapable of committing an offence, but this presumption has now been abolished<sup>5</sup>.

Until a day to be appointed the Secretary of State may direct that:

3165 (1) a person who is under the age of 18 years and is undergoing detention in a young offender institution (Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 58(a) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 1988 s 123(6), Sch 8 para 3(2)); or

3166 (2) a child or young person sentenced to be detained under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 91 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 78) with respect to whom he is authorised to give directions under s 92 (Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 58(b) (amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 165(1), Sch 9 para 3(1), (2)); or

must be transferred or sent to and detained in an approved school specified in the order; and any such order must be an authority for his detention in that approved school or in such other approved school as the Secretary of State may from time to time determine until such date as may be specified in the order: s 58. This is subject to the proviso that the date to be so specified must be not later than that on which he will in the opinion of the Secretary of State attain the age of 19 years nor later:

3169 (b) in the case of a young person who has been sentenced to imprisonment and pardoned as aforesaid, than three years from the date as from which his sentence began to run (Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 58 proviso (b));

- 3170 (c) in the case of a person who was undergoing detention in a young offender institution, than the end of the period for which he would have been liable to be detained therein (s 58 proviso (c) (added by the Criminal Justice Act 1948 s 79, Sch 9; and amended by the Criminal Justice Act 1988 s 123(6), Sch 8 Pt I para 3(2)).

As from a day to be appointed, the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 58 (as amended) is prospectively repealed by the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 72(4), Sch 6. At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed.

3 Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 37(1), (2). See further SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 10. The purposes of sentencing adult offenders as set out in Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 142 are specifically disapplied to offenders aged under 18 at the time of conviction: see s 142(2)(a); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 615.

1234. Detention by the police.

There are particular provisions applicable to the treatment of juveniles whilst under police arrest<sup>1</sup>. Where a child<sup>2</sup> or young person<sup>3</sup> is in police detention, such steps as are practicable must be taken to ascertain the identity of a person responsible for his welfare<sup>4</sup>. If it is practicable to ascertain the identity of a person responsible for the welfare of the child or young person<sup>5</sup>, that person must be informed, unless it is not practicable to do so:

- 909 (1) that the child or young person has been arrested<sup>6</sup>;
- 910 (2) why he has been arrested<sup>7</sup>; and
- 911 (3) where he is being detained<sup>8</sup>.

The custody officer must, as soon as practicable, inform the appropriate adult<sup>9</sup> of the grounds for the juvenile's detention and ask the adult to attend at the police station to see the juvenile<sup>10</sup>. The appropriate adult must be allowed to consult the custody record<sup>11</sup> as soon as practicable after arrival at the police station, and to receive a copy on request when the juvenile leaves police detention or is taken before a court<sup>12</sup>. The appropriate adult must witness the procedure<sup>13</sup> by which the juvenile is notified by the custody officer of his rights to notify someone of his arrest, to consult the Codes of Practice, and to legal advice<sup>14</sup>.

If the juvenile is cautioned<sup>15</sup> in the absence of the appropriate adult, the caution must be repeated in the adult's presence<sup>16</sup>. A juvenile must not be interviewed or asked to provide or sign a written statement in the absence of an appropriate adult<sup>17</sup>. Where the appropriate adult is present at an interview, he must be informed that he is not expected simply to act as an observer, and also that the purposes of his presence are: (a) to advise the person being questioned and to observe whether or not the interview is being conducted properly and fairly and; (b) to facilitate communication with the person being interviewed<sup>18</sup>.

A juvenile must not be placed in a police cell unless no other secure accommodation is available and the custody officer considers that it is not practicable to supervise him if he is not placed in a cell, or the custody officer considers that a cell provides more comfortable accommodation than other secure accommodation in the police station<sup>19</sup>. The juvenile must not be placed in a cell with an adult<sup>20</sup>.

As to provisions that relate to all persons in police detention see the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 Part IV (ss 34-52); and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 938 et seq.

2    For the meaning of 'child' see para 613 note 1 ante.

3    For the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 31 (as amended) (see para 1242 post) and s 34 (as amended), 'young person' means a person who has attained the age of 14 and is under the age of 17 years: s 31(2) (added by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 101(1), Sch 8 para 1, Sch 12 para 22).

4    Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(2) (s 34(2) substituted, and s 34(3)-(11) added, by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 57). For these purposes, the reference to a child or young person who is in police detention includes a reference to a child or young person who has been detained under the terrorism provisions: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(10) (as so added). For the meaning of 'terrorism provisions' see the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 65 (as amended); and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 952 (definition applied by the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(11) (as so added)). Those detained under the Terrorism Act 2000 are subject to Code H: Code of Practice in connection with the Detention, Treatment and Questioning by Police Officers of Persons under Section 41 of, and Schedule 8 to, the Terrorism Act 2000 (July 2006) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 420 et seq) and not Code C: see Code H, para 1.1; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 421.

The rights conferred on a child or young person by the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(2)-(8) (s 34(2) as substituted, s 34(3)-(8) as added) are in addition to his rights under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 56 (as amended) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) paras 952, 955): Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(9) (as so added).

5 For these purposes, the persons who may be responsible for the welfare of a child or young person are his parent or guardian, or any other person who has for the time being assumed responsibility for his welfare: ibid s 34(5) (added by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 57). For the meaning of 'guardian' see para 747 note 13 ante. The reference to a parent or guardian in the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(5) (as added) is, in the case of a child or young person in the care of a local authority, a reference to that authority: s 34(8) (added by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 57; and amended by the Children Act 1989 s 108(7), Sch 15). The local authorities for the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 Pts III, IV are the councils of counties (other than metropolitan counties) of metropolitan districts and of London boroughs and the Common Council of the City of London but, in relation to Wales, are the councils of counties and county boroughs: s 96(1A) (added by the Child Care Act 1980 s 89, Sch 5 para 1; and amended by the Local Government (Wales) Act 1994 s 22(4), Sch 10 para 1(2)). As to local government areas and authorities in England and Wales see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 22 et seq; as to the London boroughs and their councils see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) paras 30, 35-39, 59 et seq; and as to the Common Council of the City of London see LONDON GOVERNMENT vol 29(2) (Reissue) paras 51-55. A person responsible for the welfare of a juvenile may also be a person who has assumed responsibility for the time being: Code C para 3.13. See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 950. If it appears that at the time of his arrest a supervision order, as defined in the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 163 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 250 et seq) or the Children Act 1989 Pt IV (ss 31-42) (as amended), is in force in respect of him, the person responsible for his supervision must also be informed as described in the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(3) (as added) (see the text and notes 6-8 infra) as soon as it is reasonably practicable to do so: s 34(7) (added by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 57; and amended by the Children Act 1989 s 108(5), Sch 13 para 6; and the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 168(1)). If it appears that at the time of his arrest the child or young person is being provided with accommodation by or on behalf of a local authority under the Children Act 1989 s 20 (see para 863 ante), the local authority must also be informed as described in the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(3) (as added) as soon as it is reasonably practicable to do so: s 34(7A) (added by the Children Act 1989 Sch 13 para 6). As to supervision orders see further para 1340 post.

6 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(3)(a) (added by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 57). See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 950. For these purposes, 'arrest' includes detention under the terrorism provisions: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(10) (as added: see note 4 supra). Where information falls to be given under s 34(3) (as added), it must be given as soon as it is practicable to do so: s 34(4) (as so added). See also Code C para 3; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 950.

If it is practicable to give a person responsible for the welfare of the child or young person the information required by the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(3) (as added), that person must be given it as soon as it is practicable to do so: s 34(6) (added by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 57).

7 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(3)(b) (added by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 57). See note 6 supra.

8 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(3)(c) (added by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 57). See note 6 supra.

9 For these purposes, 'the appropriate adult' means:

3183 (1) a juvenile's parent or guardian or, if the juvenile is in local authority or voluntary organisation care, or is otherwise being looked after by under the Children Act 1989, the a person representing that authority or organisation (Code C para 1.7(a)(i));

3184 (2) a social worker (Code C para 1.7(a)(ii)); or

- 3185 (3) failing either of the adults described in head (1) or head (2) supra, another responsible adult aged 18 or over who is not a police officer or employed by the police (Code C: para 1.7(a) (iii)).

See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 940.

The police should take all reasonable steps to secure the attendance of the parent or carer before requesting an appropriate adult: Youth Justice Board, National Standards for Youth Justice Service (2004) (B16) para 2.7.

10 Code C para 3.15. See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 949. A person will not be an appropriate adult if he is suspected of involvement in the offence, nor should an estranged parent act as the appropriate adult where the juvenile objects to his presence: Code C: Guidance Note paras 1B, 1C. See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 940.

11 A record must be maintained in respect of every person detained at a police station: Code C paras 2.3, 2.5. See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 940.

12 Code C paras 2.5, 2.6. This entitlement lasts for 12 months after the juvenile's release: Code C para 2.4A. See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 940.

13 If the appropriate adult is not present when the provisions of Code C paras 3.1-3.5 are complied with, then these provisions must be complied with again in the presence of the appropriate adult once that person arrives: Code C para 3.17. See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 949.

14 Code C paras 3.1-3.5, 3.17. See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) paras 722-723.

15 As to cautions see Code C paras 10.1-10.4; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 959.

1234 Detention by the police

NOTE 5--Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 34(7) further amended, s 34(7B) added: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 4 para 2, Sch 28 Pt 1.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(i) Preliminary Procedures/1235. Reprimands and warnings.

1235. Reprimands and warnings.

Where:

- 912 (1) a constable has evidence that a child<sup>1</sup> or young person<sup>2</sup> ('the offender') has committed an offence<sup>3</sup>;
- 913 (2) the constable considers that the evidence is such that, if the offender were prosecuted for the offence, there would be a realistic prospect of his being convicted<sup>4</sup>;
- 914 (3) the offender admits to the constable that he committed the offence<sup>5</sup>;
- 915 (4) the offender has not previously been convicted of an offence<sup>6</sup>; and
- 916 (5) the constable is satisfied that it would not be in the public interest for the offender to be prosecuted<sup>7</sup>, the constable may reprimand<sup>8</sup> the offender if the offender has not previously been reprimanded or warned<sup>9</sup>.

The constable may warn the offender if:

- 917 (a) the offender has not previously been warned<sup>10</sup>; or
- 918 (b) where the offender has previously been warned, the offence was committed more than two years after the date of the previous warning, and the constable considers the offence to be not so serious as to require a charge to be brought<sup>11</sup>.

However, no person may be warned under head (b) above more than once<sup>12</sup>.

Where the offender has not been previously reprimanded, the constable must warn rather than reprimand the offender if he considers the offence to be so serious as to require a warning<sup>13</sup>.

The constable must:

- 919 (i) where the offender is under the age of 17, give any reprimand or warning in the presence of an appropriate adult<sup>14</sup>; and
- 920 (ii) explain to the offender and, where he is under that age, the appropriate adult in ordinary language, the implications of a reprimand and a warning<sup>15</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>16</sup> must publish in such manner as he considers appropriate, guidance as to:

- 921 (A) the circumstances in which it is appropriate to give reprimands or warnings, including criteria for determining<sup>17</sup> whether an offence is not so serious as to require a charge to be brought, and for determining<sup>18</sup> whether an offence is so serious as to require a warning<sup>19</sup>;
- 922 (B) the places where reprimands and warnings may be given<sup>20</sup>;
- 923 (C) the category of constable by whom reprimands and warnings may be given<sup>21</sup>; and 924 (D) the form which reprimands and warnings are to take and the manner in which they are to be given and recorded<sup>22</sup>.

The decision whether to reprimand, warn or charge will depend on the seriousness of the offence as measured by reference to the ACPO Gravity Factor System which scores offences between 1 (always the minimum response applicable) and 4 (always charge) and taking account of public interest considerations and the victim's views: see Home Office Circular 14/2006, paras 4.1-4.3, 9, Annex D.

3187 (2) a social worker of a local authority(s 65(7)(b) (amended by the Children Act 2004 s 64, Sch 5 Pt 4));

1236. Effects of reprimands and warnings on young offenders.

Once a child or young person has been reprimanded, no criminal charge can endure in respect of that offence<sup>1</sup>. However, any reprimand of a child or young person<sup>2</sup>, any warning of a child or young person<sup>3</sup>, and any report on a failure by a child or young person to participate in a rehabilitation programme<sup>4</sup> arranged for him<sup>5</sup> may be cited in criminal proceedings in the same circumstances as a conviction of the person may be cited<sup>6</sup>.

Where a constable warns a child or young person<sup>7</sup>, he must as soon as practicable refer that child or young person to a youth offending team<sup>8</sup>. A youth offending team must assess any child or young person so referred to it, and unless it considers it inappropriate to do so, must arrange for him to participate in a rehabilitation programme<sup>9</sup>. The Secretary of State<sup>10</sup> must publish, in such manner as he considers appropriate, guidance as to what should be included in such a rehabilitation programme arranged for a child or young person, the manner in which any failure by a child or young person to participate in such a programme is to be recorded, and the persons to whom any such failure is to be notified<sup>11</sup>. Where a child or young person who has been warned<sup>12</sup> is convicted of an offence committed within two years of the warning, the court by or before which he is so convicted<sup>13</sup>:

- 925 (1) must not make a conditional discharge order<sup>14</sup> in respect of the offence unless it is of the opinion that there are exceptional circumstances relating to the offence or the offender which justify its doing so<sup>15</sup>; and
- 926 (2) where it does so, must state in open court that it is of that opinion and why it is<sup>16</sup>.

UPDATE

1236 Effects of reprimands and warnings on young offenders

TEXT AND NOTES--As to provision for the giving of youth conditional cautions to children and young persons see PARA 1236A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(i) Preliminary Procedures/1236A. Young offenders: youth conditional cautions.

1236A. Young offenders: youth conditional cautions.

The following provisions are partly in force: SI 2009/140, SI 2009/860, SI 2009/2780. For transitional provision see Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 27 para 18 (partly in force: see SI 2009/2780).

An authorised person may give a youth conditional caution to a child or young person ('the offender') if (1) the offender has not previously been convicted of an offence, and (2) each of the five requirements in the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66B is satisfied: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66A(1) (ss 66A-66H added by Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 9 para 3). In the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66A, 'authorised person' means a constable, an investigating officer, or a person authorised by a relevant prosecutor for the purposes of s 66A: s 66A(7). For the meaning of 'investigating officer' and 'relevant prosecutor' see Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66H. 'Youth conditional caution' means a caution which is given in respect of an offence committed by the offender and which has conditions attached to it with which the offender must comply: s 66A(2). The conditions which may be attached to such a caution are those which have one or more of the following objects (a) facilitating the rehabilitation of the offender; (b) ensuring that the offender makes reparation for the offence; (c) punishing the offender: s 66A(3). The conditions that may be attached to a youth conditional caution include (i) (subject to s 66C) a condition that the offender pay a financial penalty; (ii) a condition that the offender attend at a specified place at specified times: s 66A(4). 'Specified' means specified by a relevant prosecutor: s 66A(4). Conditions attached by virtue of head (ii) may not require the offender to attend for more than 20 hours in total, not including any attendance required by conditions attached for the purpose of facilitating the offender's rehabilitation: s 66A(5). The Secretary of State may by order amend s 66A(5) by substituting a different figure: s 66A(6).

The first requirement is that the authorised person has evidence that the offender has committed an offence: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66B(1). The second requirement is that a relevant prosecutor decides that there is sufficient evidence to charge the offender with the offence, and that a youth conditional caution should be given to the offender in respect of the offence: s 66B(2). The third requirement is that the offender admits to the authorised person that he committed the offence: s 66B(3). The fourth requirement is that the authorised person explains the effect of the youth conditional caution to the offender and warns him that failure to comply with any of the conditions attached to the caution may result in his being prosecuted for the offence: s 66B(4). If the offender is aged 16 or under, the explanation and warning mentioned in s 66B(4) must be given in the presence of an appropriate adult (see PARA 1235): s 66B(5). The fifth requirement is that the offender signs a document which contains (A) details of the offence, (B) an admission by him that he committed the offence, (C) his consent to being given the youth conditional caution, and (D) the conditions attached to the caution: s 66B(6).

Provision is made for the attachment of a condition that the offender pay a financial penalty (a 'financial penalty condition') to a youth conditional caution given in respect of a prescribed offence: see Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66C. For the offences so prescribed, see Crime and Disorder Act 1998 (Youth Conditional Cautions: Financial Penalties) Order 2009, SI 2009/2781.

A relevant prosecutor may, with the consent of the offender, vary the conditions attached to a youth conditional caution by modifying or omitting any of the conditions; or adding a condition: see Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66D.

If the offender fails, without reasonable excuse, to comply with any of the conditions attached to the youth conditional caution, criminal proceedings may be instituted against the person for the offence in question: see Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66E.

Where a person who has been given a youth conditional caution is convicted of an offence committed within two years of the giving of the caution, the court by or before which the person is so convicted (aa) may not make an order under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 12(1)(b) (conditional discharge) in respect of the offence unless it is of the opinion that there are exceptional circumstances relating to the offence or the offender which justify its doing so; and (bb) where it does make such an order, must state in open court that it is of that opinion and why it is: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66F.

The Secretary of State must prepare a code of practice in relation to youth conditional cautions: see Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 66G, and the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 (Youth Conditional Cautions: Code of Practice) Order 2010, SI 2010/127.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(i) Preliminary Procedures/1237. Anti-social behaviour orders.

1237. Anti-social behaviour orders.

Anti-social behaviour orders may be made in respect of any child aged ten or over by a relevant authority<sup>1</sup> if the child has acted in a manner that caused or was likely to cause harassment, alarm or distress to one or more persons not of the same household as himself and the order is necessary to protect those persons from further anti-social acts<sup>2</sup>.

Proceedings for an anti-social behaviour order are civil proceedings, and require no need to prove mens rea; but the criminal standard of proof must be satisfied<sup>3</sup>.

The application is by way of complaint to a magistrates court<sup>4</sup>, who must make an order for a minimum length of two years<sup>5</sup>. Where an anti-social behaviour order is made in relation to a young person aged 16 or younger, the court must make a parenting order in respect of his parents if the court considers it would be desirable in the interests of preventing further anti-social behaviour<sup>6</sup>. In respect of a young person aged 16 or younger, the court, having obtained any information which it considers necessary, must consider making an individual support order for a period not exceeding six months<sup>7</sup>.

The breach of a condition of an anti-social behaviour order without reasonable excuse is a criminal offence<sup>8</sup>. Where a child is guilty of such a breach, the court may not conditionally discharge the offender<sup>9</sup>. Breach of an individual support order is a criminal offence punishable by fine<sup>10</sup>.

An anti-social behaviour order may also be made where a child is convicted of a relevant offence<sup>11</sup>, and the court considers that the offender has acted in a manner that caused or was likely to cause harassment, alarm or distress to one or more persons not of the same household as himself, and that an order is necessary to protect persons in any place in England and Wales from further anti-social acts by him<sup>12</sup>.

1238. Detention after charge.

Where a juvenile arrested<sup>1</sup> for an offence other than under a warrant indorsed for bail<sup>2</sup> is then charged with an offence, the custody officer<sup>3</sup> must order his release from detention either on bail or free of bail unless<sup>4</sup>:

- 927 (1) the arrested person's name and address cannot be ascertained or the custody officer has reasonable grounds for doubting whether a name or address furnished by him as his name or address is his real name or address<sup>5</sup>;
- 928 (2) the custody officer has reasonable grounds for believing that the arrested person will fail to appear in court to answer bail<sup>6</sup>;
- 929 (3) in the case of a person arrested for an imprisonable offence<sup>7</sup>, the custody officer has reasonable grounds for believing that the detention of the person arrested is necessary to prevent him from committing an offence<sup>8</sup>;
- 930 (4) in a case where a drug sample may be taken to test for the presence of a Class A drug<sup>9</sup> and the arrested person has attained the minimum age<sup>10</sup>, the custody officer has reasonable grounds for believing that the detention of the person is necessary to enable the sample to be taken<sup>11</sup>;
- 931 (5) in the case of a person arrested for an offence which is not an imprisonable offence, the custody officer has reasonable grounds for believing that the detention of the person arrested is necessary to prevent him from causing physical injury to any other person or from causing loss of or damage to property<sup>12</sup>;
- 932 (6) the custody officer has reasonable grounds for believing that the detention of the person arrested is necessary to prevent him from interfering with the administration of justice or with the investigation of offences or of a particular offence<sup>13</sup>;
- 933 (7) the custody officer has reasonable grounds for believing that the detention of the person arrested is necessary for his own protection<sup>14</sup>; or
- 934 (8) the custody officer has reasonable grounds for believing that he ought to be detained in his own interests<sup>15</sup>.

If the release of a person arrested is not required by reason of any one or more matters mentioned in heads (1) to (8) above, the custody officer may authorise him to be kept in police detention but may not authorise him to be kept in police detention by virtue of head (4) above after the period of six hours beginning when he was charged with the offence<sup>16</sup>. Where a custody officer authorises a person who has been charged to be kept in police detention, he must, as soon as practicable, make a written record of the grounds for the detention<sup>17</sup>. A written notice of the charge must be given to the appropriate adult<sup>18</sup>.

Where a custody officer authorises an arrested juvenile to be kept in police detention<sup>19</sup>, the custody officer must, unless he certifies that, by reason of such circumstances as are specified in the certificate, it is impracticable for him to do so, or in the case of an arrested juvenile who has attained the age of 12 years, that no secure accommodation<sup>20</sup> is available and that keeping him in other local authority accommodation<sup>21</sup> would not be adequate to protect the public from serious harm from him<sup>22</sup>, secure that the arrested juvenile is moved to local authority accommodation<sup>23</sup>. Where an arrested juvenile is moved to local authority accommodation<sup>24</sup>, it is lawful for any person acting on behalf of the authority to detain him<sup>25</sup>.

A child<sup>26</sup> or young person<sup>27</sup> arrested in pursuance of a warrant must not be released unless his parent<sup>28</sup> or guardian (with or without sureties) enters into a recognisance for such amount as the custody officer at the police station where he is detained considers will secure his attendance at the hearing of the charge<sup>29</sup>. Such a recognisance may, if the custody officer thinks fit, be conditioned for the attendance of the parent or guardian at the hearing in addition to the child or young person<sup>30</sup>.

1 'Arrested juvenile' means a person arrested with or without a warrant who appears to be under the age of 17: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 37(15) (definition amended by the Children Act 1989 s 108(7), Sch 15).

The written record must be made in the presence of the person charged who must at that time be informed by the custody officer of the grounds for his detention: s 38(4). However, s 38(4) does not apply where the person charged is, at the time when the written record is made:

3189 (1) incapable of understanding what is said to him (s 38(5)(a));

3190 (2) violent or likely to become violent (s 38(5)(b)); or 3191 (3) in urgent need of medical attention (s 38(5)(c)).

This is subject to Code C para 2.6A: see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 940.

19 Ie under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 38(1) (as amended): see the text and notes 4-15 supra.

20 'Secure accommodation' means accommodation provided for the purpose of restricting liberty: ibid s 38(6A) (added by the Children Act 1989 s 108(5), Sch 13 para 53; and substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 59).

21 'Local authority accommodation' means accommodation provided by or on behalf of a local authority (within the meaning of the Children Act 1989): Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 38(6A) (as added and substituted: see note 10 supra). For the meaning of 'local authority' see para 1240 note 1 post; definition applied by s 38(8) (amended by the Children Act 1989 Sch 13 para 53(3)).

22 Any reference, in relation to an arrested juvenile charged with a violent or sexual offence, to protecting the public from serious harm from him must be construed as a reference to protecting members of the public from death or serious personal injury, whether physical or psychological, occasioned by further such offences committed by him: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 38(6A) (as added and substituted: see note 10 supra). For these purposes, 'violent offence' and 'sexual offence' have the same meanings as in the Criminal Justice Act 2003 Sch 15 Pt 1 (violent offences) and Sch 15 Pt 2 (sexual offences) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 70-71): Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 38(6A) (as so added and substituted).

26 For these purposes, 'child' means a person under the age of 14: see the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 70(1); and para 3 ante.

27 For these purposes, 'young person' means a person who has attained the age of 14 and is under the age of 17 years: ibid s 29(2) (added by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 68, Sch 8 para 4(1)).

28 In the case of a child or young person:

3192 (1) whose father and mother were not married to each other at the time of his birth (Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 70(1A)(a) (s 70(1A) added by the Family Law Reform Act 1987 ss 8(1), 33(1), Sch 2 para 26; and substituted by the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 106, Sch 7 para 10)); and

3193 (2) with respect to whom a residence order is in force in favour of the father (Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 70(1A)(b) (as so added and substituted)), any reference in the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 to the parent of the child or young person includes, unless the contrary intention appears, a reference to the father (s 70(1A) (as so added and substituted)).

Such a reference to a child or young person whose father and mother were not married to each other at the time of his birth is to be construed in accordance with the Family Law Reform Act 1987 s 1 (see para 125 ante): Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 70(1B) (added by the Family Law Reform Act 1987 ss 8(1), 33(1), Sch 2 para 26; and substituted by the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 Sch 7 para 10). CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(i) Preliminary Procedures/1239. Restrictions on proceedings against young persons.

1239. Restrictions on proceedings against young persons.

It is the duty of a person who decides to lay an information<sup>1</sup> in respect of an offence in a case where he has reason to believe that the alleged offender is a young person<sup>2</sup> to give notice of the decision to the appropriate local authority<sup>3</sup> unless he is himself that authority<sup>4</sup>.

1 As to the laying of an information see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (Reissue) para 912. See also CrimPR Glossary.

2 For the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 ss 5(8), 7(7), (8), 9(1), 23(1), 29(1), 'young person' is to be construed as including a child who has attained the age of ten years: Children and Young Persons Act 1969 (Transitional Modifications of Part I) Order 1970, SI 1970/1882, art 4. For the meaning of 'child' see para 1238 note 26 ante.

3 For these purposes, 'the appropriate local authority', in relation to a young person, means the local authority for the area in which it appears to the informant in question that the young person resides or, if the young person appears to the informant not to reside in the area of a local authority, the local authority in whose area it is alleged that the relevant offence or one of the relevant offences was committed: Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 5(9).

4 Ibid s 5(8). In the case of a person under 18 but over the age of 13 an officer of the local probation board must also be notified: see s 34(2) (amended by the Children Act 1989 s 108(7), Sch 15; and the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt I para 4(1)(a), (2)); and the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 (Transitional Modifications of Part I) Order 1970, SI 1970/1882, art 5 (amended by SI 1973/1083). Where notice is to be given to a local authority under the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 5(8) it does not have to be given before the defendant first appears at court, but as soon as reasonably practicable after the decision to prosecute has been made: DPP v Cottier [1996] 3 All ER 126, [1996] 1 WLR 826, DC. ### 1240. Investigations by local authorities.

Where a local authority<sup>1</sup> or local education authority<sup>2</sup> brings proceedings for an offence alleged to have been committed by a young person<sup>3</sup>, or is notified that any such proceedings are to be brought, it is the authority's duty to make such investigations and provide the court before which the proceedings are heard with such information relating to the home surroundings, school record, health and character of the person in respect of whom the proceedings are brought as appear to the authority likely to assist the court<sup>4</sup>. The local authority or local education authority is relieved of this duty if it is of the opinion that such action is unnecessary<sup>5</sup>, but if the court requests it to make investigations or provide information, or make further investigations and provide further information, relating to these matters, then it is the authority's duty to comply with the request<sup>6</sup>.

1 'Local authority', except in relation to proceedings under the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 1 (repealed) instituted by a local education authority (see note 2 infra), means the council of a non-metropolitan county or of a county borough, metropolitan district or London borough or the Common Council of the City of London: Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 70(1) (definition amended by the Local Government Act 1972 s 195(6), Sch 23 para 16; and the Local Government (Wales) Act 1994 s 22(4), Sch 10 para 6). Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(i) Preliminary Procedures/1243. Presumption and determination of age.

1243. Presumption and determination of age.

Where a person, whether charged with an offence or not, is brought before any court otherwise than for the purpose of giving evidence, and it appears to the court that he is a child or young person<sup>1</sup>, the court must make due inquiry as to the age of that person, and for that purpose must take such evidence as may be forthcoming at the hearing of the case<sup>2</sup>. However, an order or judgment of the court is not invalidated by any subsequent proof that the age of that person has not been correctly stated to the court, and the age presumed or declared by the court to be the age of the person so brought before it must, for the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933, be deemed to be the true age of that person, and, where it appears to the court that the person so brought before it has attained the age of 18 years, that person must for the purposes of that Act be deemed not to be a child or young person<sup>3</sup>.

Where, in any charge or indictment for any of certain offences<sup>4</sup>, it is alleged that the person by or in respect of whom the offence was committed was a child or young person or was under or had attained any specified age, and he appears to the court to have been at the date of the commission of the alleged offence a child or young person, or to have been under or to have attained the specified age, as the case may be, he must for the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 be presumed at that date to have been a child or young person or to have been under or to have attained that age, as the case may be, unless the contrary is proved<sup>5</sup>.

Where, in any charge or indictment for certain offences<sup>6</sup>, it is alleged that the person in respect of whom the offence was committed was a child or was a young person, it is not a defence to prove that the person alleged to have been a child was a young person or the person alleged to have been a young person was a child in any case where the acts constituting the alleged offence would equally have been an offence if committed in respect of a young person or child respectively<sup>7</sup>.

Where a person is charged with an offence under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 in respect of a person apparently under a specified age it is a defence to prove that the person was actually of or over that age<sup>8</sup>.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(i) Preliminary Procedures/1244. Young person reaching 18 during proceedings.

1244. Young person reaching 18 during proceedings.

Where proceedings in respect of a young person<sup>1</sup> are begun for an offence and he attains the age of 18 before the conclusion of the proceedings, the court may continue to deal with the case and make any order which it could have made if he had not attained that age<sup>2</sup>.

1245. Time limits for persons under the age of 18.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may by regulations make provision, with respect to a person under the age of 18 at the time of his arrest in connection with an offence, as to the maximum period to be allowed for the completion of the stage beginning with his arrest and ending with the date fixed for his first appearance in court<sup>2</sup>. Regulations may also provide for the period within which the stage between conviction and sentence should be completed<sup>3</sup>.

(ii) Summary Proceedings

1246. Bail to local authority custody: general.

A person charged with or convicted of a criminal offence has a general right to bail, to which conditions may be attached<sup>1</sup>.

If the parent or guardian of a child or young person<sup>2</sup> consents to be a surety for him<sup>3</sup>, then he may be required to secure that the child or young person complies with any requirement imposed on him<sup>4</sup>. However, he will not be required to secure compliance with any requirement to which his consent does not extend and must not, in respect of those requirements to which his consent does extend, be bound in a sum greater than a specified amount<sup>5</sup>.

A child or young person may be required to comply with requirements imposed for the purpose of securing the electronic monitoring of his compliance (an 'electronic monitoring requirement') with any other requirements imposed by way of a condition of bail<sup>6</sup>, provided the following conditions are met<sup>7</sup>:

- 935 (1) the child or young person is aged 12 or over<sup>8</sup>; and
- 936 (2) that:
- 18
- 1. (a) he is charged with or has been convicted of a violent or sexual offence, or an offence punishable in the case of an adult with imprisonment for a term of 14 years or more<sup>9</sup>; or
- 2. (b) he is charged with or has been convicted of one or more imprisonable offences which, together with any other imprisonable offences of which he has been convicted in any proceedings amount to a recent history of repeatedly committing imprisonable offences while remanded on bail or to local authority accommodation<sup>10</sup>;
- 19
- 937 (3) the court has been notified by the Secretary of State that electronic monitoring arrangements are available in each local justice area that is a relevant area<sup>11</sup> and is satisfied that the necessary provision can be made under those arrangements<sup>12</sup>; and
- 938 (4) a youth offending team<sup>13</sup> has informed the court that in its opinion the imposition of such a requirement will be suitable in the case of the child or young person<sup>14</sup>.

Where a court imposes an electronic monitoring requirement, the requirement must include provision for making a person responsible for the monitoring; and a person who is made so responsible must be of a description specified<sup>15</sup> in an order made by the Secretary of State<sup>16</sup>. The Secretary of State may make rules for regulating the electronic monitoring of compliance with requirements imposed on a child or young person as a condition of bail and the functions of persons made responsible for securing the electronic monitoring of compliance with such requirements<sup>17</sup>.

- 1 As to bail generally see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1165 et seq. There are certain statutory exceptions to the general right to bail: see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) paras 1170-1171.
- 2 'Child' means a person under the age of 14: Bail Act 1976 s 2(2). 'Young person' means a person who has attained the age of 14 and is under the age of 17: s 2(2).
- 3 le for the purposes of ibid s 3(7)(a) (as amended): see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1167.
- 4 le imposed by ibid s 3(6) (as amended) or s 3(6A) (as added): see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1167. However, no requirement is to be imposed on the parent or guardian of a young person where it appears that the young person will attain the age of 17 before the time appointed for him to surrender to custody: s 3(7)(a).
- 5 Ibid s 3(7)(b). The sum by which the parent or guardian of a child or young person may be bound must not exceed £50: s 3(7)(b).
- 6 Ibid s 3(6ZAA) (added by the Criminal Justice and Police Act 2001 s 131(1)). See further CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1167.

- 3199 (ii) in any other case, the court must choose whichever of the police areas referred to in head (c) supra as it thinks fit, and the responsible officer must be of the description which would be specified in heads (1) and (2) supra if the electronic monitoring requirement were imposed for the purpose of securing compliance with requirements which related solely to places or areas within that police area (Local Authority Remands (Electronic Monitoring of Conditions) (Responsible Officer) Order 2002, SI 2002/845, art 6(3)).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(ii) Summary Proceedings/1247. Remand to local authority custody: general.

1247. Remand to local authority custody: general.

Where a court<sup>1</sup> remands a child or young person<sup>2</sup> charged with or convicted of one or more offences, or commits him for trial or sentence, and he is not released on bail, the remand or committal must be to local authority accommodation<sup>3</sup>. Where a court remands a child or young person in connection with extradition proceedings<sup>4</sup> and he is not released on bail the remand must be to local authority accommodation<sup>5</sup>.

A court remanding a person to local authority accommodation must designate the local authority which is to receive him; and that authority must be:

- 939 (1) in the case of a person who is being looked after by a local authority<sup>6</sup>, that authority;<sup>7</sup> and
- 940 (2) in any other case, the local authority in whose area it appears to the court that he resides or the offence or one of the offences was committed<sup>8</sup>.

A child or young person may be required to comply with conditions imposed for the purpose of securing the electronic monitoring of his compliance (an 'electronic monitoring condition') with any other requirements imposed by way of a condition of remand<sup>9</sup>, provided the following requirements are met<sup>10</sup>, namely:

- 941 (a) that the child or young person is aged 12 or over<sup>11</sup>;
- 942 (b) that:
- 20 3. (i) he is charged with or has been convicted of a violent or sexual offence, or an offence punishable in the case of an adult with imprisonment for a term of 14 years or more<sup>12</sup>; or
- 4. (ii) he is charged with or has been convicted of one or more imprisonable offences which, together with any other imprisonable offences of which he has been convicted in any proceedings amount to a recent history of repeatedly committing imprisonable offences while remanded on bail or to local authority accommodation<sup>13</sup>;
- 21 943 (c) that the court has been notified by the Secretary of State that electronic monitoring arrangements are available in each local justice area that is a relevant area<sup>14</sup> and is satisfied that the necessary provision can be made under those arrangements<sup>15</sup>; and
- 944 (d) that a youth offending team<sup>16</sup> has informed the court that in its opinion the imposition of such a requirement will be suitable in the case of the child or young person<sup>17</sup>.

Where a court imposes an electronic monitoring condition, the condition must include provision for making a person responsible for the monitoring; and a person who is made so responsible must be of a description specified<sup>18</sup> in an order made by the Secretary of State<sup>19</sup>. The Secretary of State may make rules for regulating the electronic monitoring of compliance with conditions imposed under the above provisions and the functions of persons made responsible for securing the electronic monitoring of compliance with such conditions<sup>20</sup>.

Where a court remands a person aged 10 or 11 on bail and either the person is charged with or has been convicted of a serious offence, or in the opinion of the court the person is a persistent offender, the court may order a local authority to make an oral or written report specifying where the person is likely to be placed or maintained if he is further remanded to local authority accommodation<sup>21</sup>.

2 For the meaning of 'child' see para 613 note 1 ante. 'Young person' means a person who has attained the age of 14 years and is under the age of 17 years: Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(12) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

3 Ibid s 23(1) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). As from a day to be appointed, this provision is amended by the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006 s 61 so as to refer also to sending for trial. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the modification of this provision in relation to boys aged 15 and 16 see para 1253 post. An order under the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23 (as substituted and amended) remanding a young person to local authority care does not confer parental responsibility on the local authority: North Yorkshire County Council v Selby Youth Court Justices [1994] 1 All ER 991, [1995] 1 WLR 1, DC. As to parental responsibility see para 134 et seq ante. 'Local authority accommodation' means accommodation provided by or on behalf of a local authority within the meaning of the Children Act 1989: Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 70(1) (definition added by the Children Act 1989 s 108(4), Sch 12 para 29). However, for the purposes of the definition of 'secure accommodation' (see para 1248 post), 'local authority accommodation' includes any accommodation falling within the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 61(2) (as substituted and amended): Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(12) (as substituted (see note 1 supra); and amended by the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 s 19(1)).

A magistrates' court having power to remand a person in custody may, if the remand is for a period not exceeding 24 hours, commit him to detention at a police station: Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(14) (as so substituted; and amended by the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 ss 119, 120(2), Sch 8 para 22, Sch 10); Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 128(7) (amended by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 48).

4 'Extradition proceedings' means proceedings under the Extradition Act 2003 (see EXTRADITION): Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(12) (definition added by the Extradition Act 2003 s 201(1), (9)).

5 Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(1A) (s 23 as substituted (see note 1 supra); s 23(1A) added by the Extradition Act 2003 s 20(1), (3)).

6 Any reference to a person who is being looked after by a local authority must be construed in accordance with the Children Act 1989 s 22 (as amended): Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(13)(a) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

7 Ibid s 23(2)(a) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). As to the meaning of 'look after' where a local authority looks after a child see para 867 ante. Where a person is remanded to local authority accommodation it is lawful for any person acting on behalf of the designated authority to detain him: s 23(3) (as so substituted).

8 Ibid s 23(2)(b) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

9 Ibid s 23(7)(b) (substituted by the Criminal Justice and Police Act 2001 s 132(1)(b)).

10 Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23AA(1) (s 23AA added by the Criminal Justice and Police Act 2001 s 132(2)).

11 Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23AA(2) (as added: see note 10 supra).

12 Ibid s 23AA(3)(a) (as added: see note 10 supra).

13 Ibid s 23AA(3)(b) (as added: see note 10 supra). For the meaning of 'local authority accommodation' see the Children and Young Persons Act 1969; and note 6 supra (definition applied by the Bail Act 1976 s 3AA(11) (as so added)).

14 A local justice area is a relevant area in relation to a proposed electronic monitoring condition if the court considers that it will not be practicable to secure the electronic monitoring in question unless electronic monitoring arrangements are available in that area: ibid s 23AA(9) (s 23AA as added (see note 10 supra); s 23AA(9) amended by the Courts Act 2003 s 109(1), Sch 8 para 135). As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante.

15 Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23AA(4) (s 23AA as added (see note 10 supra); s 23AA(4) amended by the Courts Act 2003 Sch 8 para 135).

16 As to the functions of youth offending teams see para 1306 post.

17 Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23AA(5) (s 23AA as added: see note 10 supra).

18 The description of the person responsible for the monitoring of an electronic monitoring condition for the purposes of ibid s 23AA(6) (as added) is: (1) in relation to such a requirement imposed on an offender residing in a police area specified in the Local Authority Remands (Electronic Monitoring of Conditions) (Responsible Officer) Order 2002, SI 2002/845, Sch 1, one employed by Premier Monitoring Services, PO Box 45, Norwich, NR3 1BF to monitor offenders (art 3 (amended by SI 2005/984)); and (2) in relation to such a requirement imposed on an offender residing in a police area specified in Sch 2, one employed by Securicor Justice Services Limited, Sutton Park, 15 Carshalton Road, Sutton, Surrey, SM1 4LD to monitor offenders (Local Authority Remands (Electronic Monitoring of Conditions) (Responsible Officer) Order 2002, SI 2002/845, art 4 (amended by SI 2005/984)).

Where:

3200 (a) an electronic monitoring requirement is imposed for the purpose of securing compliance with more than one requirement (Local Authority Remands (Electronic Monitoring of Conditions) (Responsible Officer) Order 2002, SI 2002/845, art 6(1)(a));

3201 (b) the requirements relate to different places or areas (art 6(1)(b));

3202 (c) the places or areas are in different police areas (art 6(1)(c)); and 3203 (d) the police areas are specified in different Schedules to the Electronic Monitoring of Requirements) (Responsible Officer) Order 2002, SI 2002/845 (as amended) (art 6(1)(d)),

the following apply:

3204 (i) if one of the requirements is a curfew requirement, then heads (a) and (b) supra have effect as if the electronic monitoring requirement was imposed solely for the purpose of securing compliance with the curfew requirement (art 6(2) (amended by SI 2005/984));

3205 (ii) in any other case, the court must choose whichever of the police areas referred to in head (c) supra as it thinks fit, and the responsible officer must be of the description which would be specified in heads (1) and (2) supra if the electronic monitoring requirement were imposed for the purpose of securing compliance with requirements which related solely to places or areas within that police area (Local Authority Remands (Electronic Monitoring of Conditions) (Responsible Officer) Order 2002, SI 2002/845, art 6(3)).

The Bail Act 1976 s 3AA(8)-(10) (as added) (see para 1246 ante) apply in relation to the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23AA (as added) as they apply in relation to the Bail Act 1976 s 3AA (as added): Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23AA(8) (as added: see note 10 supra).

19 Ibid s 23AA(6) (as added: see note 10 supra). See the Local Authority Remands (Electronic Monitoring of Conditions) (Responsible Officer) Order 2002, SI 2002/845 (amended by SI 2005/984).

20 Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23AA(7) (as added: see note 10 supra). At the date at which this volume states the law no such rules had been made.

21 Ibid s 23B (added by the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 90). Such an order must designate the local authority which is to make the report, and that authority must be the local authority which the court would have designated under the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(2) (as substituted) (see the text and notes 7-8 supra) if the person had been remanded to local authority accommodation: s 23B(3) (as so added). Such an order must specify the period within which the local authority must comply with the order: s 23B(4) (as so added). The maximum period that may be so specified is seven working days: s 23B(5) (as so added). If the Secretary of State by order so provides, s 23(2) (as substituted) also applies where:

3206 (1) a court remands on bail any person who has attained the age of 12 and is under the age of 17 (s 23B(6)(a) (as so added));

3207 (2) the requirement in s 23AA(3) (as added) is fulfilled (s 23B(6)(b) (as so added)); and 3208 (3) in a case where he is remanded after conviction, the court is satisfied that the behaviour which constituted the offence was due, to a significant extent, to the circumstances in which the offender was living (s 23B(6)(c) (as so added)).

'Serious offence' means an offence punishable in the case of an adult with imprisonment for a term of two years or more: s 23B(7) (as so added). 'Working day' means any day other than a Saturday or a Sunday, Christmas Day or Good Friday, or a bank holiday in England and Wales under the Banking and Financial Dealings Act 1971 (see TIME vol 97 (2010) PARA 321): s 23B(7) (as so added).

1248. Security requirement: general.

A court remanding to local authority accommodation<sup>1</sup> a child or young person<sup>2</sup> charged with or convicted of one or more offences may, after consultation<sup>3</sup> with the designated authority, require that authority to comply with a security requirement, that is to say, a requirement that the person in question be placed and kept in secure accommodation<sup>4</sup>.

Where a court imposes a security requirement in respect of a person, it is its duty:

- 945 (1) to state in open court that it is of the opinion, after considering all the options for the remand of the person, that only remanding him to local authority accommodation with a security requirement would be adequate to protect the public from serious harm from him, or to prevent the commission by him of imprisonable offences<sup>5</sup>; and
- 946 (2) to explain to him in open court and in ordinary language why it is of that opinion<sup>6</sup>.

Where a person is remanded to local authority accommodation and a security requirement is imposed in respect of him, the designated local authority may, with the consent of the Secretary of State, arrange for the person to be detained, for the whole or any part of the period of the remand or committal, in a secure training centre; and his detention there pursuant to the arrangements is lawful<sup>7</sup>.

It is the duty of every local authority to secure that it is in a position to comply with any security requirement which may be imposed on it<sup>8</sup>. A local authority may discharge this duty either by providing secure accommodation itself or by making arrangements with other local authorities for the provision by it of such accommodation or by making arrangements with persons carrying on an appropriate children's home for the provision or use by it of such accommodation<sup>9</sup>.

There are other powers by which a child or young person may be placed in secure accommodation<sup>10</sup>.

If a person aged 17 years is remanded in custody, he may be remanded to a prison<sup>11</sup>.

The custody time limit provisions apply to proceedings in the youth court<sup>12</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> For the meaning of 'child' see para 613 note 1 ante. For the meaning of 'young person' see para 1247 note 2 ante.

<sup>3</sup> Any reference to consultation must be construed as a reference to such consultation, if any, as is reasonably practicable in all the circumstances of the case: Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(13)(b) (s 23 substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 60).

<sup>4</sup> Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(4) (as substituted (see note 3 supra); and amended by the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 97(1)). As to the modification of this provision in relation to boys aged 15 and 16 see para 1253 post. 'Secure accommodation' means accommodation which is provided in a children's home in respect of which a person is registered under the Care Standards Act 2000 Pt II (ss 11-42) (as amended) for the purpose of restricting liberty, and is approved for that purpose by the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers: Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(12) (s 23 as so substituted; definition amended by the Care Standards Act 2000 s 116, Sch 4 para 3(b)). For the meaning of 'children's home' see para 983; definition applied by the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(12) (as substituted (see note 3 supra); and amended by the Care Standards Act 2000 Sch 4 para 3(a)). As to the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers see para 155 ante.

Where a male aged 15 or 16 years is remanded or committed under the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(4) (as substituted and amended) to local authority accommodation with a requirement that he be placed and kept in secure accommodation, a remand centre or a prison, the court must record in the warrant of commitment a statement of any declaration that is required in connection with that remand or committal: CrimPR 18.8.

5 Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(5AA), (6)(a) (s 23 as substituted (see note 3 supra); s 23(5AA) (added by the Criminal Justice and Police Act 2001 s 130(1), (3); and amended by the Extradition Act 2003 s 201(1), (7)).

6 Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(6)(b) (s 23 as substituted: see note 3 supra). A magistrates' court must cause a reason stated by it under head (2) in the text to be specified in the warrant of commitment and to be entered in the register: s 23(6)(b) (as so substituted). 'Magistrates' court' includes a justice: s 23(12) (as so substituted).

7 Ibid s 23(7A) (s 23(7A), (7B) added by the Criminal Justice and Police Act 2001 s 133(1)). Such arrangements may include provision for payments to be made by the authority to the Secretary of State: Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(7B) (as so added).

8 Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 61(1) (amended by the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 120(2), Sch 10). Such a security requirement may be imposed under the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(4) (as substituted and amended): see note 4 supra.

As from a day to be appointed, in relation to any costs incurred by a local authority in discharging its duty under the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 61(1) (as amended), the Secretary of State may: (1) defray such costs to such extent as he considers appropriate in any particular case (s 61A(1)(a) (s 61 added by the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 s 21)); (2) defray a proportion to be determined by him from time to time of such costs (Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 61A(1)(b) (as so added)); and (3) defray or contribute to such costs in accordance with a tariff to be determined by him from time to time (s 61A(1)(c) (as so added)). Such payments are to be made out of money provided by Parliament: s 61A(3) (as so added). The Secretary of State may require any person providing secure accommodation to transmit to him, at such times and in such form as he may direct, such particulars as he may require with respect to any such costs: s 61A(2) (as so added). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

9 Ibid s 61(2) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 s 19(3); and the Care Standards Act 2000 Sch 4 para 17).

The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision as to the co-operation required of local authorities in the provision of secure accommodation: Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 61(3). Such regulations must be made by statutory instrument which is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 61(4). ### 1249. Security requirement where remanded.

A court remanding to local authority accommodation<sup>1</sup> a child or young person<sup>2</sup> charged with or convicted of one or more offences or committed or sent for trial<sup>3</sup> must not impose a security requirement except in respect of a child who has attained the age of 12, or a young person, who (in either case) is of a prescribed description<sup>4</sup>, and then only if<sup>5</sup>:

- 948 (2) he is charged with or has been convicted of one or more imprisonable offences which, together with any other imprisonable offences of which he has been convicted in any proceedings amount, or would, if he were convicted of the offences with which he is charged, amount, to a recent history of repeatedly committing imprisonable offences while remanded on bail or to local authority accommodation<sup>8</sup>, and (in either case) the following condition must be satisfied<sup>9</sup>. The condition is that the court is of the opinion, after considering all the options for the remand of the person, that only remanding him to local authority accommodation with a security requirement would be adequate to protect the public from serious harm from him, or to prevent the commission by him of imprisonable offences<sup>10</sup>.

3210 (2) any person who is of the age of 14 (art 2(b));

3211 (3) any female person who is of the age of 15 or 16 (art 2(c)).

Any reference, in relation to a person charged with or convicted of a violent or sexual offence, to protecting the public from serious harm from him must be construed as a reference to protecting members of the public from ### 1252. Remand without security requirement.

A court remanding a person to local authority accommodation<sup>1</sup> without imposing a security requirement may, after consultation with the designated authority, require that person to comply with:

Bail and remand to local authority custody: alternative arrangements for boys aged 15 and 16 charged with specific offences.

1253. Bail and remand to local authority custody: alternative arrangements for boys aged 15 and 16 charged with specific offences.

In relation to remand or committal of any male person who is of the age of 15 or 16<sup>1</sup>, who is not of a prescribed description<sup>2</sup> and is not remanded in connection with proceedings under the Extradition Act 2003<sup>3</sup>, the following arrangements apply.

Where a court<sup>4</sup> remands a child or young person<sup>5</sup> charged with or convicted of one or more offences, or commits him for trial or sentence, and he is not released on bail, then, unless he is remanded to a remand centre or a prison<sup>6</sup>, the remand or committal must be to local authority accommodation<sup>7</sup>.

A court remanding a person to local authority accommodation must designate the local authority which is to receive him; and that authority must be:

- 957 (1) in the case of a person who is being looked after by a local authority<sup>8</sup>, that authority<sup>9</sup>; and
- 958 (2) in any other case, the local authority in whose area it appears to the court that he resides or the offence or one of the offences was committed<sup>10</sup>.

Where a court, after consultation<sup>11</sup> with an officer of a local probation board, a social worker of a local authority or a member of a youth offending team, declares a person to be of a description set out below<sup>12</sup>:

- 959 (a) it must remand him to local authority accommodation and require him to be placed and kept in secure accommodation<sup>13</sup>, if:
- 24 7. (i) it also, after such consultation, declares him to be a person who in its opinion, it would be undesirable to be remanded to a prison, by reason of his physical or emotional immaturity or a propensity of his to harm himself<sup>14</sup>; and
- 8. (ii) it has been notified that secure accommodation is available for him<sup>15</sup>; or
- 25 960 (b) it must remand him to a remand centre, if head (a) above does not apply and it has been notified that such a centre is available for the reception from the court of persons to whom the description set out below applies<sup>16</sup>; and
- 961 (c) it must remand him to a prison, if neither head (a) nor head (b) above applies<sup>17</sup>.

A person falls within the description referred to above if:

- 962 (A) he is charged with or has been convicted of a violent or sexual offence<sup>18</sup>, or an offence punishable in the case of an adult with imprisonment for a term of 14 years or more<sup>19</sup>; or
- 963 (B) he has a recent history of absconding while remanded to local authority accommodation, and is charged with or has been convicted of an imprisonable offence<sup>20</sup> alleged or found to have been committed while he was so remanded<sup>21</sup>, and (in either case) the court is of opinion that only remanding him to a remand centre or prison, or to local authority accommodation with a requirement that he be placed and kept in secure accommodation, would be adequate to protect the public from serious harm from him or to prevent the commission by him of imprisonable offences<sup>22</sup>.

A court may not make a declaration that a person falls within this description in respect of a person who is not legally represented in the court unless he was granted a right to representation funded by the Legal Services Commission<sup>23</sup> as part of the Criminal Defence Service<sup>24</sup> but the right was withdrawn because of his conduct or because it appeared that his financial resources were such that he was not eligible to be granted such a right<sup>25</sup>; he applied for such representation and the application was refused because it appeared that his financial resources were such that he was not eligible to be granted a right to it<sup>26</sup>; or having been informed of his right to apply for such representation and had the opportunity to do so, he refused or failed to apply<sup>27</sup>.

Where a court declares a person to fall within this description, it is its duty to state in open court that it is of the opinion that he so falls, and to explain to him in open court and in ordinary language why it is of that opinion<sup>28</sup>.

A court remanding a person to local authority accommodation without imposing a security requirement<sup>29</sup> may, after consultation with the designated authority, require that person to comply with any such conditions as could be imposed under the Bail Act 1976<sup>30</sup> if he were then being granted bail<sup>31</sup> and any conditions imposed for the purpose of securing the electronic monitoring of his compliance with any other condition so imposed<sup>32</sup>. Where a court imposes on a person any such conditions<sup>33</sup>, it is its duty to explain to him in open court and in ordinary language why it is imposing those conditions<sup>34</sup>.

A court remanding a person to local authority accommodation without imposing a security requirement may, after consultation with the designated authority, impose on that authority requirements for securing compliance with any conditions imposed on that person<sup>35</sup>, or requirements stipulating that he must not be placed with a named person<sup>36</sup>.

Where a person is remanded to local authority accommodation without the imposition of a security requirement, a relevant court<sup>37</sup> may, on the application of the designated authority, declare him to be a person falling within the description set out above, and on doing so its duty to remand<sup>38</sup> applies<sup>39</sup>.

Where a person is remanded to local authority accommodation, a relevant court may, on the application of the designated authority, impose on that person any such conditions as could be imposed on that person if the court were then remanding him to such accommodation, and where it does so, it may impose on that authority any requirements for securing compliance with the conditions so imposed<sup>40</sup>. Where a person is remanded to local authority accommodation, a relevant court may, on the application of the designated authority or that person, vary or revoke any conditions or requirements imposed<sup>41</sup>.

It is the duty of every local authority to secure that it is in a position to comply with requirements imposed under the provisions described above<sup>42</sup>.

The text refers to a prescribed description for the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(5) (as substituted and amended, and as it has effect without modification) (see para 1246 text and notes 19-21 ante). At the date at which this volume states the law, the descriptions so prescribed exclude male persons aged 15 and 16: see para 1249 notes 4, 5 ante. The differential treatment of boys and girls aged 15 and 16 is justified and not contrary to the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms (Rome, 4 November 1950; TS 71 (1953); Cmd 8969) art 14 because the greater number of boys than girls in custody has led to the development of a more comprehensive network of specialist

1254. Liability to arrest for breaking conditions of remand.

A child or young person<sup>1</sup> who has been remanded or committed to local authority accommodation and in respect of whom conditions have been imposed<sup>2</sup> may be arrested without warrant<sup>3</sup> by a constable if the constable has reasonable grounds for suspecting that the child or young person has broken any of those conditions<sup>4</sup>. A justice of the peace before whom a child or young person is brought<sup>8</sup> if of the opinion that the child or young person has broken any condition imposed on him<sup>9</sup> must remand him<sup>10</sup>, but, if not of that opinion, it must remand him to the place to which he had been remanded or committed at the time of his arrest subject to the same conditions as those which had been imposed on him at that time<sup>11</sup>.

1255. Summary trial of young person.

- 964 (1) he is charged with an offence of homicide<sup>6</sup>;
- 965 (2) each of the requirements in the Firearms Act 1968 relating to mandatory minimum sentence for certain offences under that Act<sup>7</sup> would be satisfied with respect to the offence and the person charged with it, if he were convicted of that offence<sup>8</sup>;
- 966 (3) the offence is one under which young persons convicted on indictment of certain grave offences may be sentenced to be detained for long periods<sup>9</sup> and the court considers that if he is found guilty of the offence it ought to be possible to sentence him under certain sentencing provisions<sup>10</sup>; or
- 967 (4) he is charged jointly with a person who has attained the age of 18 and the court considers it necessary in the interests of justice to commit or send them both for trial<sup>11</sup>.

In a case falling within head (3) or head (4) above the accused must be committed for trial if the court is of the opinion that there is sufficient evidence to put him on trial or if it has power<sup>12</sup> to commit him without consideration of the evidence<sup>13</sup>. Where a magistrates' court commits a person under the age of 18 for trial for an offence of homicide, or for an offence within head (3) above, it may also commit him for trial for any other indictable offence with which he is charged at the same time if the charges could be joined in the same indictment<sup>14</sup>.

If on trying a person summarily<sup>15</sup> the court finds him guilty, it may impose a fine not exceeding a stated amount<sup>16</sup> or may exercise the same powers as it could have exercised if he had been found guilty of an offence for which, but for the restriction on imposing imprisonment on young offenders<sup>17</sup>, he could have been sentenced to imprisonment for a term not exceeding the maximum term of imprisonment for the offence on conviction on indictment, or six months, whichever is the less<sup>18</sup>.

A youth court<sup>19</sup> is not required to adjourn any proceedings for any offence at any stage by reason only of the fact that the court commits the accused for trial for another offence, or that the accused is charged with another offence<sup>20</sup>.

1 As from a day to be appointed, the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24 is amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 41, Sch 3 Pt 1 paras 1, 9, Sch 37 Pt 4. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. See further CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1105; MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 663.

2 For the meaning of 'magistrates' court' see MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 583.

3 As to the laying of an information see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (Reissue) para 912.

4 As to indictable offences see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1102 et seq.

5 Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24(1) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 68, Sch 8 para 6). The Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24(1) (as amended) is substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 Sch 3 Pt I paras 1, 9(1), (2) as from a day to be appointed under s 336(3) to provide that where a person under the age of 18 years appears or is brought before a magistrates' court on an information charging him with an indictable offence he must, subject to the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 ss 51, 51A (as added) (see para 1262 post; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1132) and the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 ss 24A, 24B (both as added) (see paras 1256-1257 post), be tried summarily. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. See further CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1116; MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 663. As to the situation until this substitution comes into force see further R (on the application of the DPP) v South East Surrey Youth Court (Ghanbari, interested party) [2005] EWHC 2929 (Admin), [2006] 2 All ER 444; and see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1105.

The Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24 (as amended) is directed only at the procedure of the magistrates' court, and cannot operate so as to deprive the Crown Court of jurisdiction to consider the joinder of counts: R v Stephenson (1998) 162 JP 495, CA. A trial of a child should not be transferred to the Crown Court unless the prosecution could conclude that a magistrates' court would be likely to find that the case fell within the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24 (as amended), and a statement to that effect should be included in the transfer notice: R v T, R v K [2001] 1 Cr App Rep 446, (2001) Times, 11 January, CA. An important consideration when deciding whether to transfer to the Crown Court is whether the young offender will be able to have a fair trial within the meaning of the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms (Rome, 4 November 1950; TS 71 (1953); Cmd 8969) art 6: Application 24724/94 T v United Kingdom [2000] 2 All ER 1024, [2000] Crim LR 187, ECtHR. The date on which the court decides mode of trial is the crucial date for determining whether the defendant has the right to elect trial if he is aged 18 and over: R v West London Justices, ex p Siley-Winditt [2000] Crim LR 926, DC. See also R (on the application of H) v Southampton Youth Court [2004] EWHC 2912 (Admin), 169 JP 37, [2005] Crim LR 395; R (on the application of Crown Prosecution Service) v Redbridge Youth Court [2005] EWHC 1390 (Admin) at [11], 169 JP 393 at [11] per Brooke LJ.

6 Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24(1B)(a) (s 24(1B) added by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 42(1),(2)(c)). As to homicide see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 84 et seq. An offence under the Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims Act 2004 s 5 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 107) is an offence of homicide for these purposes: s 6(1), (5).

8 See the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24(1B)(b) (as added: see note 6 supra).

This includes situations where the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006 s 29(3) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE) would apply if he were convicted of the offence: see the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24(1B)(c) (added by the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006 s 49, Sch 1 para 1).

9 The offence is one mentioned in the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 91(1), (2) (s 91(1) amended; s 91(2) repealed) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 78). As to the prospective substitution of this provision see note 5 supra. The sentencing provisions mentioned in the text are those under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 91(3) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 78). See further MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 663.

11 Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24(1)(b) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 Sch 8 para 6). As to the prospective substitution of this provision see note 5 supra. Where in such a case a magistrates' court commits a person under the age of 18 for trial for an offence with which he is charged jointly with a person who has attained that age, the court may also commit him for trial for any other indictable offence with which he is charged at the same time (whether jointly with the person who has attained that age or not), if the charges for both could be joined on the same indictment: Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24(2) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 Sch 8 para 6; and the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 Sch 8 para 40(2)). As to committal for trial see MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 676. As to the effects of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 51(5) upon committal proceedings see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1132. Where a magistrates' court conducts committal proceedings against both a young person and an adult and concludes that there is sufficient evidence to commit the young person but not the adult, it must discharge the adult and then consider whether the young person's case falls within the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 24(1)(a) (as amended) in order to determine the mode of trial; it has no power to remit the case to a youth court for the mode of trial to be decided: R v Tottenham Youth Court, ex p Fawzy [1998] 1 All ER 365, [1999] 1 WLR 1350. See further MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 663.

1255 Summary trial of young person

NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(ii) Summary Proceedings/1256. Indicating intention as to plea in certain cases.

1256. Indicating intention as to plea in certain cases.

As from a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup> where:

- 968 (1) a person under the age of 18 years<sup>2</sup> appears or is brought before a magistrates' court on an information<sup>3</sup> charging him with certain<sup>4</sup> offences<sup>5</sup>; and 969 (2) but for the application of the following provisions<sup>6</sup>, the court would be required at that stage<sup>7</sup> to determine, in relation to the offence, whether to send the person to the Crown Court for trial, or to determine any matter, the effect of which would be to determine whether he is sent to the Crown Court for trial<sup>8</sup>, the court must, before proceeding to make any such determination (the 'relevant determination'), follow the following procedure<sup>9</sup>.

The court must cause the charge to be written down, if this has not already been done, and to be read to the defendant<sup>10</sup>. The court must explain to the defendant in ordinary language that he may indicate whether (if the offence were to proceed to trial) he would plead guilty or not guilty, and that if he indicates that he would plead guilty:

9. (a) the court must proceed as if the proceedings constituted from the beginning the summary trial of the information and, having been asked, he had pleaded guilty<sup>11</sup>;
10. (b) in cases where the offence is mentioned in the provisions<sup>12</sup> relating to a sentence of detention for a specified period, he may be sent to the Crown Court for sentencing<sup>13</sup> if the court is of a specified<sup>14</sup> opinion<sup>15</sup>.

The court must then ask the defendant whether, if the offence were to proceed to trial, he would plead guilty or not guilty<sup>16</sup>. If the defendant indicates that he would plead guilty, the court must proceed as if the proceedings constituted from the beginning the summary trial of the information and as if, having been asked, the defendant had pleaded guilty, and, accordingly, the court must not, and may not be required to, proceed to make the relevant determination or to proceed further under the relevant provision<sup>17</sup> relating to sending for trial in relation to the offence<sup>18</sup>.

If the defendant indicates that he would plead not guilty, the court must proceed to make the relevant determination and the above provisions<sup>19</sup> cease to apply<sup>20</sup>. If the defendant in fact fails to indicate a plea he is to be taken<sup>21</sup> to indicate that he would plead not guilty<sup>22</sup>.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(iii) Remission to Youth Court or Magistrates' Court/1259. Cases to be remitted to youth court: remittal for sentence.

(iii) Remission to Youth Court or Magistrates' Court

1259. Cases to be remitted to youth court: remittal for sentence.

Where child or young person (that is to say, any person aged under 18)<sup>1</sup>, is convicted by or before any court of an offence other than homicide<sup>2</sup>, the court may and, if it is not a youth court<sup>3</sup>, must unless satisfied that it would be undesirable to do so, remit the case<sup>4</sup>:

- 978 (1) if the offender was sent to the Crown Court for trial<sup>5</sup> to a youth court acting for the place where he was committed for trial or sent to the Crown Court for trial<sup>6</sup>; or
- 979 (2) in any other case, to a youth court acting either for the same place as the remitting court or for the place where the offender habitually resides<sup>7</sup>.

Where a case is so remitted, the offender must be brought before a youth court accordingly, and that court may deal with him in any way in which it might have dealt with him if he had been tried and convicted by that court<sup>8</sup>.

A court by which an order remitting a case to a youth court is made<sup>9</sup>:

- 980 (a) may<sup>10</sup> give such directions as appear to be necessary with respect to the custody of the offender or for his release on bail<sup>11</sup> until he can be brought before the youth court<sup>12</sup>; and
- 981 (b) must cause to be transmitted to the designated officer for the youth court a certificate setting out the nature of the offence and stating that the offender has been convicted of the offence, and that the case has been remitted for the purpose of being dealt with under specific provisions of the Power of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000<sup>13</sup>.

Where a case is so remitted, the offender has no right of appeal against the order of remission, but has the same right of appeal against any order of the court to which the case is remitted as if he had been convicted by that court<sup>14</sup>.

If the court would be required<sup>15</sup>, were it not to remit the case<sup>16</sup>, to refer the offender to a youth offender panel<sup>17</sup>, the court may, but need not, so remit the case<sup>18</sup>. However, if the court is not required to refer the offender to a youth offender panel<sup>19</sup>, the case may be dealt with by means of:

- 982 (i) an order discharging the offender absolutely or conditionally<sup>20</sup>;
- 983 (ii) an order for the payment of a fine<sup>21</sup>; or
- 984 (iii) an order<sup>22</sup> requiring the offender's parent or guardian to enter into a recognisance to take proper care<sup>23</sup> of him and exercise proper control<sup>24</sup> over him<sup>25</sup>, with or without any other order that the court has power to make when absolutely or conditionally discharging an offender, if the court is of the opinion that the case is one which can properly be dealt with by such means<sup>26</sup>.

Before finally disposing of the case or before remitting the case to another court in pursuance of the Power of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000<sup>27</sup>, the court must inform the relevant minor and his parent or guardian, if present, or any person assisting him in his case, of the manner in which it proposes to deal with the case and allow any of those persons so informed to make representations, but the relevant minor must not be so informed if the court considers it undesirable so to do<sup>28</sup>. On making any order, the court must explain to the relevant minor the general nature and effect of the order unless, in the case of an order requiring his parent or guardian to enter into a recognisance, it appears to it undesirable so to do<sup>29</sup>.

4 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 8(2). In relation to a magistrates' court other than a youth court, s 8(2) has effect subject to s 8(6): see s 8(2). Without prejudice to the power to remit any case to a youth court which is conferred on a magistrates' court other than a youth court by s 8(1), (2), where such a magistrates' court convicts a child or young person of an offence it must exercise that power unless the case falls within s 8(7) (see note 18 infra) or s 8(8) (see note 26 infra): s 8(6). ### 1259 Cases to be remitted to youth court: remittal for sentence

TEXT AND NOTES 27-29--CrimPR Pt 44 now Criminal Procedure Rules 2010, SI 2010/60, Pt 37.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(1) OFFENDERS UNDER THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN/(iii) Remission to Youth Court or Magistrates' Court/1260. Young person charged jointly with older person.

1260. Young person charged jointly with older person.

Where:

- 985 (1) a person under the age of 18 ('the juvenile') appears or is brought before a magistrates' court other than a youth court<sup>1</sup> on an information<sup>2</sup> jointly charging him and one or more other persons with an offence<sup>3</sup>; and
- 986 (2) that other person, or any of those other persons, has attained that age<sup>4</sup>, head (a) and head (b) below have effect notwithstanding the provision<sup>5</sup> which would otherwise require the charge against the juvenile to be heard by a magistrates' court other than a youth court<sup>6</sup>.

If:

- 987 (a) the court proceeds to the summary trial<sup>7</sup> of the information in the case of both or all of the accused, and the older accused<sup>8</sup> or each of the older accused pleads guilty<sup>9</sup>; or
- 988 (b) the court, in the case of the older accused, or each of the older accused, sends him to the Crown Court for trial under certain provisions<sup>10</sup> and, in the case of the juvenile, proceeds to the summary trial of the information<sup>11</sup>, then, if in either situation the juvenile pleads not guilty, the court may before any evidence is called in his case remit him for trial to a youth court acting for the same place as the remitting court or for the place where he habitually resides<sup>12</sup>.

A person so remitted to a youth court must be brought before and tried by a youth court accordingly<sup>13</sup>. A person so remitted has no right of appeal against the order of remission<sup>14</sup>, and the remitting court may<sup>15</sup> give such directions as appear to be necessary with respect to his custody or for his release on bail until he can be brought before the youth court<sup>16</sup>.

1265. Constitution of a youth panel.

A youth panel is a committee for each local justice area consisting of the youth justices<sup>1</sup> for the local justice area to which the youth panel relates<sup>2</sup>. The youth panel makes recommendations to the Bench Training and Development Committee<sup>3</sup> for its local justice area or, in the case of the Inner London area, the Inner London Youth Training and Development Committee<sup>4</sup> in relation to the number of new justices required to sit and preside in youth courts and liaise with other bodies in order to share information and represent the views of youth justices<sup>5</sup>.

A youth panel must meet as often as necessary but not less than twice a year<sup>6</sup>.

Where two or more outgoing panels had formed a combined panel<sup>7</sup>, there must be a combined youth panel for the local justice areas covered by the combined outgoing panel<sup>8</sup>. There must be a combined youth panel for the Inner London area<sup>9</sup>. The Lord Chief Justice may, on the application of the youth panels concerned and after consultation with the area director, give approval for the formation of a combined youth panel in respect of two or more local justice areas or dissolution of a combined youth panel<sup>10</sup>.

The members of each youth panel must elect, by secret ballot, a chairman and one or more deputy chairmen, to hold office for a term of one year from 1 January following the date of appointment<sup>11</sup>. However, person who, immediately before 13 July 2007, held office as a chairman of an outgoing panel or a combined outgoing panel held office as chairman of the youth panel for the corresponding local justice area or areas for a term beginning on 13 July 2007 and ending on 31 December 2007<sup>12</sup>. At the youth election meeting in 2007 the members of the youth panel must elect the chairman and one or more deputy chairmen to hold office from 1 January 2008<sup>13</sup>. At the youth election meeting in 2007 and each subsequent youth election meeting the members of the youth panel must decide whether the election in the following year is to take place at the youth election meeting or by postal ballot to be conducted prior to the youth election meeting and, if appropriate, the method of conducting a postal ballot<sup>14</sup>. Nominations for the chairman and one or more deputy chairmen may be made by the members of the youth panel to the justices' clerk<sup>15</sup>. If a vacancy occurs in the chairmanship or deputy chairmanship, the members of the youth panel must, as soon as practicable, elect by secret ballot a chairman or, as the case may be, deputy chairman, to hold office for the remainder of the period for which the person replaced would have served<sup>16</sup>.

A previous chairman<sup>17</sup> is not eligible for re-election as chairman if, on 1 January after the election, he will have held such office for periods totalling more than two years unless at least six years have elapsed since he last held office<sup>18</sup>. In any event a previous chairman is not eligible for re-election as chairman if, on 1 January after the election, he will have held office for periods totalling more than five years<sup>19</sup>. A youth justice who has held office as deputy chairman of a youth panel is not eligible for re-election as deputy chairman if on 1 January after the election he will have held such office for periods totalling more than five years<sup>20</sup>.

1266. Jurisdiction of youth courts.

No charge against a child or young person, and no application the hearing of which is assigned to youth courts, may be heard by a magistrates' court which is not a youth court<sup>1</sup>, except that:

- 998 (1) a charge made jointly against a child or young person and a person who has attained the age of 18 years is to be heard by a magistrates' court other than a youth court<sup>2</sup>;
- 999 (2) where a child or young person is charged with an offence, the charge may be heard by a magistrates' court which is not a youth court if a person who has attained the age of 17 years is charged at the same time with aiding, abetting, causing, procuring, allowing or permitting that offence<sup>3</sup>; and
- 1000 (3) where, in the course of any proceedings before any magistrates' court other than a youth court, it appears that the person to whom the proceedings relate is a child or young person, nothing in this provision<sup>4</sup> is to be construed as preventing the court, if it thinks fit so to do, from proceeding with the hearing and determination of those proceedings<sup>5</sup>.

A magistrates' court which is not a youth court may hear an information against a child or young person if he is charged with<sup>6</sup>:

- 1001 (a) aiding, abetting, causing, procuring, allowing or permitting an offence with which a person who has attained the age of 18 is charged at the same time<sup>7</sup>; or
- 1002 (b) an offence arising out of circumstances which are the same as or connected with those giving rise to an offence with which a person who has attained the age of 18 is charged at the same time<sup>8</sup>.

If a notification that the defendant desires to plead guilty without appearing before the court is received by the designated officer for a court<sup>9</sup> and the court has no reason to believe that the accused is a child or young person, then, if he is a child or young person he is deemed<sup>10</sup> to have attained the age of 18 in its application to the proceedings in question<sup>11</sup>. Conversely, a youth court sitting for the purpose of hearing a charge against a person who is believed to be a child or young person may, if it thinks fit to do so, proceed with the hearing and determination of the charge notwithstanding that it is discovered that the person in question is not a child or young person<sup>12</sup>. The attainment of the age of 18 years by a person in whose case an order for conditional discharge has been made does not deprive a youth court of jurisdiction to enforce his attendance and deal with him in respect of the commission of a further offence<sup>13</sup>.

No direction, whether contained in the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 or any other Act, that a charge is to be brought before a youth court is to be construed as restricting the powers of any justice or justices to entertain an application for bail or for a remand, and to hear such evidence as may be necessary for that purpose: s 46(2) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 100, Sch 11 para 40). No person may be present at any sitting of a youth court<sup>4</sup> except members and officers of the court<sup>5</sup>, parties to the case before the court, their solicitors and counsel, witnesses and other persons directly concerned in the case<sup>6</sup>, bona fide representatives of newspapers or news agencies<sup>7</sup>, and such other persons as the court may specially authorise to be present<sup>8</sup>.

1267 Sitings

TEXT AND NOTE 6--Reference to counsel or solicitor is now to legal representative, which means a person who, for the purposes of the Legal Services Act 2007, is an authorised person in relation to an activity which constitutes the exercise of a right of audience or the conduct of litigation (within the meaning of that Act) (see LEGAL PROFESSIONS vol 65 (2008) PARA 512): Children and Young Persons Act 1933 ss 47(2)(b), 107 (s 47(2)(b) amended, definition in s 107 added, by Legal Services Act 2007 Sch 21 paras 18, 20).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(2) YOUTH COURTS/(ii) Procedure/1268. Conduct of proceedings; evidence.

1268. Conduct of proceedings; evidence.

The following apply<sup>1</sup> where a child or young person ('the relevant minor') is charged with an offence and proceedings are brought in a magistrates' court<sup>2</sup> in relation to the breach, revocation and amendment of:

- 1003 (1) supervision orders<sup>3</sup>;
- 1004 (2) certain community orders<sup>4</sup>;
- 1005 (3) attendance centre orders<sup>5</sup>;
- 1006 (4) action plan orders and reparation orders<sup>6</sup>.

The nature of the proceedings and the substance of the charge must be explained to the relevant minor in simple language suitable to his age and understanding<sup>7</sup>. He must then be asked whether he pleads guilty or not guilty to the charge<sup>8</sup>. Where the child or young person does not plead guilty or the proceedings are of a kind mentioned in head (1), (2) or (3) above, the court must hear the witnesses in support of the charge, or as the case may be, the application<sup>9</sup>. Except where the proceedings are of a kind mentioned in head (1), (2) or (3) above and the relevant minor is the applicant, each witness may at the close of the evidence in chief be cross-examined by or on behalf of the relevant minor<sup>10</sup>.

Except where a child or young person is legally represented, the court must allow his parent or guardian to assist him in his defence<sup>11</sup>. If in any case where the relevant minor is not legally represented or assisted<sup>12</sup>, the relevant minor, instead of asking questions by way of cross-examination, makes assertions, the court must then put to the witness such questions as it thinks necessary on behalf of the relevant minor and may for this purpose question the relevant minor in order to bring out or clear up any point arising out of any such assertions<sup>13</sup>. If it appears to the court after hearing the evidence in support of the charge or application that a prima facie case is made out, the relevant minor must, if he is not the applicant and is not legally represented, be told that he may give evidence or address the court, and the evidence of any witnesses must be heard<sup>14</sup>.

1268 Conduct of proceedings; evidence

TEXT AND NOTES--CrimPR Pt 38 now Criminal Procedure Rules 2010, SI 2010/60, Pt 37.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(2) YOUTH COURTS/(ii) Procedure/1269. Procedure after finding.

1269. Procedure after finding.

The following applies where:

- 1007 (1) a relevant minor<sup>1</sup> before a youth court is found guilty of an offence, whether after a plea of guilty or otherwise<sup>2</sup>; or
- 1008 (2) in proceedings relating to the breach, revocation and amendment of supervision orders, certain community orders or attendance centre orders<sup>3</sup> the court is satisfied that the case for the applicant if the relevant minor is not the applicant, has been made out, or, if he is the applicant, has not been made out<sup>4</sup>.

The relevant minor and his parent or guardian, if present, must be given an opportunity to make a statement<sup>5</sup>. The court must take into consideration all available information<sup>6</sup> as to the general conduct, home surroundings, school record and medical history of the child or young person and, in particular, must take into consideration information provided in pursuance of investigations by local authorities<sup>7</sup>. Any written report<sup>8</sup> of a probation officer, local authority, local education authority, education establishment or registered medical practitioner<sup>9</sup> may be received and considered by the court without being read aloud<sup>10</sup>. If the court considers it necessary in the interests of the child or young person, it may require him or his parent or guardian, if present, to withdraw from the court<sup>11</sup>.

Before finally disposing of the case, or before remitting the case to another court<sup>12</sup> the court must inform the child or young person and his parents or guardian, if present, or any person assisting him in the case, of the manner in which it proposes to deal with the case and allow any of those persons so informed to make representations<sup>13</sup>. However, the relevant minor is not so informed if the court considers it undesirable so to do<sup>14</sup>. On making any order, the court must explain to the child or young person the general nature and effect of the order unless, in the case of an order requiring his parent or guardian to enter into a recognisance, it appears to the court undesirable to do so<sup>15</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'relevant minor' see para 1268 ante.

2 CrimPR 44.1(1)(a).

3 I.e. proceedings of a kind mentioned in CrimPR 38.1(2)(a), (b) or (c) (see para 1268 text and notes 1-5 supra).

4 CrimPR 44.1(1)(b).

5 CrimPR 44.1(2)(a).

6 If information is not fully available the court must consider the desirability of adjourning the proceedings for such inquiry as may be necessary: CrimPR 44.1(2)(c). See also note 10 infra.

7 CrimPR 44.1(2)(b). Such information provided by local authorities is provided in pursuance of the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 9 (as amended) (see para 1240 ante). As to the power to remand the child or young person for the necessary inquiries to be made see para 1270 post.

8 The court must arrange for copies of any written report before the court to be made available to:

3229 (1) the legal representative, if any, of the relevant minor (CrimPR 44.1(3)(a));

3230 (2) any parent or guardian of the relevant minor who is present at the hearing (CrimPR 44.1(3)(b)); and

3231 (3) the relevant minor, except where the court otherwise directs on the ground that it appears to it impracticable to disclose the report having regard to his age and understanding or undesirable to do so having regard to potential serious harm which might thereby be suffered by him (CrimPR 44.1(3)(c)).

9 In any proceedings, other than proceedings for an offence, before a youth court, and on any appeal from a decision of a youth court in any such proceedings, any document purporting to be a certificate of a fully registered medical practitioner as to any person's physical or mental condition is admissible as evidence of that condition: Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 26 (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 1991 s 100, Sch 11 para 40). As from a day to be appointed this provision is amended so as to refer to a fully registered medical practitioner who hold a licence to practice: see the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 26 (as so amended; and further amended by the Medical Act 1983 (Amendment) Order 2002, SI 2002/3135, art 16(1), Sch 1 para 4). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to registered medical practitioners see MEDICAL PROFESSIONS vol 30(1) (Reissue) para 4.

10 CrimPR 44.1(2)(d). In any case in which the relevant minor is not legally represented and where a report which has not been made available to him in accordance with a direction under CrimPR 44.1(3)(c) (see note 8 head (3) supra) has been considered without being read aloud in pursuance of CrimPR 44.1(2)(d) or where he or his parent or guardian has been required to withdraw from the court in pursuance of CrimPR 44.1(2)(e) (see the text and note 11 infra), then:

3232 (1) the relevant minor must be told the substance of any part of the information given to the court bearing on his character or conduct which the court considers to be material to the manner in which the case should be dealt with unless it appears to it impracticable so to do having regard to his age and understanding (CrimPR 44.1(4)(a)); and 3233 (2) his parent or guardian, if present, must be told the substance of any part of such information which the court considers to be material as aforesaid and which has reference to his character or conduct or to the character, conduct, home surroundings or health of the relevant minors, and if such a person, having been told the substance of any part of such information, desires to produce further evidence with reference thereto, the court, if it thinks the further evidence would be material, must adjourn the proceedings for the production of that evidence and must, if necessary in the case of a report, require the attendance at the adjourned hearing of the person who made the report (CrimPR 44.1(4)(b)).

1270. Remand for further inquiries.

When a youth court has remanded a child or young person<sup>1</sup> for information to be obtained with respect to him<sup>2</sup>, any youth court acting for the same local justice area may in his absence extend the period for which he is remanded, so, however, that he appears before a court or a justice of the peace at least once in every 21 days, and when the required information has been obtained, may deal with him finally<sup>3</sup>.

Where a child or young person has been remanded, and the period of remand is extended in his absence, notice must be given to him and his sureties, if any, of the date at which he will be required to appear before the court<sup>4</sup>.

TEXT AND NOTE 4--CrimPR 19.9 now Criminal Procedure Rules 2010, SI 2010/60, r 19.9.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(2) YOUTH COURTS/ (iii) Restrictions on Reporting/1271. General restriction on reporting.

(iii) Restrictions on Reporting

1271. General restriction on reporting.

In relation to any proceedings in any court<sup>1</sup> the court may direct that:

- 1009 (1) no newspaper report of the proceedings may reveal the name, address, or school, or include any particulars calculated to lead to the identification, of any child or young person<sup>2</sup> concerned in the proceedings<sup>3</sup>, either as being the person by or against or in respect of whom the proceedings are taken, or as being a witness in those proceedings<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1010 (2) no picture may be published in any newspaper as being or including a picture of any child or young person so concerned in those proceedings<sup>5</sup>, except in so far (if at all) as may be permitted by the direction of the court<sup>6</sup>.

Any person who publishes any matter in contravention of any such direction is guilty of an offence<sup>7</sup>. The onus is on the applicant to show cause to restrict publicity<sup>8</sup>.

The power as to the court's directions on reporting restrictions<sup>9</sup> is not part of the jurisdiction of the Crown Court in matters relating to a trial on indictment<sup>10</sup> within the meaning of the Supreme Court Act 1981, and is therefore subject to judicial review<sup>11</sup>. When considering whether to lift reporting restrictions the court must consider whether there are good reasons to name the defendants<sup>12</sup>, and must balance the appropriate interests and considerations<sup>13</sup>. However, the decision to lift reporting restrictions<sup>14</sup> is a matter relating to trial on indictment and is therefore not susceptible to judicial review<sup>15</sup>. A judge has complete discretion to allow representations to be made to him by those whom he considers to have a legitimate interest in the making of, or the opposition to the making of, an order under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933<sup>16</sup>, as there is no statutory limitation on the persons who may do so<sup>17</sup>.

1 This refers to any proceedings in the court which is considering making the order; thus a court cannot make an order in respect of proceedings before another court: R v Lee [1993] 2 All ER 170, [1993] 1 WLR 103, CA. As to the mandatory restrictions on the reporting of youth court proceedings see para 1272 post.

2 For the meaning of 'child' see para 613 note 1 ante. For the meaning of 'young person' see para 619 note 2 ante. The words 'any particulars calculated to lead to the identification of any child or young person' include revealing the identity of the defendants if such identification would inevitably breach the order by leading to the identification of the child or young person concerned in the proceedings: see Ex p Godwin [1992] QB 190, sub nom R v Crown Court at Southwark, ex p Godwin [1991] 3 All ER 818, CA. For an example of a case where an order was refused see R v Lee [1993] 2 All ER 170, [1993] 1 WLR 103, CA. As to the limitation on the power to restrict the reporting of proceedings see R (on the application of Gazette Media Co Ltd) v Crown Court at Teesside [2005] EWCA Crim 1983, [2005] EMLR 832 (the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 39 (as amended) did not enable the express restriction of the naming of the defendant in a conspiracy to rape proceedings in which the complainant was the defendant's 11-year-old daughter).

3 As from a day to be appointed, 'proceedings' for these purposes means proceedings other than criminal proceedings: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 39(3) (added by the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 48, Sch 2 paras 1, 2, except in relation to criminal proceedings instituted (within the meaning of s 67, Sch 7 para 1(2)) before the day on which Sch 2 para 2(1) comes into force). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

4 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 39(1)(a) (amended by the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 ss 57(1), 64(3), Sch 5). The Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 39 (as amended) applies, with the necessary modifications, in relation to sound and television broadcasts as it applies in relation to newspapers: Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 57(4). As from a day to be appointed, this provision is repealed by the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 67(3), Sch 6. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

5 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 39(1)(b).

In most cases, it is inappropriate for the court to restrain press identification of a child who is the subject of an anti-social behaviour order: Medway Council v BBC [2002] 1 FLR 104, [2001] Fam Law 883. The court must attach proper weight to the interim nature of an interim anti-social behaviour order when considering whether to impose reporting restrictions: R (on the application of K) v Knowsley Metropolitan Borough Council [2004] EWHC 1933 (Admin), (2004) 168 JP 461.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(2) YOUTH COURTS/ (iii) Restrictions on Reporting/1273. Power to dispense with restrictions on the reporting of youth court proceedings.

1273. Power to dispense with restrictions on the reporting of youth court proceedings.

Until a day to be appointed, the law on the power to dispense with restrictions on the reporting of youth court proceedings under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 is as follows<sup>1</sup>. If a court is satisfied that it is in the public interest to do so, it may, in relation to a child or young person who has been convicted of an offence, by order dispense to any specified extent with the specified restrictions imposed on reports of proceedings in which children and young persons are concerned<sup>2</sup> in relation to any proceedings before it<sup>3</sup>, being proceedings relating to<sup>4</sup>:

- 1019 (1) the prosecution or conviction of the offender for the offence<sup>5</sup>;
- 1020 (2) the manner in which he, or his parent or guardian<sup>6</sup>, must be dealt with in respect of the offence<sup>7</sup>;
- 1021 (3) the enforcement, amendment, variation, revocation or discharge of any order made in respect of the offence<sup>8</sup>;

A court may<sup>13</sup> by order dispense to any specified extent with these requirements in relation to a child or young person who is concerned in the proceedings if it is satisfied<sup>14</sup>:

- 1024 (a) that it is appropriate to do so for the purpose of avoiding injustice to the child or young person<sup>15</sup>; or
- 1025 (b) that, as respects such a child or young person<sup>16</sup> who is unlawfully at large<sup>17</sup>, it is necessary to dispense with those requirements for the purpose of apprehending him and bringing him before a court or returning him to the place in which he was in custody<sup>18</sup>.

The power to dispense with anonymity, as permitted in certain circumstances by the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4A) (as added), has to be exercised with great care, caution and circumspection: McKerry v Teesdale and Wear Valley Justices (2000) 164 JP 355, [2000] COD 199, DC.

For these purposes, 'violent offence' means an offence listed in the Criminal Justice Act 2003 Sch 15 Pt 1 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 70): Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(11) (as so substituted; and amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 para 2(1), (3)). no matter relating to any child or young person<sup>8</sup> concerned in proceedings<sup>9</sup> to which these provisions apply may while he is under the age of 18 be included in any publication<sup>10</sup> if it is likely to lead members of the public to identify him as someone concerned in the proceedings<sup>11</sup>. If a publication includes any such matter, the following persons are guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding a prescribed level<sup>12</sup>:

- 1030 (a) where the publication is a newspaper or periodical, any proprietor, any editor and any publisher of the newspaper or periodical<sup>13</sup>;
- 1031 (b) where the publication is a relevant programme any body corporate or Scottish partnership engaged in providing the programme service in which the programme is included, and any person having functions in relation to the programme corresponding to those of an editor of a newspaper<sup>14</sup>; and
- 1032 (c) in the case of any other publication, any person publishing it<sup>15</sup>.

If a court is satisfied that it is in the public interest to do so, it may, in relation to a child or young person who has been convicted of an offence, by order dispense to any specified<sup>16</sup> extent with the restrictions imposed<sup>17</sup> on reports of proceedings in which children and young are concerned in relation to any proceedings before it<sup>18</sup>, being proceedings relating to<sup>19</sup>:

- 1033 (i) the prosecution or conviction of the offender for the offence<sup>20</sup>;
- 1034 (ii) the manner in which he, or his parent or guardian<sup>21</sup>, must be dealt with in respect of the offence<sup>22</sup>;
- 1035 (iii) the enforcement, amendment, variation, revocation or discharge of any order made in respect of the offence<sup>23</sup>;
- 1036 (iv) where an attendance centre order<sup>24</sup> is made in respect of the offence, the enforcement of any relevant rules<sup>25</sup>; or
- 1037 (v) where a detention and training order<sup>26</sup> is made, the enforcement of any relevant requirements imposed<sup>27</sup>.

A court may<sup>28</sup> by order dispense to any specified extent with these requirements in relation to a child or young person who is concerned in the proceedings if it is satisfied<sup>29</sup>:

- 1038 (A) that it is appropriate to do so for the purpose of avoiding injustice to the child or young person<sup>30</sup>; or
- 1039 (B) that, as respects a child or young person<sup>31</sup> who is unlawfully at large<sup>32</sup>, it is necessary to dispense with those requirements for the purpose of apprehending him and bringing him before a court or returning him to the place in which he was in custody<sup>33</sup>.

In any proceedings for varying or revoking supervision orders<sup>34</sup> before a magistrates' court other than a youth court, or on appeal from such a court, it is the duty of the magistrates' court or the appellate court to announce in the course of the proceedings that the provisions relating to restrictions on reports of proceedings in which children or young persons are concerned<sup>35</sup> apply to the proceedings, and if the court fails to do so those provisions do not apply to the proceedings<sup>36</sup>.

These provisions extend to England and Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland, but no reference in these provisions to any court includes a court in Scotland<sup>37</sup>.

1 The provisions of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49 (as substituted and amended) are prospectively amended by the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 48, Sch 2 paras 1, 3 as from a day to be appointed under s 68(3). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the restrictions on reporting of youth court proceedings at the date at which this volume states the law see paras 1272-1273 ante.

The prospective amendments effected by the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 Sch 2 paras 1, 3 widen the scope of the restriction on the reporting of court proceedings involving young persons. The principal change is that where the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49 (as substituted and amended) (see paras 1272-1273 ante) prohibits the publication of reports, and the inclusion of pictures in a programme service, s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) prohibits the inclusion of information or pictures in 'publications', which is defined as including any speech, writing, programme or other communication in whatever form (thereby including within its scope electronic media and the internet) addressed to the public at large or any section of the public. A different emphasis is also placed on the wording of the prohibition itself: where s 49 (as substituted and amended) prohibits the revelation of a child's name, address or school or other particulars likely to lead to the identification of the child, s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) absolutely prohibits the inclusion in any publication of any matter likely to lead to the identification of the child, with the prohibitions on revealing names, addresses or schools included only as particular examples of prohibited matters. Additionally, whereas s 49 (as substituted and amended) extends only to England and Wales, s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) is stated to extend to England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

2 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(2) (s 49 substituted by the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 s 49).

3 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(2)(a) (as substituted: see note 2 supra).

4 Ibid s 49(2)(b) (as substituted: see note 2 supra). As to proceedings by way of case stated see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(4) (2006 Reissue) para 2005 et seq.

5 Ibid s 49(2)(c) (as substituted (see note 2 supra); and amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 165(1), Sch 9 para 2(1), (2)(a)). Proceedings for varying or revoking supervision orders are made under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 65, Sch 7 (as amended): see paras 1352-1353 post. As to supervision orders see para 270 et seq ante.

In its application to Northern Ireland, the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(2) (as substituted) has effect as if s 49(2)(c), (d) were omitted: see s 49(13)(b) (as added: see note 1 supra).

6 Ie arising out of proceedings under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 7 (as amended): see paras 1352-1353 post.

7 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(2)(d) (as substituted (see note 2 supra); and amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 9 para 2(1), (2)(b)). See note 5 supra.

8 For the meaning of 'child' see para 613 note 1 ante. For the meaning of 'young person' see para 619 note 2 ante.

9 For these purposes, a child or young person is 'concerned' in any proceedings if he is a person against or in respect of whom the proceedings are taken, or a person called, or proposed to be called, to give evidence in the proceedings: Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4) (as substituted (see note 2 supra); and amended (see note 1 supra)).

In its application to Northern Ireland, s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) has effect as if to provide that references in s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) to a young person concerned in proceedings are, where the proceedings are in a court in Northern Ireland, to a person who has attained the age of 14 but is under the age of 17: s 49(14) (as added: see note 1 supra).

10 'Publication' includes any speech, writing, relevant programme or other communication in whatever form, which is addressed to the public at large or any section of the public (and for this purpose every relevant programme must be taken to be so addressed), but does not include an indictment or other document prepared for use in particular legal proceedings: ibid s 49(3) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). The matters relating to a person in relation to which the restrictions imposed by s 49(1) (as substituted) apply (if their inclusion in any publication is likely to have the result mentioned in s 49(1) (as substituted)) include in particular:

3234 (1) his name (s 49(3A)(a) (as added: see note 1 supra));

3235 (2) his address (s 49(3A)(b) (as so added));

3236 (3) the identity of any school or other educational establishment attended by him (s 49(3A)(c) (as so added));

3237 (4) the identity of any place of work (s 49(3A)(d) (as so added)); and 3238 (5) any still or moving picture of him (s 49(3A)(e) (as so added)).

'Relevant programme' means a programme included in a programme service, within the meaning of the Broadcasting Act 1990 (see TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND BROADCASTING vol 45(1) (2005 Reissue) para 328): Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(11) (definition as so added). 'Picture' includes a likeness however produced: s 49(11) (definition as so added).

11 Ibid s 49(1) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

In the application of s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) to Northern Ireland, no matter relating to any child or young person concerned in proceedings to which s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) applies may while he is under the age of 17 be included in any publication if it is likely to lead members of the public to identify him as someone concerned in the proceedings: s 49(1) (as so substituted; and modified by s 49(13)(a)).

12 Ibid s 49(9) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). The fine may not exceed level 5 on the standard scale: s 49(9) (as so substituted). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante. Where a person is charged with an offence under s 49(9) (as substituted) it is a defence to prove that at the time of the alleged offence he was not aware, and neither suspected nor had reason to suspect, that the publication included the matter in question: s 49(9A) (s 49(9A-9E) as added: see note 1 supra). If an offence under s 49(9) (as substituted) committed by a body corporate is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, an officer, the officer as well as the body corporate is guilty of the offence and liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly: s 49(9B) (as so added). For these purposes, 'officer' means a director, manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body, or a person purporting to act in any such capacity: s 49(9C) (as so added). If the affairs of a body corporate are managed by its members, 'director' in s 49(9C) (as added) means a member of that body: s 49(9D) (as so added). Where an offence under s 49(9) (as substituted) is committed by a Scottish partnership and is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of a partner, he as well as the partnership is guilty of the offence and is liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly: s 49(9E) (as so added).

13 Ibid s 49(9)(a) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

14 Ibid s 49(9)(b) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

15 Ibid s 49(9)(c) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

16 'Specified' means specified in an order under ibid s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended): s 49(11).

17 Ie the restrictions imposed by ibid s 49(1) (as substituted): see the text and note 11 supra.

18 le to which ibid s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) applies by virtue of s 49(2)(a) (as substituted) or s 49(2)(b) (as substituted): see the text and notes 2-4 supra.

19 Ibid s 49(4A) (added by the Crime (Sentences) Act 1997 s 45; and amended (see note 1 supra)).

In its application to Northern Ireland, the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) has effect to provide that if a court is satisfied that it is in the public interest to do so, it may, in relation to a child or young person who has been convicted of an offence, by order dispense to any specified extent with the restrictions imposed by s 49(1) (as substituted) (see the text to notes 8-11 supra) in relation to any proceedings before it to which s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) applies by virtue of s 49(2)(a) or (b) (as substituted), being proceedings relating to:

3239 (1) the prosecution or conviction of the offender for the offence (s 49(4A)(a) (as so added and amended));

3240 (2) the manner in which he, or his parent or guardian, must be dealt with in respect of the offence (s 49(4A)(b) (as so added and amended));

3241 (3) the enforcement, amendment, variation, revocation or discharge of any order made in respect of the offence (s 49(4A)(c) (as so added and amended));

3242 (4) where an attendance centre order is made in respect of the offence, the enforcement of any rules made under the Criminal Justice (Children) (Northern Ireland) Order 1998, SI 1998/1504 (Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4A)(d) (as so added and amended; and modified by s 49(13)(c)(i)); or 3243 (5) where a juvenile justice centre order is made, the enforcement of any requirements imposed under the Criminal Justice (Children) (Northern Ireland) Order 1998, SI 1998/1504, art 40(2) (Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4A)(e) (as so added and amended; and modified by s 49(13)(c)(ii)).

A court must not exercise its power under s 49(4A) (as added and amended) without affording the parties to the proceedings an opportunity to make representations, and taking into account any representations which are duly made: s 49(4B) (added by the Crime (Sentences) Act 1997 s 45).

As from a day to be appointed, the court's power under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4A) (as added and amended) may be exercised by a single justice: s 49(8) (as substituted (see note 2 supra); and amended (see note 1 supra)).

In its application to Northern Ireland, s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) has effect as if s 49(8) (as substituted and amended) were omitted: see s 49(13)(f) (as added: see note 1 supra). The power to dispense with anonymity, as permitted in certain circumstances by s 49(4A) (as added and amended), has to be exercised with great care, caution and circumspection: McKerry v Teesdale and Wear Valley Justices (2000) 164 JP 355, [2000] COD 199, DC.

20 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4A)(a) (as added: see note 19 supra).

21 For the meaning of 'guardian' see para 747 note 13 ante.

22 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4A)(b) (as added: see note 19 supra).

23 Ibid s 49(4A)(c) (as added: see note 19 supra).

24 As to attendance centre orders see para 1358 post.

25 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4A)(d) (as added (see note 19 supra); and amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 9 para 2(1), (3)(a)). The relevant rules are any made under the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 222(1)(d) or (e): see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 285.

26 As to detention and training orders see para 1398 post.

27 Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4A)(e) (as added (see note 19 supra); and amended by the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 119, Sch 8 para 1; and the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 9 para 2(1), (3)(b)). The relevant requirements are any imposed under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 103(6)(b): see para 1401 post.

28 le in relation to proceedings before it to which the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49 (as substituted and amended) applies.

29 Ibid s 49(5) (as substituted: see note 2 supra). The court's power under s 49(5) (as substituted) may be exercised by a single justice: s 49(8) (as so substituted).

In its application to Northern Ireland, s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) has effect to provide that, subject to s 49(7) (as substituted), a court or the Secretary of State may, in relation to proceedings before it to which s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) applies, by order dispense to any specified extent with the requirements of s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) in relation to a child or young person who is concerned in the proceedings if it is satisfied: (1) that it is appropriate to do so for the purpose of avoiding injustice to the child or young person; or (2) that, as respects a child or young person to whom s 49(5) (as substituted) applies who is unlawfully at large, it is necessary to dispense with those requirements for the purpose of apprehending him and bringing him before a court or the Secretary of State, or returning him to the place in which he was in custody: s 49(5) (as so substituted; and modified by s 49(13)(d)).

30 Ibid s 49(5)(a) (as substituted: see note 2 supra).

31 Ie a child or young person to whom ibid s 49(5) (as substituted) applies.

32 A person who, having been granted bail, is liable to arrest (whether with or without a warrant) is treated as unlawfully at large: ibid s 49(11) (as substituted: see note 2 supra). As to bail see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) paras 1165-1201; and as to arrest see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) paras 910-935.

33 Ibid s 49(5)(b) (as substituted: see note 2 supra). The provisions of s 49(5)(b) (as substituted) apply to any child or young person who is charged with or has been convicted of a violent offence, a sexual offence, or an offence punishable in the case of a person aged 21 or over with imprisonment for 14 years or more: s 49(6) (as so substituted). As from a day to be appointed the reference to the age of 21 is changed so as to refer to the age of 18: see s 49(6) (as so substituted; and amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt II para 5). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

The court must not exercise its power under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(5)(b) (as substituted) except in pursuance of an application by or on behalf of the Director of Public Prosecutions, and unless notice of the application has been given by the Director of Public Prosecutions to any legal representative of the child or young person: s 49(7) (as so substituted). As to the Director of Public Prosecutions see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1066 et seq.

In its application to Northern Ireland, s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) has effect as if 'violent offence' has the same meaning for these purposes as in the Criminal Justice (Northern Ireland) Order 1996, SI 1996/3160, art 2(2): Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(11) (as so substituted; definition amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 9 para 2(1), (5); and modified by the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(13)(g)(ii)). In its application to Northern Ireland, the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) has effect as if for these purposes, 'sexual offence' has the same meaning as in the Criminal Justice (Northern Ireland) Order 1996, SI 1996/3160, art 2(2): Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(11) (as so substituted; definition amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 9 para 2(1), (5); and modified by the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(13)(g)(ii)).

TEXT AND NOTES 19, 25--Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(4A)(d) repealed: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 4 para 3(3), Sch 28 Pt 1 (not yet in force).

NOTE 33--Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49(13)(g)(ii) amended: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 4 para 100.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(2) YOUTH COURTS/ (iii) Restrictions on Reporting/1275. Restrictions on reporting criminal investigations involving persons under 18 years.

1275. Restrictions on reporting criminal investigations involving persons under 18 years.

As from a day to be appointed the following provisions have effect<sup>1</sup>. Those provisions apply<sup>2</sup> where a criminal investigation<sup>3</sup> has begun in respect of:

- 1040 (1) an alleged offence against the law of England and Wales, or Northern Ireland<sup>4</sup>; or
- 1041 (2) an alleged civil offence<sup>5</sup> (other than an offence falling within head (1) above) committed (whether or not in the United Kingdom) by a person subject to service law<sup>6</sup>.

No matter relating to any person involved in the offence<sup>7</sup> may, while he is under the age of 18, be included in any publication if it is likely to lead members of the public to identify him as a person involved in the offence<sup>8</sup>. However, these restrictions<sup>9</sup> cease to apply once there are proceedings in a court (whether a court in England and Wales, a service court or a court in Northern Ireland) in respect of the offence<sup>10</sup>. In addition, any appropriate criminal court<sup>11</sup> may by order dispense, to any extent specified in the order, with the imposed restrictions<sup>12</sup> in relation to a person if it is satisfied that it is necessary in the interests of justice to do so<sup>13</sup>. However, when deciding whether to make such an order dispensing (to any extent) with those restrictions in relation to a person, the court must have regard to the welfare of that person<sup>14</sup>.

The matters relating to a person in relation to which those restrictions<sup>15</sup> apply (if their inclusion in any publication is likely to have the result mentioned) include in particular<sup>16</sup>:

- 1042 (a) his name<sup>17</sup>;
- 1043 (b) his address<sup>18</sup>;
- 1044 (c) the identity of any school or other educational establishment attended by him<sup>19</sup>;
- 1045 (d) the identity of any place of work<sup>20</sup>; and
- 1046 (e) any still or moving picture of him<sup>21</sup>.

1 The Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44 is to be brought into force on a day to be appointed by an order made by the Secretary of State under s 68(3). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. Sections 49-52 have been brought into force for the purposes of s 46 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1430) and s 47 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1302) (see the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 (Commencement No 10) (England and Wales) Order 2004, SI 2004/2428), although they are not yet in force for the purposes of this paragraph. As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante.

2 Ie subject to the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44(3): see the text and note 1 supra.

3 For the purposes of ibid s 44, any reference to a criminal investigation, in relation to an alleged offence, is to an investigation conducted by police officers, or other persons charged with the duty of investigating offences, with a view to it being ascertained whether a person should be charged with the offence: s 44(13)(b).

4 Ibid s 44(1)(a).

5 For these purposes, 'civil offence' means an act or omission which, if committed in England and Wales, would be an offence against the law of England and Wales: ibid s 44(13)(a).

6 Ibid s 44(1)(b). Until a day to be appointed, for the purposes of s 44 any reference to a person subject to service law is to:

- 3244 (1) a person subject to military law, air force law or the Naval Discipline Act 1957 (Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44(13)(c)(i)); or
- 3245 (2) any other person to whom provisions of the Army Act 1955 Pt II (ss 24-143) (repealed), the Air Force Act 1955 Pt II (ss 24-143) (repealed), or of the Naval Discipline Act 1957 Pt I (ss 1-44) (repealed) and Pt II (ss 45-92) (repealed) apply (whether with or without any modifications) (Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44(13)(c)(ii)).

Section 44(13)(c)(i), (ii) is substituted by the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 378(1), Sch 16 para 158 as from a day to be appointed under s 383(2) so that for the purposes of the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44 any reference to a person subject to service law is to:

- 3246 (a) a person subject to service law within the meaning of the Armed Forces Act 2006 (Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44(13)(c)(i) (as so substituted));
- 3247 (b) a civilian subject to service discipline within the meaning of the Armed Forces Act 2006 (Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44(13)(c)(ii) (as so substituted)).

At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. See also ARMED FORCES.

7 For the purposes of ibid s 44(2) any reference to a person involved in the offence is to:

- 3248 (1) a person by whom the offence is alleged to have been committed (s 44(4)(a)); or
- 3249 (2) if s 44(4)(b) applies to the publication in question by virtue of s 44(5):

183.(a) a person against or in respect of whom the offence is alleged to have been committed (s 44(4)(b)(i)); or 184.(b) a person who is alleged to have been a witness to the commission of the offence (s 44(4)(b)(ii)).

However, head (2)(b) supra does not include a person in relation to whom the Sexual Offences (Amendment) Act 1992 s 1 (prospectively amended) (anonymity of victims of certain sexual offences) applies in connection with the offence: Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44(4). Head (2) supra applies to a publication if where it is a relevant programme, it is transmitted, or in the case of any other publication, it is published, on or after such date as may be specified in an order made by the Secretary of State: s 44(5).

Any power of the Secretary of State to make any order under the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 is exercised by statutory instrument: s 64(1) (amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 165(4), Sch 12 Pt 1).

A statutory instrument containing any order under the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 61(1) or (2) is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 64(2) (amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 12 Pt 1).

No order may be made under the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 18(5) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1416), s 42(2) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1446) or s 44(5), unless a draft of the order has been laid before, and approved by a resolution of, each House of Parliament: s 64(3) (amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 12 Pt 1).

Any order made by the Secretary of State under the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 may make different provision for different cases, circumstances or areas and may contain such incidental, supplemental, saving or transitional provisions as the Secretary of State thinks fit: s 64(4) (amended by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 12 Pt 1).

8 Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44(2). If a publication includes any matter in contravention of s 44(2), the provisions in s 49 relating to offences apply: s 49(1)(a). Where the publication is a newspaper or periodical, any proprietor, any editor and any publisher of the newspaper or periodical is guilty of an offence: s 49(2). Where the publication is a relevant programme:

- 3250 (1) any body corporate or Scottish partnership engaged in providing the programme service in which the programme is included (s 49(3)(a)); and

- 3251 (2) any person having functions in relation to the programme corresponding to those of an editor of a newspaper, is guilty of an offence (s 49(3)(b)).

In the case of any other publication, any person publishing it is guilty of an offence: s 49(4). A person guilty of an offence under s 49 is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale: s 49(5). As to the standard scale see para 132 note 2 ante.

Where a person is charged with an offence under s 49 it is a defence to prove that at the time of the alleged offence he was not aware, and neither suspected nor had reason to suspect, that the publication included the matter or report in question: s 50(1). Where:

- 3252 (a) a person is charged with an offence under s 49 (s 50(2)(a)); and

- 3253 (b) the offence relates to the inclusion of any matter in a publication in contravention of s 44(2) (s 50(2)(b)), it is a defence to prove that at the time of the alleged offence he was not aware, and neither suspected nor had reason to suspect, that the criminal investigation in question had begun (s 50(2)). Where:

- 3254 (i) heads (a) and (b) supra apply (s 50(3)(a)); and

- 3255 (ii) the contravention of s 44(2) does not relate to:

185. (A) the person by whom the offence mentioned in that provision is alleged to have been committed (s 50(3)(b)(i)); or

13

186. (B) where that offence is one in relation to which the Sexual Offences (Amendment) Act 1992 s 1 (prospectively amended) applies, a person who is alleged to be a witness to the commission of the offence (Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 50(3)(b)(ii)), it is a defence to show to the satisfaction of the court that the inclusion in the publication of the matter in question was in the public interest on the ground that, to the extent that they operated to prevent that matter from being so included, the effect of the restrictions imposed by s 44(2) was to impose a substantial and unreasonable restriction on the reporting of matters connected with that offence (s 50(3)). Where heads (a) and (b) supra apply, and the contravention of s 44(2) relates to a person ('the protected person') who is neither the person mentioned in head (ii)(A) supra nor a person within head (ii)(B) supra who is under the age of 16, in such a case it is a defence, subject to s 50(6), to prove that written consent to the inclusion of the matter in question in the publication had been given by an appropriate person, if at the time when the consent was given the protected person was under the age of 16, or by the protected person, if that person was aged 16 or 17 at that time, and (where the consent was given by an appropriate person) that written notice had been previously given to that person drawing to his attention the need to consider the welfare of the protected person when deciding whether to give consent: s 50(5). The defence provided by s 50(5) is not available if (where the consent was given by an appropriate person) it is proved that written or other notice withdrawing the consent was given to the appropriate recipient by any other appropriate person or by the protected person, and was so given in sufficient time to enable the inclusion in the publication of the matter in question to be prevented: s 50(6).

For the purposes of s 50, 'an appropriate person' means (subject to s 50(10), (11)) in England and Wales or Northern Ireland, a person who is a parent or guardian of the protected person: s 50(9). Where the protected person is, within the meaning of the Children Act 1989, a child who is looked after by a local authority, 'an appropriate person' means a person who is a representative of that authority, or a parent or guardian of the protected person with whom the protected person is allowed to live: Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 50(10). Where the protected person is, within the meaning of the Children (Northern Ireland) Order 1995, SI 1995/755 (as amended), a child who is looked after by an authority, 'an appropriate person' means a person who is an officer of that authority, or a parent or guardian of the protected person with whom the protected person is allowed to live: Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 50(11). However, no person by whom the offence mentioned in s 44(2) is alleged to have been committed is, by virtue of s 50(9), (10), (11), an appropriate person for the purposes of s 50: s 50(13). For the purposes of s 50, 'the appropriate recipient', in relation to a notice under s 50(6)(a), means:

- 3256 (aa) the person to whom the notice giving consent was given (s 50(14)(a));

- 3257 (bb) (if different) the person by whom the matter in question was published (s 50(14)(b));
or

- 3258 (cc) any other person exercising, on behalf of the person mentioned in head (bb) supra, any responsibility in relation to the publication of that matter (s 50(14)(c)).

For the purposes of s 50(14), 'person' includes a body of persons and a partnership: s 50(14). For the purposes of s 50, 'guardian', in relation to the protected person, means any person who is not a parent of the protected person but who has parental responsibility for the protected person within the meaning of, in England and Wales, the Children Act 1989, or in Northern Ireland, the Children (Northern Ireland) Order 1995, SI 1995/755 (as amended): Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 50(9).

If an offence committed by a body corporate under s 49 is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of an officer, the officer as well as the body corporate is guilty of the offence and liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly: s 51(1). 'Officer' means a director, manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body, or a person purporting to act in any such capacity: s 51(2). If the affairs of a body corporate are managed by its members, 'director' means a member of that body: s 51(3).

9 le the restrictions imposed by ibid s 44(2): see note 7 supra.

10 Ibid s 44(3).

11 For the purposes of ibid s 44(7), 'appropriate criminal court' means:

- 3259 (1) in a case where s 44 applies by virtue of s 44(1)(a)(i) or (ii), any court in England and Wales or (as the case may be) in Northern Ireland which has any jurisdiction in, or in relation to, any criminal proceedings (but not a service court unless the offence is alleged to have been committed by a person subject to service law) (s 44(9)(a)); and

- 3260 (2) in a case where s 44 applies by virtue of s 44(1)(b), any court falling within head (1) supra or a service court (s 44(9)(b)).

12 See note 7 supra.

13 Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 2000 s 44(7). The power under s 44(7) of a magistrates' court in England and Wales may be exercised by a single justice: s 44(10). In the case of a decision of a magistrates' court in England and Wales, or a court of summary jurisdiction in Northern Ireland, to make or refuse to make an order under s 44(7), the following persons, namely:

- 3261 (1) any person who was a party to the proceedings on the application for the order (s 44(11)(a)); and

- 3262 (2) with the leave of the Crown Court (or, in Northern Ireland, a county court), any other person (s 44(11)(b)), may, in accordance with the Criminal Procedure Rules in England and Wales, or rules of court in Northern Ireland, appeal to the Crown Court (or, in Northern Ireland, a county court) against that decision or appear or be represented at the hearing of such an appeal: s 44(11) (amended by the Courts Act 2003 s 109(1), Sch 8 para 386).

On such an appeal the Crown Court (or, in Northern Ireland, a county court) may make such order as is necessary to give effect to its determination of the appeal, and may also make such incidental or consequential orders as appear to it to be just: s 44(12) (amended by the Courts Act 2003 s 109(1), Sch 8 para 386).

14 Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 44(8).

1275 Restrictions on reporting criminal investigations involving persons under 18 years

NOTE 6--Appointed day for the commencement of the Armed Forces Act 2006 Sch 16 para 158 is 31 October 2009: SI 2009/1167.

NOTE 7--See also Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 26 para 39.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(2) YOUTH COURTS/ (iii) Restrictions on Reporting/1276. Power to restrict reporting of criminal proceedings involving persons under 18.

1276. Power to restrict reporting of criminal proceedings involving persons under 18.

As from a day to be appointed the following provisions have effect<sup>1</sup>. These provisions, which restrict the reporting of criminal proceedings involving persons under 18, apply in relation to any criminal proceedings in any court (other than a service court) in England and Wales or Northern Ireland, and any proceedings (whether in the United Kingdom<sup>2</sup> or elsewhere) in any service court<sup>3</sup>.

The court may direct that no matter relating to any person concerned in the proceedings may while he is under the age of 18 be included in any publication if it is likely to lead members of the public to identify him as a person concerned in the proceedings<sup>4</sup>. Such matters relating to a person in relation to which the restrictions imposed by such a direction<sup>5</sup> apply<sup>6</sup> include in particular<sup>7</sup>:

- 1047 (1) his name<sup>8</sup>;
- 1048 (2) his address<sup>9</sup>;
- 1049 (3) the identity of any school or other educational establishment attended by him<sup>10</sup>;
- 1050 (4) the identity of any place of work<sup>11</sup>; and
- 1051 (5) any still or moving picture of him<sup>12</sup>.

However, the court or an appellate court<sup>13</sup> may by direction ('an excepting direction') dispense, to any extent specified in the excepting direction, with the restrictions imposed by a direction<sup>14</sup> if it is satisfied that it is necessary in the interests of justice to do so<sup>15</sup>. The court or an appellate court may also by direction ('an excepting direction') dispense, to any extent specified in the excepting direction, with the restrictions imposed by a direction<sup>16</sup> if it is satisfied that their effect is to impose a substantial and unreasonable restriction on the reporting of the proceedings, and that it is in the public interest to remove or relax that restriction<sup>17</sup>.

1 The Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 45 is to be brought into force as from a day to be appointed by an order made by the Secretary of State under s 68(3). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see para 102 note 7 ante.

3 Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 45(1). However, s 45(1) does not apply in relation to any proceedings to which the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 49 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) (see para 1272 ante) applies: Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 45(2).

4 Ibid s 45(3). When deciding whether to make a direction under s 45(3) in relation to a person, or an excepting direction under s 45(4) (see note 15 infra) or s 45(5) (see note 17 infra) by virtue of which the restrictions imposed by a direction under s 45(3) would be dispensed with (to any extent) in relation to a person, the court or (as the case may be) the appellate court must have regard to the welfare of that person: s 45(6). For the purposes of s 45(3), any reference to a person concerned in the proceedings is to a person against or in respect of whom the proceedings are taken, or who is a witness in the proceedings: s 45(7).

5 I.e. a direction under ibid s 45(3). A direction under s 45(3) may be revoked by the court or an appellate court: s 45(9).

6     le if their inclusion in any publication is likely to have the result mentioned in ibid s 45(3): see the text and note 4 supra.

7     Ibid s 45(8).

8     Ibid s 45(8)(a).

9     Ibid s 45(8)(b).

10    Ibid s 45(8)(c).

11    Ibid s 45(8)(d).

12    Ibid s 45(8)(e).

13    For these purposes, 'appellate court', in relation to any proceedings in a court, means a court dealing with an appeal (including an appeal by way of case stated) arising out of the proceedings or with any further appeal: ibid s 45(11).

14    See note 5 supra.

15    Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 45(4). See also note 4 supra. An excepting direction may be given at the time the direction under s 45(3) (see the text and note 4 supra) is given or subsequently, and may be varied or revoked by the court or an appellate court: s 45(10).

16    See note 5 supra.

17    Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 45(5). However, no excepting direction may be given under s 45(5) by reason only of the fact that the proceedings have been determined in any way or have been abandoned: s 45(5). See also note 4 supra.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(3) EVIDENCE OF CHILDREN IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS/1277. Competence and capacity to give evidence.

(3) EVIDENCE OF CHILDREN IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS

1277. Competence and capacity to give evidence.

At every stage in criminal proceedings any person is, whatever his age, competent to give evidence<sup>1</sup> unless it appears to the court that he is not a person who is able to:

- 1052 (1) understand questions put to him as a witness<sup>2</sup>; and
- 1053 (2) give answers to them which can be understood<sup>3</sup>.

A child who is a witness in criminal proceedings may not be sworn for the purpose of giving evidence on oath unless:

- 1054 (a) he has attained the age of 14<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1055 (b) he has a sufficient appreciation of the solemnity of the occasion and of the particular responsibility to tell the truth which is involved in taking an oath<sup>5</sup>.

A deposition of a child's unsworn evidence<sup>6</sup> may be taken for the purposes of criminal proceedings as if that evidence had been given on oath<sup>7</sup>.

Any requirement whereby at a trial on indictment<sup>8</sup> it is obligatory for the court to give the jury a warning about convicting the accused on the uncorroborated evidence of a child is abrogated<sup>9</sup>. Unsworn evidence admitted by virtue of the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999<sup>10</sup> may corroborate evidence (sworn or unsworn) given by any other person<sup>11</sup>.

Where a justice of the peace is satisfied by the evidence of a duly qualified medical practitioner that the attendance before the court of any child or young person<sup>12</sup> in respect of whom any of certain offences<sup>13</sup> is alleged to have been committed would involve serious danger to his life or health, the justice may take in writing the deposition of the child or young person on oath, and must subscribe the deposition and add to it a statement of his reason for taking it and of the day when and place where it was taken, and of the names of the persons (if any) present at the taking of it<sup>14</sup>.

Special provisions exist for a witness in criminal proceedings, other than the accused, who is under 17 at the time of the hearing<sup>15</sup>. Until a day to be appointed, special provisions also apply in relation to the evidence of persons under 14 in committal proceedings for assault or sexual offences<sup>16</sup>.

5 Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 55(2)(b). The witness, if he is able to give intelligible testimony, is presumed to have a sufficient appreciation of those matters if no evidence tending to show the contrary is adduced (by any party): s 55(3). If any such evidence is adduced, it is for the party seeking to have the witness sworn to satisfy the court that, on a balance of probabilities, the witness has attained the age of 14 and has a sufficient appreciation of the matters mentioned in s 55(2)(b): s 55(4). For the purposes of s 55, a person is able to give intelligible testimony if he is able to: (1) understand questions put to him as a witness (s 55(8)(a)); and (2) give answers to them which can be understood (s 55(8)(b)). See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1403.

6 I.e. a child who is competent to give evidence in criminal proceedings, but by virtue of ibid s 55(2) is not permitted to be sworn for the purpose of giving evidence on oath in such proceedings: see s 56(1), (2). A court in criminal proceedings must accordingly receive in evidence any evidence given unsworn in pursuance of s 56(2): s 56(4). See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1404.

7 Ibid s 56(3). A court in criminal proceedings must accordingly receive in evidence any evidence given unsworn in pursuance of s 56(3): s 56(4). See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1404.

When a complaint of indecent assault has been elicited from a young child by a mother's questioning, the jury must be warned as to the significance of the mother's evidence: R v NK [1999] Crim LR 980, sub nom R v K (1999) Times, 16 July, CA. 12 For the meaning of 'child' see para 613 note 1 ante. For the meaning of 'young person' see para 619 note 2 ante.

13 I.e. any of the offences mentioned in the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 Sch 1 (amended by the Sexual Offences Act 1956 s 51, Sch 4; the Criminal Justice Act 1988 s 170, Sch 15 para 8, Sch 16; the Sexual Offences Act 2003 s 139, Sch 6 para 7; and the Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims Act 2004 s 58(1), Sch 10 para 2). See CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1164. Where a person is charged with committing any of the offences mentioned in the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 Sch 1 (as amended) in respect of two or more children or young persons, the same information or summons may charge the offence in respect of all or any of them, but the person charged is not, if he is summarily convicted, liable to a separate penalty in respect of each child or young person except upon separate information: s 14(1). The same information or summons may charge him with the offences of assault, ill-treatment, neglect, abandonment, or exposure, together or separately, and may charge him with committing all or any of those offences in a manner likely to cause unnecessary suffering or injury to health, alternatively or together, but when those offences are charged together the person charged is not, if he is summarily convicted, liable to a separate penalty for each: s 14(2) (amended by the Children Act 1989 s 108(7), Sch 15). When any offence mentioned in the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 Sch 1 (as amended) charged against any person is a continuous offence, it is not necessary to specify in the information, summons, or indictment, the date of the acts constituting the offence: s 14(4).

Where, in any proceedings with relation to any of the offences mentioned in Sch 1 (as amended), the court is satisfied that the attendance before the court of any child or young person in respect of whom the offence is alleged to have been committed is not essential to the just hearing of the case, the case may be proceeded with and determined in the absence of the child or young person: s 41.

14 Ibid s 42(1). The justice taking any such deposition must transmit it with his statement:

3263 (1) if the deposition relates to an offence for which any accused person is already sent or committed for trial, to the proper officer of the court for trial at which the accused person has been sent or committed (s 42(2)(a) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 41, Sch 3 Pt 2 para 33)); and

In the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 42(2)(a), the word 'sent' is substituted for the word 'committed' by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 41, Sch 3 Pt 2 para 33 as from a day to be appointed. At the date at which this volume states the law this amendment is in force only in relation to cases sent for trial under the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 51 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1132) or s 51A(3)(d) (as added) (see para 1262 ante): see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 9) Order 2005, SI 2005/1267, art 2(1), (2)(a), Schedule Pt 1 para 1(1)(a).

Where, in any proceedings in respect of any of the offences mentioned in the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 Sch 1 (as amended), the court is satisfied by the evidence of a duly qualified medical practitioner that the attendance before the court of any child or young person in respect of whom the offence is alleged to have been committed would involve serious danger to his life or health, any deposition of the child or young person taken under Pt III (ss 31-76) (as amended; prospectively further amended) is admissible in evidence either for or against the accused person without further proof if it purports to be signed by the justice by or before whom it purports to be taken: s 43. However, the deposition is not admissible in evidence against the accused person unless it is proved that reasonable notice of the intention to take the deposition has been served upon him and that he or his counsel or solicitor had, or might have had if he had chosen to be present, an opportunity of cross-examining the child or young person making the deposition: s 43 proviso. See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1534.

15 See the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 ss 16-33; para 1278 et seq post; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1417 et seq. ### 1278. Child witness eligible for assistance.

A witness<sup>1</sup> in criminal proceedings, excluding the accused<sup>2</sup>, is eligible for assistance where he is under the age of 17 at the time of hearing<sup>3</sup>.

The following special measures may be available to such a witness<sup>4</sup>:

- 1056 (1) screens so that the witness cannot see the accused<sup>5</sup>;
- 1057 (2) evidence being given by a live television link<sup>6</sup>;
- 1058 (3) evidence being given in private<sup>7</sup>;
- 1059 (4) the removal of wigs and gowns<sup>8</sup>;
- 1060 (5) evidence in chief being recorded<sup>9</sup>;
- 1061 (6) the examination of the witness through an intermediary<sup>10</sup>;
- 1062 (7) the provision of aids to communication<sup>11</sup>.

As from a day to be appointed, the cross-examination and re-examination of the witness may be adduced by video recording<sup>12</sup>.

1 A 'witness' in relation to any criminal proceedings, means any person called, or proposed to be called, to give evidence in the proceedings: Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 63(1).

2 'Accused', in relation to criminal proceedings, means any person charged with an offence to which the proceedings relate (whether or not he has been convicted): ibid s 63(1).

3 Ibid s 16(1)(a). For these purposes, 'the time of the hearing' in relation to a witness means the time when it falls to the court to make a determination for the purposes of s 19(2) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1419) in relation to the witness: s 16(3). A witness in criminal proceedings, other than the accused, is also eligible for assistance if:

3266 (2) the court is satisfied that the quality of evidence given by the witness is likely to be diminished by reason of fear or distress on the part of the witness in connection with testifying in the proceedings (s 17(1)).

In determining whether a witness falls within head (2) above, the court must consider:

3267 (a) the nature and alleged circumstances of the offence (s 17(2)(a));

3268 (b) the age of the witness (s 17(2)(b));

3269 (c) such of the following as may be relevant:

15 187.(i) the social and cultural background and ethnic origin of the witness (s 17(2)(c)(i));

16 188.(ii) the domestic and employment circumstances of the witness (s 17(2)(c)(ii)); and

17 189.(iii) any religious beliefs or political opinions of the witness (s 17(2)(c)(iii));

3270 (d) any behaviour towards the witness on the part of:

18 190.(i) the accused (s 17(2)(d)(i));

19 191.(ii) members of the family or associates of the accused (s 17(2)(d)(ii)); or 20 192.(iii) any other person who is likely to be an accused or witness in the proceedings (s 17(2)(d)(iii)).

Where the complainant in respect of a sexual offence is a witness in proceedings relating to that offence (or to that offence and any other offences), the witness is eligible for assistance in relation to those proceedings unless the witness has informed the court of his wish not to be so eligible: see s 17(4). The court must in addition consider any views expressed by the witness: ibid s 17(3).

See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) paras 1417-1418.

4 See ibid s 18(1)(a); and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1417. An application for special measure directions must be made in accordance with CrimPR Pt 29 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1419).

5 See the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 23; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1421.

6 See ibid s 24; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1422.

7 See ibid s 25; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1423. This only applies where the charge relates to a sexual offence (s 25(4)(a)) or there are reasonable grounds for believing that any person other than the accused has sought, or will seek, to intimidate the witness in connection with testifying in the proceedings (s 25(4)(b)).

8 See ibid s 26; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1424.

9 See ibid s 27; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1425.

10 See ibid s 29; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1427.

11 See ibid s 30; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1428.

12 See ibid s 28; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1426. At the date at which this volume states this provision is in force for the purpose only of the exercise of any power to make rules of court.

UPDATE

1278 Child witness eligible for assistance

NOTES 2, 3--However, a court has an inherent power to appoint an intermediary to enable a minor who is the accused to participate effectively in a trial: R (on the application of C) v Sevenoaks Youth Court [2009] EWHC 3088 (Admin), [2010] 1 All ER 735.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(3) EVIDENCE OF CHILDREN IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS/1279. Special measures directions in relation to a child witness.

1279. Special measures directions in relation to a child witness.

Where in any criminal proceedings:

- 1063 (1) a party to the proceedings makes an application for the court to give a direction in relation to a witness<sup>1</sup> in the proceedings other than the accused<sup>2</sup>; or
- 1064 (2) the court of its own motion raises the issue whether such a direction should be given<sup>3</sup>, and the court determines that a child witness is eligible for assistance<sup>4</sup>, the court must then:

- 1065 (a) determine whether any of the special measures available in relation to the witness, or any combination of them, would, in its opinion, be likely to improve the quality of evidence given by the witness<sup>5</sup>; and
- 1066 (b) if so:
  - 31 17. (i) determine which of those measures, or combination of them, would, in its opinion, be likely to maximise so far as practicable the quality of such evidence<sup>6</sup>; and
  - 18. (ii) give a direction providing for the measure or measures so determined to apply to evidence given by the witness<sup>7</sup>.
- 32

A special measures direction<sup>8</sup> must specify particulars of the provision made by the direction in respect of each special measure which is to apply to the witness's evidence<sup>9</sup>.

Where a court, in making a determination for the purposes of head (b) above determines that a witness in criminal proceedings is a child witness, the court must first have regard to the following and then have regard to head (b) above<sup>10</sup>. The primary rule in the case of a child witness is that the court must give a special measures direction in relation to the witness which complies with the following requirements:

- 1067 (A) it must provide for any relevant recording to be admitted<sup>11</sup>; and
- 1068 (B) it must provide for any evidence given by the witness in the proceedings which is not given by means of a video recording, whether in chief or otherwise, to be given by means of a live link<sup>12</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'witness' see para 1278 note 1 ante.

2 Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 19(1)(a). For the meaning of 'accused' see para 1278 note 2 ante.

3 Ibid s 19(1)(b).

4 le by virtue of ibid ss 16, 17 (see para 1278 ante).

5 Ibid s 19(2)(a). See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1420.

6 Ibid s 19(2)(b)(i). In determining whether any special measure or measures would or would not be likely to improve, or to maximise so far as practicable, the quality of evidence given by the witness, the court must consider all the circumstances of the case, including in particular: (1) any views expressed by the witness (s 19(3)(a)); and (2) whether the measure or measures might tend to inhibit such evidence being effectively tested by a party to the proceedings (s 19(3)(b)). See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1420.

7 Ibid s 19(2)(b)(ii). See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1420.

8 A special measures direction has binding effect from the time it is made until the proceedings for the purposes of which it is made are either determined (by acquittal, conviction or otherwise), or abandoned, in relation to the accused or (if there is more than one) in relation to each of the accused: see ibid s 20(1). The court may discharge or vary (or further vary) a special measures direction if it appears to the court to be in the interests of justice to do so, and may do so either on an application made by a party to the proceedings, if there has been a material change of circumstances since the relevant time, or of its own motion: s 20(2). For these purposes, 'the relevant time' means the time when the direction was given, or if a previous application has been made under s 20(2), the time when the application (or last application) was made: s 20(3). The court must state in open court its reasons for giving or varying, or refusing an application for, or for the variation or discharge of, or discharging, a special measures direction and, if it is a magistrates' court, must cause them to be entered in the register of its proceedings: s 20(4).

9 Ibid s 19(4). See also CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1420.

10 Ibid s 21(2). For the purposes of s 19(2) (see the text and notes 5-7 supra), as it then applies to the witness, any special measures required to be applied in relation to him by virtue of s 21 are to be treated as if they were measures determined by the court, pursuant to s 19(2)(a) (see head (a) in the text) and s 19(2)(b)(i) (see head (b)(i) in the text), to be ones that (whether on their own or with any other special measures) would be likely to maximise, so far as practicable, the quality of his evidence: s 21(2).

11 Ibid s 21(3)(a). A relevant recording is one admitted under s 27 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1425).

The primary rule is subject to the following limitations:

3271 (1) the requirement contained in s 21(3)(a) or (b) has effect subject to the availability (within the meaning of s 18(2)) of the special measure in question in relation to the witness (s 21(4)(a));

3272 (2) the requirement contained in s 21(3)(a) also has effect subject to s 27(2) (s 21(4)(b));
and

3273 (3) the rule does not apply to the extent that the court is satisfied that compliance with it would not be likely to maximise the quality of the witness's evidence so far as practicable (whether because the application to that evidence of one or more other special measures available in relation to the witness would have that result or for any other reason) (s 21(4)(c)).

Section 21(4)(c) does not apply in relation to a child witness in need of special protection: s 21(5). See R (on the application of D) v Camberwell Green Youth Court, R (on the application of the DPP) v Camberwell Green Youth Court [2005] UKHL 4, [2005] 1 All ER 999, [2005] 1 WLR 393.

12 Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 21(3)(b). See note 11 supra. A live link is one given in accordance with s 24 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1422).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(3) EVIDENCE OF CHILDREN IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS/1280. Special protection of a child witness.

1280. Special protection of a child witness.

Where a child witness is in need of special protection by virtue of a sexual offence<sup>3</sup>, any special measures direction<sup>4</sup> given by the court must in addition provide for the special measure available in relation to video recorded cross-examination or re-examination<sup>5</sup> to apply in relation to:

- 1069 (1) any cross-examination of the witness otherwise than by the accused in person<sup>6</sup>; and
- 1070 (2) any subsequent re-examination<sup>7</sup>.

No person charged with an offence falling within particular provisions<sup>8</sup> may in any criminal proceedings cross-examine in person a protected witness<sup>9</sup> either in connection with that offence or in connection with any other offence of whatever nature with which that person is charged in the proceedings<sup>10</sup>.

1 A witness in criminal proceedings is a 'child witness' if he is an eligible witness by reason of the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 16(1)(a) (see para 1278 ante): s 21(1)(a). Where a special measures direction is given in relation to a child witness who is an eligible witness by reason only of s 16(1)(a) then, subject to s 21(9) and except where the witness has already begun to give evidence in the proceedings the direction ceases to have effect at the time when the witness attains the age of 17: s 21(8). Where a special measures direction is given in relation to a child witness who is an eligible witness by reason only of s 16(1)(a) and:

3274 (1) the direction provides:

193.(a) for any relevant recording to be admitted under s 27 as evidence in chief of the witness (s 21(9)(a)(i)); or

21

194.(b) for the special measure available under s 28 to apply in relation to the witness (s 21(9)(a)(ii)); and

3275 (2) if it provides for that special measure to so apply, the witness is still under the age of 17 when the video recording is made for the purposes of s 28 (s 21(9)(b)), then, so far as it provides as mentioned in head (1)(a) or head (1)(b) above, the direction continues to have effect in accordance with s 20(1) even though the witness subsequently attains that age (s 21(9)).

2 Ibid s 21(1)(b). The particular provisions referred to in the text are:

3276 (1) the Protection of Children Act 1978 or the Sexual Offences Act 2003 Pt 1 (Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 35(3)(a) (amended by the Sexual Offences Act 2003 ss 139, 140, Sch 6 para 41, Sch 7));

3278 (3) any offence under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 1 (Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 35(3)(c)); 3279 (4) any offence (not within any of heads (1)-(3) supra) which involves an assault on, or injury or a threat of injury to, any person (s 35(3)(d)).

As to kidnapping see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 136; and as to false imprisonment see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 135. See further CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) para 165 et seq.

3 le by virtue of ibid s 35(3)(a) (as amended) (see note 2 supra).

4 As to special measures directions see para 1279 ante.

5 le the special measure available under the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 s 28 (not yet in force) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) para 1426).

6 Ibid s 21(6)(a). The requirement contained in s 21(6) has effect subject to the following limitations:

3280 (1) it has effect subject to the availability (within the meaning of s 18(2)) of that special measure in relation to the witness (s 21(7)(a)); and 3281 (2) it does not apply if the witness has informed the court that he does not want that special measure to apply in relation to him (s 21(7)(b)).

7 Ibid s 21(6)(b).

8 le an offence to which ibid s 35 (as amended) applies (see note 2 supra).

9 For these purposes, a 'protected witness' is a witness who:

3282 (1) either is the complainant or is alleged to have been a witness to the commission of the offence to which this section applies (ibid s 35(2)(a)); and 3283 (2) either is a child or falls to be cross-examined after giving evidence in chief (whether wholly or in part) by means of a video recording made (for the purposes of s 27) at a time when the witness was a child, or in any other way at any such time (s 35(2)(a)).

For the purposes of s 35, 'child' means: (a) where the offence falls within s 35(3)(a) (as amended) (see note 2 supra), a person under the age of 17 (s 35(4)(a)); or (b) where the offence falls within s 35(3)(b), (c) or (d) (see note 2 supra), a person under the age of 14 (s 35(4)(b)). For the purposes of s 35, 'witness' includes a witness who is charged with an offence in the proceedings: s 35(5).

1281. Clearing the court.

Where, in any proceedings in relation to an offence against, or any conduct contrary to, decency or morality, a person who, in the court's opinion, is a child or young person<sup>1</sup> is called as a witness, the court may direct that all or any persons, not being members or officers of the court or parties to the case, their counsel or solicitors, or persons otherwise directly concerned with the case, be excluded from the court during the taking of the evidence of that witness<sup>2</sup>. However, this does not authorise the exclusion of bona fide representatives of a newspaper or news agency<sup>3</sup>.

No child (other than an infant in arms) is permitted to be present in court during the trial of any other person charged with an offence, or during any proceedings preliminary to a trial, except during such time as his presence is required as a witness or otherwise for the purposes of justice or while the court consents to his presence, and any child present in court when he is not to be permitted to be so must be ordered to be removed<sup>4</sup>.

(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS

(i) Introduction

1282. The sentencing powers of the courts.

The principal aim of the youth justice system is to prevent offending by children and young persons<sup>1</sup>. The courts have available to them a broad range of measures by which to sentence children and young persons, and certain limited means to make orders affecting their parent or guardian. The common law powers to bind over apply to children and young persons as they do to adults, but there is also a statutory power to bind over a parent or guardian<sup>2</sup>. The power to impose an absolute or conditional discharge applies largely as it does to adults<sup>3</sup>, but with certain statutory limitations since the replacement of police cautions for those under 18 years with a scheme of reprimands and warnings<sup>4</sup>. Referral to a youth offender panel<sup>5</sup> of offenders without previous convictions provides a programme of meetings and a contract between the offender and the panel, by which the offender is required to participate in a variety of schemes aimed at the prevention of further offending<sup>6</sup>. Reparation orders require the offender to make reparation to his victim or the community by unpaid work for no more than 24 hours<sup>7</sup>. Parenting orders are designed to prevent further offending or the repetition of the behaviour which gave rise to the proceedings, and impose requirements on a parent or guardian of a child who has been convicted of an offence or been made subject to certain orders<sup>8</sup>. The court may also impose an anti-social behaviour order after conviction for an offence<sup>9</sup>. Financial penalties are also available but with a statutory ceiling for fines<sup>10</sup>. There are powers to make a parent or guardian liable to pay fines, compensation and costs<sup>11</sup>.

There are only three forms of custodial sentence now available for offenders under 18<sup>12</sup>:

- 1071 (1) a detention and training order<sup>13</sup>;
- 1072 (2) detention for serious offences<sup>14</sup>; and
- 1073 (3) detention at Her Majesty's pleasure for murder<sup>15</sup>.

A 'youth community order' means:

- 1074 (1) a supervision order<sup>1</sup>, which entails a supervisor acting to advise, assist and befriend the subject for a period of up to three years<sup>2</sup>;
- 1075 (2) an attendance centre order<sup>3</sup>, which is a form of community penalty; provision is made for the aggregate number of hours for which an attendance centre order may require a person to attend at an attendance centre<sup>4</sup>;
- 1076 (3) a curfew order<sup>5</sup>, which is available for an offender of any age, and operates to restrict his liberty in the community for a period of between two and twelve hours each day, for no more than three months if the offender is less than 16 at conviction, but otherwise up to six months<sup>6</sup>;
- 1077 (4) an exclusion order<sup>7</sup>, which prohibits the offender from entering a specified place for a specified period<sup>8</sup>;
- 1078 (5) an action plan order<sup>9</sup>, which involves a scheme of requirements and restrictions, lasting for three months<sup>10</sup>.

1    Ie an order as defined by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 63(1). ## (ii) Pre-sentencing Reports

1286. Disclosure of pre-sentence reports.

A pre-sentence report is a report which is submitted with a view to assisting the court in determining the most suitable method of dealing with an offender, is made or submitted by an appropriate officer, and contains information on such matters as may be prescribed by the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup>. Where the offender is aged under 18, it will be prepared by an officer of a local probation board, a social worker of a local authority or a member of a youth offending scheme<sup>2</sup>.

The court must give a copy of the report:

- 1095 (1) to the offender or his counsel or solicitor<sup>3</sup>;
- 1096 (2) if the offender is aged under 18, to any parent or guardian of his who is present in court<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1097 (3) to the prosecutor, that is to say, the person having the conduct of the proceedings in respect of the offence<sup>5</sup>.

If it appears to the court that disclosure to the young offender or to any parent or guardian would be likely to create a risk of significant harm to the offender, a complete copy need not be given<sup>6</sup>. Where a report by an officer of a local probation board or a member of a youth offending team is made to any court (other than a youth court) with a view to assisting the court in determining the most suitable method of dealing with any person in respect of an offence, and the report is not a pre-sentence report<sup>7</sup>, the court must give a copy of the report to the offender or his counsel or solicitor and if the offender is aged under 18, to any parent or guardian<sup>8</sup> of his who is present in court<sup>9</sup>.

3284 (1) determining whether representations as to matters contained in the report need to be made to the court (s 159(5)(a)); or 3285 (2) making such representations to the court (s 159(5)(b)).

If the prosecutor is not of a description prescribed by order made by the Secretary of State, a copy of the report need not be given to the prosecutor if the court considers that it would be inappropriate for him to be given it: s

1286 Disclosure of pre-sentence reports

TEXT AND NOTE 1--See also Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 158(1A), (1B) (added by Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 12) which requires that, in any case where a court is considering passing a custodial sentence in respect of a person under 18, the pre-sentence report must be in writing.

TEXT AND NOTES 2, 7--Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 158(2)(b) further amended, s 160(1) amended: SI 2008/912.

TEXT AND NOTE 3--Reference to counsel or solicitor now to legal representative: Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 159(2)(a) (amended by Legal Services Act 2007 Sch 21 para 147).

1287. Pre-sentence reports.

In the case of a custodial sentence, the court must obtain and consider a pre-sentence report<sup>1</sup> before:

- 1098 (1) forming the opinion that the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, was so serious that neither a fine nor a community sentence can be justified for the offence<sup>2</sup>;
- 1099 (2) determining the appropriate length of a custodial sentence<sup>3</sup>;
- 1100 (3) concluding that there is a significant risk to members of the public of serious harm occasioned by the commission by the offender of further specified offences<sup>4</sup>.

In the case of a community sentence, the court must obtain and consider a pre-sentence report before:

- 1101 (a) forming the opinion that the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it was serious enough to warrant a community sentence<sup>5</sup>;
- 1102 (b) determining what restrictions on liberty are commensurate with the seriousness of the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it<sup>6</sup>;
- 1103 (c) forming any opinion as to the suitability for the offender of the particular requirement or requirements to be imposed by a community order<sup>7</sup>.

A new pre-sentence report need not be ordered if, in the circumstances of the case, the court is of the opinion that it is unnecessary<sup>8</sup> provided, in the case of an offender aged under 18, that:

- 1104 (i) there exists a previous pre-sentence report obtained in respect of the offender<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1105 (ii) the court has had regard to the information contained in that report, or, if there is more than one such report, the most recent report<sup>10</sup>.

No custodial sentence may be invalidated by the failure of a court to obtain and consider a pre-sentence report before forming an opinion referred to above<sup>11</sup> but any court on an appeal against such a sentence<sup>12</sup> must:

- 1106 (A) obtain a pre-sentence report if none was obtained by the court below<sup>13</sup>; and
- 1107 (B) consider any such report obtained by it or by that court<sup>14</sup>.

The provisions relating to disclosure of pre-sentence reports<sup>15</sup> to the offender apply to any pre-sentence report obtained in pursuance of the above provisions<sup>16</sup>.

12 As to appeal against sentence see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 44 et seq.

13 Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 156(6)(a). Section 156(6)(a) does not apply if the court is of the opinion:

3286 (1) that the court below was justified in forming an opinion that it was unnecessary to obtain a pre-sentence report (s 156(7)(a)); or 3287 (2) that, although the court below was not justified in forming that opinion, in the circumstances of the case at the time it is before the court, it is unnecessary to obtain a pre-sentence report (s 156(7)(b)).

In a case where the offender is aged under 18 and the offence is not triable only on indictment and there is no other offence associated with it that is triable only on indictment, the court must not form such an opinion as is mentioned in s 81(6) unless:

3288 (a) there exists a previous pre-sentence report obtained in respect of the offender (s 156(8)(a)); and 3289 (b) the court has had regard to the information contained in that report, or, if there is more than one such report, the most recent report (s 156(8)(b)).

1287 Pre-sentence reports

TEXT AND NOTES 5-7--Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 156(3)(b) amended: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 4 para 77(4).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/(iii) Binding Over and Absolute and Conditional Discharges/1288. Binding over of parent or guardian.

(iii) Binding Over and Absolute and Conditional Discharges

1288. Binding over of parent or guardian.

Where a child or young person (that is to say, any person aged under 18) is convicted of an offence, the following powers<sup>1</sup> are exercisable by the court by which he is sentenced for that offence, and where the offender is aged under 16 when sentenced it is the duty of that court<sup>2</sup>:

- 1108 (1) to exercise those powers if it is satisfied, having regard to the circumstances of the case, that their exercise would be desirable in the interests of preventing the commission by him of further offences<sup>3</sup>; and
- 1109 (2) if it does not exercise them, to state in open court that it is not satisfied as is mentioned in head (1) above and why it is not so satisfied<sup>4</sup>.

The powers conferred<sup>5</sup> are as follows:

- 1110 (a) with the consent of the offender's parent or guardian, to order the parent or guardian to enter into a recognisance to take proper care<sup>6</sup> of him and exercise proper control<sup>7</sup> over him<sup>8</sup>; and
- 1111 (b) if the parent or guardian refuses consent and the court considers the refusal unreasonable, to order the parent or guardian to pay a fine not exceeding a stated amount<sup>9</sup>.

Where the court has passed a community sentence<sup>10</sup> on the offender, it may include in the recognisance a provision that the offender's parent or guardian ensure that the offender complies with the requirements of that sentence<sup>11</sup>.

Such an order<sup>12</sup> must not require the parent or guardian to enter into a recognisance for a period exceeding three years, or where the offender will attain the age of 18 in a period shorter than three years, for a period exceeding that shorter period<sup>13</sup>. The provisions relating to forfeiture of recognisances<sup>14</sup> apply in relation to a recognisance entered into in pursuance of such an order as it applies in relation to a recognisance to keep the peace<sup>15</sup>.

A parent or guardian may appeal to the Crown Court against such an order made by a magistrates' court<sup>16</sup>. A parent or guardian may appeal to the Court of Appeal against such an order made by the Crown Court, as if he had been convicted on indictment and the order were a sentence passed on his conviction<sup>17</sup>.

A court may vary or revoke such an order made by it if, on the application of the parent or guardian, it appears to the court, having regard to any change in the circumstances since the order was made, to be in the interests of justice to do so<sup>18</sup>.

3 Ibid s 150(1)(a).

4 Ibid s 150(1)(b).

5 See note 1 supra.

6 For these purposes, taking 'care' of a person includes giving him protection and guidance: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 150(11).

7 For these purposes, 'control' includes discipline: ibid s 150(1).

8 Ibid s 150(2)(a). An order under s 150 must not require the parent or guardian to enter into a recognisance for an amount exceeding £1,000: s 150(3). However, in fixing the amount of a recognisance under s 150, the court must take into account among other things the means of the parent or guardian so far as they appear or are known to the court; and this applies whether taking into account the means of the parent or guardian has the effect of increasing or reducing the amount of the recognisance: s 150(7). Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/(iii) Binding Over and Absolute and Conditional Discharges/1289. Absolute and conditional discharges.

1289. Absolute and conditional discharges.

Where a court by or before which a person is convicted of an offence (not being an offence the sentence for which is fixed by law or is subject to a mandatory minimum sentence<sup>1</sup>) is of the opinion, having regard to the circumstances including the nature of the offence and the character of the offender, that it is inexpedient to inflict punishment, the court may make an order discharging him absolutely, or may discharge him subject to the condition that he commits no offence during such period as may be specified, not exceeding three years<sup>2</sup>. A court must not order a discharge where a person has, within two years of the offence, been warned unless it is of the opinion that there are exceptional circumstances relating to the offence or the offender which justify its doing so<sup>3</sup>.

Where an offender is convicted of a further offence which occurred during the period of conditional discharge, the offender is liable to be sentenced for the original offence as if he had just been convicted of that offence<sup>4</sup>.

Where the offender is under 18, a conviction for an offence for which an order is made<sup>5</sup> discharging the offender absolutely or conditionally is deemed not to be a conviction for any purpose other than the purposes of the proceedings in which the order is made and of any subsequent proceedings which may be taken against the offender<sup>6</sup>. However, a discharge does count as a previous conviction such as would prohibit the making of a referral order<sup>7</sup> and triggers the requirement to register as a sex offender<sup>8</sup>. The court may, in addition to a conditional discharge, make an anti-social behaviour order<sup>9</sup>.

UPDATE

1290-1294 Duty and power to refer to youth offender panels ... Attendance of parents at the making of referral orders

Material relating to these paragraphs have been revised and published under the title SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 344-348.

1295. Establishment of youth offender panels.

Where a referral order has been made<sup>1</sup> in respect of an offender (or two or more associated<sup>2</sup> referral orders have been so made), it is the duty of the youth offending team specified in the order (or orders):

- 1112 (1) to establish a youth offender panel for the offender<sup>3</sup>;
- 1113 (2) to arrange for the first meeting of the panel to be held<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1114 (3) subsequently to arrange for the holding of any further meetings of the panel required<sup>5</sup>.

A youth offender panel must be constituted, conduct its proceedings, and discharge its functions<sup>6</sup> in accordance with guidance given from time to time by the Secretary of State<sup>7</sup>. At each of its meetings a panel must, however, consist of at least one member appointed by the youth offending team from among its members, and two members so appointed who are not members of the team<sup>8</sup>. The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision requiring persons appointed as members of a youth offender panel to have such qualifications, or satisfy such other criteria, as are specified in the regulations<sup>9</sup>.

Where it appears to the court which made a referral order that, by reason of either a change or a prospective change in the offender's place or intended place of residence, the youth offending team for the time being specified in the order ('the current team') either does not or will not have the function of implementing referral orders in the area in which the offender resides or will reside, the court may amend the order so that it instead specifies the team which has the function of implementing such orders in that area ('the new team')<sup>10</sup>. Where a court so amends a referral order:

- 1115 (a) the new youth offending team must establish a youth offender panel for the offender<sup>11</sup>;
- 1116 (b) the new youth offending team must arrange for the first meeting of the panel to be held if no youth offenders contract has taken effect<sup>12</sup> between the offender and a youth offender panel established by the current team<sup>13</sup>; and

1117 (c) if such a contract has so taken effect<sup>14</sup>, it must (after the amendment) be treated as if it were a contract which had taken effect<sup>15</sup> between the offender and the panel being established for the offender by the new team<sup>16</sup>.

1 As to the making of referral orders see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 346.

2 For the meaning of 'associated' see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 346; definition applied by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 32.

UPDATE

1290-1303 Referral to Youth Offender Panels

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27A (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 36(2)) provides a power for a youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the referral order to be revoked; this will allow a young offender's referral order to be revoked early where the offender makes good progress or where there are other good reasons to do so.

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27B, Sch 1 Pt 1ZA (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 37) provides a power for the youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the period of the referral order to be extended.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/(iv) Referral Orders/A. REFERRAL TO YOUTH OFFENDER PANELS/1296. Attendance at youth offender panel meetings.

1296. Attendance at youth offender panel meetings.

The specified youth offending team must, in the case of each meeting of the youth offender panel established for the offender<sup>1</sup>, notify the offender, and any person who is required by order to attend the meeting of the youth offender panel<sup>2</sup>, of the time and place at which he is required to attend that meeting<sup>3</sup>. If the offender fails to attend any part of such a meeting the panel may adjourn the meeting<sup>4</sup> to such time and place as it may specify, or end the meeting and refer the offender back to the appropriate court<sup>5</sup>. If a parent or guardian of the offender fails to comply with an order requiring attendance at meetings and the offender is aged under 18 at the time of the failure, the panel may refer that guardian to a youth court acting in the local justice area<sup>6</sup>. One person aged 18 or over chosen by the offender, with the agreement of the panel, is entitled to accompany the offender to any meeting of the panel (and it need not be the same person who accompanies him to every meeting)<sup>7</sup>.

The panel may allow to attend any such meeting:

- 1118 (1) any person who appears to the panel to be a victim of, or otherwise affected by, the offence, or any of the offences, in respect of which the offender was referred to the panel<sup>8</sup>; and
- 1119 (2) any person who appears to the panel to be someone capable of having a good influence on the offender<sup>9</sup>.

Where the panel allows any such person as is mentioned in head (1) above ('the victim') to attend a meeting of the panel, the panel may allow the victim to be accompanied to the meeting by one person chosen by the victim with the agreement of the panel<sup>10</sup>.

1 See para 1295 ante. As to meetings in relation to youth offender panels see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 346.

4 Ibid s 22(1) applies in relation to any such adjourned meeting: s 22(2).

5 Ibid s 22(2). For the meaning of 'appropriate court' see para 1302 note 2 post; definition applied by s 32. Nothing in s 22(2) prevents the panel from making the decision mentioned in s 27(3) (where the panel decides that the offender's compliance with the terms of the youth offender contract has been such as to justify the conclusion that, by the time the compliance period expires, the young offender will have satisfactorily completed that contract, that decision has the effect of discharging the referral order (or orders) as from the end of the compliance period) (see para 1301 post) in the offender's absence if it appears to the panel to be appropriate to do that instead of exercising either of its powers under s 22(2): s 27(5). CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/(iv) Referral Orders/A. REFERRAL TO YOUTH OFFENDER PANELS/1297. Agreement of youth offender contract with offender.

1297. Agreement of youth offender contract with offender.

At the first meeting of the youth offender panel established for an offender<sup>1</sup>, the panel must seek to reach agreement with the offender on a programme of behaviour the aim (or principal aim) of which is the prevention of re-offending by the offender<sup>2</sup>. The terms of the programme may, in particular, include provision for<sup>3</sup>:

- 1120 (1) the offender to make financial or other reparation to any person who appears to the panel to be a victim of, or otherwise affected by, the offence, or any of the offences, for which the offender was referred to the panel<sup>4</sup>;
- 1121 (2) the offender to attend mediation sessions with any such victim or other person<sup>5</sup>;
- 1122 (3) the offender to carry out unpaid work or service in or for the community<sup>6</sup>;
- 1123 (4) the offender to be at home at times specified in or determined under the programme<sup>7</sup>;
- 1124 (5) attendance by the offender at a school or other educational establishment or at a place of work<sup>8</sup>;
- 1125 (6) the offender to participate in specified activities (such as those designed to address offending behaviour, those offering education or training or those assisting with the rehabilitation of persons dependent on, or having a propensity to misuse, alcohol or drugs)<sup>9</sup>;
- 1126 (7) the offender to present himself to specified persons at times and places specified in or determined under the programme<sup>10</sup>;
- 1127 (8) the offender to stay away from specified places or persons (or both)<sup>11</sup>;
- 1128 (9) enabling the offender's compliance with the programme to be supervised and recorded<sup>12</sup>.

The programme may not, however, provide for the electronic monitoring of the offender's whereabouts, or for the offender to have imposed on him any physical restriction on his movements<sup>13</sup>. Where a programme is agreed between the offender and the panel, the panel must cause a written record of the programme to be produced immediately in language capable of being readily understood by, or explained to, the offender, and for signature by him<sup>14</sup>. Once the record has been signed by the offender, and by a member of the panel on behalf of the panel, the terms of the programme, as set out in the record, take effect as the terms of a 'youth offender contract' between the offender and the panel; and the panel must cause a copy of the record to be given or sent to the offender<sup>15</sup>.

1298. Duration of youth offender contracts.

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply where a youth offender contract has taken effect<sup>2</sup> between an offender and a youth offender panel<sup>3</sup>. The day on which the youth offender contract so takes effect is the first day of the period for which it has effect<sup>4</sup>.

Where the panel was established in pursuance of a single referral order, the length of the period for which the contract has effect is that of the period specified<sup>5</sup> in the referral order<sup>6</sup>. Where the panel was established in pursuance of two or more associated<sup>7</sup> referral orders, the length of the period for which the contract has effect is that resulting from the court's directions<sup>8</sup>.

If the referral order, or each of the associated referral orders, is revoked<sup>9</sup>, the period for which the contract has effect expires at the time when the order or orders is or are revoked unless it has already expired<sup>10</sup>.

1290-1303 Referral to Youth Offender Panels

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27A (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 36(2)) provides a power for a youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the referral order to be revoked; this will allow a young offender's referral order to be revoked early where the offender makes good progress or where there are other good reasons to do so.

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27B, Sch 1 Pt 1ZA (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 37) provides a power for the youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the period of the referral order to be extended.

1298 Duration of youth offender contracts

1299. Failure to agree a youth offender contract.

Where it appears to a youth offender panel to be appropriate to do so, the panel may:

- 1129 (1) end the first meeting<sup>1</sup> (or any further meeting held in pursuance of head (2) below) without having reached agreement with the offender on a programme of behaviour<sup>2</sup>; and
- 1130 (2) resume consideration of the offender's case at a further meeting of the panel<sup>3</sup>.

If, however, it appears to the panel at the first meeting or any such further meeting that there is no prospect of agreement being reached with the offender within a reasonable period after the making of the referral order (or orders), head (2) above does apply and instead the panel must refer the offender back to the appropriate court<sup>4</sup>.

If, at a meeting of the panel, agreement is reached with the offender but he does not sign the record produced<sup>5</sup>, and his failure to do so appears to the panel to be unreasonable, the panel must end the meeting and refer the offender back to the appropriate court<sup>6</sup>.

1290-1303 Referral to Youth Offender Panels

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27A (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 36(2)) provides a power for a youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the referral order to be revoked; this will allow a young offender's referral order to be revoked early where the offender makes good progress or where there are other good reasons to do so.

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27B, Sch 1 Pt 1ZA (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 37) provides a power for the youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the period of the referral order to be extended.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/(iv) Referral Orders/A. REFERRAL TO YOUTH OFFENDER PANELS/1300. Progress meetings.

1300. Progress meetings.

At any time after a youth offender contract has taken effect<sup>1</sup>, but before the end of the period for which the contract has effect<sup>2</sup>, the specified youth offending team<sup>3</sup> must, if so requested by the panel, arrange for the holding of a meeting of the panel ('a progress meeting')<sup>4</sup>. Such meetings should take place at least every three months<sup>5</sup>. The panel may make such a request if it appears to it to be expedient to review the offender's progress in implementing the programme of behaviour contained in the contract, or any other matter arising in connection with the contract<sup>6</sup>. However, the panel must make such a request if:

1131 (1) the offender has notified the panel that:

19. (a) he wishes to seek the panel's agreement to a variation in the terms of the contract<sup>7</sup>; or

20. (b) he wishes the panel to refer him back to the appropriate court with a view to the referral order (or orders)<sup>8</sup> being revoked on account of a significant change in his circumstances (such as his being taken to live abroad) making compliance with any youth offender contract impractical<sup>9</sup>; or

1132 (2) it appears to the panel that the offender is in breach of any of the terms of the contract<sup>10</sup>.

At a progress meeting the panel must do such one or more of the following things as it considers appropriate in the circumstances, namely<sup>11</sup>:

1133 (i) review the offender's progress or any such other matter as is mentioned in heads (1) and (2) above<sup>12</sup>;

1134 (ii) discuss with the offender any breach of the terms of the contract which it appears to the panel that he has committed<sup>13</sup>;

1135 (iii) consider any variation in the terms of the contract sought by the offender or which it appears to the panel to be expedient to make in the light of any such review or discussion<sup>14</sup>; and 1136 (iv) consider whether to accede to any request by the offender that he be referred back to the appropriate court<sup>15</sup>.

Where the panel has discussed with the offender such a breach as is mentioned in head (ii) above:

1137 (A) the panel and the offender may agree that the offender is to continue to be required to comply with the contract (either in its original form or with any agreed variation in its terms) without being referred back to the appropriate court<sup>16</sup>; or 1138 (B) the panel may decide to end the meeting and refer the offender back to that court<sup>17</sup>.

Where a variation in the terms of the contract is agreed between the offender and the panel, the panel must cause a written record of the variation to be produced immediately in language capable of being readily understood by, or explained to, the offender, and for signature by him<sup>18</sup>. Any such variation takes effect once the record has been signed by the offender, and by a member of the panel on behalf of the panel<sup>19</sup>. The panel must cause a copy of the record to be given or sent to the offender<sup>20</sup>. If at a progress meeting any such variation is agreed but the offender does not sign the record produced<sup>21</sup>, and his failure to do so appears to the panel to be unreasonable, the panel may end the meeting and refer the offender back to the appropriate court<sup>22</sup>.

Certain of the provisions relating to the agreement of the youth offender contract with the offender<sup>23</sup> apply in connection with what may be provided for by the terms of the contract as varied<sup>24</sup> as they apply in connection with what may be provided for by the terms of a programme of behaviour<sup>25</sup>.

1290-1303 Referral to Youth Offender Panels

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27A (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 36(2)) provides a power for a youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the referral order to be revoked; this will allow a young offender's referral order to be revoked early where the offender makes good progress or where there are other good reasons to do so.

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27B, Sch 1 Pt 1ZA (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 37) provides a power for the youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the period of the referral order to be extended.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/(iv) Referral Orders/A. REFERRAL TO YOUTH OFFENDER PANELS/1301. Final meeting of youth offender panel.

1301. Final meeting of youth offender panel.

Where the compliance period<sup>1</sup> in the case of a youth offender contract is due to expire, the specified youth offending team<sup>2</sup> must arrange for the holding, before the end of that period, of a meeting of the youth offender panel ('the final meeting')<sup>3</sup>. At the final meeting the panel must:

- 1139 (1) review the extent of the offender's compliance to date with the terms of the contract<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1140 (2) decide, in the light of that review, whether his compliance with those terms has been such as to justify the conclusion that, by the time the compliance period expires, he will have satisfactorily completed the contract<sup>5</sup>, and the panel must give the offender written confirmation of its decision<sup>6</sup>.

Where the panel decides that the offender's compliance with the terms of the contract has been such as to justify that conclusion, the panel's decision has the effect of discharging the referral order (or orders) as from the end of the compliance period<sup>7</sup>. Otherwise the panel must refer the offender back to the appropriate court<sup>8</sup>.

It is not permitted<sup>9</sup> for the final meeting to be adjourned (or re-adjourned) to a time falling after the end of the compliance period<sup>10</sup>.

1 For the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000, 'the compliance period', in relation to a youth offender contract, means the period for which the contract has effect in accordance with s 24 (see para 1298 ante); s 27(7). As to the offender's compliance with the programme agreed between the offender and the youth offender panel see para 1297 ante.

1290-1303 Referral to Youth Offender Panels

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27A (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 36(2)) provides a power for a youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the referral order to be revoked; this will allow a young offender's referral order to be revoked early where the offender makes good progress or where there are other good reasons to do so.

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27B, Sch 1 Pt 1ZA (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 37) provides a power for the youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the period of the referral order to be extended.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/(iv) Referral Orders/A. REFERRAL TO YOUTH OFFENDER PANELS/1302. Referral back to appropriate court.

1302. Referral back to appropriate court.

Provision is made for what is to happen when a youth offender panel<sup>1</sup> refers an offender back to the appropriate court<sup>2</sup>. The panel makes the referral by sending a report to the appropriate court explaining why the offender is being referred back to it<sup>3</sup>. Where the appropriate court receives such a report, the court must cause the offender to appear before it<sup>4</sup>. For the purpose of securing the attendance of the offender before the court, a justice acting for the local justice area for which the court acts may issue a summons requiring the offender to appear at the place and time specified in it, or if the report is substantiated on oath, issue a warrant for the offender's arrest<sup>5</sup>. Where the offender is arrested in pursuance of a warrant<sup>6</sup> and cannot be brought immediately before the appropriate court:

- 1141 (1) the person in whose custody he is may make arrangements for his detention in a place of safety<sup>7</sup> for a period of not more than 72 hours from the time of the arrest (and it is lawful for him to be detained in pursuance of those arrangements)<sup>8</sup>; and
- 1142 (2) that person must within that period bring him before a court which<sup>9</sup>, if he is under the age of 18 when he is brought before the court, must be a youth court<sup>10</sup>, and if he has then attained that age, must be a magistrate's court other than a youth court<sup>11</sup>.

If it is proved to the satisfaction of the appropriate court as regards any decision of the panel which resulted in the offender being referred back to the court that<sup>12</sup>:

- 1143 (a) so far as the decision relied on any finding of fact by the panel, the panel was entitled to make that finding in the circumstances<sup>13</sup>; and
- 1144 (b) that, so far as the decision involved any exercise of discretion by the panel, the panel reasonably exercised that discretion in the circumstances<sup>14</sup>, the court may exercise the power to revoke a referral order<sup>15</sup>.

The court may then deal with the offender for the offence for which the revoked order was originally made<sup>16</sup>. The offender may appeal to the Crown Court against that sentence<sup>17</sup>.

The following provisions<sup>18</sup> apply where the appropriate court decides that the matters mentioned in heads (a) and (b) above have not been proved to its satisfaction, or where, although by virtue of head (a) above the appropriate court is able to exercise the power to revoke the referral order<sup>19</sup>, or would be able to do so if the offender were present before it, the court (for any reason) decides not to exercise that power<sup>20</sup>. If either no contract has taken effect<sup>21</sup> between the offender and the panel, or a contract has so taken effect but the period for which it has effect has not expired, the offender must continue to remain subject to the referral order (or orders) in all respects as if he had not been referred back to the court<sup>22</sup>; and if a contract had taken effect<sup>23</sup>, but the period for which it has effect has expired<sup>24</sup>, the court must make an order declaring that the referral order (or each of the referral orders) is discharged<sup>25</sup>.

If, in a case where the offender is referred back to the court<sup>26</sup>, the court decides (contrary to the decision of the panel) that the offender's compliance with the terms of the contract has, or will have, been such as to justify the conclusion that he has satisfactorily completed the contract, the court must make an order declaring that the referral order (or each of the referral orders) is discharged<sup>27</sup>.

1 As to youth offender panels see para 1295 et seq.

2 See the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 28, Sch 1 Pt I, which applies where a youth offender panel refers an offender back to the appropriate court under s 22(2) (see para 1296 ante), s 25(2) or (3) (see para 1299 ante), s 26(5), (8) or (10) (see para 1300 ante) or s 27(4) (see para 1301 ante): Sch 1 Pt I para 1(1). For these purposes, the appropriate court is:

3294 (1) in the case of an offender aged under 18 at the time when (in pursuance of the referral back) he first appears before the court, a youth court acting for the local justice area in which it appears to the youth offender panel that the offender resides or will reside (Sch 1 Pt 1 para 1(2)(a) (amended by the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 81(a))); and

3295 (2) otherwise, a magistrates' court (other than a youth court) acting in that area (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt I para 1(2)(b) (amended by the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, Schedule para 81(a))).

Any summons or warrant issued under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt I para 3(2) (as amended) must direct the offender to appear or be brought before the appropriate court: Sch 1 Pt I para 3(3).

3296 (1) the alternative court may direct that he is to be released immediately or remand him (Sch 1 Pt I para 4(3));

3297 (2) the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 128 (as amended) (remand in custody or on bail) (see MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 715 et seq) has effect where the alternative court has power under the Powers of Criminal Court (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt I para 4(3) to remand the offender as if the court referred to in the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 128(1)(a), (3), (4)(a), (5) (s 128(1)(a) as amended) were the appropriate court (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt I para 4(4));

3298 (3) the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 128 (as amended) has effect where the alternative court has power so to remand him, or the appropriate court has (by virtue of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt I para 4(4))) power to further remand him, as if in the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 128(1) (as amended) there were inserted after s 128(1)(c) 'or (d) if he is aged under 18, remand him to accommodation provided by or on behalf of a local authority (within the meaning of the Children Act 1989) (see para 863 note 2 ante) and, if it does so, must designate as the authority who are to receive him the local authority for the area in which it appears to the court that he resides or will reside' (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt I para 4(5)).

The revocation under Sch 1 Pt I para 5(2) of a referral order has the effect of revoking any related order under Sch 1 Pt II para 11 or 12 (see para 1304 post): Sch 1 Pt I para 5(3). Where any order is revoked under Sch 1 Pt I para 5(2) or by virtue of Sch 1 Pt I para 5(3), the appropriate court may deal with the offender in accordance with Sch 1 Pt I para 5(5) for the offence in respect of which the revoked order was made: Sch 1 Pt I para 5(4). In so dealing with the offender for such an offence, the appropriate court:

3299 (1) may deal with him in any way in which (assuming s 16 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 344) had not applied) he could have been dealt with for that offence by the court which made the order (Sch 1 Pt I para 5(5)(a)); and 3300 (2) must have regard to the circumstances of his referral back to the court, and where a contract has taken effect under s 23 (see para 1297 ante) between the offender and the panel, the extent of his compliance with the terms of the contract (Sch 1 Pt I para 5(5)(b)).

The appropriate court may not exercise the powers conferred by Sch 1 Pt I para 5(2) or Sch 1 Pt I para 5(4) unless the offender is present before it; but those powers are exercisable even if, in a case where a contract has taken effect under s 23, the period for which the contract has effect has expired (whether before or after the referral of the offender back to the court): Sch 1 Pt I para 5(6).

1290-1303 Referral to Youth Offender Panels

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27A (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 36(2)) provides a power for a youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the referral order to be revoked; this will allow a young offender's referral order to be revoked early where the offender makes good progress or where there are other good reasons to do so.

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27B, Sch 1 Pt 1ZA (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 37) provides a power for the youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the period of the referral order to be extended.

1302 Referral back to appropriate court

TEXT AND NOTES--Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 28, Sch 1 Pt 1 further amended: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 36(3), Sch 4 para 107, Sch 26 paras 43, 49.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/(iv) Referral Orders/A. REFERRAL TO YOUTH OFFENDER PANELS/1303. Referral of parent or guardian.

1303. Referral of parent or guardian.

Provision is made for what is to happen when a youth offender panel<sup>1</sup> refers an offender's<sup>2</sup> parent or guardian to a youth court<sup>3</sup>. The panel makes the referral by sending a report to the youth court explaining why the parent is being referred to it<sup>4</sup>. Where the youth court receives such a report it must cause the parent to appear before it<sup>5</sup>. For the purpose of securing the attendance of the parent before the court, a justice acting in the local justice area in which the court acts may issue a summons requiring the parent to appear at the place and time specified in it or, if the report is substantiated on oath, issue a warrant for the parent's arrest<sup>6</sup>. Where the parent appears or is so brought before the youth court<sup>7</sup>, the court may make a parenting order in respect of the parent if:

- 1145 (1) it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that the parent has failed without reasonable excuse to comply with the order<sup>8</sup>; and
- 1146 (2) the court is satisfied that the parenting order would be desirable in the interests of preventing the commission of any further offence by the offender<sup>9</sup>.

A 'parenting order'<sup>10</sup> is an order which requires the parent: (a) to comply, for a period not exceeding twelve months, with such requirements as are specified in the order<sup>11</sup>; and (b) to attend<sup>12</sup>, for a concurrent period not exceeding three months, such counselling or guidance programme<sup>13</sup> as may be specified in directions given by the responsible officer<sup>14</sup>.

Before making such a parenting order where the offender is aged under 16, the court must obtain and consider information about his family circumstances and the likely effect of the order on those circumstances<sup>15</sup>.

1 As to youth offender panels see para 1295 et seq.

2 'The offender' means the offender whose parent or guardian is referred under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 22(2A) (as added) (see para 1296 ante): Sch 1 Pt 1A para 9A(2)(a) (Sch 1 Pt 1A added by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 324, Sch 34 para 6). 'The parent' means the parent or guardian so referred: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt 1A para 9A(2)(b) (as so added).

3 See ibid Sch 1 Pt 1A para 9A(1) (added: see note 2 supra). 'The youth court' means a youth court as mentioned in s 22(2A) (as added) (see para 1296 ante): Sch 1 Pt 1A para 9A(2)(c) (as so added).

4 Ibid Sch 1 Pt 1A para 9B (as added: see note 2 supra).

Any summons or warrant so issued must direct the parent to appear or be brought before the youth court: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt 1A para 9C(3) (as so added).

7 Ie under ibid Sch 1 Pt 1A para 9C (as added).

12 A parenting order may, but need not, include a requirement mentioned in head (b) in the text in any case where a parenting order under ibid Sch 1 Pt 1A para 9D (as added) or any other enactment has been made in respect of the parent on a previous occasion: Sch 1 Pt 1A para 9D(4) (as added: see note 2 supra).

13 A counselling or guidance programme which a parent is required to attend by virtue of head (b) in the text may be or include a residential course but only if the court is satisfied:

UPDATE

1290-1303 Referral to Youth Offender Panels

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27A (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 36(2)) provides a power for a youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the referral order to be revoked; this will allow a young offender's referral order to be revoked early where the offender makes good progress or where there are other good reasons to do so.

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 27B, Sch 1 Pt 1ZA (added by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 37) provides a power for the youth offender panel to refer the offender back to the appropriate court where they consider it is in the interests of justice for the period of the referral order to be extended.

B. FURTHER CONVICTIONS DURING REFERRALS

1304. Extension of referral.

Provision is made for what is to happen when an offender is convicted of further offences while for the time being subject to a referral order<sup>1</sup>. If:

- 1147 (1) the occasion on which the offender was referred to the youth offender panel<sup>2</sup> is the only other occasion on which it has fallen to a court in the United Kingdom<sup>3</sup> to deal with the offender for any offence or offences<sup>4</sup>, and the offender committed the relevant offence<sup>5</sup>, and any connected offence, before he was referred to the panel<sup>6</sup>, the relevant court may sentence the offender for the offence by making an order extending his compliance period<sup>7</sup>; and
- 1148 (2) if head (1) above applies, but the offender committed the relevant offence<sup>8</sup>, or any connected offence, after he was referred to the panel, the relevant court may sentence the offender for the offence by making an order extending his compliance period, but only if the relevant requirements<sup>9</sup> are complied with<sup>10</sup>.

An order under head (1) or head (2) above, or two or more orders under one or other of those heads made in respect of connected offences, must not so extend the offender's compliance period as to cause it to exceed 12 months<sup>11</sup>.

Where the relevant court makes an order<sup>12</sup> in respect of the relevant offence<sup>13</sup>, it:

- 1149 (a) may not deal with the offender for that offence in any of the specified prohibited ways<sup>14</sup>;
- 1150 (b) must, in respect of any connected offence, either sentence the offender by making an order under the same provision as the original order<sup>15</sup>, or make an order discharging him absolutely<sup>16</sup>;
- 1151 (c) may not deal with the offender for any connected offence in any of those prohibited ways<sup>17</sup>; and
- 1152 (d) may not, in connection with the conviction of the offender for the offence or any connected offence, make:

35

- 21. (i) an order binding him over to keep the peace or to be of good behaviour;
- 22. (ii) an order binding over the offender's parent or guardian; or
- 23. (iii) a parenting order<sup>18</sup>.

For the purposes of heads (1) and (2) above, any occasion on which the offender was discharged absolutely<sup>19</sup> in respect of the offence, or each of the offences, for which he was being dealt with must be disregarded<sup>20</sup>. Any occasion on which, in criminal proceedings in England, Wales or Northern Ireland, the offender was bound over<sup>21</sup> to keep the peace or to be of good behaviour must be regarded for those purposes as an occasion on which it fell to a court in the United Kingdom to deal with the offender for an offence<sup>22</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>23</sup> may by regulations make such amendments of the above provisions<sup>24</sup> as he considers appropriate for altering in any way the descriptions of offenders in the case of which an order extending the compliance period may be made<sup>25</sup>.

1 See the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 28, Sch 1 Pt II; the text and notes 2-25 infra; and para 1305 post. For the purposes of Sch 1 Pt II, an offender is for the time being subject to referral if:

3303 (1) a referral order has been made in respect of him and that order has not been discharged (whether by virtue of s 27(3) (see para 1301 ante) or under Sch 1 Pt I para 7(3) or 8 (see para 1302 ante)) or revoked (whether under Sch 1 Pt I para 5(2) (see para 1302 ante) or by virtue of Sch 1 Pt II para 14(2) (see para 1305 post)) (Sch 1 Pt II para 15(1)); or 3304 (2) two or more referral orders have been made in respect of him and any of those orders has not been discharged (whether by virtue of s 27(3) (see para 1301 ante) or under Sch 1 Pt I para 7(3) or 8 (see para 1302 ante)) or revoked (whether under Sch 1 Pt I para 5(2) (see para 1302 ante) or by virtue of Sch 1 Pt II para 14(2) (see para 1305 post)) (Sch 1 Pt II para 15(1)(b)).

2 As to youth offender panels see para 1295 et seq.

3 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see para 102 note 7 ante.

4 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt II para 11(a). Schedule 1 Pt II paras 11 and 12 apply where, at a time when an offender aged under 18 is subject to referral, a youth court or other magistrates' court ('the relevant court') is dealing with him for an offence in relation to which the provisions of s 16(1)(a)-(c) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 344) are applicable: Sch 1 Pt II para 10(1). However, Sch 1 Pt II paras 11 and 12 do not apply unless the offender's compliance period is less than 12 months: Sch 1 Pt II para 10(2). As to youth courts see para 1263 et seq ante.

5 Ie the offence mentioned in ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 10: see note 4 supra.

6 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 11(b). As to the application of Sch 1 Pt II para 11 see note 4 supra.

7 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 11. As to the application of Sch 1 Pt II para 11 see note 4 supra. For the purposes of Sch 1 Pt II, 'compliance period', in relation to an offender who is for the time being subject to referral, means the period for which (in accordance with s 24 (see para 1298 ante)) any youth offender contract taking effect in his case under s 23 (see para 1297 ante) has (or would have) effect: Sch 1 Pt II para 15(2).

8 See note 5 supra.

9 The relevant requirements are that the court must:

3305 (1) be satisfied, on the basis of a report made to it by the relevant body, that there are exceptional circumstances which indicate that, even though the offender has re-offended since being referred to the panel, extending his compliance period is likely to help prevent further re-offending by him (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 1 Pt II para 12(2)(a)); and 3306 (2) state in open court that it is so satisfied and why it is (Sch 1 Pt II para 12(2)(b)).

For these purposes, 'the relevant body' means the panel to which the offender has been referred or, if no contract has yet taken effect between the offender and the panel under s 23, the specified youth offending team: Sch 1 Pt II para 12(3). For the meaning of 'the specified team' see para 1300 note 3 ante.

10 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 12(1). As to the application of Sch 1 Pt II para 12 see note 4 supra.

11 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 13(1).

12 Ie an order under ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 11 or Sch 1 Pt II para 12: see the text and notes 4-10 supra.

13 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 13(2). The relevant offence is that which is mentioned in Sch 1 Pt II para 10: see note 4 supra. However, heads (a)-(d) in the text do not affect the exercise of any power to deal with the offender conferred by Sch 1 Pt II para 5 or 14: Sch 1 Pt II para 13(2).

14 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 13(3). The prohibited ways are those specified in s 19(4): see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 347.

- 15 le under ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 11 or Sch 1 Pt II para 12, as the case may be: see the text and notes 6-10 supra.
- 16 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 13(4)(a).
- 17 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 13(4)(b).
- 18 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 13(5). The orders that are described in the text are those that are mentioned in s 19(5): see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 347. Parenting orders are made under the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 8 (as amended): see para 1319 et seq post.

- 25 Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 13(8). The Secretary of State may also by regulations make such amendments of Sch 1 Pt II para 13 as he considers appropriate: Sch 1 Pt II para 13(8). At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations have been made. As to the power to make regulations see para 1307 post. Any description of offender having effect by virtue of regulations under Sch 1 Pt II para 13(8) may be framed by reference to such matters as the Secretary of State considers appropriate, including, in particular, one or more of the following:
- 3307 (1) the offender's age (s 17(4)(a), Sch 1 Pt II para 13(8));
  - 3308 (2) how the offender has pleaded (s 17(4)(b), Sch 1 Pt II para 13(8));
  - 3309 (3) the offence (or offences) of which the offender has been convicted (s 17(4)(c), Sch 1 Pt II para 13(8));
  - 3310 (4) the offender's previous convictions, if any (s 17(4)(d), Sch 1 Pt II para 13(8));
  - 3311 (5) how, if at all, the offender has been previously punished or otherwise dealt with by any court (s 17(4)(e), Sch 1 Pt II para 13(8)); and
  - 3312 (6) any characteristics or behaviour of, or circumstances relating to, any person who has at any time been charged in the same proceedings as the offender (whether or not in respect of the same offence) (s 17(4)(f), Sch 1 Pt II para 13(8)).

Further convictions which lead to revocation of referral.

1305. Further convictions which lead to revocation of referral.

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply where, at a time when an offender is subject to referral<sup>2</sup>, a court in England and Wales deals with him for an offence (whether committed before or after he was referred to the youth offender panel<sup>3</sup>) by making an order other than an order for extension of referral<sup>4</sup>, or an order discharging him absolutely<sup>5</sup>. In such a case the order of the court has the effect of revoking the referral order (or orders), and any related order or orders<sup>6</sup>. Where any order is so revoked<sup>7</sup>, the court may, if appears to the court that it would be in the interests of justice to do so, deal with the offender for the offence in respect of which the revoked order was made in any way in which<sup>8</sup> he could have been dealt with for that offence by the court which made the order<sup>9</sup>.

<sup>9</sup> Ibid Sch 1 Pt II para 14(3). When dealing with the offender under Sch 1 Pt II para 14(3), the court must, where a contract has taken effect between the offender and the panel under s 23 (see para 1297 ante), have regard to the extent of his compliance with the terms of the contract: Sch 1 Pt II para 14(4).

1306. Functions of youth offending teams.

The functions of a youth offending team responsible for implementing a referral order<sup>1</sup> include, in particular, arranging for the provision of such administrative staff, accommodation or other facilities as are required by the youth offender panel<sup>2</sup> established in pursuance of the order<sup>3</sup>.

During the period for which a youth offender contract<sup>4</sup> between a youth offender panel and an offender has effect:

- 1153 (1) the specified youth offending team<sup>5</sup> must make arrangements for supervising the offender's compliance with the terms of the contract<sup>6</sup>; and
- 1154 (2) the person who is the member of the panel appointed by the youth offending team from among its members<sup>7</sup> must ensure that records are kept of the offender's compliance (or non-compliance) with those terms<sup>8</sup>.

1 As to referral orders see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 344 et seq. In implementing referral orders a youth offending team must have regard to any guidance given from time to time by the Secretary of State: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 29(3). Any such regulations made by the Secretary of State may make different provision for different cases, circumstances or areas and may contain such incidental, supplemental, saving or transitional provisions as the Secretary of State thinks fit<sup>5</sup>.

The Criminal Procedure Rules Committee<sup>6</sup> may make such provision as appears to be necessary or expedient for the purposes of Part III of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000<sup>7</sup>.

(v) Reparation Orders

1308. Reparation orders.

Where a child<sup>1</sup> or young person (that is to say, any person aged under 18) is convicted of an offence other than one for which the sentence is fixed by law, the court by or before which he is convicted may make an order (a 'reparation order') requiring him to make reparation<sup>2</sup> specified in the order to a person or persons so specified, or to the community at large<sup>3</sup>. Any person so specified must be a person identified by the court as a victim of the offence or a person otherwise affected by it<sup>4</sup>. The court must not make a reparation order unless it has been notified by the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> that arrangements for implementing such orders are available in the area proposed to be named in the order<sup>6</sup> and the notice has not been withdrawn<sup>7</sup>. The court must not make a reparation order in respect of the offender if it proposes to pass on him a custodial sentence, or to make in respect of him a community order<sup>8</sup>, a supervision order<sup>9</sup>, an action plan order<sup>10</sup> or a referral order<sup>11</sup>.

A reparation order must not require the offender to work for more than 24 hours in aggregate, or to make reparation to any person without the consent of that person<sup>12</sup>. Requirements specified in a reparation order must be such as in the opinion of the court are commensurate with the seriousness of the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it<sup>13</sup>. Requirements so specified must, as far as practicable, be such as to avoid any conflict with the offender's religious beliefs or with the requirements of any community order or youth community order to which he may be subject<sup>14</sup>, and any interference with the times, if any, at which the offender normally works or attends school or any other educational establishment<sup>15</sup>. Any reparation required by a reparation order must be made under the supervision of the responsible officer<sup>16</sup>, and must be made within a period of three months from the date of the making of the order<sup>17</sup>. The court must give reasons if it does not make a reparation order in a case where it has power to do so<sup>18</sup>.

Before making a reparation order, a court must obtain and consider a written report by an officer of a local probation board, a social worker of a local authority or a member of a youth offending team, indicating the type of work that is suitable for the offender, and the attitude of the victim or victims to the requirements proposed to be included in the order<sup>19</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 1259 note 1 ante.

2 'Make reparation', in relation to an offender, means make reparation for the offence otherwise than by the payment of compensation and the requirements that may be specified in a reparation order are subject to the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 74(1)-(3) (see the text and notes 12-15 infra): s 73(3). For provisions as to breach of a reparation order, revocation and amendment of a reparation order, and the requirement as to the offender being in court, see para 1367 et seq post.

3 Ibid s 73(1), (2). A reparation order must name the local justice area in which it appears to the court making the order, or to the court varying any provision included in it, that the offender resides or will reside: s 74(4) (amended by the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 76).

A. PARENTING CONTRACTS IN RELATION TO EDUCATION

1309. Parenting contracts in respect of schooling.

A parenting contract is a document which contains:

- 1155 (1) a statement by the parent<sup>1</sup> that he agrees to comply with such requirements as may be specified in the document for such period as may be so specified<sup>2</sup>; and
- 1156 (2) a statement by the local education authority<sup>3</sup> or governing body that it agrees to provide support to the parent for the purpose of complying with those requirements<sup>4</sup>.

The requirements may include, in particular, a requirement to attend a counselling or guidance programme<sup>5</sup>. A parenting contract must be signed by the parent and signed on behalf of the local education authority or governing body<sup>6</sup>. A parenting contract does not create any obligations in respect of whose breach any liability arises in contract or in tort<sup>7</sup>. Local education authorities and governing bodies of relevant schools must, in carrying out their functions in relation to parenting contracts, have regard to any guidance which is issued by the appropriate person<sup>8</sup> from time to time for that purpose<sup>9</sup>.

1 'Parent' is to be construed in accordance with the Education Act 1996 s 576 (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 510), but does not include a person who is not an individual: Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 24.

2 Ibid s 19(4)(a).

3 For the meaning of 'local education authority' see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 20; definition applied by ibid s 24.

4 Ibid s 19(4)(b).

5 Ibid s 19(5). The purpose of the requirements in a case falling within s 19(1) (see para 1310 post) or s 19(1A) (as added and prospectively added) (see para 1310 post) is to improve the behaviour of the pupil, and in a case falling within s 19(2) (see para 1310 post), is to ensure that the child attends regularly at the relevant school at which he is a registered pupil: s 19(6) (amended by the Education and Inspections Act 2006 s 97(1), (3)). At the date at which this volume states the law, the reference to the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 19(1A) (prospectively added) had not been brought into force in relation to Wales. 'Relevant school' means a qualifying school as defined in the Education Act 2002 s 1(3) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 14), or a pupil referral unit as defined in the Education Act 1996 s 19(2) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 457): Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 24. 'Registered pupil' has the meaning given by the Education Act 1996 s 434(5) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 512): Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 24. 'Pupil' is to be construed in accordance with the Education Act 1996 s 3(1), (1A) (as added) (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 16): Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 24.

6 Ibid s 19(7).

7 Ibid s 19(8).

8 The 'appropriate person' means, in relation to England, the Secretary of State and, in relation to Wales, the Welsh Ministers: ibid s 24.

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Entering a parenting contract in respect of schooling.

1310. Entering a parenting contract in respect of schooling.

A local education authority<sup>1</sup> or the governing body of a relevant school<sup>2</sup> may enter into a parenting contract with a parent<sup>3</sup> of the pupil<sup>4</sup> or child<sup>5</sup>. This applies where:

- 1157 (1) a pupil has been excluded on disciplinary grounds from a relevant school for a fixed period or permanently<sup>6</sup>;
- 1158 (2) a child of compulsory school age<sup>7</sup> has failed to attend regularly at a specified place of education<sup>8</sup>.

In relation to England (and, as from a day to be appointed, in relation to Wales)<sup>9</sup>, the above<sup>10</sup> also applies where a local education authority or the governing body of a relevant school has reason to believe that a child who is a registered pupil at a relevant school has engaged in behaviour connected with the school which:

- 1159 (a) has caused, or is likely to cause, significant disruption to the education of other pupils or significant detriment to the welfare of the child himself or of other pupils or to the health or safety of any staff<sup>11</sup>; or
- 1160 (b) forms part of a pattern of behaviour which, if continued, will give rise to a risk of future exclusion from the school on disciplinary grounds<sup>12</sup>.

For these purposes<sup>13</sup>, the child's behaviour is connected with the school to the extent that it consists of conduct at the school or conduct elsewhere in circumstances in which it would be reasonable for the school to regulate his conduct<sup>14</sup>.

In relation to England, the following provisions have effect<sup>1</sup>. The appropriate person<sup>2</sup> may by regulations<sup>3</sup> make further provision about the exercise by local education authorities and the governing bodies of relevant schools of their functions relating to parenting contracts<sup>6</sup>. The provisions that may be made include:

- 1161 (1) provision limiting the power of a local education authority to enter into a parenting contract in prescribed<sup>7</sup> cases where:
  - 37 24. (a) the school by reference to which the contract is entered into is not in the area of the authority<sup>8</sup>; or

3320 (b) may include incidental, supplemental, consequential, saving or transitional provisions (including provisions applying, with or without modification, provision contained in an enactment) (s 94(2)(b)).

A power to make subordinate legislation is exercisable by statutory instrument: s 94(3). As respects England, a statutory instrument is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament if it contains subordinate legislation made by the Secretary of State other than regulations under s 81 or s 83 or an order under s 93: s 94(4). No regulations may be made by the Secretary of State under s 81 or s 83 (whether alone or with other provisions) unless a draft of the statutory instrument containing the regulations has been laid before, and approved by a resolution of, each House of Parliament: s 94(5). 1314 Parenting contracts in respect of anti-social behaviour: local authorities

NOTE 3--Definition of 'local authority' in Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 29(1) amended: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 125(2).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. Local authority functions.

1315. Local authority functions.

In carrying out their functions in relation to parenting contracts<sup>1</sup>:

- 1169 (1) local authorities<sup>2</sup> in England must have regard to any guidance which is issued by the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> from time to time for that purpose<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1170 (2) local authorities in Wales must have regard to any guidance which is issued by the Welsh Ministers<sup>5</sup> from time to time for that purpose<sup>6</sup>.

An order made by the Secretary of State as regards local authorities in England<sup>7</sup>, or the Welsh Ministers as regards local authorities in Wales<sup>8</sup>, may provide that a local authority may make arrangements with a person who is specified in the order, or is of a description so specified, for the exercise of the above functions<sup>9</sup>. The order may provide:

- 1171 (a) that the power of the local authority to make the arrangements is subject to such conditions as are specified in the order<sup>10</sup>;
- 1172 (b) that the arrangements must be subject to such conditions as are so specified<sup>11</sup>;
- 1173 (c) that the arrangements may be made subject to such other conditions as the local authority thinks appropriate<sup>12</sup>.

The order may provide that the arrangements may authorise the exercise of the function:

- 1174 (i) either wholly or to such extent as may be specified in the order or arrangements<sup>13</sup>;
- 1175 (ii) either generally or in such cases or areas as may be so specified<sup>14</sup>.

Any arrangements made by a local authority in pursuance of an order do not prevent the local authority from exercising the function to which the arrangements relate<sup>15</sup>.

The Secretary of State or, as the case may be, the Welsh Ministers must not make an order without first consulting such representatives of local government as appear to be appropriate, and such other persons as appear to be appropriate<sup>16</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/ (vii) Parenting Orders/A. PARENTING ORDERS UNDER THE CRIME AND DISORDER ACT 1998/1319. Parenting orders.

(vii) Parenting Orders

A. PARENTING ORDERS UNDER THE CRIME AND DISORDER ACT 1998

1319. Parenting orders.

A parenting order is a court order which requires the parent to comply, for a period not exceeding 12 months, with such requirements as are specified in the order<sup>1</sup>, and to attend such counselling or guidance sessions as may be specified in directions<sup>2</sup> given by the responsible officer<sup>3</sup>, for a concurrent period not exceeding three months<sup>4</sup>. A court may not make a parenting order unless it has been notified by the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> that arrangements for implementing such orders are available in the area in which it appears to the court that the parent resides or will reside and the notice has not been withdrawn<sup>6</sup>.

Before making a parenting order the court must explain to the parent in ordinary language:

- 1184 (1) the effect of the order and of the requirements proposed to be included in it<sup>7</sup>;
- 1185 (2) the consequences which may follow<sup>8</sup> if he fails to comply with any of those requirements<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1186 (3) that the court has power to review the order<sup>10</sup> on the application either of the parent or of the responsible officer<sup>11</sup>.

If while a parenting order is in force the parent without reasonable excuse fails to comply with any requirement included in the order, or specified in directions given by the responsible officer, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>12</sup>.

1 Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 8(4)(a) (s 8(4) substituted by the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 18(1), (2)). The requirements that may be specified in the order are those which the court considers desirable in the interests of preventing the repetition of the behaviour which led to a child safety order, parental compensation order, an anti-social behaviour order or sexual offences prevention order being made or, as the case may be, the commission of any further offence: see the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 8(6), (7) (s 8(6) as amended). Requirements specified in, and directions given under, a parenting order must, as far as practicable, be such as to avoid any conflict with the parent's religious beliefs and any interference with the times, if any, at which he normally works or attends an educational establishment: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 9(4). As to parenting contracts and orders in cases of truancy and exclusion from school see the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 ss 19-22; and para 1309 et seq post. As to parenting contracts and orders in respect of criminal conduct and anti-social behaviour see ss 25-29; and para 1312 et seq post. For the purposes of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998, 'child' means a person under the age of 14 years: s 117. As to child safety orders see para 625 ante; and as to anti-social behaviour orders and sexual offences prevention orders see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 304 et seq, 360 et seq, 496 et seq, 600 et seq.

2 A parenting order may, but need not, include a requirement to attend a counselling or guidance programme in any case where a parenting order under ibid s 8 or any other enactment has been made in respect of the parent on a previous occasion: s 8(5). A counselling or guidance programme which a parent is required to attend by virtue of s 8(4)(b) may be or include a residential course but only if the court is satisfied:

3321 (1) that the attendance of the parent at a residential course is likely to be more effective than his attendance at a non-residential course in preventing any such repetition or, as the case may be, the commission of any such further offence (s 8(7A)(a) (added by the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 18(3))); and

- 3322 (2) that any interference with family life which is likely to result from the attendance of the parent at a residential course is proportionate in all the circumstances (Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 8(7A)(b) (as so added)).

A parenting order must be in the form set out in Practice Direction (criminal proceedings: consolidation) [2002] 3 All ER 904, [2002] 2 Cr App Rep 533, CA, Annex D; Amendment to the Consolidated Criminal Practice Direction (forms for use in criminal proceedings) [2005] 2 All ER 916, [2005] 1 WLR 1479, Annex D, CA: see CrimPR 50.2(1). Parenting orders are compatible with both the right to a fair trial under the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms (Rome, 4 November 1950; TS (1953); Cmd 8969) art 6 and the right to respect for family life under art 8: R (on the application of M) v Inner London Crown Court [2003] EWHC 301 (Admin), [2004] 1 FCR 178, [2003] 1 FLR 994, DC.

3 A 'responsible officer', in relation to a parenting order, means any one of the following who is specified in the order, namely:

- 3323 (1) an officer of a local probation board (Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 8(8)(a) (substituted by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt 1 para 4(1)(a), (2)));
- 3324 (2) a social worker of a local authority (Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 8(8)(b) (amended by the Children Act 2004 s 64, Sch 5 Pt 4));
- 3325 (3) a person nominated by a person appointed as director of children's services under the Children Act 2004 s 18 (see para 190 ante) or by a person appointed as chief education officer under the Education Act 1996 s 532 (see EDUCATION vol 15(1) (2006 Reissue) para 51) (Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 8(8)(bb) (added by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 73 and amended by the Children Act 2004 s 18(9), 910), Sch 2 para 5(1), (2)); or
- 3326 (4) a member of a youth offending team (Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 8(8)(c)).

Where directions under a parenting order are to be given by an officer of a local probation board, the officer of a local probation board must be an officer appointed for or assigned to the local justice area within which it appears to the court that the child or, as the case may be, the parent resides or will reside: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 18(3) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 4(1), (2)). Where the supervision under a child safety order is to be provided, or directions under an individual support order or a parenting order are to be given, by a social worker of a local authority or a member of a youth offending team, the social worker or member must be a social worker of, or a member of a youth offending team established by, the local authority within whose area it appears to the court that the child, defendant or parent, as the case may be, resides or will reside: Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 18(4) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 323(1), (4); and the Children Act 2004 Sch 5 Pt 4).

A parenting order may, but need not, include such a requirement as is mentioned in the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 8(4)(b) (as substituted) in any case where a parenting order under s 8 (as amended) or any other enactment has been made in respect of the parent on a previous occasion: s 8(5) (substituted by the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 18(1), (2)).

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/ (vii) Parenting Orders/A. PARENTING ORDERS UNDER THE CRIME AND DISORDER ACT 1998/1320. Making a parenting order.

1320. Making a parenting order.

Where, in any court proceedings:

- 1187 (1) a child safety order<sup>1</sup> is made in respect of a child<sup>2</sup> or the court determines on an application<sup>3</sup> that a child has failed to comply with any requirement included in such an order<sup>4</sup>;
- 1188 (2) a parental compensation order<sup>5</sup> is made in relation to a child's behaviour<sup>6</sup>;
- 1189 (3) an anti-social behaviour order<sup>7</sup> or sexual offences prevention order<sup>8</sup> is made in respect of a child or young person<sup>9</sup>;
- 1190 (4) a child or young person is convicted of an offence<sup>10</sup>; or
- 1191 (5) a person is convicted of failing to comply with a school attendance order or of failing to secure at school the attendance of a registered pupil under the Education Act 1996<sup>11</sup>, the court, if satisfied that the relevant condition is fulfilled, may make a parenting order<sup>12</sup> in respect of a person who is a parent or guardian of the child or young person or, as the case may be, the person convicted of an offence mentioned in head (5) above<sup>13</sup>. The relevant condition is that the parenting order would be desirable in the interests of preventing: (a) in a case falling within head (1), (2) or (3) above, any repetition of the kind of behaviour which led to the child safety order, parenting compensation order, anti-social behaviour order or sexual offences prevention order being made<sup>14</sup>; (b) in a case falling within head (4) above, the commission of any further such offence by the child or young person<sup>15</sup>; or (c) in a case falling within head (5) above, the commission of any further offence under the relevant provisions<sup>16</sup> of the Education Act 1996<sup>17</sup>.

Before making a parenting order:

- 1192 (i) in case falling within head (1) above<sup>18</sup>; or
- 1193 (ii) where the person concerned is under the age of 16 years, a case falling within head (3) or head (4) above<sup>19</sup>; or
- 1194 (iii) where the person to whom the offence related is under the age of 16 years, in a case falling within head (5) above<sup>20</sup>, the court must obtain and consider information about the person's family circumstances and the likely effect of the order on those circumstances<sup>21</sup>.

Where a person under the age of 16 years is convicted of an offence, the court by or before which he is so convicted must make a parenting order if it is satisfied that the relevant condition is fulfilled; and if it is not so satisfied, it must state in open court that it is not satisfied and why it is not satisfied<sup>22</sup>. However, these requirements<sup>23</sup> do not apply where the court makes a referral order<sup>24</sup> in respect of the offence<sup>25</sup>.

If an anti-social behaviour order is made in respect of a person under the age of 16, the court which makes the order must make a parenting order if it is satisfied that the relevant condition is fulfilled; and if it is not so satisfied, it must state in open court that it is not and why it is not<sup>26</sup>.

In a case where a court proposes to make both a referral order in respect of a child or young person convicted of an offence and a parenting order, before making the parenting order the court must obtain and consider a report by an appropriate officer indicating the requirements proposed by that officer to be included in the parenting order and the reasons why he considers those requirements would be desirable in the interests of preventing the commission of any further offence by the child or young person, and, if the child or young person is aged under 16, containing the information required by the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 9(2) (see the text and notes 18-21 supra): s 9(2A) (s 9(2A), (2B) added by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 Sch 34 para 2(3)). ### 1321. Variation and discharge of parenting orders.

If while a parenting order<sup>1</sup> is in force it appears to the court which made it, on the application of the responsible officer<sup>2</sup> or the parent, that it is appropriate to do so, the court may make an order discharging the parenting order or varying it by cancelling any provision included in it, or by inserting in it (either in addition to or in substitution for any of its provisions) any provision that could have been included in the order if the court had then had power to make it and were exercising the power<sup>3</sup>.

Where an application for the discharge of a parenting order<sup>4</sup> is dismissed, no further application for its discharge may be made by any person except with the consent of the court which made the order<sup>5</sup>.

An appeal lies:

- 1195 (1) to the High Court against the making of a parenting order<sup>1</sup> by virtue of the making of a child safety order<sup>2</sup> in respect of a child<sup>3</sup> or where the court determines on an application that a child has failed to comply with any requirement included in such an order<sup>4</sup>; and

B. PARENTING ORDERS UNDER THE ANTI-SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR ACT 2003

(A) IN RELATION TO EDUCATION

1323. Parenting orders in cases of exclusion from school.

A parenting order is an order which requires the parent<sup>1</sup>:

- 1197 (1) to comply, for a period not exceeding 12 months, with such requirements as are specified in the order<sup>2</sup>; and
- 1198 (2) to attend<sup>3</sup>, for a concurrent period not exceeding three months, such counselling or guidance programme as may be specified in directions given by the responsible officer<sup>4</sup>.

A parenting order may, but need not, include a requirement to attend a counselling or guidance programme in any case where a parenting order<sup>5</sup> has been made in respect of the parent on a previous occasion<sup>6</sup>. A counselling or guidance programme which a parent is required to attend by virtue of head (2) above may be or include a residential course but only if the court is satisfied that two conditions are fulfilled<sup>7</sup>. The first condition is that the attendance of the parent at a residential course is likely to be more effective than his attendance at a non-residential course in improving the behaviour of the pupil<sup>8</sup>. The second condition is that any interference with family life which is likely to result from the attendance of the parent at a residential course is proportionate in all the circumstances<sup>9</sup>.

An appeal lies to the Crown Court against the making of a parenting order<sup>10</sup>.

1324. Making parenting orders in cases of exclusion, or potential exclusion, from school.

In relation to England (and, as from a day to be appointed, in relation to Wales)<sup>1</sup>, where a pupil<sup>2</sup> has been excluded on disciplinary grounds from a relevant school<sup>3</sup> for a fixed period or permanently, and such conditions as may be prescribed in regulations made by the appropriate person<sup>4</sup> are satisfied, a relevant body<sup>5</sup> may apply to a magistrates' court for a parenting order in respect of a parent<sup>6</sup> of the pupil<sup>7</sup>. A relevant body may also apply to a magistrates' court for a parenting order in respect of a pupil at a relevant school if:

- 1199 (1) it appears to the body making the application that the pupil has engaged in behaviour which would warrant the exclusion of the pupil from the school on disciplinary grounds for a fixed period or permanently<sup>8</sup>; and
- 1200 (2) such conditions as may be prescribed in regulations made by the appropriate person are satisfied<sup>9</sup>.

If an application is so made<sup>10</sup>, the court may make a parenting order in respect of a pupil if it is satisfied:

- 1201 (a) in the case of an application under heads (1) and (2) above, that the pupil has engaged in behaviour of the kind mentioned<sup>11</sup>; and
- 1202 (b) in any case, that the making of the order would be desirable in the interests of improving the behaviour of the pupil<sup>12</sup>.

Until a day to be appointed, the following provisions apply in relation to Wales<sup>13</sup>. Where a pupil has been excluded on disciplinary grounds from a relevant school for a fixed period or permanently and such conditions as may be prescribed in regulations made by the appropriate person are satisfied, a local education authority<sup>14</sup> may apply to a magistrates' court for a parenting order in respect of a parent of the pupil<sup>15</sup>. If such an application is made, the court may make a parenting order in respect of a parent of the pupil if it is satisfied that making the order would be desirable in the interests of improving the behaviour of the pupil<sup>16</sup>.

1325. Supplemental provisions in respect of parenting orders in cases of exclusion from school.

In deciding whether to make a parenting order<sup>1</sup>, a court must take into account, among other things, any refusal by the parent to enter into a parenting contract<sup>2</sup> in respect of the pupil<sup>3</sup> in a case where a pupil has been excluded on disciplinary grounds from a relevant school<sup>4</sup> for a fixed period or permanently, or, if the parent<sup>5</sup> has entered into such a parenting contract, any failure by the parent to comply with the requirements specified in the contract<sup>6</sup>. Before making a parenting order in the case of a pupil under the age of 16, a court must obtain and consider information about the pupil's family circumstances and the likely effect of the order on those circumstances<sup>7</sup>. Local education authorities<sup>8</sup>, head teachers<sup>9</sup>, responsible officers and, in relation to England (and, as from a day to be appointed, in relation to Wales)<sup>10</sup>, governing bodies, must, in carrying out their functions in relation to parenting orders, have regard to any guidance which is issued by the appropriate person from time to time for that purpose<sup>11</sup>. In relation to England (and, as from a day to be appointed, in relation to Wales)<sup>12</sup>, in deciding whether to make a parenting order<sup>13</sup> a court must also take into account any failure by the parent without reasonable excuse to attend a reintegration interview<sup>14</sup> when requested to do so in accordance with regulations<sup>15</sup>.

In relation to Wales, until a day to be appointed<sup>16</sup>, the appropriate person may by regulations make provision as to how the costs associated with the requirements of parenting orders, including the costs of providing counselling or guidance programmes, are to be borne<sup>17</sup>.

1309-1338 Parenting Contracts

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. PARENTING ORDERS UNDER THE ANTI-SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR ACT 2003/(A) In Relation to Education/1326. Further provisions in relation to local education authorities and governing bodies.

1326. Further provisions in relation to local education authorities and governing bodies.

In relation to England, and as from a day to be appointed in relation to Wales, the following provisions have effect<sup>1</sup>. The appropriate person<sup>2</sup> may by regulations<sup>3</sup> make further provision about the exercise by local education authorities and the governing bodies of relevant schools of their functions relating to parenting orders<sup>4</sup>. The provision that may be made includes:

- 1203 (1) provision limiting the power of a local education authority to apply for a parenting order in prescribed<sup>5</sup> cases where:
  - 41 28. (a) the school by reference to which the application is made is not in the area of the authority<sup>6</sup>; or
  - 29. (b) the child by reference to whom the application is made does not reside in that area<sup>7</sup>;
- 42 1204 (2) provision as to which government body may apply for a parenting order in cases where a pupil has been admitted to a relevant school after being permanently excluded from another<sup>8</sup>;
- 1205 (3) provision requiring one local education authority or governing body to consult with another before taking any prescribed step<sup>9</sup>;
- 1206 (4) provision authorising or requiring the provision of information by one local education authority or governing body to another<sup>10</sup>;
- 1207 (5) provision as to how the costs associated with the requirements of parenting orders are to be met<sup>11</sup>.

1 The Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 22A is added by the Education and Inspections Act 2006 s 99(1), (3) as from a day to be appointed under s 188(3). At the date at which this volume states the law this provision had been brought into force in relation to England, but no day had been appointed for its commencement in relation to Wales.

2 For the meaning of 'the appropriate person' see para 1309 note 8 ante.

3 Subordinate legislation (ie: (1) an order of the Secretary of State or the Welsh Ministers under the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003; (2) regulations under that Act: s 94(1)):

3333 (a) may make different provision for different purposes, different cases and different areas (s 94(2)(a));

3334 (b) may include incidental, supplemental, consequential, saving or transitional provisions (including provisions applying, with or without modification, provision contained in an enactment) (s 94(2)(b)).

A power to make subordinate legislation is exercisable by statutory instrument: s 94(3). As respects England, a statutory instrument is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament if it contains subordinate legislation made by the Secretary of State other than regulations under s 81 or s 83 or an order under s 93: s 94(4). No regulations must be made by the Secretary of State under s 81 or s 83 (whether alone or with other provisions) unless a draft of the statutory instrument containing the regulations has been laid before, and approved by a resolution of, each House of Parliament: s 94(5). As to the bringing of subordinate legislation made by the Welsh Ministers before the National Assembly for Wales see the Government of Wales Act 2006 Sch 11 paras 33-35; and CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS.

As to regulations made see the Education (Parenting Contracts and Parenting Orders) (England) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1869.

4 Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 22A(1)(b) (as added: see note 1 supra). The text refers to orders made under s 20 (see para 1323 et seq ante).

(B) IN RELATION TO CRIMINAL CONDUCT AND ANTI-SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR: YOUTH OFFENDING TEAMS

1327. Parenting orders in cases of criminal conduct and anti-social behaviour: youth offending teams.

A parenting order is an order which requires the parent<sup>1</sup>:

- 1208 (1) to comply, for a period not exceeding 12 months, with such requirements as are specified in the order<sup>2</sup>; and
- 1209 (2) to attend<sup>3</sup>, for a concurrent period not exceeding three months, such counselling or guidance programme as may be specified in directions given by the responsible officer<sup>4</sup>.

A parenting order may, but need not, include a requirement to attend a counselling or guidance programme in any case where a parenting order<sup>5</sup> has been made in respect of the parent on a previous occasion<sup>6</sup>. A counselling or guidance programme which a parent is required to attend by virtue of head (2) above may be or include a residential course but only if the court is satisfied that two conditions are fulfilled<sup>7</sup>. The first condition is that the attendance of the parent at a residential course is likely to be more effective than his attendance at a non-residential course in preventing the child or young person from engaging in further criminal conduct or further anti-social behaviour<sup>8</sup>. The second condition is that any interference with family life which is likely to result from the attendance of the parent at a residential course is proportionate in all the circumstances<sup>9</sup>.

An appeal lies to the Crown Court against the making of such a parenting order<sup>10</sup>.

1328. Making parenting orders in cases of criminal conduct and anti-social behaviour: youth offending teams.

Where a child<sup>1</sup> or young person<sup>2</sup> has been referred to a youth offending team<sup>3</sup>, a member of the youth offending team may apply to a magistrates' court for a parenting order in respect of a parent<sup>4</sup> of the child or young person<sup>5</sup>. If such an application is made, the court may make a parenting order in respect of a parent of the child or young person if it is satisfied that the child or young person has engaged in criminal conduct<sup>6</sup> or anti-social behaviour<sup>7</sup>, and that making the order would be desirable in the interests of preventing the child or young person from engaging in further criminal conduct or further anti-social behaviour<sup>8</sup>.

In deciding whether to make a parenting order, a court must take into account, among other things, any refusal by the parent to enter into a parenting contract<sup>9</sup> in respect of the child or young person, or, if the parent has entered into such a parenting contract, any failure by the parent to comply with the requirements specified in the contract<sup>10</sup>. Before making a parenting order in the case of a child or a young person under the age of 16, a court must obtain and consider information about the child or young person's family circumstances and the likely effect of the order on those circumstances<sup>11</sup>. Members of youth offending teams and responsible officers must, in carrying out their functions in relation to parenting orders, have regard to any guidance which is issued by the Secretary of State from time to time for that purpose<sup>12</sup>.

1330. Making parenting orders in cases of anti-social behaviour: local authorities.

A local authority<sup>1</sup> may apply for a parenting order in respect of a parent<sup>2</sup> of a child<sup>3</sup> or young person<sup>4</sup> if:

- 1212 (1) the local authority has reason to believe that the child or young person has engaged in anti-social behaviour<sup>5</sup>; and
- 1213 (2) the child or young person resides, or appears to reside, in the local authority's area<sup>6</sup>.

An application for such an order may be made to a magistrates' court or, where provisions so allow<sup>7</sup>, to a county court<sup>8</sup>.

If such an application is made, the court may make a parenting order in respect of a parent of the child or young person if it is satisfied:

- 1214 (a) that the child or young person has engaged in anti-social behaviour<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1215 (b) that making the order would be desirable in the interests of preventing the child or young person from engaging in further anti-social behaviour<sup>10</sup>.

In deciding whether to make a parenting order<sup>11</sup>, a court must take into account, among other things, any refusal by the parent to enter into a parenting contract<sup>12</sup> in respect of the child or young person, or, if the parent has entered into such a parenting contract, any failure by the parent to comply with the requirements specified in the contract<sup>13</sup>. Where a relevant authority considers that a party to proceedings in a county court is a person in relation to whom it would be reasonable for it to make a parenting order application but the relevant authority is not a party to those proceedings, it may apply to be joined to those proceedings to enable it to make a parenting order application: Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 26C(2) (as so added). An order made by the Secretary of State as regards local authorities in England<sup>2</sup>, or the Welsh Ministers as regards local authorities in Wales<sup>3</sup>, may provide that a local authority may make arrangements with a person who is specified in the order, or is of a description so specified, for the exercise of certain functions<sup>4</sup>. The order may provide:

- 1216 (1) that the power of the local authority to make the arrangements is subject to such conditions as are specified in the order<sup>5</sup>;
- 1217 (2) that the arrangements must be subject to such conditions as are so specified<sup>6</sup>;
- 1218 (3) that the arrangements may be made subject to such other conditions as the local authority thinks appropriate<sup>7</sup>.

The order may provide that the arrangements may authorise the exercise of the function:

- 1219 (a) either wholly or to such extent as may be specified in the order or arrangements<sup>8</sup>;
- 1220 (b) either generally or in such cases or areas as may be so specified<sup>9</sup>.

Any arrangements made by a local authority in pursuance of an order do not prevent the local authority from exercising the function to which the arrangements relate<sup>10</sup>.

The Secretary of State or, as the case may be, the Welsh Ministers must not make an order without first consulting such representatives of local government as appear to be appropriate, and such other persons as appear to be appropriate<sup>11</sup>.

1 Local authorities in England and any person with whom they make arrangements in pursuance of an order under the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 28A (as added) must have regard to any guidance issued by the Secretary of State for the purposes of s 28A (as added): s 28A(9) (s 28A added by the Police and Justice Act 2006 s 25). The following provisions of the Deregulation and Contracting Out Act 1994 apply for the purposes of arrangements made in pursuance of an order under the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 28A (as added) as they apply for the purposes of an authorisation to exercise functions by virtue of an order under the Deregulation and Contracting Out Act 1994 s 70(2): (1) s 72 (effect of contracting out); (2) s 73 (termination of contracting out); (3) s 75 and Sch 15 (provision relating to disclosure of information); (4) Sch 16 para 3 (authorised persons to be treated as officers of local authority): Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 28A(7) (as so added). Parenting orders in cases of anti-social behaviour: registered social landlords.

(D) IN RELATION TO ANTI-SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR: REGISTERED SOCIAL LANDLORDS

1332. Parenting orders in cases of anti-social behaviour: registered social landlords.

The following applies to a parenting order made in respect of an application by a registered social landlord<sup>1</sup>. A parenting order is an order which requires the parent<sup>2</sup>:

- 1221 (1) to comply, for a period not exceeding 12 months, with such requirements as are specified in the order<sup>3</sup>; and
- 1222 (2) to attend, for a concurrent period not exceeding three months, such counselling or guidance programme as may be specified in directions given by the responsible officer<sup>4</sup>.

A counselling or guidance programme which a parent is required to attend by virtue of head (2) above may be or include a residential course but only if the court is satisfied that the following two conditions are fulfilled<sup>5</sup>. The first condition is that the attendance of the parent at a residential course is likely to be more effective than his attendance at a non-residential course in preventing the child or young person from engaging in further anti-social behaviour<sup>6</sup>. The second condition is that any interference with family life which is likely to result from the attendance of the parent at a residential course is proportionate in all the circumstances<sup>7</sup>.

An appeal lies to the Crown Court and the High Court against the making of such a parenting order<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'registered social landlord' see para 1317 note 3 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'parent' see para 1312 note 1 ante.

3 Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 26B(3)(a) (s 26B added by the Police and Justice Act 2006 s 24).

4 Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 26B(3)(b) (as added: see note 2 supra). A person is eligible to be the responsible officer in relation to a parenting order under s 26B (as added) only if he is:

3337 (1) an officer of the registered social landlord which applied for the order (s 26B(9)(a) (as so added)); or 3338 (2) a person nominated by that registered social landlord (s 26B(9)(b) (as so added)).

A person may not be nominated under head (2) supra without his consent: s 26B(9) (as so added). In deciding whom to nominate under head (2) supra a registered social landlord must take into account the views of the local authority mentioned in s 26B(8) (as added) (see para 1333 post), and such other persons or bodies as the registered social landlord thinks appropriate: s 26B(10) (as so added). A parenting order under s 26B (as added) may, but need not, include a requirement mentioned in s 26B(3)(b) (as added) (see the text and note 4 supra) in any case where a parenting order under s 26B (as added) or any other enactment has been made in respect of the parent on a previous occasion: s 26B(4) (as so added).

1333. Making parenting orders in cases of anti-social behaviour: registered social landlords.

A registered social landlord<sup>1</sup> may apply for a parenting order<sup>2</sup> in respect of a parent<sup>3</sup> of a child<sup>4</sup> or young person<sup>5</sup> if:

- 1223 (1) the registered social landlord has reason to believe that the child or young person has engaged in anti-social behaviour<sup>6</sup>; and
- 1224 (2) the behaviour in question directly or indirectly relates to or affects the housing management functions<sup>7</sup> of the registered social landlord<sup>8</sup>.

An application for such an order may be made to a magistrates' court or, where so allowed<sup>9</sup>, to a county court<sup>10</sup>.

If such an application is made, the court may make a parenting order in respect of a parent of the child or young person if it is satisfied:

- 1225 (a) that the child or young person has engaged in anti-social behaviour<sup>11</sup>; and
- 1226 (b) that making the order would be desirable in the interests of preventing the child or young person from engaging in further anti-social behaviour<sup>12</sup>.

A registered social landlord must not make such an application without first consulting the local authority<sup>13</sup> in whose area the child or young person in question resides or appears to reside<sup>14</sup>.

In deciding whether to make a parenting order<sup>15</sup>, a court must take into account, among other things, any refusal by the parent to enter into a parenting contract<sup>16</sup> in respect of the child or young person, or, if the parent has entered into such a parenting contract, any failure by the parent to comply with the requirements specified in the contract<sup>17</sup>. Before making a parenting order in the case of a child or a young person under the age of 16, a court must obtain and consider information about the child or young person's family circumstances and the likely effect of the order on those circumstances<sup>18</sup>. In carrying out their functions in relation to parenting orders, registered social landlords on the register maintained by the Housing Corporation and responsible officers in relation to parenting orders made on the application of registered social landlords on that register must have regard to any guidance which is issued by the Secretary of State from time to time for that purpose<sup>19</sup>. In carrying out their functions in relation to parenting orders registered social landlords on the register maintained by the Welsh Ministers and responsible officers in relation to parenting orders made on the application of registered social landlords on that register must have regard to any guidance which is issued by the Welsh Ministers from time to time for that purpose<sup>20</sup>.

1309-1338 Parenting Contracts

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(4) SENTENCING CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS/ (viii) Parenting Compensation Orders/1335. Parental compensation orders.

(viii) Parenting Compensation Orders

1335. Parental compensation orders.

The following provisions have effect for the purposes of certain areas<sup>1</sup>. A magistrates' court may make an order (a 'parental compensation order') if, on the application of a local authority<sup>2</sup>, it is satisfied (on the civil standard of proof) that the condition mentioned below is fulfilled with respect to a child under the age of ten, and that it would be desirable to make the order in the interests of preventing a repetition of the behaviour in question<sup>3</sup>. The condition is that the child has taken, or caused loss of or damage to, property in the course of:

- 1227 (1) committing an act which, if he had been aged ten or over, would have constituted an offence<sup>4</sup>; or
- 1228 (2) acting in a manner that caused or was likely to cause harassment, alarm or distress to one or more persons not of the same household as himself<sup>5</sup>.

A parental compensation order is an order which requires any person specified in the order who is a parent or guardian of the child (other than a local authority) to pay compensation of an amount specified in the order to any person or persons specified in the order who is, or are, affected by the taking of the property or its loss or damage<sup>6</sup>. The amount of compensation specified may not exceed £5,000 in all<sup>7</sup>. For the purposes of collection and enforcement, a parental compensation order is to be treated as if it were a sum adjudged to be paid on the conviction by the magistrates' court which made the order of the person or persons specified in the order as liable to pay the compensation<sup>8</sup>.

Before deciding whether or not to make a parental compensation order in favour of any person, the magistrates' court must take into account the views of that person about whether a parental compensation order should be made in his favour<sup>9</sup>.

Before making a parental compensation order, the magistrates' court must:

- 1229 (a) obtain and consider information about the child's family circumstances and the likely effect of the order on those circumstances<sup>10</sup>;
- 1230 (b) explain to the parent or guardian of the child in ordinary language:
43
  - 30. (i) the effect of the order and of the requirements proposed to be included in it<sup>11</sup>;
  - 31. (ii) the consequences which may follow<sup>12</sup> as a result of failure to comply with any of those requirements<sup>13</sup>;
  - 32. (iii) that the court has power<sup>14</sup> to review the order on the application either of the parent or guardian or of the local authority<sup>15</sup>.

A magistrates' court which has made a parental compensation order<sup>16</sup> may make an order<sup>17</sup> discharging the order or varying it if while the order is in force:

- 1231 (A) it appears to the court, on the application of the local authority or the parent or guardian subject to the order, that it is appropriate to make an order discharging the order or varying it<sup>18</sup>; or
- 1232 (B) it is proved to the satisfaction of the court, on the application of the local authority, that the parent or guardian subject to it has failed to comply with any requirement included in the order<sup>19</sup>.

Where an application<sup>20</sup> for the discharge of a parental compensation order is dismissed, no further application for its discharge may be made by any person except with the consent of the court which made the order<sup>21</sup>.

1 The Crime and Disorder Act 1998 ss 13A-13E were added by the Serious Organised Crime and Police Act 2005 s 144, Sch 10 paras 1, 2 but do not apply in relation to any conduct which occurred before 20 July 2006: see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 6 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2004, SI 2004/3033, art 2, Schedule para 6. Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

1336. The compensation.

The following provisions have effect for the purposes of certain areas<sup>1</sup>. When specifying the amount of compensation for the purposes of a parental compensation order<sup>2</sup>, the magistrates' court must take into account:

- 1233 (1) the value of the property taken or damaged, or whose loss was caused, by the child<sup>3</sup>;
- 1234 (2) any further loss which flowed from the taking of or damage to the property, or from its loss<sup>4</sup>;
- 1235 (3) whether the child, or any parent or guardian of his, has already paid any compensation for the property (and if so, how much)<sup>5</sup>;
- 1236 (4) whether the child, or any parent or guardian of his, has already made any reparation (and if so, what it consisted of)<sup>6</sup>;
- 1237 (5) the means of those to be specified in the order as liable to pay the compensation, so far as the court can ascertain them<sup>7</sup>;
- 1238 (6) whether there was any lack of care on the part of the person affected by the taking of the property or its loss or damage which made it easier for the child to take or damage the property or to cause its loss<sup>8</sup>.

If property taken is recovered before compensation is ordered to be paid in respect of it: (a) the court must not order any such compensation to be payable in respect of it if it is not damaged<sup>9</sup>; (b) if it is damaged, the damage must be treated for the purposes of making a parental compensation order as having been caused by the child, regardless of how it was caused and who caused it<sup>10</sup>.

The court must specify in the order how and by when the compensation is to be paid<sup>11</sup>.

For the purpose of ascertaining the means of the parent or guardian, the court may, before specifying the amount of compensation, order him to provide the court, within such period as it may specify in the order, such a statement of his financial circumstances as the court may require<sup>12</sup>. A person who without reasonable excuse fails to comply with such an order is guilty of an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>13</sup>. If, in providing a statement of his financial circumstances pursuant to such an order, a person makes a statement which he knows to be false in a material particular, recklessly provides a statement which is false in a material particular, or knowingly fails to disclose any material fact, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine<sup>14</sup>.

1337. Appeal.

The following provisions have effect for the purposes of certain areas<sup>1</sup>. If a magistrates' court makes a parental compensation order<sup>2</sup>, the parent or guardian may appeal to the Crown Court against the making of the order, or against the amount of compensation specified in the order<sup>3</sup>. On the appeal the Crown Court:

- 1239 (1) may make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to its determination of the appeal<sup>4</sup>;
- 1240 (2) may also make such incidental or consequential orders as appear to it to be just<sup>5</sup>.

Any order of the Crown Court made on such an appeal (other than one directing that an application be re-heard by a magistrates' court) must be treated<sup>6</sup> as if it were an order of the magistrates' court from which the appeal was brought and not an order of the Crown Court<sup>7</sup>.

A person in whose favour a parental compensation order is made is not entitled to receive any compensation under it until (disregarding any power of a court to grant leave to appeal out of time) there is no further possibility of an appeal on which the order could be varied or set aside<sup>8</sup>.

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/A. GENERALLY/1339. Electronic monitoring requirements.

(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS

(i) Youth Community Orders

A. GENERALLY

1339. Electronic monitoring requirements.

A youth community order<sup>1</sup> may include requirements for securing the electronic monitoring of the offender's compliance with any other requirements imposed by the order<sup>2</sup>. An order which includes such requirements must include provision for making a person responsible for the monitoring; and a person who is made so responsible must be of a description specified in an order made by the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup>.

However, a court must not include such an electronic monitoring requirement in a youth community order unless the court:

- 1245 (1) has been notified by the Secretary of State that electronic monitoring arrangements are available in the relevant areas<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1246 (2) is satisfied that the necessary provision can be made under those arrangements<sup>5</sup>.

Where it is proposed to include in an exclusion order a requirement for securing electronic monitoring, but there is a person (other than the offender) without whose co-operation it will not be practicable to secure the monitoring, the requirement must not be included in the order without that person's consent<sup>6</sup>.

The Secretary of State may make rules<sup>7</sup> for regulating:

- 1247 (a) the electronic monitoring of compliance with requirements included in a youth community order<sup>8</sup>; and
- 1248 (b) without prejudice to the generality of head (a) above, the functions of persons made responsible for securing the electronic monitoring of compliance with requirements included in the order<sup>9</sup>.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/B. SUPERVISION ORDERS/(A) Generally/1341. Making of supervision orders.

1341. Making of supervision orders.

A court must not make a supervision order<sup>1</sup> unless it is satisfied that the offender resides<sup>2</sup> or will reside in the area of a local authority<sup>3</sup>.

A supervision order must: (1) name the area of the local authority and the local justice area in which it appears to the court making the order (or to the court amending<sup>4</sup> any provision included in the order<sup>5</sup>) that the offender resides or will reside<sup>6</sup>; and (2) may contain such prescribed provisions<sup>7</sup> as the court making the order (or amending it) considers appropriate for facilitating the performance by the supervisor<sup>8</sup> of his functions<sup>9</sup>, including any prescribed provisions for requiring visits to be made by the offender to the supervisor<sup>10</sup>.

A court which makes a supervision order must immediately send a copy of its order:

- 1252 (a) to the offender and, if the offender is aged under 14, to his parent or guardian<sup>11</sup>;
- 1253 (b) to the supervisor<sup>12</sup>;
- 1254 (c) to any local authority which is not entitled by virtue of head (b) above to such a copy and whose area is named in the supervision order<sup>13</sup>;

- 1256 (e) where a local justice area named in the order<sup>15</sup> is not that for which the court acts, to the designated officer for the local justice area for the local justice area so named<sup>16</sup>.

Requirement to comply with directions of supervisor.

1345. Requirement to comply with directions of supervisor.

A supervision order<sup>1</sup> may require the offender to comply with any directions given from time to time by the supervisor<sup>2</sup> requiring him to do all or any of the following things<sup>3</sup>:

.104

33. (1) to live at a place or places specified in the directions for a period or periods so specified<sup>4</sup>;

  35. (3) to participate in activities specified in the directions on a day or days so specified<sup>6</sup>.
- 45

However, a supervision order must not require compliance with such directions unless the court making it is satisfied that a local authority scheme<sup>7</sup> is in force for the area where the offender resides or will reside; and no such directions may involve the use of facilities which are not for the time being specified in a scheme in force for that area<sup>8</sup>.

For the purpose of calculating the total number of days in respect of which such directions may be given, the supervisor is entitled to disregard any day in respect of which directions were previously given in pursuance of the order and on which the directions were not complied with: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2003 Sch 6 para 2(6). ### 1345-1353 Requirement to comply with directions of supervisor...Revocation and amendment of supervision order on the application of the supervisor

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/B. SUPERVISION ORDERS/(B) Requirements which may be Included/1346. Requirements as to activities, reparation etc.

1346. Requirements as to activities, reparation etc.

A supervision order<sup>1</sup> may require<sup>2</sup> the offender subject to certain provisions<sup>3</sup>:

- 1261 (1) to live at a place or places specified in the order for a period or periods so specified<sup>4</sup>;
- 1262 (2) to present himself to a person or persons specified in the order at a place or places and on a day or days so specified<sup>5</sup>;
- 1263 (3) to participate in activities specified in the order on a day or days so specified<sup>6</sup>;
- 1264 (4) to make reparation<sup>7</sup> specified in the order to a person or persons so specified or to the community at large<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1265 (5) to refrain from participating in activities specified in the order on a specified day or days during the period for which the supervision order is in force, or during the whole of that period or a specified portion of it<sup>9</sup>.

The court may not include requirements in a supervision order unless: (a) it has first consulted the supervisor<sup>10</sup> as to the offender's circumstances, and the feasibility of securing compliance with the requirements, and is satisfied, having regard to the supervisor's report, that it is feasible to secure compliance with them<sup>11</sup>; (b) having regard to the circumstances of the case, it considers the requirements necessary for securing the good conduct of the offender or for preventing a repetition by him of the same offence or the commission of other offences<sup>12</sup>; and (c) if the offender is aged under 16, it has obtained and considered information about his family circumstances and the likely effect of the requirements on those circumstances<sup>13</sup>.

The court must not include in such a supervision order:

- 1266 (i) any requirement that would involve the co-operation of a person other than the supervisor and the offender, unless that other person consents to its inclusion<sup>14</sup>;
- 1267 (ii) any requirement to make reparation to any person unless that person is identified by the court as a victim of the offence or a person otherwise affected by it, and consents to the inclusion of the requirement<sup>15</sup>;
- 1268 (iii) any requirement requiring the offender to reside with a specified individual<sup>16</sup>;
- or
- 1269 (iv) any requirement relating to treatment for the offender's mental condition<sup>17</sup>, nor may such a supervision order<sup>18</sup> include<sup>19</sup>:

- 1270 (A) any requirement that would involve the offender in absence from home for more than two consecutive nights, or for more than two nights in any one week<sup>20</sup>;
- or
- 1271 (B) if the offender is of compulsory school age<sup>21</sup>, any requirement to participate in activities during normal school hours<sup>22</sup>, unless the court making the order is satisfied that the facilities whose use would be involved are for the time being specified in a scheme in force<sup>23</sup> for the area in which the offender resides or will reside<sup>24</sup>.

The total number of days in respect of which an offender may be subject to requirements imposed by virtue of Sch 6 para 3(2)(a), (b), (c) or (d) (see heads (1)-(4) in the text) must not exceed 180: Sch 6 para 3(3) (amended by the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 88, Sch 2 para 4(1), (3)(b)(ii)).

5 Ibid Sch 6 para 3(2)(b). As to the total number of days in respect of which an offender may be subject to requirements imposed by virtue of Sch 6 para 3(2)(b) see note 3 supra.

Requirements included in a supervision order by virtue of Sch 6 para 3(2)(b) or Sch 6 para 3(2)(c) (see the text and note 6 infra) must, as far as practicable, be such as to avoid:

3352 (1) any conflict with the offender's religious beliefs or with the requirements of any other youth community order to which he may be subject (Sch 6 para 3(6)(a) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 90, 127(b))); and

3353 (2) any interference with the times, if any, at which he normally works or attends school or any other educational establishment (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2003 Sch 6 para 3(6)(b)).

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. Requirement to live for specified period in local authority accommodation.

1347. Requirement to live for specified period in local authority accommodation.

Subject to the following conditions, a supervision order<sup>1</sup> may impose a requirement ('a local authority residence requirement') that the offender live for a specified period in local authority accommodation<sup>2</sup>. The conditions are that:

- 1272 (1) a supervision order has previously been made in respect of the offender<sup>3</sup>;
- 1273 (2) the order imposed:
- 46
- 36. (a) a requirement to reside with a named individual<sup>4</sup>; a requirement to comply with directions of a supervisor<sup>5</sup>; requirements as to activities, reparation and night restrictions<sup>6</sup>; or requirements as to education<sup>7</sup>; or
- 37. (b) a local authority residence requirement<sup>8</sup>;
- 47
- 1274 (3) the offender fails to comply with that requirement, or is convicted of an offence committed while that order was in force<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1275 (4) the court is satisfied that:
- 48
- 38. (a) the failure to comply with the requirement, or the behaviour which constituted the offence, was due to a significant extent to the circumstances in which the offender was living<sup>10</sup>; and
- 39. (b) the imposition of a local authority residence requirement will assist in his rehabilitation<sup>11</sup>.
- 49

A local authority residence requirement must designate the local authority which is to receive the offender, and that authority must be the authority in whose area the offender resides<sup>12</sup>.

The court must not impose a local authority residence requirement without first consulting the designated authority<sup>13</sup>. A court must not impose a local authority residence requirement in respect of an offender who is not legally represented at the relevant time<sup>14</sup> in that court unless:

- 1276 (i) he was granted a right to representation funded by the Legal Services Commission as part of the Criminal Defence Service for the purposes of the proceedings but the right was withdrawn because of his conduct or because it appeared that his financial resources were such that he was not eligible to be granted such a right<sup>15</sup>;

- 1278 (iii) he has been informed of his right to apply for such representation for the purposes of the proceedings and has had the opportunity to do so, but nevertheless refused or failed to apply<sup>17</sup>.

1345-1353 Requirement to comply with directions of supervisor...Revocation and amendment of supervision order on the application of the supervisor

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/B. SUPERVISION ORDERS/(B) Requirements which may be Included/1348. Requirement to live with for a specified period with local authority foster parent.

1348. Requirement to live with for a specified period with local authority foster parent.

Subject to the following conditions, a supervision order<sup>1</sup> may impose a requirement ('a foster parent requirement') that the offender must live for a specified period with a local authority foster parent<sup>2</sup>. The conditions are that:

- 1279 (1) the offence is punishable with imprisonment in the case of an offender aged 18 or over<sup>3</sup>;
- 1280 (2) the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, was so serious that a custodial sentence would normally be appropriate (or, where the offender is aged 10 or 11, would normally be appropriate if the offender were aged 12 or over)<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1281 (3) the court is satisfied that:
  - 50 40. (a) the behaviour which constituted the offence was due to a significant extent to the circumstances in which the offender was living<sup>5</sup>; and
  - 41. (b) the imposition of a foster parent residence requirement will assist in his rehabilitation<sup>6</sup>.
- 51

A foster parent residence requirement must designate the local authority which is to place the offender with a local authority foster parent<sup>7</sup>, and that authority must be the authority in whose area the offender resides<sup>8</sup>.

A court must not impose a foster parent residence requirement unless:

- 1282 (i) the court has been notified by the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup> that arrangements for implementing such a requirement are available in the area of the designated authority<sup>10</sup>;
- 1283 (ii) the notice has not been withdrawn<sup>11</sup>; and
- 1284 (iii) the court has consulted the designated authority<sup>12</sup>.

A court must not impose a foster parent residence requirement in respect of an offender who is not legally represented at the relevant time<sup>13</sup> in that court unless:

- 1285 (A) he was granted a right to representation funded by the Legal Services Commission as part of the Criminal Defence Service for the purposes of the proceedings but the right was withdrawn because of his conduct or because it appeared that his financial resources were such that he was not eligible to be granted such a right<sup>14</sup>;
- 1286 (B) he applied for such representation and the application was refused because it appeared that his financial resources were such that he was not eligible to be granted a right to it<sup>15</sup>; or

- 1287 (c) he has been informed of his right to apply for such representation for the purposes of the proceedings<sup>16</sup> and has had opportunity to do so, but nevertheless refused or failed to apply<sup>17</sup>.

If, at any time while a supervision order imposing a foster parent residence requirement is in force, the supervisor notifies the offender that no suitable local authority foster parent is available, and that the supervisor has applied or proposes to apply for the variation or revocation of the order<sup>18</sup>, the foster parent residence requirement must, until the determination of the application, be taken to require the offender to live in local authority accommodation<sup>19</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/B. SUPERVISION ORDERS/(B) Requirements which may be Included/1350. Requirements as to drug treatment and testing.

1350. Requirements as to drug treatment and testing.

The following provisions have effect for the purposes of certain areas<sup>1</sup>. Where a court proposing to make a supervision order<sup>2</sup> is satisfied that the offender is dependent on, or has a propensity to misuse, drugs and that his dependency or propensity is such as requires and may be susceptible to treatment<sup>3</sup>, the court may include in the supervision order a requirement that the offender must, for a period specified in the order ('the treatment period'), submit to treatment by or under the direction of a specified person having the necessary qualifications and experience ('the treatment provider') with a view to the reduction or elimination of the offender's dependency on or propensity to misuse drugs<sup>4</sup>.

The required treatment must be:

- 1294 (1) treatment as a resident in such institution or place as may be specified in the order<sup>5</sup>; or
- 1295 (2) treatment as a non-resident at such institution or place, and at such intervals, as may be so specified<sup>6</sup>, but the nature of the treatment must not be specified in the order except as mentioned in head (1) or head (2) above<sup>7</sup>.

A requirement must not be included in a supervision order<sup>8</sup>:

- 1296 (a) in any case, unless:
52
  - 42. (i) the court is satisfied that arrangements have been or can be made for the treatment intended to be specified in the order (including arrangements for the reception of the offender where he is to be required to submit to treatment as a resident)<sup>9</sup>; and
  - 43. (ii) the requirement has been recommended to the court as suitable for the offender by an officer of a local probation board or by a member of a youth offending team<sup>10</sup>; and
- 53
  - 1297 (b) in the case of an order made or to be made in respect of a person aged 14 or over, unless he consents to its inclusion<sup>11</sup>.

A supervision order which includes a treatment requirement may also include a requirement ('a testing requirement') that, for the purpose of ascertaining whether he has any drug in his body during the treatment period, the offender must during that period, at such times or in such circumstances as may (subject to the provisions of the order) be determined by the supervisor or the treatment provider, provide samples of such description as may be so determined<sup>12</sup>. However, a testing requirement must not be included in a supervision order unless the offender is aged 14 or over and consents to its inclusion, and the court has been notified by the Secretary of State<sup>13</sup> that arrangements for implementing such requirements are in force in the area proposed to be specified in the order<sup>14</sup>.

A supervision order including a testing requirement must provide for the results of tests carried out on any samples provided by the offender in pursuance of the requirement to a person other than the supervisor to be communicated to the supervisor<sup>15</sup>.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/B. SUPERVISION ORDERS/(B) Requirements which may be Included/1351. Requirements as to education.

1351. Requirements as to education.

A supervision order<sup>1</sup> may require<sup>2</sup> the offender, if he is of compulsory school age, to comply, for as long as he is of that age and the order remains in force, with such arrangements for his education as may from time to time be made by his parent, being arrangements for the time being approved by the local education authority<sup>3</sup>. The court must not include such a requirement in a supervision order unless:

- 1298 (1) it has consulted the local education authority with regard to its proposal to include the requirement<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1299 (2) it is satisfied that in the view of the local education authority arrangements exist for the offender to receive efficient full time education suitable to his age, ability and aptitude and to any special educational need he may have<sup>5</sup>.

Nor may the court include the above requirement unless it has first consulted the supervisor as to the offender's circumstances and, having regard to the circumstances of the case, it considers the requirement necessary for securing the good conduct of the offender or for preventing a repetition by him of the same offence or the commission of other offences<sup>6</sup>.

1345-1353 Requirement to comply with directions of supervisor...Revocation and amendment of supervision order on the application of the supervisor

Certain functions under provisions mentioned in these paragraphs are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3: see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/B. SUPERVISION ORDERS/(C) Breach and Revocation/1352. Breach of requirement of supervision order.

(C) BREACH AND REVOCATION

1352. Breach of requirement of supervision order.

If while a supervision order<sup>1</sup> is in force in respect of an offender it is proved to the satisfaction of a relevant court<sup>2</sup>, on the application of the supervisor<sup>3</sup>, that the offender has failed to comply with any requirement included<sup>4</sup> in the supervision order<sup>5</sup>, the court:

- 1300 (1) whether or not it also makes an order revoking or amending the supervision order<sup>6</sup> may:
- 54
44. (a) order the offender to pay a fine of an amount not exceeding a stated amount<sup>7</sup>;
45. (b) make a curfew order in respect of him<sup>8</sup>; or
46. (c) make an attendance centre order in respect of him<sup>9</sup>;
- 55
- 1301 (2) if the supervision order was made by a magistrates' court, may revoke the supervision order and deal with the offender, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which he could have been dealt with for that offence by the court which made the order if the order had not been made<sup>10</sup>; or
- 1302 (3) if the supervision order was made by the Crown Court, may commit him in custody or release him on bail until he can be brought or appear before the Crown Court<sup>11</sup>.

Where a court deals with an offender under head (3) above, it must send to the Crown Court a certificate signed by a justice of the peace giving particulars of the offender's failure to comply with the requirement in question, and such other particulars of the case as may be desirable<sup>12</sup>. A certificate purporting to be so signed is admissible as evidence of the failure before the Crown Court<sup>13</sup>. Where by virtue of head (3) above the offender is brought or appears before the Crown Court, and it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that he has failed to comply with the requirement in question, that court may deal with him, for the offence in respect of which the supervision order was made, in any way in which it could have dealt with him for that offence if it had not made the order<sup>14</sup>. Where the Crown Court so deals with an offender, it must revoke the supervision order if it is still in force<sup>15</sup>.

In dealing with an offender under the provisions relating to breach of a requirement of a supervision order<sup>16</sup>, a court must take into account the extent to which he has complied with the requirements of the supervision order<sup>17</sup>.

Where a supervision order has been made on appeal, for these purposes<sup>18</sup> it is deemed: (i) if it was made on an appeal brought from a magistrates' court, to have been made by that magistrates' court; and (ii) if it was made on an appeal brought from the Crown Court or from the criminal division of the Court of Appeal, to have been made by the Crown Court<sup>19</sup>.

1 As to the making of supervision orders see para 1341 ante.

2 For the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 65, Sch 7, 'relevant court', in relation to a supervision order, means:

If an application to a youth court is made in pursuance of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 7 and while it is pending the offender to whom it relates attains the age of 18, the youth court must deal with the application as if he had not attained that age: Sch 7 para 1(2). As to youth courts see para 1263 et seq ante. As to the application of Sch 7 to the Isles of Scilly see para 1340 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'supervisor' see para 1341 note 8 ante.

4 Is included in pursuance of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 63 (as amended), Sch 6 para 1, 2, 3, 5, 5A (as added), 6A (as added) or 7, or s 63(6)(b): see paras 1344-1348, 1350-1351 ante.

5 Ibid Sch 7 para 2(1) (amended by the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 88, Sch 2 para 6(1), (2)(a); and the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 279, Sch 24 para 3). Subject to the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2003 Sch 7 para 7(9) (see para 1357 post) a court must not make an order under Sch 7 para 2 unless the offender is present before the court: Sch 7 para 7(1).

6 Is an order under ibid Sch 7 para 5(1): see para 1353 post.

7 Ibid Sch 7 para 2(2)(a)(i). At the date at which this volume states the law the fine may not exceed £1000: Sch 7 para 2(2)(a)(i). A fine imposed under Sch 7 para 2 is deemed, for the purposes of any enactment, to be a sum adjudged to be paid by a conviction: Sch 7 para 2(6).

8 Ibid Sch 7 para 2(2)(a)(ii) (amended by the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 88, Sch 2 para 6(1), (2)(b)). This is expressed as being subject to the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 7 para 2(2A) (as added) and Sch 7 para 3. The court may not make a curfew order under Sch 7 para 2(2)(a)(ii) where the offender is already subject to a curfew order: Sch 7 para 2(2A) (added by the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 88, Sch 2 para 6(1), (2)(c)). Where a court considers it appropriate to make an order in respect of any person in pursuance of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(ii) (see para 1367 post), it may make an order requiring him to remain, for periods specified in the order, at a place so specified: s 37(1) (modified by Sch 7 para 3(1)). Section 37(3)-(12) (s 37(10) repealed) and, so far as applicable, s 36B (as added), s 40, Sch 3 so far as relating to curfew orders, have effect in relation to a curfew order made by virtue of Sch 7 para 2(2)(a)(ii) as they have effect in relation to any other curfew order, subject to Sch 7 para 3(4), (5): Sch 7 para 3(2) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt II paras 160, 201(1), (2)(a); and the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt I paras 90, 128(a)(i)). The Criminal Justice Act 2003 ss 148, 157 (restrictions and procedural requirements for community sentences) do not apply in relation to a curfew order made by virtue of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 7 para 2(2)(a)(ii): Sch 7 para 3(3) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 90, 128(a)(ii)). The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (breach, revocation and amendment of orders) has effect, with modifications, in relation to such curfew orders: see Sch 7 para 3(5). For the purposes of Sch 7 para 3(5)(a), (c), as applied by Sch 7 para 3(5), if the supervision order is no longer in force the relevant court's powers are to be determined on the assumption that it is still in force: Sch 7 para 3(6).

9 Ibid Sch 7 para 2(2)(a)(iii). This is expressed as being subject to Sch 7 para 4. The Criminal Justice Act 2003 ss 148, 156 do not apply in relation to an attendance centre order made by virtue of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 7 para 2(2)(a)(iii): Sch 7 para 4(3) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 90, 128(b)). Revocation and amendment of supervision order on the application of the supervisor.

1353. Revocation and amendment of supervision order on the application of the supervisor.

If while a supervision order<sup>1</sup> is in force in respect of an offender it appears to a relevant court<sup>2</sup>, on the application of the supervisor<sup>3</sup> or the offender, that it is appropriate to make an order revoking or amending the supervision order, the court may<sup>4</sup>:

- 1303 (1) make an order revoking the supervision order<sup>5</sup>; or
- 1304 (2) make an order amending it by cancelling any requirement included in it<sup>6</sup>, or by inserting in it (either in addition to or in substitution for any of its provisions) any provision which could have been included in the order if the court had then had power to make it and were exercising the power<sup>7</sup>.

In relation to a supervision order imposing a foster parent residence requirement<sup>8</sup>, the court may extend the period specified to a period of not more than 18 months beginning with the day on which the requirement first had effect<sup>9</sup>.

The powers of amendment so conferred do not include power to insert in the supervision order, after the end of three months beginning with the date when the order was originally made, a requirement for treatment for a mental condition<sup>10</sup>, unless it is in substitution for such a requirement already included in the order<sup>11</sup>. Where an application<sup>12</sup> for the revocation of a supervision order is dismissed, no further application for its revocation may be made<sup>13</sup> by any person during the period of three months beginning with the date of the dismissal except with the consent of a court having jurisdiction to entertain such an application<sup>14</sup>.

Schedule 7 para 5(1) has effect subject to Sch 7 paras 7-9 (Sch 7 para 7 prospectively amended) (see para 1357 post): Sch 7 para 5(2). Without prejudice to any power apart from Sch 7 para 12(1) to bring proceedings on behalf of another person, any power to make an application which is exercisable by a child or young person by virtue of Sch 7 para 5(1) is also exercisable on his behalf by his parent or guardian: Sch 7 para 12(1). For the purposes of Sch 7 para 12, 'guardian' includes any person who was a guardian of the child or young person in question at the time when any supervision order to which the application relates was originally made: Sch 7 para 12(2).   - 48. (b) inserting in a supervision order an authorised requirement<sup>4</sup>; or

(D) PRESENCE OF OFFENDER IN COURT

1357. Presence of offender in court.

Where the supervisor<sup>1</sup> makes an application or reference<sup>2</sup> to a court he may bring the offender before the court<sup>3</sup>. Without prejudice to any power to issue a summons or warrant<sup>4</sup>, a justice may issue a summons or warrant for the purpose of securing the attendance of an offender before the court to which any of the specified applications or references in respect of him is made<sup>5</sup>. Where the offender is arrested in pursuance of such a warrant and cannot be brought immediately before the appropriate court<sup>6</sup>, the person in whose custody he is may make arrangements for his detention in a place of safety<sup>7</sup> for a period of not more than 72 hours from the time of the arrest (and it is lawful for him to be detained in pursuance of the arrangements), and must within that period, unless within it the offender is brought before that appropriate court, bring him before a justice<sup>8</sup>. Where an offender is so brought before a justice, the justice may direct that he be released immediately, or remand him to local authority accommodation<sup>9</sup>. However, where the offender is aged 18 or over at the time when he is brought before a justice, or is aged 18 or over at a time when<sup>10</sup> a youth court could exercise its powers<sup>11</sup> in respect of him, he must not be remanded to local authority accommodation but may instead be remanded to a remand centre, if the justice or youth court has been notified that such a centre is available for the reception of persons<sup>12</sup>, or to a prison, if the justice or youth court has not been so notified<sup>13</sup>.

Where an application is made to a youth court<sup>14</sup>, the court may remand (or further remand) the offender to local authority accommodation if a warrant has been issued<sup>15</sup> for the purpose of securing the attendance of the offender before the court, or the court considers that remanding (or further remanding) him will enable information to be obtained which is likely to assist the court in deciding whether and, if so, how to exercise its powers to revoke or amend the supervision order<sup>16</sup>. A justice or court remanding a person to local authority accommodation<sup>17</sup> must designate, as the authority which is to receive him, the authority named in the supervision order<sup>18</sup>.

A court may make an order revoking or amending a supervision order<sup>19</sup> or cancelling or varying a requirement included in a supervision order<sup>20</sup> in the absence of the offender if the effect of the order is confined to one or more of the following, that is to say: (1) revoking the supervision order; (2) cancelling a provision included in the supervision order<sup>21</sup>; (3) reducing the duration of the supervision order or any provision included in it<sup>22</sup>; (4) altering in the supervision order the name of any area; or (5) changing the supervisor<sup>23</sup>.

The offender may appeal to the Crown Court against any order: (a) resulting from a breach of a requirement of a supervision order<sup>24</sup>; (b) revoking or amending a supervision order; (c) cancelling or varying a requirement included in a supervision order, except an order made or which could have been made in the absence of the offender<sup>25</sup>, and an order containing only provisions to which the offender consented<sup>26</sup>. The offender may also appeal to the Crown Court against the dismissal of an application<sup>27</sup> to revoke a supervision order<sup>28</sup>.

C. ATTENDANCE CENTRE ORDERS

1358. Attendance centre orders.

Where:

- 1318 (1) a person aged under 16 is convicted by or before a court of an offence punishable with imprisonment<sup>1</sup>; or
- 1319 (2) a court would have power<sup>2</sup> to commit a person aged under 21<sup>3</sup> to prison in default of payment of any sum of money or for failing to do or abstain from doing anything required to be done or left undone<sup>4</sup>, the court may, if it has been notified by the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> that an attendance centre<sup>6</sup> is available for the reception of persons of his description, order him to attend at such a centre, to be specified in the order, for such number of hours as may be so specified<sup>7</sup>. Such an order is referred to as an 'attendance centre order'<sup>8</sup>.

The aggregate number of hours for which an attendance centre order may require a person to attend at an attendance centre must not be less than 12 except where:

- 1320 (a) he is aged under 14<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1321 (b) the court is of the opinion that 12 hours would be excessive, having regard to his age or any other circumstances<sup>10</sup>.

The aggregate number of hours must not exceed 12 except where the court is of the opinion, having regard to all the circumstances, that 12 hours would be inadequate, and in that case:

- 1322 (i) must not exceed 24 where the person is aged under 16<sup>11</sup>; and
- 1323 (ii) must not exceed 36 where the person is aged 16 or over but under 21<sup>12</sup>.

A court may make an attendance centre order in respect of a person before a previous attendance centre order made in respect of him has ceased to have effect, and may determine the number of hours to be specified in the order without regard to the number specified in the previous order, or to the fact that that order is still in effect<sup>13</sup>. However, an attendance centre order must not be made unless the court is satisfied that the attendance centre to be specified in it is reasonably accessible to the person concerned, having regard to his age, the means of access available to him and any other circumstances<sup>14</sup>.

The times at which a person is required to attend at an attendance centre must, as far as practicable, be such as to avoid any conflict with his religious beliefs or with the requirements of any other community order to which he may be subject, and any interference with the times, if any, at which he normally works or attends school or any other educational establishment<sup>15</sup>. The first time at which the person is required to attend at an attendance centre must be a time at which the centre is available for his attendance in accordance with the notification of the Secretary of State, and must be specified in the order<sup>16</sup>. The subsequent times must be fixed by the officer in charge of the centre, having regard to the person's circumstances<sup>17</sup>. However, a person must not be required to attend at an attendance centre on more than one occasion on any day, or for more than three hours on any occasion<sup>18</sup>.

Where a court makes an attendance centre order, the designated officer for the court must deliver or send a copy of the order to the officer in charge of the attendance centre specified in it, and deliver a copy of the order to the person in respect of whom it is made or send a copy by registered post or the recorded delivery service addressed to his last or usual place of abode<sup>19</sup>.

Where a person ('the defaulter') has been ordered to attend at an attendance centre in default of the payment of any sum of money, on payment of the whole sum to any person authorised to receive it, the attendance centre order ceases to have effect, and on payment of a part of the sum to any such person, the total number of hours for which the defaulter is required to attend at the centre must be reduced proportionately, that is to say by such number of complete hours as bears to the total number the proportion most nearly approximating to, without exceeding, the proportion which the part bears to the whole sum<sup>20</sup>.

TEXT AND NOTE 1--Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 60(1)(a) repealed: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 28 Pt 1.

NOTE 6--Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 221(2) amended: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 4 para 92, Sch 26 para 2(2) (Sch 4 para 92 partly in force: SI 2009/3074).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/C. ATTENDANCE CENTRE ORDERS/1359. Breach of attendance centre order or attendance centre rules.

1359. Breach of attendance centre order or attendance centre rules.

Where an attendance centre order<sup>1</sup> is in force and it appears on information to a justice<sup>2</sup> that the offender<sup>3</sup>:

- 1324 (1) has failed to attend in accordance with the order<sup>4</sup>; or
- 1325 (2) while attending has committed a breach of rules<sup>5</sup> which cannot be adequately dealt with under those rules<sup>6</sup>, the justice may issue a summons<sup>7</sup> requiring the offender to appear at the place and time specified in the summons or, if the information is in writing and on oath, may issue a warrant<sup>8</sup> for the offender's arrest<sup>9</sup>.

If it is proved to the satisfaction of the magistrates' court before which an offender appears or is brought<sup>10</sup> that he has failed without reasonable excuse to attend as mentioned in head (1) above or has committed such a breach of rules as is mentioned in head (2) above, that court may deal with him in any one of the following ways<sup>11</sup>:

- 1326 (a) it may impose on him a fine not exceeding a stated amount<sup>12</sup>;
- 1327 (b) where the attendance centre order was made by a magistrates' court, it may deal with him, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which he could have been dealt with for that offence by the court which made the order if the order had not been made<sup>13</sup>; or
- 1328 (c) where the order was made by the Crown Court, it may commit him to custody or release him on bail<sup>14</sup> until he can be brought or appear before the Crown Court<sup>15</sup>.

In dealing with an offender under head (b) above, a magistrates' court must take into account the extent to which the offender has complied with the requirements of the attendance centre order, and in the case of an offender who has wilfully and persistently failed to comply with those requirements, may impose a custodial sentence<sup>16</sup>. A person sentenced under head (b) above for an offence may appeal to the Crown Court against the sentence<sup>17</sup>.

A magistrates' court which deals with an offender's case under head (c) above must send to the Crown Court a certificate signed by a justice of the peace giving particulars of the offender's failure to attend or, as the case may be, the breach of the rules which he has committed, and such other particulars of the case as may be desirable<sup>18</sup>. A certificate purporting to be so signed is admissible as evidence of the failure or the breach before the Crown Court<sup>19</sup>.

Where by virtue of head (c) above the offender is brought or appears before the Crown Court and it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that he has failed without reasonable excuse to attend as mentioned in head (1) above, or that he has committed such a breach of rules as is mentioned in head (2) above, that court may deal with him, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which it could have dealt with him for that offence if it had not made the order<sup>20</sup>. In so dealing with an offender<sup>21</sup>, the Crown Court must take into account the extent to which the offender has complied with the requirements of the attendance centre order, and in the case of an offender who has wilfully and persistently failed to comply with those requirements, may impose a custodial sentence<sup>22</sup>.

2 Any summons or warrant issued under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 5 para 1(2) must direct the offender to appear or be brought before a magistrates' court acting for the local justice area in which the offender resides, or if it is not known where the offender resides, before a magistrates' court acting for the local justice area in which is situated the attendance centre which the offender is required to attend by the order or by virtue of an order under Sch 5 para 5(1)(b): Sch 5 para 1(2) (substituted by the Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims Act 2004 s 29, Sch 5 para 6(3)).

Where an attendance centre order<sup>1</sup> is in force in respect of an offender, an appropriate court<sup>2</sup> may, on an application made by the offender or by the officer in charge of the relevant attendance centre<sup>3</sup>, revoke the order<sup>4</sup>. Any power conferred<sup>5</sup> on a magistrates' court to revoke an attendance centre order made by such a court, or on the Crown Court to revoke an attendance centre order made by the Crown Court, includes power to deal with the offender, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which he could have been dealt with for that offence by the court which made the order if the order had not been made<sup>6</sup>. A person so sentenced by a magistrates' court<sup>7</sup> for an offence may appeal to the Crown Court against the sentence<sup>8</sup>.

The proper officer<sup>9</sup> of a court which makes an order revoking an attendance centre order must deliver a copy of the revoking order to the offender or send a copy by registered post or the recorded delivery service addressed to the offender's last or usual place of abode, and deliver or send a copy to the officer in charge of the relevant attendance centre<sup>10</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'attendance centre order' see para 1358 ante.

2 For the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 61, Sch 5 para 4(1), 'an appropriate court' means:

3356 (1) where the court which made the order was the Crown Court and there is included in the order a direction that the power to revoke the order is reserved to that court, the Crown Court (Sch 5 para 4(2)(a)); and 3357 (2) in any other case, either a magistrates' court acting for the local justice area in which the relevant attendance centre is situated, or the court which made the order (Sch 5 para 4(2)(b) (amended by the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 83(e))).

If it is proved to the satisfaction of the magistrates' court before which an offender appears or is brought under Sch 5 para 1 that he has failed without reasonable excuse to attend as mentioned in Sch 5 para 1(1)(a) (see para 1359 ante) or has committed such a breach of rules as is mentioned in Sch 5 para 1(1)(b) (see para 1359 ante) that court may deal with him, where the attendance centre order was made by a magistrates' court, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which he could have been dealt with for that offence by the court which made the order: Sch 5 para 2(1)(b) (modified by Sch 5 para 6(2)). Any power conferred by Sch 5 para 4 on a magistrates' court to revoke an attendance centre order made by such a court, or on the Crown Court to revoke an attendance centre order made by the Crown Court, includes power to deal with the offender, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which he could have been dealt with for that offence by the court which made the order: Sch 5 para 4(3) (modified by Sch 5 para 6(2)). Where by virtue of Sch 5 para 2(1)(c) (see para 1359 ante) the offender is brought or appears before the Crown Court and it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that he has failed without reasonable excuse to attend as mentioned in Sch 5 para 1(1)(a), or that he has committed such a breach of rules as is mentioned in Sch 5 para 1(1)(b), that court may deal with him, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which it could have dealt with him for that offence if it had not made the order: Sch 5 para 3(1) (modified by Sch 5 para 6(2)).

D. CURFEW ORDERS

1363. Curfew orders.

Where a person aged under 16 is convicted of an offence, the court by or before which he is convicted may<sup>1</sup> make an order requiring him to remain, for periods specified in the order, at a place so specified<sup>2</sup>. Such an order is known as a 'curfew order'<sup>3</sup>.

A curfew order may specify different places or different periods for different days, but must not specify:

- 1335 (1) periods which fall outside the period of six months<sup>4</sup> beginning with the day on which it is made<sup>5</sup>; or
- 1336 (2) periods which amount to less than two hours or more than twelve hours in any one day<sup>6</sup>.

The requirements in a curfew order must, as far as practicable, be such as to avoid any conflict with the offender's religious beliefs or with the requirements of any other youth community order to which he may be subject; and any interference with the times, if any, at which he normally works or attends school or any other educational establishment<sup>7</sup>. A curfew order must include provision for making a person responsible for monitoring the offender's whereabouts during the curfew periods specified in the order; and a person who is made so responsible must be of a description specified in an order made by the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup>. A court must not make a curfew order unless the court has been notified by the Secretary of State that arrangements for monitoring the offender's whereabouts are available in the area in which the place proposed to be specified in the order is situated and the notice has not been withdrawn<sup>9</sup>. Before making a curfew order, the court must obtain and consider information about the place proposed to be specified in the order (including information as to the attitude of persons likely to be affected by the enforced presence there of the offender)<sup>10</sup>. Before making a curfew order in respect of an offender, the court must obtain and consider information about his family circumstances and the likely effect of such an order on those circumstances<sup>11</sup>.

A curfew order may include requirements for the electronic monitoring of the offender's whereabouts during the specified curfew periods where the court has been notified by the Secretary of State that electronic monitoring arrangements are available in the relevant areas and it is satisfied that the necessary provision can be made under those arrangements<sup>12</sup>.

Provision is also made for the breach, revocation and amendment of curfew orders<sup>13</sup>.

E. EXCLUSION ORDERS

1364. Exclusion orders.

Where a person aged under 16 is convicted of an offence, the court by or before which he is convicted may<sup>1</sup> make an order prohibiting him from entering a place specified in the order for a period so specified of not more than three months<sup>2</sup>. Such an order is known as an 'exclusion order'<sup>3</sup>. An exclusion order:

- 1337 (1) may provide for the prohibition to operate only during the periods specified in the order<sup>4</sup>;
- 1338 (2) may specify different places for different periods or days<sup>5</sup>.

The requirements in an exclusion order must, as far as practicable, be such as to avoid any conflict with the offender's religious beliefs or with the requirements of any other youth community order to which he may be subject; and any interference with the times, if any, at which he normally works or attends school or any other educational establishment<sup>6</sup>. A court must not make an exclusion order unless the court has been notified by the Secretary of State that arrangements for monitoring the offender's whereabouts are available in the area in which the place proposed to be specified in the order is situated and the notice has not been withdrawn<sup>7</sup>. Before making an exclusion order in respect of an offender, the court must obtain and consider information about his family circumstances and the likely effect of such an order on those circumstances<sup>8</sup>. An exclusion order must include provision for making a person responsible for monitoring the offender's whereabouts during the periods when the prohibition operates; and a person who is made so responsible must be of a description specified in an order made by the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup>.

The court by which an exclusion order is made must: (a) give a copy of the order to the offender and the responsible officer<sup>10</sup>; and (b) give to any affected person<sup>11</sup> any information relating to the order which the court considers it appropriate for him to have<sup>12</sup>.

F. ACTION PLAN ORDERS

1365. Action plan orders.

Where a child<sup>1</sup> or young person (that is to say, any person aged under 18) is convicted of an offence and the court by or before which he is convicted is of the opinion mentioned below, the court may<sup>2</sup> make an order which:

- 1339 (1) requires the offender, for a period of three months beginning with the date of the order, to comply with an action plan, that is to say, a series of requirements with respect to his actions and whereabouts during that period<sup>3</sup>;
- 1340 (2) places the offender under the supervision for that period of the responsible officer<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1341 (3) requires the offender to comply with any directions given by that officer with a view to the implementation of that plan<sup>5</sup>.

Such an order is known as an 'action plan order'<sup>6</sup>. The opinion referred to above is that the making of an action plan order is desirable in the interests of securing the rehabilitation of the offender or preventing the commission by him of further offences<sup>7</sup>. The court must not make an action plan order unless it has been notified by the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup> that arrangements for implementing such orders are available in the area proposed to be named in the order and the notice has not been withdrawn<sup>9</sup>. The court must not make an action plan order in respect of the offender if he is already the subject of such an order, or the court proposes to pass on him a custodial sentence or to make in respect of him a community order<sup>10</sup>, an attendance centre order<sup>11</sup>, a supervision order<sup>12</sup> or a referral order<sup>13</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 1259 note 1 ante.

2 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 69(2)(a). The requirements included in the order, and any directions given by the responsible officer, may include requirements authorised by s 70 (see para 1366 post): s 69(1). An action plan order must name the local justice area in which it appears to the court making the order, or to the court varying any provision included in it, that the offender resides or will reside: s 69(8) (amended by the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 76). Before making an action plan order, the court must obtain and consider:

3360 (1) a written report by an officer of a local probation board, a social worker of a local authority or a member of a youth offending team indicating:

195.(a) the requirements proposed by that person to be included in the order (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 69(6)(a)(i));

23

196.(b) the benefits to the offender that the proposed requirements are designed to achieve (s 69(6)(a)(ii)); and

24

197.(c) the attitude of a parent or guardian of the offender to the proposed requirements (s 69(6)(a)(iii)); and

25

3361 (2) where the offender is aged under 16, information about the offender's family circumstances and the likely effect of the order on those circumstances (s 69(6)(b)).

3 Ibid s 69(1)(a).

4 Ibid s 69(1)(b). 'Responsible officer', in relation to an offender subject to an action plan order, means one of the following who is specified in the order:

3362 (1) an officer of a local probation board (s 69(4)(a) (substituted by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt 1 para 4(1)(a), (2)));

3363 (2) a social worker of a local authority (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 69(4)(b) (amended by the Children Act 2004 s 64, Sch 5 Pt 4)); and 3364 (3) a member of a youth offending team (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 69(4)(c)).

As to youth offending teams (ie as established under the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 s 39 (as amended)) see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(4) (2006 Reissue) para 1703. Where an action plan order specifies an officer of a local probation board under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 69(4) (as amended), the officer specified must be an officer appointed for or assigned to the local justice area named in the order: s 69(9) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 4(1)(a), (2); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 76). Where an action plan order specifies under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 69(4) (as amended) a social worker of a local authority or a member of a youth offending team, the social worker or member specified must be a social worker of, or a member of a youth offending team established by, the local authority within whose area it appears to the court that the offender resides or will reside: s 69(10) (amended by the Children Act 2004 Sch 5 Pt 4).

1365-1369 Action Plan Orders

Action plan orders are abolished by the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 6(1), Sch 28 Pt 1. See now the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Pt 1 (ss 1-8) which introduces youth rehabilitation orders, a new generic community sentence for children and young people. For provision with respect to youth rehabilitation orders see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 202 et seq.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/F. ACTION PLAN ORDERS/1366. Requirements included in action plan orders.

1366. Requirements included in action plan orders.

Requirements included in an action plan order<sup>1</sup>, or directions given by a responsible officer<sup>2</sup>, may require the offender to do all or any of the following things<sup>3</sup>:

- 1342 (1) to participate in activities specified in the requirements or directions at a time or times so specified<sup>4</sup>;
- 1343 (2) to present himself to a person or persons specified in the requirements or directions at a place or places and at a time or times so specified<sup>5</sup>;
- 1344 (3) to attend at an attendance centre specified in the requirements or directions for a number of hours so specified<sup>6</sup>;
- 1345 (4) to stay away from a place or places specified in the requirements or directions<sup>7</sup>;
- 1346 (5) to comply with any arrangements for his education specified in the requirements or directions<sup>8</sup>;
- 1347 (6) to make reparation<sup>9</sup> specified in the requirements or directions to a person or persons so specified<sup>10</sup> or to the community at large<sup>11</sup>; and
- 1348 (7) to attend any hearing fixed by the court<sup>12</sup>.

Where a court proposing to make an action plan order is satisfied that the offender is dependent on, or has a propensity to misuse, drugs, and that his dependency or propensity is such as requires and may be susceptible to treatment<sup>13</sup>, requirements included in an action plan order may require the offender for a period specified in the order ('the treatment period') to submit to treatment by or under the direction of a specified person having the necessary qualifications and experience ('the treatment provider') with a view to the reduction or elimination of the offender's dependency on or propensity to misuse drugs<sup>14</sup>. The required treatment must be:

- 1349 (a) treatment as a resident in such institution or place as may be specified in the order<sup>15</sup>; or
- 1350 (b) treatment as a non-resident at such institution or place, and at such intervals, as may be so specified<sup>16</sup>, but the nature of the treatment must not be specified in the order except as mentioned in head (a) or head (b) above<sup>17</sup>.

An action plan order which includes such a requirement may, if the offender is aged 14 or over, also include a requirement ('a testing requirement') that, for the purpose of ascertaining whether he has any drug in his body during the treatment period, the offender must during that period, at such times or in such circumstances as may (subject to the provisions of the order) be determined by the responsible officer or the treatment provider, provide samples of such description as may be so determined<sup>18</sup>.

Requirements and directions must, as far as practicable, be such as to avoid any conflict with the offender's religious beliefs or with the requirements of any other youth community order or any community order to which he may be subject, and any interference with the times, if any, at which he normally works or attends school or any other educational establishment<sup>19</sup>.

Immediately after making an action plan order, a court may fix a further hearing for a date not more than 21 days after the making of the order, and direct the responsible officer to make, at that hearing, a report as to the effectiveness of the order and the extent to which it has been implemented<sup>20</sup>. At such hearing, the court must consider the responsible officer's report, and may, on the application of the responsible officer or the offender, vary the order<sup>21</sup>.

9 For the purposes of head (6) in the text, 'make reparation', in relation to an offender, means make reparation for the offence otherwise than by the payment of compensation: ibid s 70(3).

10 A person must not be specified in requirements or directions under head (6) in the text unless he is identified by the court or (as the case may be) the responsible officer as a victim of the offence or a person otherwise affected by it, and he consents to the reparation being made: ibid s 70(4).

A testing requirement must specify for each month the minimum number of occasions on which samples are to be provided: s 70(4G)

(as so added). An action plan order including a testing requirement must provide for the results of tests carried out on any samples provided by the offender in pursuance of the requirement to a person other than the responsible officer to be communicated to the responsible officer: s 70(4H) (as so added).

1366 Requirements included in action plan orders

NOTE 13--Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 279, Sch 24 repealed: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 4 paras 94, 97, Sch 28 Pt 1.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(i) Youth Community Orders/F. ACTION PLAN ORDERS/1367. Breach of requirement of action plan order or reparation order.

1367. Breach of requirement of action plan order or reparation order.

If while an action plan order<sup>1</sup> or reparation order<sup>2</sup> is in force in respect of an offender it is proved to the satisfaction of the appropriate court<sup>3</sup>, on the application of the responsible officer<sup>4</sup>, that the offender has failed to comply with any requirement included in the order<sup>5</sup>, the court:

- 1351 (1) whether or not it also makes an order revoking or amending the action plan order or reparation order<sup>6</sup>;
- 58
50. (a) may order the offender to pay a fine of an amount not exceeding a stated amount<sup>7</sup>;
51. (b) may make a curfew order in respect of him<sup>8</sup>; or
52. (c) may make an attendance centre order in respect of him<sup>9</sup>;
- 59
- 1352 (2) if the action plan order or reparation order was made by a magistrates' court, may revoke the order and deal with the offender, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which he could have been dealt with for that offence by the court which made the order if the order had not been made<sup>10</sup>; or
- 1353 (3) if the action plan order or reparation order was made by the Crown Court, may commit him in custody or release him on bail until he can be brought or appear before the Crown Court<sup>11</sup>.

Where a court deals with an offender under head (3) above, it must send to the Crown Court a certificate signed by a justice of the peace giving particulars of the offender's failure to comply with the requirement in question, and such other particulars of the case as may be desirable<sup>12</sup>. A certificate purporting to be so signed is admissible as evidence of the failure before the Crown Court<sup>13</sup>. Where by virtue of head (3) above the offender is brought or appears before the Crown Court, and it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that he has failed to comply with the requirement in question, that court may deal with him, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which it could have dealt with him for that offence if it had not made the order<sup>14</sup>.

In dealing with an offender under the provisions relating to breach of requirement of an action plan order or a reparation order<sup>15</sup>, a court must take into account the extent to which he has complied with the requirements of the action plan order or reparation order<sup>16</sup>.

Where a reparation order or action plan order has been made on appeal, for these purposes<sup>17</sup> it is deemed: (i) if it was made on an appeal brought from a magistrates' court, to have been made by that magistrates' court; and (ii) if it was made on an appeal brought from the Crown Court or from the criminal division of the Court of Appeal, to have been made by the Crown Court<sup>18</sup>.

The above provisions<sup>19</sup> have effect subject to the provision<sup>20</sup> relating to the presence of the offender in court when an application<sup>21</sup> is made by the appropriate officer<sup>22</sup>.

1 As to action plan orders see para 1365 ante.

2 As to reparation orders see para 1308 ante.

3 For the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 72, 75, Sch 8, 'the appropriate court', in relation to an action plan order or reparation order, means a youth court acting for the local justice area for the time being named in the order in pursuance of s 69(8) (see para 1365 ante) or, as the case may be, s 74(4) (see para 1308 ante): Sch 8 para 1 (amended by the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 1). As to youth courts see para 1263 et seq ante.

4 For the meaning of 'responsible officer' in relation to an offender subject to an action plan order see para 1365 note 4 ante. For the meaning of 'responsible officer' in relation to an offender subject to a reparation order see para 1308 note 16 ante.

5 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 8 para 2(1).

6 Ibid Sch 8 para 2(2)(a). Such an order which revokes or amends the action plan order or reparation order is made under Sch 8 para 5(1): see para 1368 post.

7 Ibid Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(i). At the date at which this volume states the law the fine may not exceed £1000: Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(i). A fine imposed under Sch 8 para 2 is deemed, for the purposes of any enactment, to be a sum adjudged to be paid by a conviction: Sch 8 para 2(6).

8 Ibid Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(ii). Where a court considers it appropriate to make an order in respect of any person in pursuance of Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(ii), it may make an order requiring him to remain, for periods specified in the order, at a place so specified. Section 37(3)-(12) (provisions relating to curfew orders), and s 36B (as added), s 40 and Sch 3 so far as relating to curfew orders, have effect in relation to a curfew order made by virtue of Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(ii) as they have effect in relation to any other curfew order, subject to Sch 8 para 3(5): Sch 8 para 3(2) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt II paras 160, 202(1), (2)(a); and the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 90, 129(a)(i)). The Criminal Justice Act 2003 ss 148, 156 (restrictions and procedural requirements for community sentences) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 164, 617, 626) do not apply in relation to a curfew order made by virtue of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(ii): Sch 8 para 3(3) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 90, 129(a)(ii)).

In relation to an offender aged under 16 on the date when his failure to comply with the action plan order or reparation order is proved to the court, a curfew order may specify different places or different periods for different days, but must not specify periods which fall outside the period of six months beginning with the day on which it is made: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 37(3). Until a day to be appointed in relation to an offender aged under 16 on conviction, this provision has effect as if the reference to six months were a reference to three months: s 37(4) (prospectively repealed by the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 s 88, 92, Sch 2 para 2(1), (3), Sch 3). The repeal of this provision is in force in relation to areas specified in the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003 (Commencement No 4) Order 2004, SI 2004/2168, art 3. Before making a curfew order in respect of an offender the court must obtain and consider information about his family circumstances and the likely effect of such an order on those circumstances: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 37(9) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 332, Sch 37 Pt 7).

The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (as amended; prospectively substituted) (breach of requirement of certain community orders) has effect, with modifications, in relation to such curfew orders: see Sch 8 para 3(5), (6).

9 Ibid Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(iii). Where a court considers it appropriate to make an order in respect of any person in pursuance of Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(iii), the court may, if it has been notified by the Secretary of State that an attendance centre is available for the reception of persons of his description, order him to attend at such a centre, to be specified in the order, for such number of hours as may be so specified: s 60(1) (modified by Sch 8 para 3(1)). Section 60(3)-(11) (see para 1358 ante), and so far as applicable, s 61, Sch 5, have effect in relation to an attendance centre order made by virtue of Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(iii) as they have effect in relation to any other attendance centre order, subject to Sch 8 para 4(4): Sch 8 para 4(2). If it is proved to the satisfaction of the magistrates' court before which an offender appears or is brought under Sch 5 para 1 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 268) that he has failed without reasonable excuse to attend in accordance with the attendance centre order or has committed a breach of rules for the regulation and management of attendance centres, that court may, where the attendance centre order was made by a magistrates' court, deal with him in any way in which he could have been dealt with by the court which made the order if the order had not been made: Sch 5 para 2(1)(b) (modified by Sch 8 para 4(4)). Any power conferred by Sch 5 para 4 (see para 1360 ante) on a magistrates' court to revoke an attendance centre order made by such a court, or on the Crown Court to revoke an attendance centre order made by the Crown Court, includes power to deal with the offender in any way in which he could have been dealt with by the court which made the order if the order had not been made: Sch 5 para 4(3) (modified by Sch 8 para 4(4)). A person sentenced under Sch 5 para 2(1)(b) may appeal to the Crown Court against the sentence: Sch 5 para 2(6) (modified by Sch 8 para 4(4)). A person sentenced by a magistrates' court under Sch 5 para 4(3) may appeal to the Crown Court against the sentence: Sch 5 para 4(4) (modified by Sch 8 para 4(4)). The Criminal Justice Act

2003 ss 148 and 156 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 164, 617, 626) do not apply in relation to an attendance centre order made by virtue of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 8 para 2(2)(a)(iii): Sch 8 para 4(3) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 Sch 32 Pt 1 para 42(1), (34)).

Where, by virtue of Sch 8 para 2(2)(c), the offender is brought or appears before the Crown Court, and it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that he has failed to comply with the requirement in question, that court may deal with him, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which it could have dealt with him for that offence: Sch 8 para 2(4) (modified by Sch 8 para 2(8)).

1369. Presence of offender in court.

Where the responsible officer<sup>1</sup> makes an application to the appropriate court that the offender has failed to comply with any requirement included in the action plan order or reparation order<sup>2</sup>, or makes an application that it is appropriate for the court to make an order revoking or amending the action plan order or reparation order<sup>3</sup>, he may bring the offender before the court<sup>4</sup>. Without prejudice to any power to issue a summons or warrant<sup>5</sup>, the court to which such an application is made may issue a summons or warrant for the purpose of securing the attendance of the offender before it<sup>6</sup>. Where the offender is arrested in pursuance of such a warrant<sup>7</sup> and cannot be brought immediately before the appropriate court, the person in whose custody he is may make arrangements for his detention in a place of safety<sup>8</sup> for a period of not more than 72 hours from the time of the arrest (and it is lawful for him to be detained in pursuance of the arrangements), and must within that period bring him before a youth court<sup>9</sup>. Where an offender is so brought before a youth court other than the appropriate court, the youth court may direct that he be released immediately, or remand him to local authority accommodation<sup>10</sup>. Where an application is made to a court that it is appropriate for the court to make an order revoking or amending the action plan order or reparation order<sup>11</sup>, the court may remand (or further remand) the offender to local authority accommodation if a warrant has been issued<sup>12</sup> for the purpose of securing the attendance of the offender before the court, or the court considers that remanding (or further remanding) him will enable information to be obtained which is likely to assist the court in deciding whether and, if so, how to exercise its powers to revoke or amend the action plan order or reparation order<sup>13</sup>.

A court remanding an offender to local authority accommodation<sup>14</sup> must designate, as the authority which is to receive him, the local authority for the area in which the offender resides or, where it appears to the court that he does not reside in the area of a local authority, the local authority specified by the court, and in whose area the offence or an offence associated with it was committed<sup>15</sup>.

A court may make an order revoking or amending the action plan order or reparation order<sup>16</sup> in the absence of the offender if the effect of the order is confined to one or more of the following, that is to say<sup>17</sup>:

- 1356 (1) revoking the action plan order or reparation order<sup>18</sup>;
- 1357 (2) cancelling a requirement included in the action plan order or reparation order<sup>19</sup>;
- 1358 (3) altering in the action plan order or reparation order the name of any area<sup>20</sup>; or
- 1359 (4) changing the responsible officer<sup>21</sup>.

The offender may appeal to the Crown Court against: (a) any order which makes him pay a fine, makes him the subject of a curfew order, makes an attendance centre order in respect of him<sup>22</sup>, or revokes or amends the action plan order or reparation order<sup>23</sup>, except an order made or which could have been made in his absence<sup>24</sup>; and (b) the dismissal of an application<sup>25</sup> to revoke an action plan order or reparation order<sup>26</sup>.

COMMUNITY REHABILITATION ORDERS, COMMUNITY PUNISHMENT ORDERS AND COMMUNITY PUNISHMENT AND REHABILITATION ORDERS/1370. Community rehabilitation orders.

(ii) Community Orders before 4 April 2009

A. COMMUNITY REHABILITATION ORDERS, COMMUNITY PUNISHMENT ORDERS AND COMMUNITY PUNISHMENT AND REHABILITATION ORDERS

1370. Community rehabilitation orders.

Until 4 April 2009 where a person aged 16 or 17 has been convicted of an offence the following provisions apply<sup>1</sup>. Where the court by or before which he is convicted is of the opinion that his supervision is desirable in the interests of securing his rehabilitation, or protecting the public from harm from him or preventing the commission by him of further offences, the court may<sup>2</sup> make a community rehabilitation order<sup>3</sup> requiring him to be under supervision for a period specified in the order of not less than six months nor more than three years<sup>4</sup>. If the offender is aged under 18 at the time when the community rehabilitation order is made, he must<sup>5</sup> be under the supervision of<sup>6</sup>:

- 1360 (1) an officer of a local probation board appointed for or assigned to the local justice area specified in the order<sup>7</sup>; or
- 1361 (2) a member of a youth offending team<sup>8</sup> established by a local authority specified in the order<sup>9</sup>.

A community rehabilitation order may in addition require the offender to comply during the whole or any part of the community rehabilitation period with such requirements as the court, having regard to the circumstances of the case, considers desirable in the interests of securing the rehabilitation of the offender or protecting the public from harm from him or preventing the commission by him of further offences<sup>10</sup>.

Before making a community rehabilitation order, the court must explain to the offender in ordinary language:

- 1362 (a) the effect of the order<sup>11</sup>;
- 1363 (b) the consequences which may follow<sup>12</sup> if he fails to comply with any of the requirements of the order; and
- 1364 (c) that the court has power<sup>13</sup> to review the order on the application either of the offender or of the responsible officer<sup>14</sup>.

On making a community rehabilitation order, the court may, if it thinks it expedient for the purpose of the offender's reformation, allow any person who consents to do so to give security for the good behaviour of the offender<sup>15</sup>.

If the offender is aged under 18, the court by which a community rehabilitation order is made must immediately give copies of the order to an officer of a local probation board or member of a youth offending team assigned to the court<sup>16</sup>. A copy must also be given to the offender, to the responsible officer and to the person in charge of any institution in which the offender is required by the order to reside<sup>17</sup>. The court by which such an order is made must also, except where it itself acts for the local justice area specified in the order, send to the justices' chief executive for that area a copy of the order, and such documents and information relating to the case as it considers likely to be of assistance to a court acting for that area in the exercise of its functions in relation to the order<sup>18</sup>.

The procedure enacted for dealing with failures to comply with the requirements of certain community orders, for revoking such orders with or without the substitution of other sentences and for amending such orders<sup>19</sup> has effect so far as it relates to community rehabilitation orders<sup>20</sup>.

1 The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 41-58 (see paras 1371-1377 post) are repealed by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 332, Sch 37 Pt 7. These repeals came into force on 4 April 2005 except in relation to a person aged 16 or 17 convicted of an offence (see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 8 and Transitional and Saving Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/950, art 2(1), Sch 1 paras 22, 44(1), (4)(r), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c)) and come fully into force on 4 April 2009 (see art 2(2), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c) (art 2(2) amended by SI 2007/391)). Likewise, as from 4 April 2009 the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (see note 3 infra) is substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 90, 125 and will only apply to curfew and exclusion orders (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 233).

2 The subject to the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 34-36 (repealed subject to savings in respect of offences committed before 4 April 2005: see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 8 and Transitional and Saving Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/950, Sch 2 para 5).

3 Until 1 April 2001, community rehabilitation orders were known as probation orders: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41; the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 43(3)(a); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 676. A community rehabilitation order is a 'relevant order' for the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 233 et seq): see Sch 3 para 1(1)(b) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 para 1(1), (2)). As to the breach of a requirement of the order see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 paras 3-9 (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 233-235. A community rehabilitation order may be revoked under Sch 3 paras 10-17 (as amended) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 236-238) and the circumstances in which such an order may be revoked include the offender's making good progress or his responding satisfactorily to supervision or, as the case may be, treatment: Sch 3 paras 10(3)(a), (4), 11(2)(a), (3) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 160, 199(1), (14)). Where a community rehabilitation order is in force, and no appeal against the order is pending, the court may, on application by the offender or the responsible officer, substitute the order for an order under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 12(1)(b) (see para 1289 ante): see Sch 3 para 12 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 1(1)(a), (2), 3(1)(a), (2), 160, 199(1), (16)-(18); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(b)).

A court may amend a community rehabilitation order:

3367 (1) on the application of the offender, the responsible officer or any affected person by cancelling or adding any requirements (see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 19 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 1(1)(a), (2), 3(1)(a), (2), 160, 199(1), (2), (17), (21); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(e)); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 239-241);

3368 (2) where the offender proposes to change, or has changed, his residence from one local justice area to another unless, in the opinion of the court, the order cannot then be complied with (see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 18 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 2(1)(a), (2), 3(1)(a), (2), 160, 199(1), (3), (20); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(b)); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 239-241).

A community rehabilitation order may be amended under head (1) supra where the medical practitioner or other person by whom or under whose direction an offender is, in pursuance of any requirement of a community rehabilitation order, being treated for his mental condition or his dependency on or propensity to misuse drugs or alcohol: (a) is of the opinion that the treatment of the offender should be continued beyond the period specified in that behalf in the order; that the offender needs different treatment; that the offender is not susceptible to treatment; or that the offender does not require further treatment; or (b) is for any reason unwilling to continue to treat or direct the treatment of the offender: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 20 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 160, 199(1), (16), (22); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(e)). As to supplementary provisions see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 paras 23, 24 (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 239-241.

4 Ibid s 41(1), (2) (s 41(2) amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 43(3)(a)). The Secretary of State may by order direct that the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(1) is to be amended by substituting, for the minimum or maximum period specified in that provision as originally enacted or as previously amended under s 45(1) (as amended), such period as may be specified in the order: s 45(1) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 1(1)(b), (2)). Such an order under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 45(1) (as amended) may make in Sch 3 para 19(2)(a) (as amended) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 239-241) any amendment which the Secretary of State thinks necessary in consequence of any substitution made by the order: s 45(2). As from a day to be appointed, s 45(2) is amended to provide that an order under s 45(1) (as amended) may make in Sch 3 para 2A(4), (5) (prospectively added) or Sch 3 para 19(2)(a) (as amended) any amendment which the Secretary of State thinks necessary in consequence of any substitution made by the order: s 45(2) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 160, 167). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante. A community rehabilitation order must specify the local justice area in which the offender resides or will reside: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(3) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 para 1(1)(a), (2)). Provision is made for the making and amendment in England and Wales of certain community orders relating to persons residing in Scotland or Northern Ireland: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 44 (as amended), Sch 4 (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS.

5 Ibid subject to ibid Sch 3 para 18 (as amended): see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 239-240.

6 Ibid s 41(5). If an order specifies a local authority for the purposes of head (2) in the text, the authority specified must be the local authority within whose area it appears to the court that the offender resides or will reside: s 41(5). Where the offender is aged 18 or over at the time when the community rehabilitation order is made, he must, subject to Sch 3 para 18 (offender's change of area) be required to be under the supervision of an officer of a local probation board appointed for or assigned to the local justice area specified in the order: s 41(4) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt 1 paras 1(1)(a), (2), 4(1)(a), (2); and Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 68(a)).

7 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(5)(a) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 4(1)(a), (2)).

8 As to youth offending teams see para 1306 ante.

9 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(5)(b).

10 Ibid s 42(1) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 1(1)(a), (2), 160, 166). Without prejudice to the power of the court under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 130 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 375 et seq) to make a compensation order, the payment of sums by way of such damages for injury or compensation for loss must not be included among the additional requirements of a community rehabilitation order: s 42(3) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 1(1)(a), (2)).

Without prejudice to the generality of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 42(1) (as amended) the additional requirements which may be included in a community rehabilitation order must include the requirements which are authorised by Sch 2 (repealed subject to savings): s 42(2)(a) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 49(1)(a), Sch 7 Pt I para 1(1)(a), (2)). Without prejudice to the generality of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 42(1) (as amended) and subject to s 42(2D), (2F) (as added), the order must, if the first set of conditions is satisfied, include a drug abstinence requirement and may include such a requirement if the second set of conditions is satisfied: s 42(2)(b) (added by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 49(1)(b)). For these purposes, a drug abstinence requirement is a requirement for the offender to abstain from misusing specified Class A drugs and to provide, when instructed to do so by the responsible officer, any sample mentioned in the instruction for the purpose of ascertaining whether he has any specified Class A drug in his body: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 42(2A) (s 42(2A)-(2F) added by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 49(1)(b)). The function of giving instructions for these purposes must be exercised in accordance with guidance given from time to time by the Secretary of State; and the Secretary of State may make rules for regulating the provision of samples in pursuance of such instructions: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 42(2E) (as so added).

The first set of conditions are that the offender was aged 18 or over on the date of his conviction for the offence; that, in the opinion of the court, the offender is dependent on or has a propensity to misuse specified Class A drugs; and that the offence is a trigger offence: s 42(2B) (as so added). The second set of conditions are that the offender was aged 18 or over on the date of his conviction for the offence; and that, in the opinion of the court the offender is dependent on or has a propensity to misuse specified Class A drugs and the misuse by the offender of any specified Class A drug caused or contributed to the offence: s 42(2C) (as so added).

The order may not include a drug abstinence requirement if the community rehabilitation order includes any requirement in respect of drugs under Sch 2 para 6 (repealed subject to savings) or the community sentence includes a drug treatment and testing order or a drug abstinence order: s 42(2D) (as so added). The court must not include a drug abstinence requirement in the order unless the court has been notified by the Secretary of State that arrangements for implementing such requirements are available in the area proposed to be specified under s 41(3) (as amended) (see note 4 supra) and the notice has not been withdrawn: s 42(2F) (as so added).

11 This must include any additional requirements proposed to be included in the order in accordance with ibid s 42 (as amended; prospectively further amended): see note 10 supra.

12 Ie under ibid Sch 3 Pt II (as amended; prospectively further amended): see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 233 et seq.

13 Ie under ibid Sch 3 Pt III (as amended; prospectively further amended) and Pt IV (as amended; prospectively further amended): see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 236 et seq.

14 Ibid s 41(7) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 4(1)(b), (2)). As from a day to be appointed, the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(7) (as amended) is further amended to provide that before making a community rehabilitation order, the court must explain to the offender in ordinary language:

3369 (1) the effect of the order (including any additional requirements proposed to be included in the order in accordance with s 42 (as amended; prospectively further amended) (see note 10 supra) (s 41(7)(a));

3370 (2) the consequences which may follow, under Sch 3 Pt II (as amended; prospectively further amended), if he fails to comply with any of the requirements of the order (s 41(7)(b)); and 3371 (3) that the court has power, under Sch 3 Pt III (as amended; prospectively further amended) and Sch 3 Pt IV (as amended; prospectively further amended), to review the order on the application of the offender, the responsible officer or any affected person (s 41(7)(c) (prospectively amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 160, 165(a)).

At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. For these purposes, 'responsible officer', in relation to an offender who is subject to a community rehabilitation order, means the officer of a local probation board or member of a youth offending team responsible for his supervision: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(6) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 4(1)(b), (2)). An offender in respect of whom a community rehabilitation order is made must keep in touch with the responsible officer in accordance with such instructions as he may from time to time be given by that officer, and must notify him of any change of address: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(11) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 1(1)(a), (2)). For these purposes, a person is an affected person in relation to a community rehabilitation order if:

3372 (a) requirements for securing the electronic monitoring of the offender's compliance with any other requirements imposed by the community order under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 36B(1) (prospectively added) are included in the order by virtue of his consent (s 41(12)(a) (prospectively added by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 Pt II paras 160, 165(c))); or

15 Ibid s 41(8) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 1(1)(a), (2)).

16 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(9)(b) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 1(1)(a), (2), 4(1)(a), (2)). As to the position where the offender is aged 18 or over see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(9)(a) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt 1 paras 1, 4).

17 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 41(9). As from a day to be appointed, the court by which such an order is made must give to any affected person any information relating to the order which the court considers it appropriate for him to have: s 41(9A) (added by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 160, 165(b)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

1370 Community rehabilitation orders

TEXT AND NOTES 1-18--2000 Act s 41(4)-(6), (9) further amended: SI 2008/912.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(ii) Community Orders before 4 April 2009/A. COMMUNITY REHABILITATION ORDERS, COMMUNITY PUNISHMENT ORDERS AND COMMUNITY PUNISHMENT AND REHABILITATION ORDERS/1371. Community punishment orders.

1371. Community punishment orders.

Until 4 April 2009 where a person aged 16 or 17 has been convicted of an offence the following provisions apply<sup>1</sup>. The offence is punishable with imprisonment, the court by or before which he is convicted may<sup>2</sup> make a community punishment order<sup>3</sup> requiring him to perform unpaid work<sup>4</sup>. The number of hours which a person may be required to work under a community punishment order must be specified in the order and must be in the aggregate<sup>5</sup> not less than 40<sup>6</sup>, and not more than 240<sup>7</sup>.

A court must not make a community punishment order in respect of an offender unless, after hearing (if the court thinks it necessary) an appropriate officer<sup>8</sup>, the court is satisfied that the offender is a suitable person to perform work under such an order<sup>9</sup>; nor may it make a community punishment order in respect of an offender unless it is satisfied that provision for him to perform work under such an order can be made under the arrangements for persons to perform work under such orders which exist in the local justice area in which he resides or will reside<sup>10</sup>.

Where a court makes community punishment orders in respect of two or more offences of which the offender has been convicted by or before the court, the court may direct that the hours of work specified in any of those orders are to be concurrent with or additional to those specified in any other of those orders, but so that the total number of hours which are not concurrent must not exceed the specified maximum<sup>11</sup>.

A community punishment order must specify the local justice area in which the offender resides or will reside, and where the offender is aged under 18 at the time the order is made, may also specify a local authority<sup>12</sup>; and if the order specifies a local authority for those purposes, the authority specified must be the local authority within whose area it appears to the court that the offender resides or will reside<sup>13</sup>.

Before making a community punishment order, the court must explain to the offender in ordinary language<sup>14</sup>:

- 1365 (1) the purpose and effect of the order<sup>15</sup>;
- 1366 (2) the consequences which may follow<sup>16</sup> if he fails to comply with any of those requirements<sup>17</sup>; and
- 1367 (3) that the court has power<sup>18</sup> to review the order on the application either of the offender or of the responsible officer<sup>19</sup>.

If the offender is aged under 18, the court by which a community punishment order is made must immediately give copies of the order to an officer of a local probation board or member of a youth offending team<sup>20</sup>. A copy must also be given to the offender and to the responsible officer<sup>21</sup>. The court by which such an order is made must also, except where it itself acts for the local justice area specified in the order, send to the justices' chief executive for that area a copy of the order, and such documents and information relating to the case as it considers likely to be of assistance to a court acting for that area in the exercise of its functions in relation to the order<sup>22</sup>.

1 The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 41-58 (see paras 1370 ante, 1372-1377 post) are repealed by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 332, Sch 37 Pt 7. These repeals came into force on 4 April 2005 except in relation to a person aged 16 or 17 convicted of an offence (see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 8 and Transitional and Saving Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/950, art 2(1), Sch 1 paras 22, 44(1), (4)(r), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c)) and come fully into force on 4 April 2009 (see art 2(2), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c) (art 2(2) amended by SI 2007/391)). Likewise, as from 4 April 2009 the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (see note 3 infra) is substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 90, 125 and will only apply to curfew and exclusion orders (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 231 et seq).

2 Is subject to the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 34-36 (repealed subject to savings in respect of offences committed before 4 April 2005: see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 8 and Transitional and Saving Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/950, Sch 2 para 5).

3 Until 1 April 2001, community punishment orders were known as community service orders: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 46 (as amended); the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 44(3)(a); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 196, 676. A community punishment order is a 'relevant order' for the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 233 et seq): see Sch 3 para 1(1)(c) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Service Act 2000 Sch 7 para 2(1), (2)). As to the breach of a requirement of the order see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 paras 3-9 (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 233-235. A community punishment order may be revoked under Sch 3 paras 10-17 (as amended): see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 236-238. The community punishment order may be amended where the offender proposes to change, or has changed, his residence from one local justice area to another unless, in the opinion of the court, the order cannot then be complied with: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 18 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 2(1)(a), (2), 3(1)(a), (2), 160, 199(1), (3), (20); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(b)); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 239-241. The court may extend a community punishment order on the application of the offender or the relevant officer if the court feels it would be in the interests of justice to do so: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 22 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 2(1)(a), (2), 3(1)(a), (2), 160, 199(1), (23); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(e)). As to supplementary provisions see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 paras 23, 24 (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 239-241.

5 Ibid s 46(3) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt 1 para 2(1)(a), (2)). The Secretary of State may by order direct that the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 46(3) (as amended) is to be further amended by substituting, for the maximum number of hours for the time being specified in s 46(3), such number of hours as may be specified in the order: s 50. At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante.

An offender in respect of whom a community punishment order<sup>2</sup> is in force must keep in touch with the responsible officer in accordance with such instructions as he may from time to time be given by that officer, and notify him of any change of address, and perform for the number of hours specified in the order such work at such times as he may be instructed by the responsible officer<sup>3</sup>. Such instructions given by the responsible officer must, as far as practicable, be such as to avoid any conflict with the offender's religious beliefs or with the requirements of any other community order to which he may be subject, and any interference with the times, if any, at which he normally works or attends school or any other educational establishment<sup>4</sup>. Subject to the provisions relating to the power to extend a community punishment order<sup>5</sup>, the work required to be performed under a community punishment order must be performed during the period of 12 months beginning with the date of the order, but, unless revoked, the order remains in force until the offender has worked under it for the number of hours specified in it<sup>6</sup>.

If the offender is aged under 18 at the time when the community punishment order is made, the functions conferred on the responsible officer<sup>7</sup> must be discharged by an officer of a local probation board appointed for or assigned to the local justice area specified in the order, or a member of a youth offending team<sup>8</sup> established by a local authority specified in the order<sup>9</sup>.

1370-1373 Community Rehabilitation Orders, Community Punishment Orders and Community Punishment and Rehabilitation Orders

Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 repealed: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 28 Pt 1.

1372 Obligations of person subject to community punishment order

NOTE 9--2000 Act s 47(4) further amended: SI 2008/912.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(ii) Community Orders before 4 April 2009/A. COMMUNITY REHABILITATION ORDERS, COMMUNITY PUNISHMENT ORDERS AND COMMUNITY PUNISHMENT AND REHABILITATION ORDERS/1373. Community punishment and rehabilitation orders.

1373. Community punishment and rehabilitation orders.

Until 4 April 2009 where a person aged 16 or 17 has been convicted of an offence the following provisions apply<sup>1</sup>. Where a person aged 16 or over is convicted of an offence punishable with imprisonment and the court by or before which he is convicted is of the opinion that the making of a community punishment and rehabilitation order<sup>2</sup> is desirable in the interests of securing the rehabilitation of the offender, or protecting the public from harm from him or preventing the commission by him of further offences, the court may<sup>3</sup> make such an order requiring him both:

- 1368 (1) to be under supervision for a period specified in the order, being not less than 12 months nor more than three years; and
- 1369 (2) to perform unpaid work for a number of hours so specified, being in the aggregate not less than 40 nor more than 100<sup>4</sup>.

Certain of the provisions relating to community rehabilitation orders and community punishment orders<sup>5</sup> apply, in relation to community punishment and rehabilitation orders<sup>6</sup> in so far as those orders impose such a requirement as is mentioned in head (1) above, as if they were community rehabilitation orders; and apply, in so far as they impose such a requirement as is mentioned in head (2) above, as if they were community punishment orders<sup>7</sup>. In addition, the provisions for dealing with failures to comply with the requirements of certain community orders, for revoking such orders with or without the substitution of other sentences, and for amending such orders<sup>8</sup>, have effect in relation to community punishment and rehabilitation orders<sup>9</sup>. Further, the provisions for and in connection with the making and amendment in England and Wales of certain community orders relating to persons residing in Scotland or Northern Ireland have effect in relation to community punishment and rehabilitation orders<sup>10</sup>.

1 The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 41-58 (see paras 1370-1372 ante, 1374-1377 post) are repealed by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 332, Sch 37 Pt 7. These repeals came into force on 4 April 2005 except in relation to a person aged 16 or 17 convicted of an offence (see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 8 and Transitional and Saving Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/950, art 2(1), Sch 1 paras 22, 44(1), (4)(r), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c)) and come fully into force on 4 April 2009 (see art 2(2), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c) (art 2(2) amended by SI 2007/391)). Likewise, as from 4 April 2009 the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (see note 2 infra) is substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 90, 125 and will only apply to curfew and exclusion orders (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 231 et seq).

2 Until 1 April 2001, community punishment and rehabilitation orders were known as combination orders: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 51(2) (as amended); the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 45(3)(a); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 167. A community punishment and rehabilitation order is a 'relevant order' for the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 233 et seq): see Sch 3 para 1(1)(d) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para 3(1), (2)). As to the breach of a requirement of the order see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 paras 3-9 (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 233-235. A community punishment and rehabilitation order may be revoked under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 paras 10-17 (as amended) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 236-238) and the circumstances in which such an order may be revoked must include the offender's making good progress or his responding satisfactorily to supervision or, as the case may be, treatment: Sch 3 paras 10(3)(a), (4), 11(2)(a), (3) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 160, 199(1), (14)). Where a community punishment and rehabilitation order is in force, and no appeal against the order is pending, the court may, on application by the offender or the responsible officer, substitute the order for an order under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 12(1)(b) (see para 1289 ante): see Sch 3 para 12 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 1(1)(a), (2), 3(1)(a), (2), 160, 199(1), (16)-(18); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(b)).

A court may amend a community punishment and rehabilitation order:

3374 (1) on the application of the offender, the responsible officer or any affected person by cancelling or adding any requirements (see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 19 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 1(1)(a), (2), 3(1)(a), (2), 160, 199(1), (2), (17), (21); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(e)); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 239-241);

3375 (2) where the offender proposes to change, or has changed, his residence from one local justice area to another unless, in the opinion of the court, the order cannot then be complied with (see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 18 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 2(1)(a), (2), 3(1)(a), (2), 160, 199(1), (3), (20); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(b)); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 239).

A community punishment and rehabilitation order may be amended under head (1) supra where the medical practitioner or other person by whom or under whose direction an offender is, in pursuance of any requirement of a community punishment and rehabilitation order, being treated for his mental condition or his dependency on or propensity to misuse drugs or alcohol: (a) is of the opinion that the treatment of the offender should be continued beyond the period specified in that behalf in the order; that the offender needs different treatment; that the offender is not susceptible to treatment; or that the offender does not require further treatment; or (b) is for any reason unwilling to continue to treat or direct the treatment of the offender: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 20 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 160, 199(1), (16), (22); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(e)). The court may extend a community punishment order on the application of the offender or the relevant officer if the court feels it would be in the interests of justice to do so: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 22 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 2(1)(a), (2), 3(1)(a), (2), 160, 199(1), (23); and the Courts Act 2003 (Consequential Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/886, art 2, Schedule para 82(e)). 1370-1373 Community Rehabilitation Orders, Community Punishment Orders and Community Punishment and Rehabilitation Orders

Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 repealed: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 28 Pt 1.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(ii) Community Orders before 4 April 2009/B. DRUG AND ALCOHOL TREATMENT AND TESTING/1374. Drug treatment and testing orders.

B. DRUG AND ALCOHOL TREATMENT AND TESTING

1374. Drug treatment and testing orders.

Until 4 April 2009 where a person aged 16 or 17 has been convicted of an offence the following provisions apply<sup>1</sup>. The court by or before which he is convicted may make a drug treatment and testing order<sup>2</sup> which:

- 1370 (1) has effect for a period specified in the order of not less than six months nor more than three years ('the treatment and testing period')<sup>3</sup>; and
- 1371 (2) includes the specified requirements and provisions<sup>4</sup>.

A court must not make a drug treatment and testing order in respect of an offender unless it is satisfied that he is dependent on or has a propensity to misuse drugs, and that his dependency or propensity is such as requires and may be susceptible to treatment<sup>5</sup>. For the purpose of ascertaining<sup>6</sup> whether the offender has any drug in his body, the court may by order require him to provide samples of such description as it may specify, but the court must not make such an order unless the offender expresses his willingness to comply with its requirements<sup>7</sup>.

A court must not make a drug treatment and testing order unless:

- 1372 (a) it has been notified by the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup> that arrangements for implementing such orders are available in the area proposed to be specified in the order<sup>9</sup> and the notice has not been withdrawn<sup>10</sup>; and
- 1373 (b) the offender expresses his willingness to comply with its requirements<sup>11</sup>.

Before making a drug treatment and testing order, the court must explain to the offender in ordinary language:

- 1374 (i) the effect of the order and of the requirements proposed to be included in it<sup>12</sup>;
- 1375 (ii) the consequences which may follow<sup>13</sup> if he fails to comply with any of those requirements<sup>14</sup>;
- 1376 (iii) that the order will be periodically reviewed at intervals as provided for in the order<sup>15</sup>; and
- 1377 (iv) that the order may be reviewed<sup>16</sup> on the application either of the offender or of the responsible officer<sup>17</sup>.

The procedure enacted for dealing with failures to comply with the requirements of certain community orders, for revoking such orders with or without the substitution of other sentences, and for amending such orders<sup>18</sup>, has effect so far as it relates to drug treatment and testing orders<sup>19</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 41-58 (see paras 1370-1373 ante, 1375-1377 post) are repealed by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 332, Sch 37 Pt 7. These repeals came into force on 4 April 2005 except in relation to a person aged 16 or 17 convicted of an offence (see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 8 and Transitional and Saving Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/950, art 2(1), Sch 1 paras 22, 44(1), (4)(r), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c)) and come fully into force on 4 April 2009 (see art 2(2), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c) (art 2(2) amended by SI 2007/391)). Likewise, as from 4 April 2009 the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (see note 2 infra) is substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 Pt 1 paras 90, 125 and will only apply to curfew and exclusion orders (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 231 et seq).

2     Ie subject to the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 34-36 (repealed subject to savings in respect of offences committed before 4 April 2005: see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 8 and Transitional and Saving Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/950, Sch 2 para 5). A drug treatment and testing order is a 'relevant order' for the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 233 et seq): see Sch 3 para 1(1)(e). As to the breach of a requirement of the order see Sch 3 paras 3-9 (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 233-235. A drug treatment and testing order may be revoked under Sch 3 paras 10-17 (as amended) (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 236-238) and the circumstances in which such an order may be revoked include the offender's making good progress or his responding satisfactorily to supervision or, as the case may be, treatment: Sch 3 paras 10(3)(a), (4), 11(2)(a), (3) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 paras 160, 199(1), (14)). A court may vary or cancel any of the requirements or provisions of a drug treatment and testing order on the application of the responsible officer where the treatment provider is of the opinion that the order should be varied or cancelled and has provided a written report to that effect: see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 para 21 (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 Sch 7 para s 160, 199(1), (19)). As to supplementary provisions see the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 Sch 3 paras 23, 24 (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 239-241.

4     Ibid s 52(1), (2)(b). The specified requirements and provisions are those mentioned in ss 53, 54 (as amended): see paras 1375-1376 post. The Secretary of State may by order amend s 52(1) by substituting a different period for the minimum or maximum period for the time being specified therein: s 58. As to the Secretary of State see para 155 ante. NOTE 4--2000 Act s 57 further amended: SI 2008/912.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(ii) Community Orders before 4 April 2009/B. DRUG AND ALCOHOL TREATMENT AND TESTING/1375. Drug treatment and testing requirements.

1375. Drug treatment and testing requirements.

Until 4 April 2009 where a person aged 16 or 17 has been convicted of an offence the following provisions apply<sup>1</sup>. A drug treatment and testing order<sup>2</sup> must include a requirement ('the treatment requirement') that the offender must submit, during the whole of the treatment and testing period, to treatment by or under the direction of a specified person having the necessary qualifications or experience ('the treatment provider') with a view to the reduction or elimination of the offender's dependency on or propensity to misuse drugs<sup>3</sup>. The required treatment for any particular period must be:

- 1378 (1) treatment as a resident in such institution or place as may be specified in the order<sup>4</sup>; or
- 1379 (2) treatment as a non-resident in or at such institution or place, and at such intervals, as may be so specified<sup>5</sup>.

However, the nature of the treatment must not be specified in the order except as mentioned in head (1) or head (2) above<sup>6</sup>.

A court must not make a drug treatment and testing order unless it is satisfied that arrangements have been or can be made for the treatment intended to be specified in the order (including arrangements for the reception of the offender where he is to be required to submit to treatment as a resident)<sup>7</sup>. A drug treatment and testing order must include a requirement ('the testing requirement') that, for the purpose of ascertaining whether he has any drug in his body during the treatment and testing period, the offender must during that period, at such times or in such circumstances as may (subject to the provisions of the order) be determined by the treatment provider, provide samples of such description as may be so determined<sup>8</sup>. The testing requirement must specify for each month the minimum number of occasions on which samples are to be provided<sup>9</sup>.

1 The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 41-58 (see paras 1370-1374 ante, 1376-1377 post) are repealed by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 332, Sch 37 Pt 7. ### 1376. Provisions of drug treatment and testing orders as to supervision and periodic review.

Until 4 April 2009 where a person aged 16 or 17 has been convicted of an offence the following provisions apply<sup>1</sup>. A drug treatment and testing order<sup>2</sup> must include a provision specifying the local justice area in which it appears to the court making the order that the offender resides or will reside<sup>3</sup>. A drug treatment and testing order must provide that, for the treatment and testing period, the offender is to be under the supervision of an officer of a local probation board appointed for or assigned to the local justice area specified in the order<sup>4</sup>. Such supervision by the responsible officer<sup>5</sup> must be carried out to such extent only as may be necessary for the purpose of enabling him<sup>6</sup>:

- 1380 (1) to report on the offender's progress to the court responsible for the order<sup>7</sup>;
- 1381 (2) to report to that court any failure by the offender to comply with the requirements of the order<sup>8</sup>; and
- 1382 (3) to determine whether the circumstances are such that he should apply to that court for the revocation or amendment of the order<sup>9</sup>.

A drug treatment and testing order must:

- 1383 (a) require the offender to keep in touch with the responsible officer in accordance with such instructions as he may from time to time be given by that officer, and to notify him of any change of address<sup>10</sup>;
- 1384 (b) provide that the results of the tests carried out on the samples provided by the offender in pursuance of the testing requirement are to be communicated to the responsible officer<sup>11</sup>;
- 1385 (c) provide for the order to be reviewed periodically at intervals of not less than one month<sup>12</sup>;
- 1386 (d) provide for each review of the order to be made<sup>13</sup>, at a hearing held for the purpose, by the court responsible for the order (a 'review hearing')<sup>14</sup>;
- 1387 (e) require the offender to attend each review hearing<sup>15</sup>;
- 1388 (f) provide for the responsible officer to make to the court responsible for the order, before each review, a report in writing on the offender's progress under the order<sup>16</sup>; and
- 1389 (g) provide for each such report to include the test results communicated to the responsible officer under head (b) above and the views of the treatment provider as to the treatment and testing of the offender<sup>17</sup>.

1 The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 41-58 (see para 1370-1375 ante, 1377 post) are repealed by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 332, Sch 37 Pt 7. These repeals came into force on 4 April 2005 except in relation to a person aged 16 or 17 convicted of an offence (see the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (Commencement No 8 and Transitional and Saving Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/950, art 2(1), Sch 1 paras 22, 44(1), (4)(r), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c)) and come fully into force on 4 April 2009 (see art 2(2), Sch 2 paras 7, 8, 12, 13(a), (c) (art 2(2) amended by SI 2007/391)).

1376 Provisions of drug treatment and testing orders as to supervision and periodic review

TEXT AND NOTE 4--2000 Act s 54(2) further amended: SI 2008/912.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(ii) Community Orders before 4 April 2009/B. DRUG AND ALCOHOL TREATMENT AND TESTING/1377. Periodic reviews.

1377. Periodic reviews.

Until 4 April 2009 where a person aged 16 or 17 has been convicted of an offence the following provisions apply<sup>1</sup>. At a review hearing<sup>2</sup> the court may, after considering the responsible officer's report<sup>3</sup>, amend any requirement or provision of the drug treatment and testing order<sup>4</sup>. The court:

- 1390 (1) must not amend the treatment or testing requirement unless the offender expresses his willingness to comply with the requirement as amended<sup>5</sup>;
- 1391 (2) must not amend any provision of the order so as to reduce the treatment and testing period below the minimum specified<sup>6</sup>, or to increase it above the maximum so specified<sup>7</sup>; and
- 1392 (3) except with the consent of the offender, must not amend any requirement or provision of the order while an appeal against the order is pending<sup>8</sup>.

If the offender fails to express his willingness to comply with the treatment or testing requirement as proposed to be amended by the court, the court may<sup>9</sup>:

- 1393 (a) revoke the order<sup>10</sup>; and
- 1394 (b) deal with him, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which it could deal with him if he had just been convicted by the court of the offence<sup>11</sup>.

In dealing with the offender under head (b) above, the court must take into account the extent to which the offender has complied with the requirements of the order, and may impose a custodial sentence (where the order was made in respect of an offence punishable with such a sentence)<sup>12</sup>.

Where the order was made by a magistrates' court in the case of an offender under 18 years of age in respect of an offence triable only on indictment<sup>13</sup> in the case of an adult, any powers exercisable under head (b) above in respect of the offender after he attains the age of 18 are powers to do either or both of the following<sup>14</sup>:

- 1395 (i) to impose a fine not exceeding a stated amount<sup>15</sup> for the offence in respect of which the order was made<sup>16</sup>; or
- 1396 (ii) to deal with the offender for that offence in any way in which the court could deal with him if it had just convicted him of an offence punishable with imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months<sup>17</sup>.

If at a review hearing the court, after considering the responsible officer's report, is of the opinion that the offender's progress under the order is satisfactory, the court may so amend the order as to provide for each subsequent review to be made by the court without a hearing<sup>18</sup>. If at a review without a hearing the court<sup>19</sup>, after considering the responsible officer's report, is of the opinion that the offender's progress under the order is no longer satisfactory, the court may require the offender to attend a hearing of the court at a specified time and place<sup>20</sup>. At that hearing the court, after considering that report, may exercise its powers<sup>21</sup> as if the hearing were a review hearing, and so amend the order as to provide for each subsequent review to be made at a review hearing<sup>22</sup>.

1 The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 41-58 (see para 1370-1376 ante) are repealed by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 332, Sch 37 Pt 7. ### (iii) Community Orders after 4 April 2009

1379. General provisions.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. A community order<sup>2</sup> must specify a date by which all the requirements in it must have been complied with, not more than three years after the date of the offence<sup>3</sup>. Before making a community order imposing two or more different requirements, the court must consider whether the requirements are compatible with each other<sup>4</sup>. All community orders must specify the local justice area in which the offender resides<sup>5</sup>. The court must ensure, so far as practicable, that any requirement imposed by a relevant order is such as to avoid any conflict with the offender's religious beliefs or with the requirements of any other relevant order to which he may be subject<sup>6</sup> and any interference with the times, if any, at which he normally works or attends school or any other educational establishment<sup>7</sup>. The court which makes the relevant order must provide copies to the offender and to an officer of the local probation board assigned to the court or a member of a youth offending team<sup>8</sup>.

An offender must keep in touch with the responsible officer in accordance with such instructions as he may from time to time be given by that officer and must notify him of any change of address<sup>9</sup>.

Where the court makes a community order imposing an unpaid work requirement, an activity requirement, a programme requirement, a prohibited activity requirement, a residence requirement, a mental health treatment requirement, a drug rehabilitation requirement, an alcohol treatment requirement, a supervision requirement or an attendance centre requirement, the court may also impose an electronic monitoring requirement unless prevented from doing so<sup>10</sup>.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. A court must not impose an unpaid work requirement unless the court is satisfied that the offender is a suitable person to perform work under such a requirement<sup>10</sup> and that provision for the offender to work under such a requirement can be made in the local justice area in which he resides or will reside<sup>11</sup>.

An activity requirement in relation to a community order, a custody plus order<sup>4</sup>, a suspended sentence order<sup>5</sup> or an intermittent custody order<sup>6</sup> means a requirement that the offender must do either or both of the following:

- 1397 (1) present himself to a specified person or persons at either a community rehabilitation centre, or a place that has been approved for such purposes by the local probation board, for a specified number of days<sup>7</sup>;
- 1398 (2) participate in specified activities for a specified number of days<sup>8</sup>.

A court must not include an activity requirement unless: (a) the court is satisfied that provision for the offender to participate in the proposed activities can be made in the local justice area in which he resides or will reside<sup>9</sup>; or (b) in the case of an offender aged under 18, either an officer of a local probation board or a member of a youth offending team<sup>10</sup> has been consulted and is satisfied that it is feasible to secure compliance with the requirement<sup>11</sup>; and (c) where compliance with the requirement would involve the co-operation of a person other than the offender and the offender's responsible officer, that other person consents to its inclusion<sup>12</sup>.

1384. Curfew requirement.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. Where an offender aged 16 or over is convicted of an offence the court may make a community order<sup>2</sup> imposing on him a curfew requirement<sup>3</sup>. A curfew requirement in relation to a community order, a custody plus order<sup>4</sup>, a suspended sentence order<sup>5</sup> or an intermittent custody order<sup>6</sup> means a requirement that the offender remain for specified periods at a specified place<sup>7</sup>.

A curfew requirement may specify different places or different periods for different days, but must not specify:

- 1399 (1) periods which amount to less than two hours or more than twelve hours in any one day<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1400 (2) periods which fall outside the period of six months beginning with the day on which it is made<sup>9</sup>.

Before making a relevant order imposing a curfew requirement, the court must obtain and consider information about the place proposed to be specified in the order including information as to the attitude of persons likely to be affected by the enforced presence there of the offender<sup>10</sup>.

Where the court makes a community order imposing a curfew requirement, the court must also impose an electronic monitoring requirement<sup>11</sup> unless it is prevented from doing so<sup>12</sup> or, in the particular circumstances of the case, it considers it inappropriate to do so<sup>13</sup>.

The Secretary of State may by order amend the number of hours or periods of time which can be specified in a curfew requirement<sup>14</sup>.

1385. Exclusion requirement.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. Where an offender aged 16 or over is convicted of an offence the court may make a community order<sup>2</sup> imposing on him an exclusion requirement<sup>3</sup>. An exclusion requirement in relation to a community order, a custody plus order<sup>4</sup>, a suspended sentence order<sup>5</sup> or an intermittent custody order<sup>6</sup> means a requirement which prohibits an offender from entering a specified place or places<sup>7</sup> or area<sup>8</sup> during a period specified in the order, lasting for no more than two years<sup>9</sup>. ### 1386. Residence requirement.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. Where an offender aged 16 or over is convicted of an offence the court may make a community order<sup>2</sup> imposing on him a residence requirement<sup>3</sup>. A residence requirement in relation to a community order, a custody plus order<sup>4</sup>, a suspended sentence order<sup>5</sup> or an intermittent custody order<sup>6</sup> means a requirement that, during a period specified in the relevant order, the offender must reside at a specified place<sup>7</sup>. However, a residence requirement does not necessarily prohibit the offender from residing, with the prior approval of the responsible officer<sup>8</sup>, at a place other than the specified place<sup>9</sup>. The court may not specify a hostel or other institution as the place where an offender must reside, except on the recommendation of an officer of a local probation board<sup>10</sup>. Before including a residence requirement in an order the court must consider the home surroundings of the offender<sup>11</sup>.

1387. Mental health treatment requirement.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. Where an offender aged 16 or over is convicted of an offence the court may make a community order<sup>2</sup> imposing on him a mental health treatment requirement<sup>3</sup>. A mental health treatment requirement in relation to a community order or a suspended sentence order<sup>4</sup> means a requirement that the offender must submit, during a specified period or periods, to treatment by or under the direction of a registered medical practitioner or a chartered psychologist (or both, for different periods) with a view to the improvement of the offender's mental condition<sup>5</sup>.

Such treatment must be either:

- 1401 (1) treatment as a resident patient in an independent hospital or care home<sup>6</sup>;
- 1402 (2) treatment as a non-resident patient at such an institution or specified place<sup>7</sup>;
- or
- 1403 (3) treatment by or under the direction of such registered medical practitioner or chartered psychologist (or both) as may be so specified<sup>8</sup>.

Before inserting a mental health requirement, the court must be satisfied: (a) that the mental condition of the offender is such as requires and may be susceptible to treatment<sup>9</sup>, but is not so as to warrant the making of a hospital order or guardianship order<sup>10</sup>; (b) arrangements have been or can be made for the treatment intended to be specified in the order<sup>11</sup>; and (c) the offender is willing to comply with the requirement<sup>12</sup>.

1387 Mental health treatment requirement

TEXT AND NOTES 1-8--References to chartered psychologist replaced by references to registered psychologist; see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 278.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(iii) Community Orders after 4 April 2009/1388. Drug rehabilitation requirement.

1388. Drug rehabilitation requirement.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. Where an offender aged 16 or over is convicted of an offence the court may make a community order<sup>2</sup> imposing on him a drug rehabilitation treatment requirement<sup>3</sup>. A drug rehabilitation treatment requirement in relation to a community order or a suspended sentence order<sup>4</sup> means a requirement that during a specified period of at least six months<sup>5</sup> ('the treatment and testing period'), the offender:

- 1404 (1) must submit to treatment by or under the direction of a specified person<sup>6</sup> with a view to the reduction or elimination of the offender's dependency on or propensity to misuse drugs<sup>7</sup>; and
- 1405 (2) for the purpose of ascertaining whether he has any drug in his body during that period, must provide samples of such description as may be so determined<sup>8</sup>.

A court may impose a drug rehabilitation requirement in respect of an offender where it is satisfied:

- 1406 (a) that he is dependent on or has a propensity to misuse drugs<sup>9</sup> and that his dependency or propensity may be susceptible to treatment<sup>10</sup>;
- 1407 (b) arrangements have been or can be made for the treatment intended to be specified in the order<sup>11</sup>;
- 1408 (c) the requirement has been recommended, in the case of an offender aged under 18, by a probation officer or youth offending team<sup>12</sup>; and
- 1409 (d) the offender is willing to comply with its requirements<sup>13</sup>.

The required treatment may be as a resident or non-resident at a specified institution or place<sup>14</sup>. A community order imposing a drug rehabilitation requirement must provide for test results of any samples provided by the offender in pursuance of the requirement to be communicated to the responsible officer<sup>15</sup>.

A drug rehabilitation requirement may (and must if the treatment and testing period is more than 12 months) provide for reviews to be held by the court responsible for the order and require the offender to attend each review hearing<sup>16</sup>. The responsible officer will provide a written report, which will include the results of the offender's drug tests<sup>17</sup>.

At the review hearing, the court may, after considering the responsible officer's report, amend the community order or suspended sentence order, so far as it relates to the drug rehabilitation requirement<sup>18</sup>, provided:

- 1410 (i) the offender is willing to comply with the amendments<sup>19</sup>;
- 1411 (ii) the period of drug rehabilitation requirement is not amended to less than the period of six months<sup>20</sup>;
- 1412 (iii) no appeal is pending, unless the offender consents to the amendment<sup>21</sup>.

If the offender fails to express his willingness to comply with the proposed amended drug rehabilitation requirement, the court may revoke the community order or suspended sentence and deal with him in any way in which he could have been dealt with had the order not been made<sup>22</sup>, taking account of the extent of compliance by the offender, and may impose a custodial sentence<sup>23</sup>. If the offender's progress is satisfactory, the court can state that in future, reviews can be on paper without the offender attending<sup>24</sup>, although this requirement may be re-imposed if the offender's progress then becomes unsatisfactory<sup>25</sup>.

1389. Alcohol treatment requirement.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. Where an offender aged 16 or over is convicted of an offence the court may make a community order<sup>2</sup> imposing on him an alcohol treatment requirement<sup>3</sup>. An alcohol treatment requirement in relation to a community order or a suspended sentence order<sup>4</sup> means a requirement that during a specified period of at least six months<sup>5</sup> the offender must submit to treatment<sup>6</sup> by or under the direction of a specified person<sup>7</sup> with a view to the reduction or elimination of the offender's dependency on alcohol<sup>8</sup>.

A court may impose an alcohol treatment requirement where it is satisfied:

- 1413 (1) that the offender is dependent on alcohol and that his dependency may be susceptible to treatment<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1414 (2) that arrangements have been made or can be made for his treatment<sup>10</sup>.

However, a court may not impose an alcohol treatment requirement unless the offender expresses his willingness to comply with its requirements<sup>11</sup>.

1390. Supervision requirement.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. Where an offender aged 16 or over is convicted of an offence the court may make a community order<sup>2</sup> imposing on him a supervision requirement<sup>3</sup>. A supervision requirement in relation to a community order, a custody plus order<sup>4</sup>, a suspended sentence order<sup>5</sup> or an intermittent custody order<sup>6</sup> means a requirement that, during the relevant period, the offender must attend appointments with the responsible officer<sup>7</sup> or another person determined by the responsible officer, at such time and place as may be determined by the officer<sup>8</sup>, the purpose being to promote the offender's rehabilitation<sup>9</sup> during the full duration of the community sentence<sup>10</sup>.

1391. Attendance centre requirement.

As from 4 April 2009 the following provisions apply where a person aged 16 or 17 is convicted of an offence<sup>1</sup>. Where an offender aged 25 or under is convicted of an offence the court may make a community order<sup>2</sup> imposing on him an attendance centre requirement<sup>3</sup>. An attendance centre requirement in relation to a community order, a custody plus order<sup>4</sup>, a suspended sentence order<sup>5</sup> or an intermittent custody order<sup>6</sup> means a requirement that the offender must attend at an attendance centre specified in the relevant order for such number of hours as may be so specified<sup>7</sup>. The aggregate number of hours for which the offender may be required to attend at an attendance centre must not be less than 12 or more than 36<sup>8</sup> and may not be for more than one occasion on any day, or for more than three hours on any occasion<sup>9</sup>.

The court may not impose an attendance centre requirement unless the court is satisfied that the attendance centre to be specified in it is reasonably accessible to the offender concerned, having regard to the means of access available to him and any other circumstances<sup>10</sup>.

1392. Breach of community orders.

If the responsible officer<sup>1</sup> is of the opinion that the offender has failed without reasonable excuse to comply with any of the requirements of a community order<sup>2</sup>, the officer must give him a warning describing the circumstances of the failure, and stating that such failure is unacceptable and that he will be brought before a court if within 12 months he again fails to comply<sup>3</sup>. Where such a warning has been given and the officer is of the opinion, at any time within the 12 months beginning with the date on which it was given, that the offender has since that date failed to comply with the requirements without reasonable excuse, the officer must cause an information to be laid before a justice of the peace or the Crown Court (as appropriate)<sup>4</sup>. If at any time while a community order is in force it appears on information to a justice of the peace or the Crown Court (as appropriate) that the offender has failed to comply with any of the requirements of the order, a summons may be issued requiring the offender to appear at the place and time specified in it, or, if the information is in writing and on oath, a warrant for his arrest may be issued<sup>5</sup>.

If it is proved to the satisfaction of the magistrates' court or Crown Court (as appropriate) before which an offender appears or is brought that he has failed without reasonable excuse to comply with any of the requirements of the community order<sup>6</sup>, the court must deal with him in respect of the failure in any one of the following ways:

- 1415 (1) by amending the community order so as to impose more onerous requirements<sup>7</sup>;
- 1416 (2) by dealing with him, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which the court could deal with him if he had just been convicted by it of the offence<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1417 (3) by dealing with him, where the offence in respect of which the order was made was not an offence punishable by imprisonment and the offender is aged 18 to 21 and has wilfully and persistently failed to comply with the requirements of the order, by imposing a sentence of detention in a young offender institution for a term not exceeding six months<sup>9</sup>.

The court must take into account the extent to which the offender has complied with the requirements of the community order<sup>10</sup>.

3 See the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 179, Sch 8 para 5(1), (2); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 176. A warning is not issued where a previous warning has been issued within 12 months or an information has been laid before a justice of the peace or the Crown Court as appropriate in respect of the failure in question: see Sch 8 para 5(1); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 176.

5 See ibid Sch 8 paras 7(1), (2), 8(1), (2); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 177.

6 Reasonable refusal to undergo any surgical, electrical or other treatment when under a mental health treatment requirement, a drug rehabilitation requirement or an alcohol treatment requirement is not treated for the purposes of ibid Sch 8 paras 9, 10 as failure to comply with that requirement: see Sch 8 para 11; and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 178-179.

7 See ibid Sch 8 paras 9(1)(a), 10(1)(a); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 178-179. The court may extend the duration of particular requirements (subject to any limit imposed by Pt 12 Ch 4) but may not extend the period specified under s 177(5) (see para 1379 ante): see Sch 8 paras 9(3), 10(3); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 178-179.

8 See ibid Sch 8 paras 9(1)(b), 10(1)(b); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 178-179. The court may impose a custodial sentence where the order was made in respect of an offence punishable with such a sentence and the offender has wilfully and persistently failed to comply with the requirements of the community order: see Sch 8 paras 9(4), 10(4); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 178-179. Where the court deals with an offender under head (2) or head (3) in the text, the community order must be revoked: see Sch 8 paras 9(5), 10(5); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 178-179. Where a community order was made by a magistrates' court in the case of an offender under 18 years of age in respect of an offence triable only on indictment in the case of an adult, any powers exercisable under Sch 8 para 9(1)(b) in respect of the offender after he attains 18 are powers to impose a fine or to deal with him for that offence in any way the magistrates' court could deal with him if it had just convicted him of an offence punishable with imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months: see Sch 8 para 12; and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 178. Reasonable refusal to undergo any surgical, electrical or other treatment when under a mental health treatment requirement, a drug rehabilitation requirement or an alcohol treatment requirement is not treated for the purposes of Sch 8 paras 9, 10 as failure to comply with that requirement: see Sch 8 para 11; and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 178-179.

9 See ibid Sch 8 paras 9(1)(c), 10(1)(c) (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 178-179. See note 8 supra.

1392 Breach of community orders

NOTE 8--Criminal Justice Act 2003 Sch 8 para12 repealed: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 Sch 4 para 96, Sch 28 Pt 1.

1393. Revocation of community orders.

If, on the application of the offender or the responsible officer<sup>1</sup>, it appears to the appropriate magistrates' court or Crown Court that, having regard to circumstances which have arisen since the order was made, it would be in the interests of justice for the order to be revoked, or for the offender to be dealt with in some other way for the offence in respect of which the order was made, the court may revoke the order or revoke the order and deal with the offender, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which it could deal with him if he had just been convicted by the court of the offence<sup>2</sup>. The circumstances in which a community order may be revoked include the offender making good progress or responding satisfactorily to supervision or treatment<sup>3</sup>.

2 See the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 179, Sch 8 paras 13(1), (2), 14(1), (2); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 180-181.

1394. Amendment of community orders.

Where the offender has changed residence, the court may (and, on the application of the responsible officer<sup>1</sup>, must) amend the community order<sup>2</sup> by substituting the other local justice area for the area specified in the order<sup>3</sup>. However, if in the courts opinion the requirements cannot be complied with unless the offender continues to reside in the local justice area concerned the court may either cancel those requirements or substitute requirements that can be complied with<sup>4</sup>.

The appropriate court may also amend the community order on the application of the offender or the responsible officer, by cancelling any of the requirements of the order, or by replacing any of those requirements with a requirement of the same kind which the court could include if it were then making the order<sup>5</sup>. However, where this applies to a mental health treatment requirement, a drug rehabilitation requirement or an alcohol treatment requirement, the requirement may not be amended unless the offender is willing to comply with the amendments<sup>6</sup>. Such a requirement may be revoked or the offender may be dealt with, in respect of the offence of which the order was made, in any way in which he could have been dealt with for that offence by the court which made the order if the order had not been made<sup>7</sup>.

Powers also exist to revoke the community order and deal with the original offence where there has been a subsequent conviction<sup>8</sup>.

UPDATE

1395 Fines

Material relating to this part has been revised and published under the title SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 139 et seq.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/(5) COMMUNITY ORDERS/(iv) Financial Orders/1396. Compensation orders.

(iv) Financial Orders

1396. Compensation orders.

A court by or before which a person is convicted of an offence has the power to make a compensation order against that person<sup>1</sup> instead of dealing with him in any other way, save for serious offences<sup>2</sup> in which case the power is in addition to other sentencing powers<sup>3</sup>.

A compensation order may require the offender:

- 1418 (1) to pay compensation for any personal injury, loss or damage resulting from that offence or any other offence which is taken into consideration by the court in determining sentence<sup>4</sup>; or
- 1419 (2) to make payments for funeral expenses<sup>5</sup> or bereavement<sup>6</sup> in respect of a death resulting from any such offence, other than a death due to an accident arising out of the presence of a motor vehicle on a road<sup>7</sup>.

The compensation awarded is of such amount as the court considers appropriate<sup>8</sup> and in determining this amount the court must have regard to the offender's means, or where appropriate, the parent or guardian's means<sup>9</sup>.

Where the court considers that it would be appropriate both to impose a fine and to make a compensation order, but that the offender has insufficient means to pay both an appropriate fine and appropriate compensation, the court must give preference to compensation (though it may impose a fine as well)<sup>10</sup>.

In the case of a child or young person, the court is required to order a parent or guardian to pay any compensation order imposed against an offender aged under 18<sup>11</sup>.

1 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 ss 130-134; and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 375 et seq. As to the power of the courts to order the parent or guardian of a young offender to pay compensation see s 137 (as amended; prospectively further amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 139 et seq, 383. As to the fixing of the compensation to be paid by a young offender's parent or guardian see s 138 (as amended); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 139 et seq; 383.

2 The offences under ibid s 110(2) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) para 772) or s 111(2) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue para 294), the Firearms Act 1968 s 51A(2) (as added) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) paras 662, 664), the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 225, s 226, s 227 or s 228 (see SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 67 et seq) or the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006 s 29(4) or (6) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE).

3 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 130(1), (2) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 304, Sch 32 paras 90, 117; and the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006 s 49, Sch 1 para 6(b)). A court must give reasons, on passing sentence, if it does not make a compensation order in a case where the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 130 empowers it to do so: s 130(3). See further SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 376.

4 Ibid s 130(1)(a). See further SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARAS 375-376.

5 A compensation order in respect of funeral expenses may be made for the benefit of anyone who incurred the expenses: ibid s 130(9). See further SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 375.

6 A compensation order in respect of bereavement may be made only for the benefit of a person for whose benefit a claim for damages for bereavement could be made under the Fatal Accidents Act 1976 s 1A (as added); and the amount of compensation in respect of bereavement must not exceed the amount for the time being specified in s 1A(3) (as added): Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 130(10). See further SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 375.

7 Ibid s 130(1)(b). A compensation order may only be made in respect of injury, loss or damage (other than loss suffered by a person's dependants in consequence of his death) which was due to an accident arising out of the presence of a motor vehicle on a road if:

3380 (1) it is in respect of damage which is treated by s 130(5) as resulting from an offence under the Theft Act 1968 or the Fraud Act 2006 (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 130(6)(a) (amended by the Fraud Act 2006 s 14(1), Sch 1 para 29));

3381 (2) it is in respect of injury, loss or damage as respect which the offender is uninsured in relation to the use of the vehicle and compensation is not payable under any arrangements to which the Secretary of State is a party (Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 130(6)(b)).

A vehicle the use of which is exempted from insurance by the Road Traffic Act 1988 s 144 (as amended) (see ROAD TRAFFIC vol 40(2) (2007 Reissue) para 938) is not uninsured for the purposes of head (2) supra: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 130(8). In the case of an offence under the Theft Act 1968 or the Fraud Act 2006, where the property in question is recovered, any damage to the property occurring while it was out of the owner's possession must be treated for the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 130(1) as having resulted from the offence, however and by whomever the damage was caused: s 130(5) (amended by the Fraud Act 2006 s 14(1), Sch 1 para 29). Where a compensation order is made in respect of injury, loss or damage due to an accident arising out of the presence of a motor vehicle on a road, the amount to be paid may include an amount representing the whole or part of any loss of or reduction in preferential rates of insurance attributable to the accident: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 130(7). NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/ (6) CUSTODIAL SENTENCES/1397. Custodial sentences for persons under 21.

(6) CUSTODIAL SENTENCES

1397. Custodial sentences for persons under 21.

No court may pass a sentence of imprisonment on a person for an offence if he is aged under 21 when convicted of the offence, or commit a person aged under 21 to prison for any reason<sup>1</sup>. However, this does not prevent the committal to prison of a person aged under 21 who is remanded in custody, committed in custody for trial or sentence, or sent in custody for trial under the Crime and Disorder Act 1998<sup>2</sup>.

The following forms of custodial sentence are available to a court in relation to persons under the age of 18:

- 1420 (1) detention at Her Majesty's pleasure<sup>3</sup>;
- 1421 (2) detention for a serious offence for a specified period<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1422 (3) detention and training orders<sup>5</sup>.

Where a person under 18 has committed a serious offence<sup>6</sup>, the court must be of the opinion that there is a significant risk to the public of serious harm<sup>7</sup> occasioned by the commission by him of further specified offences<sup>8</sup> before it can impose a sentence of detention for life or for an indeterminate period<sup>9</sup>.

An extended sentence may be imposed where the court is of the opinion that there is a significant risk to members of the public of serious harm occasioned by the commission by the offender of further specified offences, and where the specified offence is a serious offence, and that the case is not one in which the court is required to impose a sentence of detention for life<sup>10</sup>. In such circumstances, the court must impose on the offender an extended sentence of detention, that is to say, a sentence of detention the term of which is equal to the aggregate of:

- 1423 (a) the appropriate custodial term<sup>11</sup>; and
- 1424 (b) a further period ('the extension period') for which the offender is to be subject to a licence and which is of such length as the court considers necessary for the purpose of protecting members of the public from serious harm occasioned by the commission by him of further specified offences<sup>12</sup>, not exceeding five years for a specified violent offence or eight years for a specified sexual offence<sup>13</sup>, or in any event, the maximum term of imprisonment permitted for the offence<sup>14</sup>.

At age 21, or 18 years in cases of bad behaviour<sup>15</sup>, a sentence of detention may be converted into a sentence of imprisonment<sup>16</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 89(1). See further SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 11. As from a day to be appointed, s 89(1) is amended so as to provide that no court may pass a sentence of imprisonment on a person for an offence if he is aged under 18 when convicted of the offence, or commit a person aged under 18 to prison for any reason: s 89(1) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt II paras 160, 180). 3383 (2) may take into account any information which is before it about any pattern of behaviour of which the offence forms part (see s 156(1); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 617); and 3384 (3) may take into account any information about the offender which is before it, by obtaining a pre-sentence report (see s 156(2), (3); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 626).

1398. Detention and training orders.

Where a child or young person (that is to say, any person aged under 18) is convicted of an offence which is punishable with imprisonment in the case of a person aged 21 or over, and the court is of the opinion that the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, was so serious that only such a sentence can be justified for the offence<sup>1</sup>, the sentence that the court is to pass is a detention and training order<sup>2</sup>. However, nothing prevents the court from passing a custodial sentence on the offender if:

- 1425 (1) he fails to express his willingness to comply with a requirement which is proposed by the court to be included in a community order and which requires an expression of such willingness<sup>3</sup>; or
- 1426 (2) he fails to comply with an order for pre-sentence drug testing<sup>4</sup>.

A detention and training order is an order that the offender in respect of whom it is made is to be subject, for the term specified in the order, to a period of detention and training followed by a period of supervision<sup>5</sup>.

A court must not make a detention and training order:

- 1427 (a) in the case of an offender under the age of 15 at the time of the conviction, unless it is of the opinion that he is a persistent offender<sup>6</sup>; and
- 1428 (b) in the case of an offender under the age of 12 at that time, unless it is of the opinion that only a custodial sentence would be adequate to protect the public from further offending by him, and the offence was committed on or after such date as the Secretary of State<sup>7</sup> may by order appoint<sup>8</sup>.

See also SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 89. As from a day to be appointed, the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 100 (as amended) is also amended so as to provide for where a child or young person is convicted of an offence which is punishable with imprisonment in the case of a person aged 18 or over: s 100(1) (as so amended; and further amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt II paras 160, 184). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. The Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 100(1) is expressed as being subject to ss 90, 91 and the Criminal Justice Act 2003 ss 226, 228. The power to impose an order under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 100 (as amended) is also subject to the Children and Young Persons Act 1963 s 29: see Aldis v DPP [2002] EWHC 403 (Admin), (2002) Times, 6 March, DC.

In determining whether an offender under 15 could be considered as a persistent offender, account may be taken of offences in respect of which he has been cautioned or given a reprimand or warning (R v D [2000] Crim LR 867, CA) or of offences subsequent to the index offence and the matter should be looked at according to the 'good sense of the court' (R v B [2000] Crim LR 50).

1399. Term of detention and training order.

The term of a detention and training order<sup>1</sup> made in respect of an offence (whether by a magistrates' court or otherwise) must be 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 18 or 24 months<sup>2</sup>. However, the term of a detention and training order may not exceed the maximum term of imprisonment that the Crown Court could (in the case of an offender aged 21 or over) impose for the offence<sup>3</sup>. A court making a detention and training order may order that its term is to commence on the expiry of the term of any other detention and training order made by that or any other court<sup>4</sup>. However, a court:

- 1429 (1) must not make in respect of an offender a detention and training order the effect of which would be that he would be subject to detention and training orders for a term which exceeds 24 months<sup>5</sup>; and
- 1430 (2) making a detention and training order must not order that its term is to commence on the expiry of the term of a detention and training order under which the period of supervision has already begun<sup>6</sup>.

Where the term of the detention and training orders to which an offender would otherwise be subject exceeds 24 months, the excess must be treated as remitted<sup>7</sup>.

Where a detention and training order ('the new order') is made in respect of an offender who is subject to a detention and training order under which the period of supervision has begun ('the old order'), the old order must be disregarded in determining<sup>8</sup>:

- 1431 (a) for the purposes of head (1) above, whether the effect of the new order would be that the offender would be subject to detention and training orders for a term which exceeds 24 months<sup>9</sup>; and
- 1432 (b) for the purposes of the provision relating to the excess of the detention and training orders that is treated as remitted where the total term exceeds 24 months<sup>10</sup>, whether the term of the detention and training orders to which the offender would otherwise<sup>11</sup> be subject exceeds 24 months<sup>12</sup>.

In determining the term of a detention and training order for an offence, the court must take account<sup>13</sup> of any period for which the offender has been remanded in custody<sup>14</sup> in connection with the offence, or any other offence the charge for which was founded on the same facts or evidence<sup>15</sup>. However, this<sup>16</sup> does not apply where a court proposes to make detention and training orders in respect of an offender for two or more offences, but in determining the total term of the detention and training orders it proposes to make in respect of the offender the court must take account of the total period (if any) for which he has been remanded in custody<sup>17</sup> in connection with any of those offences, or any other offence the charge for which was founded on the same facts or evidence<sup>18</sup>. Once a period of remand has been taken account of<sup>19</sup> in relation to a detention and training order made in respect of an offender for any offence or offences, it must not subsequently be taken account of<sup>20</sup> in relation to such an order made in respect of the offender for any other offence or offences<sup>21</sup>.

1 As to the making of a detention and training order see para 1398 ante.

2 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 101(1). See further SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 90. Section 101(1) is expressed to be subject to s 101(2) and, as from a day to be appointed, s 101(2A) (as added). As from a day to be appointed, s 101(2A) is added by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 298(1), (3) so as to provide that where the offence is a summary one and the maximum term for an adult offender is 51 weeks, the term of detention and training must not exceed six months. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

3 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 101(2). See further SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 90. As from a day to be appointed, s 101(2) is amended so as to provide that the term of a detention and training order may not exceed the maximum term of imprisonment that the Crown Court could (in the case of an offender aged 18 or over) impose for the offence: s 101(2) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 s 74, Sch 7 Pt II paras 160, 185). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

4 Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 101(3). See further SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 90. A court may impose a consecutive detention and training order so that the aggregate term is not a period specified in s 101(1) (see the text and notes 1-2 supra): R v Morris [2001] Crim LR 48, CA. A detention and training order cannot be ordered to follow consecutively upon an order for detention under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 91 (as amended) (or the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 s 53(2) (repealed)): R v Hayward [2001] Crim LR 236, CA. A sentence imposed, or other order made, by the Crown Court when dealing with an offender takes effect from the beginning of the day on which it is imposed, unless the court otherwise directs: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 154(1). As to when the sentence of detention takes effect where a court passes a sentence of detention in a young offender institution in the case of an offender who is subject to a detention and training order see s 106(1); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 95. As to when the detention and training order takes effect where a court makes a detention and training order in the case of an offender who is subject to a sentence of detention in a young offender institution see s 106(2); and SENTENCING AND DISPOSITION OF OFFENDERS vol 92 (2010) PARA 95.

13 It is considered neither appropriate nor desirable to calculate mathematically the total term by reference to a few days in custody, but weeks or months spent in custody should reduce the sentence to reflect that period: R v B [2000] Crim LR 870, CA; R v Inner London Crown Court, ex p N and S [2000] Crim LR 871, DC. Accordingly, the court should as a matter of good practice indicate in advance its intention to make such an order so as to be informed of any time in custody on remand: R v Haringey Youth Court, ex p A (2000) Times, May 30, DC. A period totalling 24 months may be upheld on appeal despite a guilty plea and a significant period in custody if the court could otherwise have imposed a term of detention under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 91 (as amended): R v Fieldhouse [2000] Crim LR 1020, CA.

14 Any reference in the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 101(8) or s 101(9) to an offender's being remanded in custody is a reference to his being: (1) held in police detention; (2) remanded in or committed to custody by an order of a court; (3) remanded or committed to local authority accommodation under the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23 (as substituted and amended; prospectively further amended) (see paras 1247-1253 ante) and placed and kept in secure accommodation or being detained in a secure training centre pursuant to arrangements under the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 s 23(7A) (as added) (see para 1248 ante); or (4) remanded, admitted or removed to hospital under the Mental Health Act 1983 s 35, s 36, s 38 (as amended), or s 48 (prospectively amended) (see MENTAL HEALTH); Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 101(11) (amended by the Criminal Justice and Police Act 2001 s 133(3)). For the meaning of 'secure accommodation' for the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 101(11) (as amended) see para 1248 note 4 ante; definition applied by s 101(12)). A person is in police detention for the purposes of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 101(11) (as amended): (a)

at any time when he is in police detention for the purposes of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984; and (b) at any time when he is detained under the Terrorism Act 2000 s 41: Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 101(12) (amended by the Terrorism Act 2000 s 125, Sch 15 para 20(1), (3)).

1399 Term of detention and training order

TEXT AND NOTES 15, 18--Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 101(8), (9) amended: Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 s 22(6).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/12. CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING CHILDREN/ (6) CUSTODIAL SENTENCES/1400. The period of detention and training.

1400. The period of detention and training.

An offender must serve the period of detention and training under a detention and training order<sup>1</sup> in such youth detention accommodation<sup>2</sup> as may be determined by the Secretary of State or by such other person as may be authorised by him for that purpose<sup>3</sup>. The period of detention and training under a detention and training order must be one-half of the term of the order<sup>4</sup>. However:

- 1433 (1) the Secretary of State may at any time release the offender if he is satisfied that exceptional circumstances exist which justify the offender's release on compassionate grounds<sup>5</sup>;
- 1434 (2) the Secretary of State may release the offender in the case of an order for a term of eight months or more but less than 18 months, at any time during the period of one month ending with the half way point of the term of the order, and in the case of an order for a term of 18 months or more, at any time during the period of two months ending with that point<sup>6</sup>; and
- 1435 (3) if a youth court<sup>7</sup> so orders on an application made by the Secretary of State for the purpose, the Secretary of State must release the offender in the case of an order for a term of eight months or more but less than 18 months, one month after the half-way point of the term of the order, and in the case of an order for a term of 18 months or more, one month or two months after that point<sup>8</sup>.

An offender detained in pursuance of a detention and training order is deemed to be in legal custody<sup>9</sup>.

1 As to the making of a detention and training order see para 1398 ante.

1401. Period of supervision of offender subject to detention and training order.

The period of supervision of an offender who is subject to a detention and training order<sup>1</sup> begins with the offender's release, whether at the half-way point of the term of the order or otherwise, and ends when the term of the order ends<sup>2</sup>. However, the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> may by order provide that the period of supervision must end at such point during the term of a detention and training order<sup>4</sup> as may be specified in the order<sup>5</sup>.

During the period of supervision, the offender must be under the supervision of:

- 1436 (1) an officer of a local probation board<sup>6</sup>;
- 1437 (2) a social worker of a local authority<sup>7</sup>; or
- 1438 (3) a member of a youth offending team<sup>8</sup>.

The category of person to supervise the offender must be determined from time to time by the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup>.

Where the supervision is to be provided by an officer of a local probation board, the officer of a local probation board must be an officer appointed for or assigned to the local justice area within which the offender resides for the time being<sup>10</sup>. Where the supervision is to be provided by a social worker of a local authority, or a member of a youth offending team, the social worker or member must be a social worker of, or a member of a youth offending team established by, the local authority within whose area the offender resides for the time being<sup>11</sup>.

The offender must be given a notice from the Secretary of State specifying:

- 1439 (a) the category of person for the time being responsible for his supervision<sup>12</sup>;
- and
- 1440 (b) any requirements with which he must for the time being comply<sup>13</sup>.

Such a notice must be given to the offender before the commencement of the period of supervision, and before any alteration in the specified matters<sup>14</sup> comes into effect<sup>15</sup>.

1402. Breach of supervision requirements of detention and training order.

Where a detention and training order<sup>1</sup> is in force in respect of an offender and it appears on information to a justice of the peace that the offender has failed to comply with the specified requirements<sup>2</sup>, the justice<sup>3</sup>:

- 1441 (1) may issue a summons requiring the offender to appear at the place and time specified in the summons<sup>4</sup>; or
- 1442 (2) if the information is in writing and on oath, may issue a warrant for the offender's arrest<sup>5</sup>.

Any summons or warrant so issued must direct the offender to appear before a youth court acting for the local justice area in which the offender resides or, if it is not known where the offender resides, before a youth court acting for the same local justice area as the justice who issued the summons or warrant<sup>6</sup>. If it is proved to the satisfaction of the youth court before which an offender appears or is brought<sup>7</sup> that he has failed to comply with those specified requirements<sup>8</sup>, that court may<sup>9</sup>:

- 1443 (a) order the offender to be detained in youth detention accommodation<sup>10</sup> as the Secretary of State<sup>11</sup> may determine, for such period, not exceeding the shorter of three months or the remainder of the term of the detention and training order<sup>12</sup>, as the court may specify<sup>13</sup>; or
- 1444 (b) impose on the offender a fine not exceeding a prescribed level<sup>14</sup>.

An offender detained in pursuance of an order under head (a) above is deemed to be in legal custody<sup>15</sup>. A fine imposed under head (b) above is deemed, for the purposes of any enactment, to be a sum adjudged to be paid by a conviction<sup>16</sup>. ### 1403. Offences during currency of detention and training order.

The following<sup>1</sup> applies to a person subject to a detention and training order<sup>2</sup> if, after his release and before the date on which the term of the order ends, he commits an offence punishable with imprisonment in the case of a person aged 21 or over ('the new offence') and, whether before or after that date, he is convicted of the new offence<sup>3</sup>. The court by or before which such a person is convicted of the new offence may, whether or not it passes any other sentence on him, order him to be detained in such youth detention accommodation<sup>4</sup> as the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> may determine for the whole or any part of the period which begins with the date of the court's order, and is equal in length to the period between the date on which the new offence was committed and the date<sup>6</sup> on which the term of the order ends<sup>7</sup>. A person so detained is deemed to be in legal custody<sup>8</sup>.

The period for which such a person is ordered<sup>9</sup> to be detained in youth detention accommodation must, as the court may direct, either be served before and be followed by, or be served concurrently with, any sentence imposed for the new offence; and, in either case, must be disregarded in determining the appropriate length of that sentence<sup>10</sup>.

Where the new offence is found to have been committed over a period of two or more days, or at some time during a period of two or more days, it is to be taken to have been committed on the last of those days<sup>11</sup>.

Where a person aged under 18 is convicted on indictment<sup>1</sup> of:

A person sentenced to be detained for a specified period<sup>10</sup> is liable to be detained in such place and under such conditions as the Secretary of State may direct<sup>11</sup>, or as the Secretary of State may arrange with any person<sup>12</sup>. #### 1406. Custody for life.

Until a day to be appointed<sup>1</sup>, where a person aged under 21 is convicted of murder, or any other offence the sentence for which is fixed by law as imprisonment for life, the court must sentence him to custody for life unless he is otherwise<sup>2</sup> liable to be detained<sup>3</sup>. Where a person aged at least 18 but under 21 is convicted of an offence for which the sentence is not fixed by law, but for which a person aged 21 or over would be liable to imprisonment for life, the court must, if it considers that a sentence for life would be appropriate, sentence him to custody for life<sup>4</sup>.

1407. Conversion of sentence of detention to sentence of imprisonment.

Where an offender has been sentenced by a relevant sentence of detention<sup>1</sup> to a term of detention and either he has attained the age of 21, or he has attained the age of 18 and has been reported to the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> by the independent monitoring board of the institution in which he is detained as exercising a bad influence on the other inmates of the institution or as behaving in a disruptive manner to the detriment of those inmates, the Secretary of State may direct that he is to be treated as if he had been sentenced to imprisonment for the same term<sup>3</sup>. Where the Secretary of State gives such a direction in relation to an offender, the portion of the term of detention imposed under the relevant sentence of detention which he has already served must be deemed to have been a portion of a term of imprisonment<sup>4</sup>.

Where the Secretary of State gives a direction in relation to an offender serving a sentence of detention for public protection<sup>5</sup>, the offender must be treated as if he had been sentenced as a person aged 18 or over<sup>6</sup>; and where the Secretary of State gives such a direction in relation to an offender serving an extended sentence of detention<sup>7</sup>, the offender must be treated as if he had been sentenced as a person aged 18 or over<sup>8</sup>.

13. CIVIL PROCEEDINGS BY OR AGAINST CHILDREN

(1) IN GENERAL

1409. Introduction.

This part of the title deals with ordinary civil proceedings in which children are parties<sup>1</sup>. Procedural matters in relation to such proceedings are governed by the Civil Procedure Rules ('CPR'), which contain special provisions relating to proceedings involving children<sup>2</sup>. Family proceedings are covered elsewhere in this title<sup>3</sup>, and the procedural aspects of such proceedings are generally governed by the Family Proceedings Rules<sup>4</sup> or the Family Proceedings Courts (Children Act 1989) Rules<sup>5</sup> or, in relation to adoption, by the Family Procedure (Adoption) Rules<sup>6</sup>, rather than the Civil Procedure Rules<sup>7</sup>.

1 See para 1410 et seq post.

2 See CPR Pt 21; and para 1411 et seq post.

3 See para 199 et seq ante. For the meaning of 'family proceedings' under the Children Act 1989 see para 199 ante.

6 Ie the Family Procedure (Adoption) Rules 2005, SI 2005/2795 (as amended). See in particular Pt 7 (rr 49-76), which makes provision in relation to litigation friends.

7 The CPR do not apply to family proceedings or adoption proceedings except to the extent that they are applied to those proceedings by another enactment: see CPR 2.1(2); and CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 11 (2009) PARA 32. For the application of the CPR in family proceedings see the Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, r 1.3 (amended by SI 1999/1012).

1410. Prescription and limitation of claims.

A child has certain privileges as regards lapse of time, in the case of the acquisition of rights by prescription<sup>1</sup> and in respect of the limitation of the period during which claims may be brought by him<sup>2</sup>. Notwithstanding these special limitation provisions, however, a child may bring an action by his litigation friend<sup>3</sup> at any time before attaining full age, either within, or subsequently to, the period within which he could have brought it if he had been of full age when the cause of action accrued<sup>4</sup>. A child is not barred from asserting his right by acquiescence in the violation of it<sup>5</sup>, or by the laches of himself or his trustees in asserting it<sup>6</sup>, even though he was supposed to be of full age, provided he did not actually represent himself to be so<sup>7</sup>.

(2) THE LITIGATION FRIEND

1411. Requirement for litigation friend in proceedings by or against children.

A child<sup>1</sup> must have a litigation friend<sup>2</sup> to conduct proceedings<sup>3</sup> on his behalf unless the court<sup>4</sup> makes an order permitting the child to conduct proceedings without a litigation friend<sup>5</sup>. An application for such an order may be made by the child<sup>6</sup>. If the child already has a litigation friend, such application must be made on notice to the litigation friend<sup>7</sup>. If the child has no litigation friend, the application may be made without notice<sup>8</sup>. Where the court has made an order permitting a child to conduct proceedings without a litigation friend and it subsequently appears to the court that it is desirable for a litigation friend to conduct the proceedings on behalf of the child, the court may appoint a person to be the child's litigation friend<sup>9</sup>. Where a claimant wishes to take a step in proceedings against a child who does not have a litigation friend he must apply to the court for an order appointing a litigation friend<sup>10</sup>.

Where proceedings are to be conducted by a litigation friend, the statement of truth<sup>11</sup> in a document requiring verification by such a statement is to the effect that the litigation friend believes the facts stated in the document to be true<sup>12</sup>.

A litigation friend is not merely entitled but bound to continue to act as such unless and until the court by order substitutes another person to act in that capacity<sup>13</sup>.

The litigation friend may be required to answer requests for further information and to make disclosure of documents and allow inspection of documents in an action or matter on behalf of a child<sup>14</sup>.

1 For these purposes, 'child' means a person under 18: CPR 2.3(1), 21.1(2)(b). A foetus has no legal persona and cannot, through a guardian, prevent abortion as an actionable wrong: Kelly v Kelly [1997] 2 FLR 828, Ct of Sess.

2 As to who may be a litigation friend, and the manner of appointment of a litigation friend, see paras 1414-1415 post.

The requirement for a litigation friend (formerly a 'next friend' or 'guardian ad litem') seems to apply to a minor married woman, who sues and is sued in the same way as any other child (see the Law Reform (Married Women and Tortfeasors) Act 1935 s 1(c) (as amended); Colman v Northcote (1843) 2 Hare 147; and MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW vol 72 (2009) PARAS 204, 206, 210).

If the child's property is already the subject of proceedings in the Chancery Division of the High Court, application should be made to the Chancery Division for permission to begin other proceedings before they are instituted by the child's litigation friend, even though the child has not become a ward of court, in view of the possibility that recourse to the property under administration may be needed to indemnify the litigation friend from liability for costs. As to the conduct of proceedings permitted pursuant to such permission see Harrison v Richards (1866) 1 Ch App 473.

3 As to an interim injunction granted on a child's application see Chaplin v Leslie Frewin (Publishers) Ltd [1966] Ch 71, [1965] 3 All ER 764, CA. 5 CPR 21.2(2), (3); and see Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 (a child must bring or defend proceedings by a litigation friend unless the court has made an order permitting the child to do so on his own behalf). The court has a discretion to make an order permitting a child to conduct proceedings without a litigation friend: CPR 21.2(3). The court will only authorise a child to conduct proceedings without a litigation friend where it is satisfied that the child is of sufficient maturity and understanding: see Gillick v West Norfolk and Wisbech Area Health Authority [1986] AC 112. Where the child has a litigation friend, the child should be referred to in the title to proceedings as 'A.B. #### 1412. Standing and duty of litigation friend.

The litigation friend is an officer of the court appointed to look after the child's interests<sup>1</sup> and has the conduct of the proceedings in his hands<sup>2</sup>, but he is not actually a party to the proceedings<sup>3</sup>.

A litigation friend is under a duty to conduct the proceedings fairly and competently and to take all decisions and steps in the proceedings for the benefit of the child<sup>4</sup>.

A litigation friend does not have the custody of a child, nor does he stand in loco parentis; all he does is represent the child in the conduct of the suit; his decisions do not rest in his unfettered discretion; he must on occasion seek the court's approval, as for instance if he makes a compromise on the child's behalf; if the court thinks that a child should go to a particular school, have a surgical operation or undergo a blood tests, the litigation friend cannot refuse permission; he must abide by the court's decision: Re L (an infant) [1968] P 119 at 160, [1968] 1 All ER 20 at 26, CA, per Lord Denning MR; B (B R) v B (J) [1968] P 466, sub nom B R B v J B [1968] 2 All ER 1023, CA.

The litigation friend is not, as litigation friend, entitled to appear in proceedings in person: see Re Hurst, Addison v Topp (No 2) (1891) 36 Sol Jo 41, CA; Murray v Sitwell [1902] WN 119; Re Berry, Berry v Berry [1903] WN 125. See also para 1411 note 5 ante.

1413. Stage of proceedings at which a litigation friend becomes necessary.

Except where the court<sup>1</sup> has made an order<sup>2</sup> permitting a child<sup>3</sup> to conduct proceedings without a litigation friend<sup>4</sup>, a person may not, without the permission of the court:

- 1462 (1) make an application against a child before proceedings have started<sup>5</sup>; or
- 1463 (2) take any step in proceedings except issuing and serving<sup>6</sup> a claim form, or applying for the appointment of a litigation friend<sup>7</sup>, until the child has a litigation friend<sup>8</sup>.

Any step taken before a child has a litigation friend is of no effect unless the court otherwise orders<sup>9</sup>.

1 As to the court see para 1411 note 4 ante.

2 Ie under CPR 21.2(3) (see para 1411 ante).

3 For the meaning of 'child' see para 1411 note 1 ante.

4 CPR 21.3(1).

5 CPR 21.3(2)(a).

6 'Service' means steps required by rules of court to bring documents used in court proceedings to a person's attention: CPR 2.2; Glossary. See further para 1418 post.

8 CPR 21.3(2).

9 CPR 21.3(4). The same presumably applies where the litigation friend is a person incapable of so acting (see Fernée v Gorlitz [1915] 1 Ch 177, where the next friend was himself a minor), or where judgment has been obtained against a child defendant where the claimant has not applied for the appointment of a litigation friend (see Leaver v Torres (1899) 43 Sol Jo 778).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/13. CIVIL PROCEEDINGS BY OR AGAINST CHILDREN/(2) THE LITIGATION FRIEND/1414. Appointment of litigation friend without a court order.

1414. Appointment of litigation friend without a court order.

If nobody has been appointed by the court<sup>1</sup> to be a litigation friend<sup>2</sup> a person may act as a litigation friend<sup>3</sup> if he:

- 1464 (1) can fairly and competently conduct proceedings on behalf of the child<sup>4</sup>;
- 1465 (2) has no interest adverse to that of the child<sup>5</sup>; and
- 1466 (3) where the child is a claimant<sup>6</sup>, undertakes to pay any costs which the child may be ordered to pay in relation to the proceedings<sup>7</sup>, subject to any right he may have to be repaid from the assets of the child<sup>8</sup>.

If the court has not appointed a litigation friend, a person who wishes to act as a litigation friend must file<sup>9</sup> a certificate of suitability<sup>10</sup> stating that he satisfies the conditions set out in heads (1) to (3) above<sup>11</sup>. A person who is to act as a litigation friend for a claimant must file the certificate of suitability at the time when the claim is made<sup>12</sup>. A person who is to act as a litigation friend for a defendant<sup>13</sup> must file the certificate of suitability at the time when he first takes a step in the proceedings on behalf of the defendant<sup>14</sup>. The litigation friend must serve<sup>15</sup> the certificate of suitability on every person on whom the claim form should be served<sup>16</sup>, and file a certificate of service when he files the certificate of suitability<sup>17</sup>.

2 CPR 21.4(1).

3 CPR 21.4(3). See also Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 paras 2.1(a), 2.2.

The persons who act as litigation friends under CPR 21.4 differ slightly from those who may be appointed by order of the court see para 1415 post.

A next friend was held not to require any authority from the minor, and the minor had no voice in his selection: Morgan v Thorne (1841) 7 M & W 400 at 408. In appointing a next friend, preference has been given to the father (Watson v Fraser (1841) 8 M & W 660; Woolf v Pemberton (1877) 6 ChD 19, CA; Re Taylor's Application [1972] 2 QB 369, [1972] 2 All ER 873, CA), mother (Harris v Lightfoot, Harris v Harris (1861) 10 WR 31), guardian (1 Bl Com (14th Edn) 463-464; Hutchinson v Norwood (1885) 31 ChD 237; and see Harris v Lightfoot, Harris v Harris (1861) 10 WR 31), or some other of the relatives or connections of the child or their nominee (Talbot v Talbot (1874) LR 17 Eq 347), but he must be a substantial and proper person (Anon (1739) 1 Atk 570; Nalder v Hawkins (1833) 2 My & K 243; Walker v Else (1835) 7 Sim 234). A minor could sue by a next friend in the character of a pauper, but only upon strict proof that he could not obtain a more substantial next friend: Bryant (Briant) v Wagner (1839) 7 Dowl 676; Lindsay v Tyrrell (1857) 2 De G & J 7. If the minor could procure a solvent person willing to act as next friend, an insolvent next friend might be removed and the proceedings stayed until another is appointed: Watson v Fraser (1841) 8 M & W 660; Lees v Smith (1860) 5 H & N 632; but see Duckitt v Satchwell (1844) 12 M & W 779.

A plaintiff's solicitor could not be appointed: Sheppard v Harris (1845) 15 LJCh 104. #### 1415. Appointment of litigation friend by court order.

The court<sup>1</sup> may make an order appointing a litigation friend<sup>2</sup>. An application for an order appointing a litigation friend may be made by a person who wishes to be the litigation friend<sup>3</sup>, or by a party<sup>4</sup>. Where:

- 1467 (1) a person makes a claim against a child<sup>5</sup>;
- 1468 (2) the child has no litigation friend<sup>6</sup>;
- 1469 (3) the court has not made an order that a child can act without a litigation friend<sup>7</sup>; and
- 1470 (4) either someone who is not entitled to be a litigation friend files<sup>8</sup> a defence, or the claimant<sup>9</sup> wishes to take some step in the proceedings<sup>10</sup>, the claimant must apply to the court for an order appointing a litigation friend for the child<sup>11</sup>.

An application for the appointment of litigation friend by court order must be served<sup>12</sup> on every person on whom the claim form should be served<sup>13</sup>.

An application for an order appointing a litigation friend must be supported by evidence<sup>14</sup>.

The court may not appoint a litigation friend under these provisions unless it is satisfied that the person to be appointed complies with the specified conditions<sup>15</sup>. On an application for the appointment of a litigation friend by court order, the court may appoint the person proposed or any other person who complies with the specified conditions<sup>16</sup>.

The application must be in accordance with CPR Pt 23 (see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 11 (2009) PARAS 303-314); Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 para 3.2. The evidence in support must satisfy the court that the proposed litigation friend: (1) consents to act; (2) can fairly and competently conduct proceedings on behalf of the child; (3) has no interest adverse to that of the child; and (4) where the child is a claimant, undertakes to pay any costs which the child or patient may be ordered to pay in relation to the proceedings, subject to any right he may have to be repaid from the assets of the child: Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 para 3.3. Where a person was named as next friend without his consent, he could apply to have his name struck out: Ward v Ward (1843) 6 Beav 251. It is conceived that, in the light of head (1) supra, the position would be the same in relation to a litigation friend. A guardian ad litem appointed by the court had to be a person within the jurisdiction: -- v -- (1854) 18 Jur 770. CIVIL PROCEEDINGS BY OR AGAINST CHILDREN/(2) THE LITIGATION FRIEND/1416. Court's power to change litigation friend and to prevent person acting as litigation friend.

1416. Court's power to change litigation friend and to prevent person acting as litigation friend.

The court<sup>1</sup> may direct that a person may not act as a litigation friend<sup>2</sup>, may terminate a litigation friend's appointment<sup>3</sup>, or may appoint a new litigation friend in substitution for an existing one<sup>4</sup>. An application for an order giving such a direction must be supported by evidence<sup>5</sup>. The court may not appoint a litigation friend under these provisions unless it is satisfied that the person to be appointed complies with the specified conditions<sup>6</sup>.

An application for such an order must be served<sup>7</sup> on every person on whom the claim form should be served<sup>8</sup>. It must also be served on the person who is the litigation friend, or who is purporting to act as the litigation friend, when the application is made<sup>9</sup>, and the person who it is proposed should be the litigation friend, if he is not the applicant<sup>10</sup>.

On an application for an order to change the litigation friend, or to prevent a person acting as litigation friend, the court may appoint the person proposed or any other person who complies with the specified conditions<sup>11</sup>.

1 As to the court see para 1411 note 4 ante.

2 CPR 21.7(1)(a). The court has exercised power to remove a next friend if he was an improper person to act as such: see eg Hopkinson v Roe (1830) 9 LJOS Ch 7; Gee v Gee (1863) 12 WR 187; Peyton v Bond, Peyton v Robinson (1827) 1 Sim 390; Lander v Ingersoll (1845) 4 Hare 596; Re Burgess, Burgess v Bottomley (1883) 25 ChD 243, CA; Watson v Fraser (1841) 8 M & W 660; Lees v Smith (1860) 5 H & N 632 (insolvency). 3 CPR 21.7(1)(b). See also note 2 supra.

4 CPR 21.7(1)(c). See also note 2 supra. If the order sought is the substitution of a new litigation friend for an existing one, the evidence must satisfy the court of the matters set out in para 1415 note 14 ante: Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 para 3.3. The former position, under RSC Ord 80 r 3(4) (revoked), was expressly that only one person was entitled to act as next friend. CPR Pt 21 does not reproduce this restriction, but it is doubtful that more than one litigation friend would be permitted. As to the retirement of a litigation friend see para 1411 note 13 ante.

1417. Procedure where appointment of litigation friend ceases.

When a child<sup>1</sup> reaches the age of 18, a litigation friend's appointment ceases<sup>2</sup>. The child in respect of whom the appointment to act has ceased may serve<sup>3</sup> a notice on the other parties:

- 1471 (1) stating that he has reached full age<sup>4</sup>;
- 1472 (2) stating that the appointment of his litigation friend to act has ceased<sup>5</sup>;
- 1473 (3) giving his address for service<sup>6</sup>; and
- 1474 (4) stating whether or not he intends to carry on with, or continue to defend, the proceedings<sup>7</sup>.

If he does not do so within 28 days after the day on which the appointment of the litigation friend ceases, the court<sup>8</sup> may, on application, strike out<sup>9</sup> any claim or defence brought by him<sup>10</sup>. The liability of a litigation friend for costs continues until the person in respect of whom his appointment to act has ceased serves the notice referred to above<sup>11</sup>, or the litigation friend serves notice on the parties that his appointment to act has ceased<sup>12</sup>.

Whether or not a child having reached full age serves a notice in accordance with head (2) above, a litigation friend may at any time after the child has reached full age serve a notice on the other parties that his appointment has ceased<sup>13</sup>.

It seems that, on the death of a litigation friend, the procedure for replacing him is the same as for the first appointment of a litigation friend<sup>14</sup>.

He may, it appears, then be liable for the costs of the proceedings from the commencement: Bligh v Tredgett (1851) 5 De G & Sm 74 at 77.

It appears that the child may not, on attaining full age, claim to appear as a claimant separately from his co-claimants: Swift v Grazebrook (1842) 13 Sim 185; Ballard v White (1843) 2 Hare 158 at 159.

If the child elected to discontinue proceedings, he could apply for an order to dismiss them on payment of the costs from the commencement: Anon (1819) 4 Madd 461. It has been held that the repudiation of an action or of proceedings by the minor relates back to its commencement so as to override all that has been done in it: Dunn v Dunn (1855) 7 De GM & G 25 at 29.

When a child was co-claimant or co-petitioner with others, he might, on attaining full age, apply to have his name struck out: Acres v Little (1834) 7 Sim 138; Guy v Guy (1840) 2 Beav 460; Cooke v Fryer (1841) 4 Beav 13. But in that case, if his co-claimants or co-petitioners so desired, he might be added as a defendant or respondent to the proceedings: Bicknell v Bicknell (1863) 32 Beav 381.

As to the entitlement of a child defendant attaining full age to serve a new defence see Bennet v Lee (1743) 2 Atk 529 at 531; Savage v Carroll (1811) 1 Ball & B 548 at 551, 553; Kelsall v Kelsall (1834) 2 My & K 409; Malone v Malone (1841) 8 Cl & Fin 179 at 206, HL.

8 As to the court see para 1411 note 4 ante.

9 'Striking out' means the court ordering written material to be deleted so that it may no longer be relied upon: see CPR 2.2; Glossary.

10 CPR 21.9(5). It was previously held that if a child defendant took no steps within a reasonable time after coming of age, he would be bound by what had been done during his minority: Cecil v Earl of Salisbury (1691) 2 Vern 224; Morris v Morris (1846) 11 Jur 260; Monypenny v Dering (1859) 4 De G & J 175.

11 CPR 21.9(6)(a). As to security for the costs up to his retirement see Witts v Campbell (1806) 12 Ves 493; Davenport v Davenport (1822) 1 Sim & St 101; Bligh v Tredgett (1851) 5 De G & Sm 74.

12 CPR 21.9(6)(b).

13 Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 para 4.4.

14 CPR Pt 21 is silent on this point. The former position was that on the death of a next friend, the child's nearest paternal relative was entitled to nominate a new next friend (Talbot v Talbot (1874) LR 17 Eq 347); but it is improbable that this rule survives. On the death of a guardian ad litem, the position was that a new guardian ad litem would be appointed: Drant v Vause (1843) 2 Y & C Ch Cas 524. As to the first appointment of a litigation friend see paras 1414-1415 ante. For the procedure for substituting a litigation friend see para 1416 ante.

(3) PROCEDURE

1418. Service of documents on children.

In proceedings to which a child<sup>1</sup> is a party, where a document would otherwise fall to be served<sup>2</sup> on a child, it must be served on some other specified person as described below<sup>3</sup>, unless the court has made an order allowing a child to conduct proceedings without a litigation friend<sup>4</sup>. In the case of a claim form to be served on a child, it must be served on one of the child's parents or guardians, or if there is no parent or guardian, the person with whom the child resides or in whose care the child is<sup>5</sup>. In the case of any other document<sup>6</sup>, it must be served on the litigation friend who is conducting proceedings on behalf of the child<sup>7</sup>.

The court<sup>8</sup> may make an order<sup>9</sup> permitting a document to be served on the child, or on some person other than the person specified above<sup>10</sup>, or may order that, although a document has been served on someone other than the person specified above, the document is to be treated as if it had been properly served<sup>11</sup>.

3 See CPR 6.6(1); and the text and notes 5-7 infra.

4 CPR 6.6(5). As to such orders see CPR 21.2(3); and para 1411 ante.

5 CPR 6.6(1), Table. Where the residence of the parents of the minor could not be discovered, service on the minor and on the head of the college at the university in which he was residing as an undergraduate was held sufficient: Christie v Cameron (1856) 2 Jur NS 635. In Poney v Hordern (North J in chambers, 25 January 1897) leave was given to serve a minor in France personally with notice of a writ. Service of a divorce petition upon a child respondent is effected by service on his father or guardian or, if he has none, upon the person with whom he resides or under whose care he is: Family Proceedings Rules 1991, SI 1991/1247, r 9.3(1)(a) (amended by SI 1992/2067). See also Stanga v Stanga [1954] P 10, [1954] 2 All ER 16, DC; but see Quinn v Quinn [1920] P 65. Service would not be dispensed with by reason of the fact that the minor and his father or guardian were out of the jurisdiction (Anderson v Stather (1846) 15 LJCh 260; O'Brien v Maitland (1862) 4 De G & J 331; White v Duvernay [1891] P 290), except under special circumstances (Turner v Sowdon (1864) 10 LT 60).

1419. Hearings in private.

A hearing, or any part of it, may be in private if a private hearing is necessary to protect the interests of any child<sup>1</sup>. Furthermore, the court<sup>2</sup> may order that the identity of any party must not be disclosed if it considers non-disclosure necessary in order to protect the interests of that party<sup>3</sup>.

1421. Admissions in claims involving children.

In proceedings where the only remedy sought is a sum of money, and the defendant admits the whole or part of the claim for a specified sum, or admits liability to pay the whole or part of the claim for an unspecified sum, the usual rule is that judgment may be entered for the claimant<sup>1</sup>. However, the claimant does not have the right to have judgment entered<sup>2</sup> where the defendant is a child or where the claimant is a child and the admission is of part of a claim for a specified sum<sup>4</sup>, or is of liability to pay a claim for an unspecified amount of money where the defendant offers a sum in satisfaction of the claim<sup>5</sup>.

(4) COMPROMISE AND SETTLEMENT

1422. Compromise etc by or on behalf of child.

Where a claim is made by or on behalf of or against a child<sup>1</sup> no settlement, compromise or payment and no acceptance of money paid into court can be valid, so far as it relates to the claim by, on behalf of or against the child, without the approval of the court<sup>2</sup>. Furthermore, settlements relating to appeals and applications where one of the parties is a child require the approval of the court<sup>3</sup>.

Where:

- 1475 (1) before proceedings in which a claim is made by or on behalf of or against a child (whether alone or with any other person) are begun, an agreement is reached for the settlement of the claim<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1476 (2) the sole purpose of proceedings on that claim is to obtain the approval of the court to a settlement or compromise of the claim<sup>5</sup>, the claim must be made using the alternative procedure for claims<sup>6</sup>, and must include a request to the court for approval of the settlement or compromise<sup>7</sup>. Provision is made with respect to the recovery of costs<sup>8</sup>. In addition to the specified details, the claim must set out the terms of the settlement or compromise or have attached to it a draft consent order<sup>9</sup>. In order to approve the settlement or compromise, the information concerning the claim that the court will require will include whether and to what extent the defendant admits liability<sup>10</sup>, the age and occupation (if any) of the child<sup>11</sup>, the litigation friend's approval of the proposed settlement or compromise<sup>12</sup>, and a copy of any financial advice relating to the proposed settlement<sup>13</sup>; and further information is required in a personal injury case<sup>14</sup>. An opinion on the merits of the settlement or compromise given by counsel or solicitor acting for the child should, except in very clear cases, be obtained<sup>15</sup>, and a copy of that opinion must also be supplied to the court<sup>16</sup>.

Where a settlement is made on condition that money is paid into court within a limited time, payment must be made within the time directed<sup>17</sup>. A judgment on or settlement in respect of a claim under the Fatal Accidents Act 1976 must be apportioned between the persons by or on whose behalf the claim has been brought<sup>18</sup>.

Where in any proceedings money is recovered by or on behalf of or for the benefit of a child or money paid into court is accepted by or on behalf of a child, the money must be invested on his behalf<sup>19</sup>. Where in any personal injury case a claim for damages for future pecuniary loss is settled<sup>20</sup>, the court must also be satisfied that the parties have considered whether the damages should wholly or partly take the form of periodical payments<sup>21</sup>; and where the settlement includes provision for periodical payments, the claim must set out the terms of the settlement or compromise or have attached to it a draft consent order<sup>22</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> CPR 21.10(1). As to the court see para 1411 note 4 ante. The approval of the court must be obtained if a settlement of a claim by or against a child is to be valid: see Drinkall v Whitwood [2004] EWCA Civ 1547, [2004] 4 All ER 378, [2004] 1 WLR 462. dependent child under the Fatal Accidents Act 1976: Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 para 1.3. ### 1422 Compromise etc by or on behalf of child

NOTE 8--CPR 21.10(3) amended: SI 2010/621.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/13. CIVIL PROCEEDINGS BY OR AGAINST CHILDREN/(4) COMPROMISE AND SETTLEMENT/1423. Extent of the court's jurisdiction.

1423. Extent of the court's jurisdiction.

The court cannot compel a compromise<sup>1</sup>, and will not sanction a compromise against the opinion of the child's litigation friend in the action<sup>2</sup>, nor can it do so where adults in the same interest insist on their strict rights<sup>3</sup>.

The jurisdiction to sanction a compromise does not extend to cover cases in which, there being no real dispute as to rights, it is sought by way of bargain between the beneficiaries under a trust to rearrange their beneficial interests and to bind children to the bargain by order of the court<sup>4</sup>. Where there is a real dispute as to rights, the jurisdiction is not ousted by the fact that the compromise involves the rearrangement of beneficial interests<sup>5</sup>.

In exercising its power on a child's behalf, the court can sanction a compromise of proceedings against trustees to recover a trust fund which has been lost<sup>6</sup>, and can deal with the child's property so as to promote a family arrangement<sup>7</sup>. It may charge the child's estate<sup>8</sup>, and change the contingent interest of trustees of a derivative settlement under which children are interested into an indefeasible vested interest<sup>9</sup>.

When a compromise has been sanctioned by the court, it will only be set aside on the same strong grounds of fraud as would justify the setting aside of a compromise between adults<sup>10</sup>.

A party to proceedings, who agrees to a certain course being taken, knowing that the other parties are children, cannot afterwards object that his consent does not bind him because the other parties, being children, could not consent<sup>11</sup>.

(5) MONEY RECOVERED ON BEHALF OF A CHILD

1424. Control of money recovered by or on behalf of child.

Where in any proceedings money is recovered by or on behalf of or for the benefit of a child<sup>1</sup>, or money paid into court is accepted by or on behalf of a child, the money must be dealt with in accordance with directions given by the court<sup>2</sup> and not otherwise<sup>3</sup>. Such directions may provide that the money must be wholly or partly paid into court and invested or otherwise dealt with<sup>4</sup>.

A litigation friend who incurs expenses on behalf of a child in any proceedings is entitled to recover the amount paid or payable out of any money recovered or paid into court to the extent that it has been reasonably incurred and is reasonable in amount<sup>5</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 1411 note 1 ante.

2 In accordance with directions given under CPR 21.11. As to the court see para 1411 note 4 ante.

3 CPR 21.11(1); Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 para 8.1.

4 CPR 21.11(2). The court may: (1) direct the money to be paid into the High Court for investment; (2) direct that certain sums be paid direct to the child, his litigation friend or his legal representative for the immediate benefit of the child or for expenses incurred on his behalf; and (3) direct the applications in respect of the investment of the money be transferred to a local district registry: Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 para 8.1. As to the administration of the fund see also paras 8.2, 8.3. As to the position where the child is legally aided see para 8.4. As to the approval of the accounts of a guardian of a child's assets see Practice Direction--Accounts, Inquiries etc PD 40A para 8; and CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1529 (applied by Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 para 12). As to the investment of money paid into court see para 9.6. If the money to be invested is very small the court may order it to be paid direct to the litigation friend to be put into a building society account (or similar) for the child's use: para 9.7. If the money is invested in court it must be paid out to the child when he reaches full age: see para 9.8. As soon as a child attains the age of 18 he is entitled to any fund in court standing to his credit, and the court has no discretion to refuse payment: see Re Embleton [1947] KB 142, [1946] 2 All ER 542, CA; Allen v Distillers Co (Biochemicals) Ltd [1974] QB 384, [1974] 2 All ER 365.

An application to a master or district judge for payment out of money from the fund for the benefit of the child, or to vary an investment strategy, may be dealt with without a hearing unless the court directs otherwise: Practice Direction--Children and Protected Parties PD 21 para 13.1.

The court may order that control of any money held by it under CPR 21.11 be transferred to another court if that court would be more convenient: see CPR 30.7; and CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 11 (2009) PARA 73.

1425. Appointment of guardian of child's estate.

- 1477 (1) money is paid into court on behalf of the child in accordance with directions as to the control of money received by a child<sup>4</sup>;
- 1478 (2) the court is notified, pursuant to the Criminal Injuries Compensation Scheme<sup>5</sup>, that it has made or intends to make an award to the child<sup>6</sup>;
- 1479 (3) a court or tribunal outside England and Wales notifies the court that it has ordered or intends to order that money be paid to the child<sup>7</sup>;
- 1480 (4) the child is absolutely entitled to the proceeds of a pension fund<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1481 (5) in any other case, such an appointment seems desirable to the court<sup>9</sup>.

The court may not appoint the Official Solicitor under these provisions unless the persons with parental responsibility<sup>10</sup> agree<sup>11</sup>, or the court considers that their agreement can be dispensed with<sup>12</sup>.

(6) JUDGMENT

1426. Effect of judgment on child claimant.

A claimant who is a child is as much bound by a judgment or order as an adult<sup>1</sup>, even though there may have been irregularities in the conduct of the proceedings<sup>2</sup>, unless there has been fraud<sup>3</sup> or gross negligence on the part of his litigation friend<sup>4</sup>. In special circumstances, however, he may be allowed on coming of age to amend his claim or to bring a fresh action<sup>5</sup>. A child is not bound by an agreement not to appeal, unless the agreement is for his benefit<sup>6</sup>.

1 Lord Brook v Lord Hertford (1728) 2 P Wms 518 at 519; Gregory v Molesworth (1747) 3 Atk 626 at 627 per Lord Hardwicke LC; Wall v Bushby (1785) 1 Bro CC 484. Where, upon an action by a child plaintiff against his employers for damages for personal injury being dismissed, his counsel applied to the judge to assess compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act 1897 s 1(4) (repealed), and the judge accordingly awarded such compensation, the plaintiff was held to be thereby estopped from applying for judgment or a new trial in the action: Neale v Electric and Ordnance Accessories Co Ltd [1906] 2 KB 558, CA; and see Stephens v Dudbridge Ironworks Co Ltd [1904] 2 KB 225, CA; Cribb v Kynoch Ltd (No 2) [1908] 2 KB 551, CA. Where a minor is a party to proceedings before the court, it is the interposition of the court, charged with the duty to watch over his interests, that lends sanctity to a judgment for or against him: see Arabian v Tufnall and Taylor Ltd [1944] KB 685 at 688, [1944] 2 All ER 317 at 319 per Wrottesley J. A minor is not bound by the decision of a foreign court not in his best interests: Black v Yates [1992] QB 526, [1991] 4 All ER 722.

1427. Effect of judgment on child defendant.

A judgment is as binding against a child defendant as it is against an adult<sup>1</sup>, but if it was obtained on the footing of his being of age the court has a discretion to set it aside<sup>2</sup>. If the claimant has signed judgment without applying for the appointment of a litigation friend<sup>3</sup>, it appears that the judgment will be set aside<sup>4</sup>. Even during childhood, a child may bring another action to impeach a judgment on the ground of fraud or collusion<sup>5</sup>.

An injunction may be granted against a child<sup>6</sup>, but not an order for specific performance<sup>7</sup>.

(7) COSTS

1428. Costs where money is payable by or to a child.

Where a child<sup>1</sup> is a party in any proceedings<sup>2</sup> and money is ordered or agreed to be paid to, or for the benefit of, that party, or money is ordered to be paid by him or on his behalf, the court<sup>3</sup> must order a detailed assessment of the costs<sup>4</sup> payable by or out of the money belonging to any party who is a child and, on such an assessment, the court must also assess any costs payable to that party in the proceedings unless the court has issued a default costs certificate<sup>5</sup> in relation to those costs or the costs payable in proceedings<sup>6</sup> relating to road traffic accidents<sup>7</sup>. Where a claimant is a child and a detailed assessment has taken place as described above, the only amount payable by the child is the amount which the court certifies as payable<sup>8</sup>.

The litigation friend is liable for the costs payable by a child, until notice has been served that his appointment as litigation friend has ceased<sup>9</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 1411 note 1 ante.

2 This includes counterclaims by or behalf of a child: see CPR 20.3; and CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 11 (2009) PARA 618.

3 As to the court see para 1411 note 4 ante.

4 An authorised court officer has power to carry out this assessment: CPR 47.3(1)(c). The court need not order detailed assessment of costs in the circumstances set out in the costs practice direction: CPR 48.5(3). 'Authorised court officer' means any officer of a county court, a district registry, the Principal Registry of the Family Division, or the Supreme Court Costs Office, whom the Lord Chancellor has authorised to assess costs: CPR 43.2(1)(d).

5 As to default costs certificates see CPR 47.11; and CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1789.

6 In proceedings to which CPR Pt 45 Section II applies: see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1729 et seq.

7 CPR 48.5(1), (2). See Turner v Turner (1726) 2 Stra 708, which established the principle that a child could not make himself liable to a defendant or respondent for costs. However, a minor respondent (Quinn v Quinn [1920] P 65) or co-respondent (Brockelbank v Brockelbank and Borlase (1911) 27 TLR 569) to a divorce petition might be liable for costs: see para 1431 post.

8 CPR 48.5(4). When a child on attaining full age adopted the proceedings, the solicitor was entitled to a charge on his estate for the costs: Baile v Baile (1872) LR 13 Eq 497; and see LEGAL PROFESSIONS vol 66 (2009) PARAS 1016-1017. Where, however, he repudiated the proceedings, the solicitor had no lien for his costs on deeds brought into court in the proceedings: Dunn v Dunn (1855) 7 De GM & G 25. As to the child's right to continue or discontinue proceedings on attaining full age see para 1417 ante.

1428 Costs where money is payable by or to a child

NOTE 4--CPR 43.2(1)(d) amended: SI 2009/2092.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (VOLUME 5(3) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 1-742; VOLUME 5(4) (2008 REISSUE) PARAS 743-1433)/13. CIVIL PROCEEDINGS BY OR AGAINST CHILDREN/(7) COSTS/1429. Liability of child claimant and litigation friend for costs.

1429. Liability of child claimant and litigation friend for costs.

A child claimant is not liable personally for the costs of legal proceedings unless, after attaining full age, he elects to continue the proceedings or obtain an order for their discontinuance<sup>1</sup>. However, subject always to the court's discretion, a successful defendant is entitled to recover his costs from the litigation friend<sup>2</sup>. An order against a litigation friend for costs must be made when judgment is given or before an order is drawn up, for a correction may not subsequently be made<sup>3</sup>. Such an order is final and cannot be questioned on further consideration unless the point was specifically reserved<sup>4</sup>. However, a litigation friend is not to be ordered to give security for costs<sup>5</sup>.

If an action brought by one litigation friend is dismissed, it would seem that the fact that the costs of that action have not been paid do not prevent the child from bringing a fresh action against the same defendant for the same purpose by another litigation friend<sup>6</sup>.

In a proper case a litigation friend may recover costs from the child's property<sup>8</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> The child's liability starts when the notice under CPR 21.9(4) (see para 1417 ante) is served: CPR 21.9(6). As to costs generally see CPR Pts 44-48; and CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1729 et seq.

1430. Recovery of costs by litigation friend.

Where a child claimant<sup>1</sup> is entitled to property, his litigation friend may have a right to recover from that property any costs and damages which he has been ordered to pay, if the action was a proper one and for the child's benefit<sup>2</sup>; but it appears that he must bear the costs personally if the proceedings were not for the child's benefit<sup>3</sup> or were improperly instituted<sup>4</sup>. ## (8) EXPENSES INCURRED BY A LITIGATION FRIEND

1433. Recovery of expenses incurred on behalf of a child.

A litigation friend who incurs expenses on behalf of a child<sup>1</sup> in any proceedings is entitled to recover the amount paid or payable out of any money recovered or paid into court<sup>2</sup> to the extent that it has been reasonably incurred and is reasonable in amount<sup>3</sup>. Expenses may include all or part of an insurance premium<sup>4</sup> or interest on a loan taken out to pay an insurance premium or other recoverable disbursement<sup>5</sup>; however, expenses which are also 'costs'<sup>6</sup> are dealt with separately<sup>7</sup> and no application may be made for expenses that: (1) are of a type that may be recoverable on an assessment of costs payable by or out of money belonging to a child; but (2) are disallowed in whole or in part on such an assessment<sup>8</sup>.

Where the claim is settled or compromised, or judgment is given, on terms that an amount not exceeding £5,000 is paid to the child, the total amount the litigation friend may recover may not exceed 25 per cent of the sum so agreed or awarded, unless the court directs otherwise<sup>9</sup>.

Any application must be supported by a witness statement setting out the nature and amount of the expenses being claimed and the reason it was incurred<sup>10</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'child' see para 1411 note 1 ante.

2 As to the court see para 1411 note 4 ante.

3 CPR 21.12(1)(a), (b). In deciding whether the expense was reasonably incurred and reasonable in amount, the court must have regard to all the circumstances of the case including the factors set out in CPR 44.5(3) (see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1748); CPR 21.12(3). When the court is considering the factors to be taken into account in assessing the reasonableness of expenses incurred by the litigation friend on behalf of a child, it will have regard to the facts and circumstances as they reasonably appeared to the litigation friend or child's legal representative when the expense was incurred: CPR 21.12(4).

4 I.e. as defined by CPR 43.2(1)(m): see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1830.

5 CPR 21.12(2).

6 I.e. as defined by CPR 43.2(1)(a): see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1730.

7 See CPR 48.5(2); and CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1808.

8 CPR 21.12(3).

9 CPR 21.12(6). Such total amount may not exceed 50% of the sum so agreed or awarded: CPR 21.12(6).
